

Lindenwood Will Celebrate 126th Anniversary; Dean Nickell To Deliver Address

The 126th anniversary of the founding of Lindenwood College will be commemorated on October 16. It will begin with a convocation address at 11 a. m. in Roemer Auditorium by Dr. Paulena Nickell. Dr. Nickell is the new dean of the faculty this year.

Maintaining the tradition of previous years, a pilgrimage to the graves of the founders, Major George and Mary Easton Sibley, will be made immediately after luncheon at which all returning alumnae will be guests of the student body in Ayres dining hall.

Lindenwood, the oldest college for women west of the Mississippi, was founded in 1827 by Major and Mrs. Sibley, when she was a 16-year-old bride. The land for the college, called "Linden Wood," was originally bought by Major Sibley in 1814. Two years later, Mary Sibley opened her school for girls. Despite the lack of money, she was able to keep it in operation by untiring efforts and belief in her school.

By 1831, it was possible to construct a log dormitory, and Mrs. Sibley, in order to keep the enrollment growing, traveled in her carriage, "The Ship of Zion," to interview prospective students. Then, in 1865, the cornerstone for the first permanent building was laid, and Lindenwood was well on the way to its present position as an institution firmly based upon high scholarship and thorough Christian training.

It is of interest that Easton Avenue, on which Lindenwood girls often go into St. Louis, was named for Rufus Easton, the father of Mrs. Sibley and the first postmaster of St. Louis.

Gen. Eisenhower Hears Dr. Clarke

During their recent visit to St. Louis, General and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower attended the Second Presbyterian Church of St. Louis, of which the Rev. Dr. James W. Clarke is pastor. Dr. Clarke is president of the Board of Directors at Lindenwood.

Lindenwood Proves Popularity; Freshman Enrollment Up 15.7 Per Cent

Mr. Mac and his staff have just proven a well known fact—you can't judge Lindenwood by the average. Last year when the nation's college enrollment was down 11.8 per cent, Lindenwood's enrollment was up 3 per cent. This year Lindenwood has done better than ever, the over-all increase is 5.17 per cent, while Freshman enrollment is up 15.7 per cent.

When you break down the total number of students into the various classes, it becomes apparent the Freshies, with a little organization, could walk off with the school. Any class with 184 members is one worth watching, and judging by the Freshmen, they've got what it takes to stir up a little excitement. The Sophomores, numbering 72, have already proven themselves. The number of Juniors does the old heart good. Why?

Add Seven To Faculty; Three Head Residents

Dr. Paulena Nickell is the new dean of the faculty of Lindenwood. Dr. Nickell was on the campus for Orientation Week, and will take up her residence at the college later this fall. Dr. Nickell succeeds Dr. Eunice C. Roberts, who resigned to become director of women's education and assistant dean of faculties at University of Indiana. Dr. Alice Parker is acting dean this fall.

Dr. Nickell holds a B.S. degree from the University of Minnesota, an M.A. in economics from Columbia University, and a Ph.D. in consumer economics from the University of Minnesota. She was a member of the faculty of the University of Minnesota for six years and assistant professor at the University of Illinois. She has been professor and head of the Home Management Department of Iowa State College since 1936 and associate dean since 1947.

Dr. Nickell is the author of numerous professional and popular articles in various journals, was a contributing author to Dameron's "Consumer Problems in Wartime," and a co-author of "Management in Family Living."

Miss Sophie Payne Alston of Atlanta, Ga., has started her work on the Lindenwood campus this fall as head of the Department of Home Economics.

Miss Alston came to Lindenwood from the Berry Schools and College, Mt. Berry, Ga., and is a graduate of Mississippi State College for Women at Columbus, with a B.S. in home economics. She received her master's degree from the University of Chicago and has done further graduate work at Columbia University, New York, and Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.

Colson Holiday

Robert (I Like Ike) Colson declared an all-campus holiday in honor of Ike's visit to St. Louis recently. Like most Republican sponsored improvements and "gifts" this one did not stand up under investigation — Saturday is always a holiday. However, discounting this fact and giving him the benefit of the doubt, this Republican sponsored improvement could not be wholly appreciated by a certain faction on campus.

