9 JUNIORS TAPPED FOR LINDEN SCROLL

Darla Ehlert Stars In Color Film Of L. C. Campus Life

Lindenwood's campus has taken on a Hollywoodish atmosphere these days, with the filming of a color movie about life on the campus.

Darla Ehlert, slender, brown-haired freshman of St. Joseph, Mo., is starred in the film, "The Linden Leaf," which is being produced by Condor Films of St. Louis.

Playing the role of a high-school senior on an imaginary four-year visit to Lindenwood, Darla already has been filmed attending the L.C. horse show, the May Fete, and on the tennis courts, the golf course, and the archery range. The cast has also been filmed on location in St. Louis, where scenes at Washington University, Keil Auditorium, Forest Park, and Clayton were filmed.

Doris Beaumar, senior, is acting as student director of the movie for a 390 project. She coordinates props, clothing, hairdos, and is responsible for even the smallest details—such as using white tennis balls instead of dark ones.

The movie originated with Mr. William F. McMurry, director of admissions, as a collection of facts about Lindenwood in script form. Mr. Vincent Park, KETC director, then wrote the movie script assisted by Condor Films, and a committee including Mr. McMurry, Dr. Francis L. McCluer, president, Miss Martha Boyer, associate professor of speech, Miss Bettie B. Wimberly, secretary to the director of admissions, Miss Mary Younker, secretary to the president, and Doris.

Darla was cast by Condor Films because she typified a college girl and could be filmed as portraying either a high school or college senior, Doris said. Darla will appear in scenes to be filmed of classrooms, pin day, and commencement.

The movie will be used for promotion purposes by field representatives. It will fill a 15-minute television slot, and will be shown to church groups, high-schools, and in private homes.

Campus Leaders Honored May 5

Nine juniors were received into membership of Linden Scroll in a tapping ceremony May 5, in Roemer Auditorium. The new members are Maisie Arrington, Penny Creighton, Donna Drury, Jean Gray, Beverly Harrington, Joanne Houser, Marilyn Mitchell, Beverly Randall, and Lisabeth Schnurr.

Recognized for leadership, scholarship, and service to the college community, they were presented by Linden Scroll charter members who were tapped March 11. Dorothy Neblett, president, presided. Other officers are Mary Lu Merrell, secretary; Gloria Bursey, treasurer; and Eleanor Mauze, chaplain.

Lisabeth and Penny are majoring in human relations, Marilyn, Joanne, and Beverly Harrington in biology, Maisie in art, Jean in English, Donna in home economics, and Beverly in music education.

Maisie, from Russellville, Ark., is an assistant editor of the Linden Bark, and next year will serve as managing editor. She is a member of Terrapin, Poetry Society, Kappa Pi, national art fraternity, Press Club, Young Democrats, and Athletic Association. She was a Washington Semester student.

Penny, of Nashville, Tenn., was a Washington Semester student. She is secretary-treasurer of Terrapin, and she swam a solo number in the water pageant. She has been a member of the Athletic Association, and the Modern Language Club.

Donna, who comes from Gillespie, Ill., is president of Colheon, home economics club. She is a member of Future Teachers of America.

Jean, from Rockwell City, Iowa, is an associate member of Alpha Sigma Tau, upperclass scholastic honorary, and was a Washington Semester student. She is a member of the Future Teachers of America, Athletic Association, League of Women Voters, and Young Republicans.

Beverly Harrington, of St. Charles, Mo., will edit the 1956 Linden Leaves; is president of Triangle club, mathematics and science club; German vice president of Modern Language club, and the day student representative to the Student Council. She is a member of Pi Alpha Delta, classics honorary, Poetry Society, Day Students club, and the choir.

Joanne, from Paducah, Ky., is secretary of the junior class, vice president of Triangle club, and the junior counselor for Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman scholastic honorary. She was a May Court attendant. She is an associate member of Alpha Sigma Tau, and belongs to Athletic Association, Modern Language Club, International Relations club, League of Women Voters, Colheon, and the baseball team. She will take her senior year at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis, preparing for a job as a laboratory technician.

Marilyn, of Mexico, Mo., will be the secretary of the Student Christian Association next year. She is a member of Future Teachers of America, and last year she was

7 to Represent LC At Semester Study In Washington, D C

American University in Washington D. C. has accepted six sophomores and one junior, recommended by Lindenwood College, for the fall term under the Washington Semester Program, Dr. F. L. McCluer, president, announced Tuesday.

The junior is Marilyn Mitchell of Mexico, Mo. The six sophomores are Mary Lillian Cook, McMinnville, Tenn.; Eleanor Day, Missouri Valley, Iowa; Carol Lee Knight, Ft. Smith, Ark.; Sally Lefler, Glendale, Mo.; Carol Ratjen, Park Forest, Ill., and Margie Terrell, Paducah, Ky.