The Democratic Party members felt that a deliberate attempt was being made to starve them into submission. The Tea Room employees had been given the day off. Mr. Republican evidently felt that any payment of these employees would constitute a subsidy.

Certain facts, only lately revealed, add further reasons for the holiday. With the addition of two more elephants to the collection on his desk, Mr. Colson will automatically become Republican National Committeeman. He is also the man most likely to secure the Secretary of Treasury.

League Offers

Opportunity To Cast Your Vote

Are you a frustrated politician or a rabble rouser? If so the League of Women Voters offers you a chance to make good in your chosen profession. You will have many opportunities to take an active part in political affairs this year. One of the high lights will be the political campaign to be sponsored by the League approximately October 3. The week of campaigning will be followed by a straw ballot to be taken on campus. Just because you are a new student and don't think you know enough about the League to take part, don't let that stop you. If there are questions you would like to have answered, come to the League of Women Voters meetings.

Each year the League of Women Voters opens its activities with a welcoming tea. These teas are held especially for the Freshmen and other new students, to acquaint them with the organization and its purpose.

The League was organized on campus in 1947 and ever since has been most active in all political activities, not only on campus, but in St. Charles as well. Last year for the first time Freshmen were given the opportunity to hold the office of treasurer. Mary Dunn was elected from the Freshman Class this year to the office of treasurer. Last year's treasurer, Zeke Curtin, is now president of the League; vice president is Jane Evans; secretary, Margaret Conrad, and sponsor, Dr. Homer Clevenger.

This is an informative organization designed to develop woman's position in politics. Each woman is given the opportunity to see and understand how major political parties work.

A Citizenship Day held each year is a formal welcome to women who are 21 or will be that year to take the Oath of Citizenship.

Nada Roberson Elected To Head Seniors: Sandra Snider Is Junior Class President

Senior President

Nada Sue Roberson of Mexico, Mo., who heads this year's Senior Class.

President of the Senior Class is Nada Sue Roberson. Nada, a Physical Education major and Science minor, is from Mexico, Mo. She is a member of A.A., F.T.A., Beta Chi, and plays on all the teams. Nada is also president of Terrapin, was on the Popularity Court her Junior year, and was first attendant to the Valentine Queen her Sophomore year. This past summer Nada counseled at Camp Chickagami in Wisconsin. Nada's home for the next nine months is Butler Hall.

Carolyn White is the Vice President of the Senior Class. She is from West Point, Miss. Her major is Elementary Education. Carolyn is a member of F.T.A., Young Republican Club, and League of Women Voters. Last year she was president of Cobbs Hall, where she has made her home again.

Janice Blevins Lange, Secretary of the Senior Class, is a Home Economics major. Janis is a member of Pi Alpha Mu, Colhecon Club, and the Modern Language Club. Her home, until she was married, was in Cumberland, Ky. Jan, who recently was married, was president of the Junior Class.

Treasurer of the Senior Class is Rita McGee. Rita is from Mt. Pulaski, Ill. Her major is art. She is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Alpha Sigma Tau, Pi Alpha Mu, the Young Republican Club and Colhecon Club. Rita is living in Cobbs Hall.

Sandra Snider is the President of the Junior Class. Sandra is from Borger, Texas, and was a transfer student from North State Teachers College in Texas. Her major is Speech. Other officers of the Junior Class are: Penny Todsén, a Home Economics major from Mexico, Mo., Vice President; Jeanette Hester from Russellville, Ala., Secretary; Caroline Singleton of Trenton, Tenn., Treasurer.

The Sophomore Class elected Ronny Dysart its President. Ronny is from Webster Groves, Mo. She has many other interests on campus such as Choir, Delta Theta, is a pledge to Mu Phi Epsilon, is active in the League of

Cast Is Selected For First Play

"The Importance of Being Earnest" is the first play to be presented this season by the Drama Department, it was announced by Douglas Hume.

The setting of the play is late Victorian England and is high comedy. The plot contains plenty of surprises and centers around two young gentlemen of good social position, with no specific occupation, and their loves who are no more serious than they themselves.

The play will be given two nights and will be double cast with only the male cast and the role of Merriman remaining unchanged both evenings.

The cast follows:
Jack Worthing, Robert Douglas Hume; Algernon Moncrief, Sigmund Betz; Lane, William McMurry; Dr. Chasuble, Roy Schaffer; Lady Bracknell, Sue Elliott, Mary Ann Cooper; Gwendolyn, Paula Moore, Margaret Taylor; Cecily, Nell Culver, Barbara Binger; Miss Prism, Gloria Bursey, Sandra Snider; Merriman, Sally Hoskins.

House Eliminates Brussel Sprouts, Apple Salad; Adds 'Eye Appeal'

Have you noticed anything different in the dining room? The girl who was paying her tuition in brussel sprouts seems to have disappeared from the campus! Her twin, the apple salad queen, has also mysteriously vanished from our midst. Perhaps her father's orchards perished in the recent Democratic drought.

In place of these fabulous femmes has appeared that most noble specimen of that most glorious American institution — Bachelorhood — Mr. Carl House!

Although Mr. House, Director of Food Service, was born in Midland, Mich., he calls Buffalo, N. Y., his home. He attended school in Canada and was in the restaurant business in Hollywood for many years.

He became associated with Cratty Brothers, one of the oldest and most respected firms that operate dining halls.

The thing at L.C. that impressed Mr. House most was the friendliness of everyone on campus. He enjoys feeding us because "we eat well." He plans our meals with "common sense" and "eye appeal."

Mr. House is always open to suggestions or criticisms, and if any of you have any recipes for parsnips or sauerkraut he would appreciate them. There are four cases of parsnips and six cases of sauerkraut left over from last year!

This is the first time the school has had a Food Service Director.

The Staff Makes Its Bow

The first edition of the Linden Bark comes to you from a staff which is comprised of members of the Journalism class. Nearly all of us are new in the journalism field but we shall try to give you the kind of newspaper you want and keep you well informed on campus affairs.

The Bark will feature many columns familiar to the Sophomores and Upperclassmen. Suggestions from the entire student body will be appreciated.

It is hoped that advertisers of the Bark will not be forgotten when you do your shopping. Our advertisers appreciate your patronage and are pleased to know that their advertisement is worth while.

We will try to bring you a paper you can be proud of. However, our job is futile unless YOU let us know what YOU want.

Dr. Linnemann

A college is more than a campus and ivy covered walls. The heart of the college is the faculty whose members devote their lives to the institution. One of those loyal faculty members was Dr. Alice Linnemann, who gave her entire life to the services of Lindenwood. Dr. Linnemann was active in all the alumnae activities and Lindenwood clubs all over the country. The alumnae, faculty and student body owe a deep debt of gratitude to her for nearly a half century of devotion to Lindenwood.

Voting A 'Must'

Do you realize your responsibilities as a citizen of the United States? You say, "Of course I do! I obey the laws. Oh, once in a while I run a red traffic light, but . . ."

Think a minute though. Is watching the traffic signal the only obligation you must meet to be a useful, active citizen? You have the right to drive an automobile when you have met the requirements. But do you consider the privilege to cast a ballot for your candidate as an honor placed upon you by your citizenship? A right every eligible voter should cherish and exercise? Wait, not only should, but must exercise if America is to continue to be a leader nation of the world.

There is no penalty for non-voters as there is for traffic violators. There is no law which compels you to vote; it only allows you that right. Efficiency in government relies upon the interest and activity of every citizen. Therefore, you must realize your power to maintain a strong, impregnable democracy by using the vote your Constitution gives you. So if you are eligible to vote, use your privilege proudly and carefully in this 1952 Presidential election, or if you cannot vote this year, do your utmost to influence your voting friends by affiliating with one of the political parties and joining the Lindenwood League of Women Voters.