Lindenwood is one of 67 colleges and universities in the country which cooperate in the Washington Semester plan, which gives specially selected undergraduate students a semester of study in the nation's capital.

Bev Harrington To Edit Leaves

Beverly Harrington, junior from St. Charles, has been selected editor for the 1956 Linden Leaves. Bev, a biology major, was advertising manager of the yearbook during her sophomore year. The new annual board was announced by Jane Edwards, senior and this year's editor.

Penny Creighton, junior, is the new organization manager. Barbara Givens, sophomore, is to be next year's business manager. Art editor will be Kathy Kolocotronis, junior, and Jane Graham, sophomore, will be literary editor. The advertising editor has not yet been chosen.

The new Linden Leaves will be distributed on Wednesday from 8 a. m. until 4 p. m., and on Thursday the prints of all annual pictures will be sold in Cobbs Lounge from noon until 5 p. m.

The annual staff dinner given for this year's staff, the faculty sponsors, and the new editor will be held next Tuesday night.

Faculty sponsors for this year's annual are: Miss Dorothy Ely, assistant professor of English; Mrs. Greta Larson, assistant professor of business administration; and Mr. Arthur Kanak, assistant professor of art.

This year's annual board was made up of Jane Edwards, editor; Suzanne Anderson, organization manager; Dolores Kiss, advertising manager; Jennelle Todsén, business manager; Virginia Woodman, art editor; and Barbara Shuttleworth, literary editor.

Assistants and typists for this year were: Ann Clevenger, Barbara Givens, Kathleen McGilvary, Julie Rasmussen, and Betty Townsend.

L. C. No. 1 Giver

Lindenwood rates the No. 1 place as the world's largest contributor this year to World University Service, Mr. Timothy Short, regional director of WUS, has notified Ann Carlisle, new president of LC's Student Christian Association.

Last week Lindenwood mailed a check for $2,818.20 to WUS, the proceeds of the campus 1955 auction and pledges.

Home Ec. House Named "McCluer House" by Board

The home management house has been named "The McCluer House" by the Lindenwood Board of Directors, the Rev. Dr. Harry T. Scherer, chairman of the board, has announced through Dean Paulena Nickell. The board's action was unanimous, Dr. Scherer wrote to Dean Nickell, and it was taken in response to a student request.

Bids Out for Prom

Members of the senior class have received invitations to the annual Junior-Senior Prom to be held Saturday evening, May 21, Ann Carlisle, junior class president, has announced. Faculty members also are invited.

This year's prom will be held at Le Chateau, which is on Clayton Road. Music for the evening will be furnished by Bob Lang, from Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Huston Smith, George Mauze Are Commencement Speakers

Dr. Huston Smith, associate professor of philosophy at Washington University, will give the address at Lindenwood's 128th commencement exercises at 10:30 a. m. on June 4. Dr. Smith has made television history in the St. Louis area by giving the first college-credit course by TV, the course in "The Religions of Man" presented on Tuesday evenings over KETC, channel 9.

The Rev. Dr. George Mauze, minister of First Presbyterian Church in San Antonio, Tex., and father of Eleanor Mauze, senior, will preach the baccalaureate sermon at 7:15 p. m., Friday, June 3.

Siegmund A. E. Betz To Lecture In The British Isles This Summer

Robert Douglas Hume Has Engagement To Act In Professional Summer Stock

Dr. Siegmund A. E. Betz, professor of English at the college, will lecture in the British Isles this summer under the sponsorship of British-American Associates. This organization sponsored Dr. Alice Parker, chairman of the English department, on her British lecture tour two years ago.

Leaving by plane as soon as examinations are finished, Dr. Betz will be traveling and lecturing in England, Scotland, and Ireland from June 13 to the end of July, and again for the first half of September. During August he will travel on the European continent, particularly in Germany and Italy.

Mr. Robert Douglas Hume, LC's drama director, will be acting in summer stock in New England this summer. He has an engagement with the professional summer stock company of the Peterborough Playhouse at Peterborough, N. H.

Mr. Hume said his contract calls for his acting in a minimum of three shows. He also will teach a course in acting to the apprentices attached to the company and will present an evening of one-act plays and a program of scenes done by the apprentices.

The Peterborough Playhouse was founded in 1933. Its producer is Edith Bond Stearns.

Plays under consideration for summer production, Mr. Hume said, include "The Rainmaker," "My Three Angels," "Jane," and "Sabrina Fair." Five plays will be presented, each to run two weeks. Mr. Hume's engagement is for 11 weeks.

Among the sponsors of the theater are Ina Claire, Faye Emerson, Leif Erickson, Ruth St. Denis, Padraic Colum, Thornton Wilder, Margaret Anglin, and Lawrence Tibbett.

Mr. Hume, who is associate professor of speech, came to Lindenwood in 1947. He holds an A.B. degree from the University of California, a M.A. from the University of North Carolina, and a certificate from the Maria Ouspenskaya Studio of Dramatic Art in Hollywood, where he studied for two years. His experience before coming to Lindenwood included serving as director-actor at the First Theater of California at Monterey and the Carolina Playmakers at Chapel Hill, N. C. He also has taught in colleges in Georgia and California.

J. Gordon Dances Main Recital Role

"Passport Beyond" was the title of the Orchestis dance recital held last night in Roemer Auditorium. The story brought out in the dance routine was of a rocket tour of the planets and the return back to earth.

Janice Gordon, Orchestis president, danced the main role of the traveller who, with a "passport to the beyond," made the trip. She showed astonishment at the odd creatures, plants, and animals she encountered on the various planets, which were portrayed by other Orchestis members.

Mrs. Grazina Amonas, physical education instructor, is the faculty sponsor of Orchestis.

Two Receive Merit Awards in Writing In National Contest

Deane Keeton and Dorothy Neblett, seniors, received merit awards for their entries in the Atlantic Monthly's 34th annual creative writing contests for college students. Their writings were judged among the top 40 in two classes which had 382 and 372 entries, respectively.

Deane won the merit rank for a short story, "Beneath Those Roofs," and Dorothy's merit winner was a poem, "Purple Stench." Those ranking in the top 40 received written criticisms from the judges.

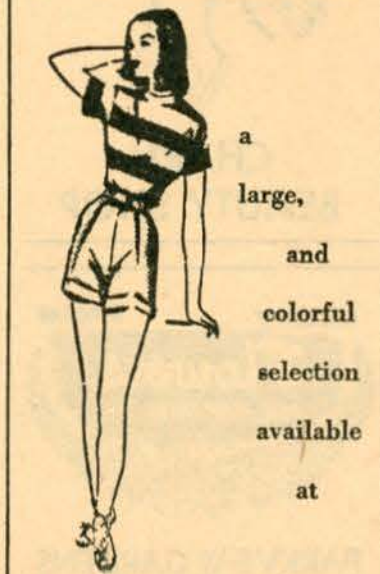

The works were entered under the sponsorship of Dr. Agnes Sibley, associate professor of English.

Madeleine Meyer; Marilyn Mitchell, new secretary; Dorothy Neblett; Sue Potter, Constance Richards, and Gwen Ryter, new secretary.

Jaye P. Morgan Gives Interview To Bark Editor

By Maisie Arrington

With a bounce that would make any baseball or hot check envious, Miss Jaye P. Morgan reverberates on the stage.

Admittedly a "belter," "one who can't sing, but you sure can hear 'em," Miss Morgan was the delight of her meager audience at her opening night in St. Louis' Casa-Loma Ballroom, where this reporter interviewed her. The show closed Sunday.

To the uninitiated, Miss Jaye P. Morgan is a rising young television and R.C.A. Victor recording star whose disc of "That's All I Want From You" swished her into the public lap where she is predicted to sit comfortably, for she has all the twinkles necessary for stardom.

"First," said Miss May Margaret Morgan, who was dubbed Jaye P. when she was treasurer of her high school class, "I started show business at the exciting age of three. Then, I went into radio, was singing with Frank Duval's band at 18, and went on for a two-year run on the Robert Q. Lewis television show. And then, whew! Here I am!"

Only 23, Jaye P. confided, as her face turned pink, "I have been married for a year and a month, so I'm no longer a bride." At present her husband, an extremely youthful-looking television actor, is her road manager.

During the chat, Miss Morgan commented on the "nice warm St. Louis weather, after that lousy New York." Noticing the reporter's interest in the lovely silver bracelet she tinkered with, Jaye P. announced with a certain pride that she was Yale University's Prom Queen.

Close scrutiny, which is a reporter's delight and an entertainer's dilemma, shows that Jaye P. has obviously bleached blonde locks, a slight gap in the first two teeth, and non-flawless skin. But 15 minutes later when Miss Jaye P. Morgan dazzled the crowd with her infectious, overwhelming personality, she looked better than any uranium deposit.

Future Forecast: Watch Miss Jaye P. go!

3 Classes Choose Council Delegates

Carol Gardner, freshman, Jane Graham, sophomore, and Janet Lewis, junior, were elected 1955-56 student council representatives in recent class meetings.