ELSIE SAYS

By Gloria Bursey

Elsie says "Hi" to all the new students—and their beaux. It seems that every time she turns around she sees freshmen and MEN! The Sophomores and Upperclassmen are beginning to get an inferiority complex. After the mixer though, Elsie doesn't feel she has to worry about anyone anymore. Now that she can cross that problem off her list, she can concentrate on her school work—and believe me Elsie has plenty. She just never seems to get finished, and knowing L.C. she knows that twice as much is coming. So Elsie must hibernate for awhile. Bye.

The Corn Popper

By Gloria Bursey

We could start out this little episode with some sort of comment on the world situation. But then there is the constant danger of being contradicted by the Russians. Since that has failed, we could open up with a sly witticism about one of the rural population, but since one of my suite-mates is of that group, that won't do either. When all possibilities are ended, there is the ever-present topic of woman singers. But, since I do not like to get nasty letters from Margaret's father, I will dismiss that topic also. So: As a cigarette said to the tray on the shelf, I'll just go on making an ash of myself.

You know, it's the hardest thing to keep from treating the professors like people. We can't seem to get used to the student-teacher relationship, but we keep on trying. (Thanks to The Southwest Standard here) On the other hand the teachers may be seriously wondering what constitutes a girl. Well now: Girls are opposite of boys; Boys are rough; Rough is what queens wear around their necks; Necks winter will be cold; Cold is what makes ice; Ice is frozen water; "Water you doing tonight?" is a question; A question is a problem; Therefore, girls are a problem.

And when Miss L. received this call she probably agreed:

Voice on phone—"Ginger Snap is sick and can't come to class today. She requested me to notify you."

Miss L.—"All right. Who is this speaking?"

Voice—"This is my roommate."

I imagine poor Doty must have been asked many questions about all the "men" coming to L. C. Four typical ones were probably:

Athletic Girl: "What does he do?"

Chorus Girl: "What is he worth?"

Society Girl: "What does he read?"

Average L.C. Girl: "Where is he?"

ALL BARK AND NO BITE

By Nell Culver

Welcome, welcome, welcome! Whether you're old or new, we're glad to have you here. (And that includes the two Seniors who are both old and new.)

Before we forget it, let's thank the people who made Orientation Week so much fun. Mary Lou managed to make each Freshman feel right at home from the minute she arrived, and the counselors did a tremendous job to back her up. Grett organized the parties, and Stelle was in charge of the Friday night variety show. Special credit should go to Beth Banta, Alice Walthall, and the rest of the Student Council, who worked so hard to make the week run smoothly.

The year's off to a good start. KCLC went on the air last Tuesday with a lot of new programs and some revitalized old shows. The A.A. has begun its hockey season and is beginning to think about basketball and volleyball, SCA had a big turnout for its first pow-wow, and nearly all of the clubs have had organization meetings.

Our "girl of the week" is Dottie. She saw to it that the social season opened with a flourish with the dances and bonfire the first week end and the trip to Westminster last Saturday. Lindenwood can now offer the advantages of a girls' college and those of a co-ed school combined.

B.N.O.C. (Big News On Campus) this fall is the straw ballot on October 28, to be cast by students and counted by the League of Women Voters. It will be fun to see if our opinion coincides as nearly with that of the voters as it did with the conventioners last spring and summer. At our student political conventions last March the Republicans picked Eisenhower as their candidate and the Democrats chose Stevenson. The League's going to make it awfully easy to cast your ballot, so for goodness' sake, do. We can certainly outdo our parents in percentage of eligible voters who cast ballots.

Incidentally, when you do cast your vote this month, be careful to mark the right name. And beware of petitions. At the University of Pittsburgh recently, while 93 political candidates were hurrying about getting petitions signed which endorsed their candidacies, an amused reporter for the Pitt News circulated his own petition. It stated that he was running for the position of elevator operator, and he got 31 students out of 34 to sign it without reading the first page.

Afire with success, the reporter drew up another petition which said, "We, the undersigned . . . fully admit to being first class fools for not reading this before signing it." The score: 24 signatures out

Have you heard about the cupcake shortage in Rome? Once upon a time (check me on this, Dr. Clevenger), cupcakes were the favorite food of Roman nobles. They were a real delicacy. And then one year there were some terrible shortages in the Empire. There was hardly any sugar, very little flour, and eggs were extremely scarce. Lacking package mixes, the Romans were at a real loss. They were forced to ration cupcakes, allowing only one cupcake a day per citizen, no matter what his rank.

Great care was taken that no cupcakes were misplaced, stolen, or strayed—in fact Julius Caesar himself took the most elaborate precautions.

One night Caesar had a state banquet. Everyone was there. Brutus himself was at the opposite end of the table. Behind each guest's chair stood a guard, placed there for the sole purpose of guarding the three huge plates of cupcakes which stood on the table.

Dessert time came. Brutus, always talkative, was deeply engrossed in a conversation with the man on his immediate right. The servants, used to Mark's habits, began passing cupcakes on Brutus' left. Each man pondered the problem of chocolate or vanilla, selected a cake, and then the servant passing them went on to the next guest.

Brutus, of course, was the last to be served. Abstractedly, still deep in discussion with his neighbor, he reached blindly for the one remaining cupcake. THERE WAS NO CUPCAKE ON THE PLATE! Brutus stopped talking. The great hall was suddenly hushed.

"Where," asked he of the assembled nobility, "where is my cupcake?" The servants all turned suddenly pale. Then Julius Caesar, magnificent in a white robe and gold sandals, rose to his full height at the end of the table. Close observers noticed the tears which fell from his downcast eyes. "Et tu, Brutus," he said.

NEW PROGRAMS FEATURE FALL SEASON ON KCLC. NELL CULVER IS STATION MANAGER DIRECTING LARGE STAFF

By Gloria Bursey
Mike fright seems to be rare nowadays at KCLC. With the enthusiastic response of the Freshmen and the competent staff as well as the regular personnel, the station is really giving the airwaves a new permanent.

Our red-haired station manager, Nell Culver, has been busy planning KCLC's future which began with the successful Open House starring Ray McCarthy, Stan Daugherty, and Mark Russell from KMOX in St. Louis. Alice Walthall, program director, is responsible for scheduling of programs while Von Burton's job is explained by her title of music director. Max Davis has not yet begun her work as I.B.S. Representative, but she'll be quite occupied when she does. Two people whom you may see tearing their hair are Mary Kirchherr, advertising director, for she must find sponsors, and Irene Kern, chief engineer, for she must find engineers. When Eunice Sheley returns from Washington she will take over the duties of program director.

The Radio Workshop has been meeting and many students are preparing original scripts. Dinky Izenberg, continuity director, who directs and produces "Dramatically Yours," has cast and given the play, "The League of Animals." In it were: Joyce Murphey, Barbara Bellows, Mary Ann Cooper, Barbara Rowe, Mary Monroe, Betsy Barton, Iris Altrogge, Celia Bay, Pearl Kurman, Ann Harper, Jean Johnson, and Harriet Allen.

The production class is going to have an exciting time. The "Children's Theatre of the Air" will begin the first of November over KFUE, a Clayton station. Other plans are being discussed concerning possible TV programs and making films. We can hardly wait to see the results.

Last but not least are the alumnae of KCLC. Sharlene Agerter, last year's station manager, is doing reception work for the Minnesota Historical Society with publicity and promotion work thrown in. Besides this she is going to University of Minnesota to get her Master's degree.

Nancy Sitigall, who was a Sophomore here, has a job in a radio station doing continuity and traffic work. From her description it sounds very exciting. She's met Guy Madison, Andy Devine, and many others. Not bad, eh?
See you all at KCLC.

Six Lindenwood Juniors Leave For Semester's Work At American University

The number of girls who could be sent by the college has increased because fewer schools are taking part in the program. Last year five girls attended: Beth Banta, Mary Lou Stubbs, Rita McGee, Estelle Swanson, Deana Izenberg. The official number to be sent by each school is four.

The students who participate in the Washington Semester program have two methods by which they observe their government at work. First, the Washington Semester Seminar is a planned program which enables the students to visit governmental agencies, attend sessions of the Supreme Court and the Congress of the United States, tour foreign embassies, and visit agencies of the United Nations. The Seminar enables the student to meet and discuss problems of interest with governmental personnel. The second method is a research project which each student writes on some subject that he is interested in. In addition they attend classes at American University School of Social Sciences and Public Affairs.