Carol, of Nashville, Tenn., was a member of the freshman Harvest Court last fall. She is a member of Future Teachers of America and of the Modern Language Club.

Jane, of Memphis, Tenn., is editor of the Griffin, the campus literary magazine. She is also president of Alpha Lambda Delta, national scholastic honorary society, and is a member of F.T.A.

Janet, of Sikeston, Mo., is the newly elected treasurer of the Student Christian Association. She is secretary of F.T.A. and a member of Colhecon.

Kanak Wins Prize At City Art Show; M. Fischer Shows

Mr. Arthur L. Kanak, assistant professor of art, was awarded the second prize of $50 at the current show of the art section of the St. Louis Artists' Guild. His prize winning picture is an oil painting entitled "Land, Water, and Sky."

Miss Mildred Fischer, chairman of the art department, had two paintings chosen by the judges for the show. They are "Sycamore Cycle" and "Tulips." Miss Fischer also has a painting in tempera, "Composition 1954," on exhibit in Indianapolis at the Indiana Artists' Exhibition at the John Herron Art Institute.

S.C.A. Retreat To Be All School Next Fall - - More Powwows

An all-school retreat will be on the Student Christian Association calendar early next fall, as will more student-faculty powwows than were held this year. These decisions were made by the SCA junior and senior cabinets on a retreat to Cuvre River last Friday and Saturday, at which next year's SCA activities were planned.

The cabinets also decided to give a more thorough orientation about SCA to incoming freshmen, according to Constance Richards, outgoing secretary, who reported on the weekend to the Bark. SCA held its first all-college retreat last fall, and because of its success, the cabinets planned another for next fall, Connie said.

The planning session was held on Friday evening. It was attended by 16 students and by Miss Juliet McCrory, associate professor of speech, and Dr. C. Eugene Conover, professor of philosophy, and Mrs. Conover. Miss McCrory and Dr. Conover are SCA faculty sponsors. Barbara Givens and Miss McCrory led devotionals before and after the planning meeting, and the evening ended with a campfire sing.

President F. L. McCluer visited the retreaters on Saturday morning and led a devotional service.

New senior cabinet committee chairmen were installed at Vesper service Sunday. They are Barbara Givens, program committee; Penny Creighton and Carol Ratjen, faith; Madeleine Meyer, publicity; Shirley Holcomb, recreation; Marian Kasper and Beverly Randall, junior advisers; Yolanda Breeden and Barbara Koeller, song leaders, and Beth Devlin and Sue Potter, social service.

Students who attended the retreat are Nancy Alvis; Ann Carlisle, new SCA president; JoAnn Clement; Penny Creighton; Beth Devlin; Rosemary Dysart; Barbara Givens; Barbara Hollabaugh; Dolores Kiss; Eleanor Mauze, retiring president,

Menke, Mills Busy Planning Fall 'Adventure'

Plans Include Working, Sharing St. Louis Apt.

By Suzanne Anderson

A senior "two-some" who are not going to let graduation interfere with their friendship are Maxine Menke and Marilyn Mills. Next fall the inseparable duo are planning to work in St. Louis and share an apartment. Max will be working as a department store buyer and Marilyn will be doing secretarial work.

Any time these two are seen together on campus one can sense that the subject of engineering is under discussion. It seems Max and Marilyn have recently developed a great interest in engineering; that is, they've developed this interest whenever the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity of Missouri School of Mines in Rolla is mentioned.

Max, a home economics major with an emphasis on clothing, is from Bancroft, Iowa, often called Menkeville by her L. C. friends. According to Max, her relatives practically own the burg, which has a population of 1000, if one stretches it a little.

Last year Max transferred to Iowa State College in Ames from Lindenwood but "I just couldn't stay away from old L.C.—so here I am," she exclaimed. She is vice-president of Colhecon, the home economics club, and was chosen by her classmates to be an attendant on this year's May Court.

The University of Wisconsin is to be her "home away from home" for the summer—and then, "St. Louis or Bust."

Though she listed her many hobbies and interests rapidly, the reporter caught a few of them. It seems her interests run thus: dancing, men, swimming, men, reading, and then she also mentioned men.

"I'm the only economics major in the senior class," stated Marilyn Mills from Danville, Ill. She is minoring both in history and government and in math.

Marilyn, who was president of her class last year, is a member of Beta Chi, the campus riding organization, and of Young Republicans. She is also an active member of the senior class gift committee which has done much to keep the "Spirit of '55" alive.

When inquiring how she spends her summers, Marilyn told this reporter that last summer she journeyed to Malden, Mo., to visit a classmate for 10 days, but an air base there held her attention and she stayed for seven weeks. This summer she will attend secretarial school in St. Louis before starting work there in the fall.

The interview ended in a flurry as the "bachelor girls" announced that "Rolla is calling" and dashed out the front door of Cobbs with suitcases in hand to go "see the boys."

Miss McClung Sings With Home Symphony

Miss Isabelle McClung, assistant professor of voice at Lindenwood, was the guest artist with the Springfield, Mo., Symphony Orchestra in its Pop Concert held on Tuesday evening, Apr. 26.

Miss McClung, a soprano, sang selections from "Faust," from Tosca," and from "Die Fledermaus." Originally from Springfield, Miss McClung is the daughter of Dr. Arthur James McClung, pastor of First and Calvary Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. McClung of that city.

She attended the Springfield schools and made her first public appearance there at the age of five when she sang the Hallelujah Chorus with the church choir—dressed as an angel and seated on an overturned barrel. She later became a member of the Springfield Symphony Orchestra, playing in the viola section.

She is well known in Springfield and received favorable comments from the newspapers of that city after her appearance.

AERho Initiates 2

Mary Lillian Cook and Carol Ratjen will be initiated Thursday into membership in the Lindenwood chapter of Alpha Epsilon Rho, national honorary radio and television fraternity. They were pledged in a formal ceremony last Thursday.

NBC Official to Speak At Honors Convocation; Prizes to Be Awarded

Lindenwood students with high scholastic records will be honored and presented with various prizes next Thursday in the annual Honors Day Convocation. The principal speaker for the occasion will be Curtis Mitchell of the National Broadcasting Company in New York, Dean Paulena Nickell announced.

Honor will be paid to those students who have a grade point of 3.5 for the two preceding semesters, and a certificate will be given to seniors who have an accumulative average of 3.5 for eight semesters. All students with a 3.5 accumulative average will be recognized, and class averages will be read.

Awards to be given are: An honorary membership to the American Association of University Women, a music award, an Alpha Lambda Delta book award, a science award, and a math table book to an outstanding student of mathematics who has taken basic mathematics, algebra, and trigonometry.

Recipients of these various awards are kept secret until the day of the convocation.

Senior School Marms Practice Teach At Local 'Universities'

By Julie Rasmussen

"We're off to the university" has a different meaning for elementary education majors Suzanne Anderson, Betty Moore, and Carol Wideman from the one it has for the average college student.

These senior practice-teachers—three average 16 hours a week with their own students at Benton and Lincoln "universities," really just grade schools! Suzie teaches the fifth grade at Lincoln school, and Betty and Carol teach second and third grades at Benton School.

"Kids think I'm awful old not to be married," says shapely Suzie, teacher of everything from spelling to geography. Maybe it's the "Miss" attached to her name in the classroom; however, she did tell a Bark reporter that she had voted for the first time when she was home during spring vacation.

The three school marms are members of Future Teachers of America club on campus, and Carol is treasurer this year, and Betty is vice-president. Serious about their futures, the girls plan to teach after graduation. Suzie hopes to teach in Malden, Mo., her hometown, or in California. Betty will be teaching next year in Kirkwood, Mo., her home, at the Robinson School. She will continue to teach second grade children. Carol hopes to travel to California this summer and remain in Los Angeles as a teacher for a few years.

Carol is going through her "Fort Leonard Wood phase of life," and her favorite pastime these days is letter writing. She is on the Cobbs hall house staff and is a member of the League of Women Voters and Young Republican clubs. Her home, until recently in Alton, Ill., now is in Petersburg, Ohio.

A Washington semester student in her junior year, Betty lived in the home management house this year. She is an ardent baseball fan (Brooklyn) and enjoys swimming during the summer months.

Suzie, also a Washington semester student, is president of Cobbs Hall and a member of the newly organized Linden Scroll honorary. She is organization manager for the Linden Leaves, Lindenwood's yearbook. "Ah just love to go on picnics with boys," Suzie told a Bark reporter in her "swampeast Missouri" accent. She loves basketball and volleyball, and her biggest ambition is to buy her own car.

With summertime nearing, the elementary education majors plan to mix work with pleasure. Suzie will work at her father's shoe store and substitute teach at the Malden elementary school. Betty plans to work in July at Southwestern Bell in St. Louis as a secretary, and later to travel to New York. Carol will attend two weddings and then hopes to go to California.

M. Rehg Judges State High School Vocal Meet

Mr. Milton F. Rehg, LC assistant professor of music and choir director, served as judge of Class A and Class C vocal soloists recently in the finals of the High School State Music Contests, held in Columbia, Mo. Mr. Rehg judged 88 soloists one day and 70 another.