The girls will live in Roper House, the Washington Semester barracks belonging to American U., with students from several colleges and universities throughout the country. They will return to Lindenwood in February.

Around The Town

By Gloria Bursey
SYMPHONIES, PLAYS, BALLETS—sound good? Well, they're within your grasp. St. Louis is good for many things besides shopping, as you will soon discover.

To begin with, the Civic Music League offers the Robert Shaw Chorale, the Festival of Song by Uninsky and the Ana Maria Spanish Ballet. Of course these are only a few on the program.

Realizing students must live within their allowance, the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra has special student rates. But don't delay on this one, for these prices are good only until October 14.

Plays, did you say? The American Theatre is presenting Julie Harris in I Am a Camera, Call Me Madam and South Pacific, besides a host of others. By the way, be sure to inquire about the Playgoers Plan.

Like to see Gloria Swanson, Joseph Cotton, Joan Crawford—need I name more? The Empress Playhouse is the place for you. Best of all, it isn't very expensive, either.

Now, where to find about this fabulous variety. In Miss Lichter's office you will find the charming Miss Beals, who will wave her wand so that you can go to the ball. Incidentally, if twenty-five or more decide to go on the same afternoon or evening, the school will charter a bus.

A last word—don't forget to check the rules in the handbook before you go.

Next time I'll introduce some interesting places to eat.

S. C. A. Plans Fall Activities

The Student Christian Association will sponsor a Halloween Noel Party the last of this month for the children of Markham Memorial in St. Louis. All students are urged to take an active part in the party and all activities during the year.

The association has held its preliminary meetings with this year's officers presiding: President, Lavone Burton, vice president, Nell Culver; secretary, Eleanor Mauze; treasurer, Jeanette Hester; program chairman, Ruth Weber; chairman of social responsibilities, Mary Lou McLeod; chairman of Christian Faith, Arline Krue; publicity chairman, Dorothy Neblett; recreation chairman, Mary Nell Van Bibber; fellowship chairman, Margaret Pfoff; song leaders, Peggy Barber and Ann Gilbert.

The Freshmen have elected their junior cabinet and have held their first pow-wow with Mr. Schaffer, Episcopalian minister of St. Charles, presiding. The Freshman cabinet is as follows: President, Ginger Frye; vice president, Nancy Alvis; secretary, Betsy Barton, and treasurer, Ann Smith.

Dies

Dr. A. Linnemann, Member of L.C. Faculty, Dies

Funeral services were held on September 30 for Dr. Alice Linnemann at her home in St. Charles. Burial was in the Oak Grove Cemetery.

Dr. Linnemann, who taught many years here at Lindenwood, retired in 1944 as art director of the college. She was made professor emerita of art. She had been head of the Art Department for forty years. Miss Linnemann was dean of students while Dr. George F. Ayres was president, and after his death was acting president until Dr. John L. Roemer took the office.

Many of the Lindenwood clubs in cities all over the United States were organized through her efforts.

Miss Linnemann is survived by a brother, State Senator Robert Linnemann, and two sisters, Misses Kahryn and Hulda Linnemann of St. Charles.

Tribute to her long service to Lindenwood was paid by Dr. Francis L. McCluer, who preached the funeral sermon.

Modes Of The Hour

By Alice Vignocchi
Harriet Quin is Lindenwood's own consultant on continental fashions. Harriet spent the summer touring Europe and saw at first hand the fabulous Italian and French modes that we read about in all the leading fashion magazines. One of the things that seemed to impress her most was that many of the peoples in European countries still cling to the traditional dress. For example, in Switzerland, the men wear waistcoats, knickers, and blouses. The French, as usual, pleased the sophisticate with daring décolleté, and the bikini bathing suits of a few years ago are still atomic.

But on the campus all over the United States skirts and sweaters still steal the show. For dress up occasions, such as dates, trips into St. Louis, many of the girls have chosen pretty colored tailored suits and tweeds. The most popular color is grey with white, black, or grey accessories. For the dressiest of occasions the coat dress is back in style.