6 Win Firsts In Annual Horse Show Sponsored By Beta Chi

First place awards were presented to six students, Apr. 30, in the annual Lindenwood Horse Show, sponsored by Beta Chi, the riding club on campus. Mrs. Claude H. Drew, director of horsemanship at Christian College, Columbia, Mo., judged the show.

The riders receiving first place awards were Marlene Kuhlman, riding Tommy Tucker in the intermediate equitation class; Marcia Goodwin, riding Lovely Kalarama in the beginners' equitation No. 1 class; Joan Broeckelmann, riding Litefoot in the beginners' equitation No. 2 class; Sally Cox riding Lovely Kalarama and Alice Prouty on Litefoot in the pair class; and Marilyn Perry, riding Ginger in the advanced equitation class.

An exhibition class with three horses performing together was a highlight of the show. Beverly Wood on Lindy, Jacqueline Keen riding Mable, and Marcia Heinzelman on Lady received praise from the judge on their handling of the horses in this class. Beverly lost her balance for a moment when the young mare she was riding began acting up, and the rider was hanging by one foot, unable to get on or off the horse. However, she soon got in the saddle again and was applauded by the spectators. Miss Fern Palmer, Lindenwood riding instructor, said Beverly handled the nervous horse well.

Second place winners were Claris Brian, Martha Jane Faxon, Karen Goodrich, Elizabeth Johnson, Roseann Knauer, and Marilyn Tainter. Third place awards were given to Ann Burgess, Carol Chandeysson, Jacqueline Oglesby, and Betty Schrey.

Other students riding in the show were Marion Borresen, Rosemary Clarke, Constance Gibson, Margaret Keiser, Susan Lawrence, Sally Lesseg, Sandra Taylor, and Ann Vinson.

Suzanne Norton, president of Beta Chi, announced the show, and

Bark Advances To 1st Class in National Judging

Staff Members Receive State Writing Awards

The Linden Bark was rated "first class" in national judging by the Associated Collegiate Press, the Bark staff was notified this week. This rating is a step-up from the "second class" rating which the Bark has received in the past two years.

The rating was for the first five issues of this year's Bark and shows how the paper stands in comparison with other papers in its own classification (size of college, frequency of issue) throughout the nation, the ACP scoring guidebook stated. The numerical rating of 1,510 points given the Bark placed it more than half way between the first class requirement of 1,400 points and the required 1,600 of All-American, the top classification.

ACP gives critical service and newspaper ratings twice a year. The Bark staff received, in addition to its national rating, detailed grading and criticism on news coverage, content, makeup, and headlines.

The Bark was sent also to the Missouri College Newspaper Association at the University of Missouri for judging of individual writing. Awards were presented May 6 at a

The Athletic Association Board which consists of the officers and chairmen of the organization, had an overnight camping trip last weekend in Sherwood Forest at Troy, Mo.

The group left on Friday and did primitive camping at Frenchman's Bluff. The A. A. Board visited the Clayton, Mo., school camping group, which was also in the Sherwood Forest area, on Saturday before returning to Lindenwood that afternoon. They attended the Milwaukee-Braves baseball game Saturday night.

The members of the A. A. Board are: Carol Wolter, president; Zilpha Curtin, vice-president; Chloe Burton, treasurer; Jacqueline Keen, secretary; Joyce Plesha, publicity chairman; Karen Goodrich, intramural chairman; Marilyn Tainter, social chairman; and Ellen Devlin, freshman representative.

See Cardinals Win 5 - 3 Over Phillies At Busch Stadium

By Nancy Walker

Popcorn, peanuts, crackerjacks were passed every which way to Lindenwood students Tuesday night at Busch Stadium. The St. Louis Cardinals were the favorites, but there were a few loyal fans, including this reporter, yelling for the Philadelphia Phillies.

Three busloads of LC students filled a sizable and noisy section of the stands.

The smoke was heavy and the tension high when the Phillies made the first home run, tying up the score. When the next batter walked up to the plate, a St. Louis fan, Ann Zotos, stood up and yelled, "Strike 'em out." Carol Lee Knight and Willa Gleeson helped Ann out with yelling.

"Pitcher's wild," "Throw 'em out," "He was safe," "Boo," "Hit a homer, Stan," were just a few of the yells heard by others from the Lindenwood students. And by the way, Stan Musial did hit a homer.

During this exciting time, Julie Rasmussen bought six hot dogs. Supposedly they were not all for herself.

By the end of the ninth inning, the score was tied again. But the Cardinals hit another home run which ended the game with a score of five to three. Even though the Cardinals won, the Phillie fans agreed it was a good game.

Officers, Champs To Be Announced At Award Banquet

Carol Wolter Receives National Official Rating

The officers of next year's Athletic Association will be announced Wednesday night at the annual A.A. award banquet. The athletic awards for the year also will be presented. These awards are based on participation, accumulation of points through intramurals and service to the A.A.

Carol Wolter, senior and this year's president of A.A., has received her national rating from the St. Louis Board of Women Officials for basketball, volleyball, and softball.

This rating will enable Carol to officiate at games in the colleges, high schools, and recreational groups in which girls and women participate anywhere in the United States. She held her national rating last year in softball with local ratings in the other two sports.

Written and practical examinations must be passed to receive this rating. Carol, who plans to teach physical education next year, asserts that anyone with ambition and practice can obtain this national official rating.

Annual Playday Set Tomorrow

The Lindenwood Athletic Association will be the host tomorrow to five neighboring colleges at the 11th annual A. A. Play Day. Representatives from the various colleges will compete by "color" teams rather than by school teams.

Washington University, Monticello, Fontbonne, Harris Teachers' College, and Webster College are the participating schools. The students will play golf, tennis, softball, archery, badminton, or table tennis, or will ride or swim from 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Polly Wilson Head Of Language Club

Polly Wilson, of Des Moines, Iowa, was elected president of the Modern Language Club for the forthcoming year. Polly, a sophomore, is enrolled in both French and Spanish and plans to minor in languages. Freshmen Carol Gardner of Nashville, Tenn., and Heather Armour of St. Louis, were elected vice-presidents of the Spanish Club and French Club respectively. Other officers will be announced next fall.

Modern Language Club membership is open to those who maintain a B average or above for two consecutive semesters in either French, German, or Spanish.

Prospective Students Of 1951, Fields - Glebe Plan Grad Work

By Toshiko Morikawa
One April morning back in 1951, two high school seniors who were prospective Lindenwood students met during a visit to the campus. The following bit of dialogue was part of their conversation:

Elizabeth Glebe: "I want to be a biology major."

Rosalyn Fields: "My major will be sociology."

Now here they are, seniors again, busy choosing the best places to go for further study after graduating from L.C. Beth, who has majored in biology, wants to study medical technology. Rosie, a sociology major, wants to do graduate work in religious education or social work.

Rosie's plans are endless. Her three minors, psychology, religion, and government, will work well with sociology when she starts her work at some settlement house, she said. But that will come after she gets her M.A. degree, she explained. Then smilingly she added, "I want eventually to find the 'right person' in a similar field and to end up doing church work."

Asked about hobbies, Rosie, or Rosebud, as her friends call her, said, "I enjoy anything as long as there are people around. And my interests include reading fiction and philosophy, engaging in sports, listening to music, especially symphonies."

Last year Rosie was a Washington Semester student in the fall and a busy president of the campus League of Women Voters in the spring. This year she is senior class representative to the Student Council. Directing the highly successful Senior-Faculty Variety Show was an exciting event of this year.

A busy person, Rosie has an even busier roommate, Betsy Severson, outgoing president of Student Council. They almost have to make appointments to have a little time together. Rosie loves LC, and her last remark, uttered with feeling, was, "I hate to see June fourth come."

Beth, an old Sibleyite, flew back from spending first semester in Washington, D. C., with a ready made job, Sibley house president. What struck Beth most when she came back, she said, was to find the new LC honor system working so well. "That's one of the best things that have happened on this campus," she said.

Beth is, by turns, quiet—(locked up in her room studying, reading magazines, or listening to music), or earnest—(seriously engaging in her hobby of "talking politics"), or gay—(shaking up the whole company with her tough, hearty laugh). It was with a Beth laugh that the interview with a Bark reporter started, but it had its "earnest" turn.

Washington Semester was most valuable to Beth, who previously had thought that "nothing exists except biology." She started her interest in social science when she found that politicians are about the most interesting breed she had ever met. Beth hopes to work for some international health organization or for the Health Educational Department of the national government, where she can combine her long-time love, biology, with her new interest, public affairs. Then starting to laugh, Beth said, "I think marriage is a good thing, but I want to work and travel first."

1955 Griffin Out; Purchase Price $1

The 1955 Griffin, Lindenwood's literary magazine, is now being sold on campus. This year's issue features a unique cover design, executed by Dorothy Neblett, art editor, and contains poems, short stories, and essays by students, faculty, and alumnae.

Contributors to the Griffin are Dr. Siegmund A. E. Betz, professor of English; Ellen Devlin, Willa Gleason, Hester James, Gail Langworthy, Dorothy Neblett, Julie Rasmussen, Betsy Severson, Lowell Sharpe, Barbara Shuttleworth, Phyllis Steinmetz, Mary Ann Thielecke, students; and Jo June DeWeese (B.A. 1954), Miriam Reilly Jupp (A.B. 1949), Jane Ewing Leason (1949-1951), Patricia Owen (1953-1954), Marianne Metzger Pepoon (1946-948), and Carolyn Stuart (1952-1954), former students.

On the Griffin editorial staff are Jane Graham, editor; Willa Gleason, Jean Gray, and Constance Richards, assistant editors; Dorothy Neblett, art editor; and Dr. Agnes Sibley, faculty adviser. Copies of the Griffin may be purchased from the staff for $1.00.

Dr. Conover Wins Fellowship Award

Dr. C. Eugene Conover, professor of philosophy, has been awarded a scholarship for a summer seminar for professors of philosophy to be held on the campus of Denison University, Granville, Ohio, June 17-30. The seminar will be conducted under the joint auspices of the Danforth Foundation and the Faculty Christian Fellowship.

Outstanding philosophers and theologians will lecture and lead discussions at the seminar.

Jean Gray Heads LWV; April Date Set for Convention

Jean Gray, junior, was elected president of the League of Women Voters at a meeting held May 5. Also elected were Carol Lee Knight, vice-president; and Margie Terrell, secretary. The treasurer will be elected from freshman League members next fall.

League members also prepared announcements of the third inter-collegiate national political convention to be held at Lindenwood next April 19-21. They will be mailed to 368 colleges and universities in 22 states.

Carole Jackson To Be Singer in Munny Opera

Carole Jackson, freshman, has been chosen for the singing chorus of the St. Louis Municipal Opera this summer. Carole came through a series of tryouts and passed the finals this week.

Judy Anderson Reigns Over Annual May Day Festivities

Novelist Hume, Actress Bursey, Maid Miller, Stage Hilarious Comedy in Packed Auditorium

Judith Anderson, senior, was crowned Queen of the May as hundreds of parents, friends, and students in bouffant formals, watched the annual May Day ceremony on Apr. 30, on the Lindenwood lawn.

The May court was preceded by the senior class through a daisy-chain honor guard formed by the sophomore class. While the Lindenwood orchestra, directed by Mr. Robert Cruce, instructor of music, played "Pomp and Circumstance," the court, wearing full length white gowns, and carrying baskets of spring flowers, marched to the flower and fern bedecked platform. Deane Dettmann, senior president, as mistress of ceremonies, introduced the members of the court.

Rosemary Clarke and Marlene Kuhlman, freshman attendants, were followed by Chloe Burton and Tillie Micheletto, sophomore members of the court. Joanne Houser and Ann Carlisle, juniors, and Ruth Hamrick and Maxine Menke, seniors, then proceeded through the daisy chain.

Cameras flashed throughout the audience when the maid of honor, Lisabeth Schnurr, junior, passed through the daisy-chain. She crowned Queen Judy, who climaxed the procession, with a white flower crown as she took her throne. Judy carried a large spray bouquet of iris and gladioli.

After a lawn reception given by the freshman class, the queen was honored with a dinner in Ayres dining room. Huge buffet tables accommodated the large crowd of guests. A dance in the queen's honor was held in Butler gym that evening, to which all guests, parents, and students were invited.

Bob Lang's orchestra provided music for the formal dance. A running fountain, flowers, and candles lent atmosphere to the decorated gym.

Play Opens Weekend

Noel Coward's play "Hay Fever" was well received and attracted a huge crowd in Roemer Auditorium Friday night. Its excellent performance gave an auspicious start to the weekend. Mr. Douglas Hume, associate professor of speech, directed the comedy and convincingly played the part of a popular novelist, whose highly dramatic actress wife was successfully and hilariously portrayed by Gloria Bursey, senior. Chloe Burton, sophomore, effectively played the daughter who would have preferred more conventional parents, but joined in the spirit of eccentricity that prevailed in the household. Doris Beaumar, senior, was a thoroughly sophisticated vampire, and Rosemary Clarke, freshman, was good as the naive house guest. Betty Miller, freshman, gave an outstanding performance as the unconventional maid, excelling in a table-setting scene.

Sunday morning worship service was given in Roemer Auditorium by Dr. Theodore A. Gill, dean of the chapel, who spoke on "God and Our Goals." Following the service, dinner was served in Ayres dining room for guests and students.

HORSE SHOW

Sunny VanEaton, freshman, was the ringmaster. The prizes, silver identification bracelets, were awarded by Dr. Paulena Nickell, dean of Lindenwood, Miss Dorothy Ross, director of physical education, and the class presidents, Deane Dettmann, senior, Ann Carlisle, junior, Margie Terrell, sophomore, and Sidney Finks, freshman.