The jersey blouse is becoming more popular every year. Soon they will take the place of the long-worn sweater. On our campus we have a great variety, from plain colors to stripes. The bat sleeve is worn for more ease and freedom.

The Linden Leaves Are Whispering

Many Lindenwood girls have returned from summer vacation with their "leap year" missions accomplished. There are also those who have not. We won't go into that.

Alice Walthall is engaged to Lt. Zack Taylor-6 ft.-brown eyes-and as Alice says, "just perfect."

Jean Thiery is engaged to a Lambda Chi from William Jewell College.

Congratulations Judy Anderson, who was Miss Liberty Missouri this year.

Have you noticed that far away look in Dinky Izenberg's eyes? Could be she is thinking of a certain Ted at Dartmouth whose pin she is wearing.

A certain Sophomore in Butler Hall was told she had a gentleman guest waiting in the parlor. She quickly changed clothes and rushed down (thinking he was her man from Nebraska) only to find it was Mr. Middents. Poor Pat, she had slept through most of her sculpturing class!

Prissy received a telegram from Tokyo the first week of school and the next thing I heard was that she was registered at the Bridal Shop at Stix. Wedding plans, Prissy?

Dr. Elizabeth Dawson, of the English Department, was recently seen wearing an "I Like Ike" button!

Miss Beasley: "How do you find the lowest common denominator?"

Marge Crabbe: "I didn't know it was lost!"

There is no truth in the rumor that Miss Clutterbuck is building a wooden typewriter for those who work like beavers in typing.

The Campus Hall Of Fame

The great and glorious Linden Bark summons to its Court of Campus Achievement as its first maid, Miss Prissy Lord. She is the only girl, within the memory of the faculty, to be elected dorm president her Freshman and Sophomore years at Lindenwood. At this time she is president of Nicolls Hall, and doing a mighty fine job of it.

Prissy is engaged in an earnest attempt to teach the younger generation of St. Charles how to dance. She has a studio on campus and gives professional lessons. While in her presence it is wise to avoid the subject of her competition. Prissy has done some professional dancing, and this is her second term as president of Orchestis, the campus modern dance society.

Since dancing is her main aim in life, it is not surprising that drama and radio would be her major. Prissy has a radio show this yearon which she reads poetry. It will be worth your time to listen.

Women Voters, and was on the Junior S.C.A. Cabinet. Surprised and happy, Ronnie said, "I think we have a terrific class and I hope that we plan lots of get-togethers." Her major is music with emphasis on voice. Other officers are: Sue Norton, better known as "Yankee," of Otter Lake, N. Y., Vice President. Sue's major is Physical Education. Rosemary Danz, Union, Mo., Secretary. Rosemary's major is Speech. Irene Kern, of Vincennes, Ind., is Treasurer. Irene is chief engineer at KCLC.

THE CLUB CORNER MUSCLEBOUND

By Jancy Noel

The first meeting of the Commercial Club was held in the Library Club Room September 22. New officers were elected as follows: President, Bettye Montgomery; vice president, Pat Zimmerman; secretary, Mildred Jarman; treasurer, Suk Hun Chan. After the business meeting, there was a social hour in which the students discussed the activities of the year.

Alpha Sigma Tau, the local scholastic honor society of campus, held its initial service and tea honoring new members in September. The officers are as follows: President, Peggy Pennel; vice president, Jackie Cheney, and secretary-treasurer, Nell Culver. No new members have been selected.

Phi Theta, Lindenwood chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, will hold its annual tea for Freshman music majors this month. Ann Gilbert is the only pledge for this semester. Peggy Pennel, president of the organization, will preside at a tea for the faculty and administration of the Founder's Day of the organization, late in November.

Members of the Poetry Society met in September to elect its new officers. Carol Mahan was named president; Romaine Gibson, vice president, and Beth Glebe, secretary-treasurer.

Terrapin has held its try-outs for new members. However, those members have not yet been announced. Nada Sue Roberson is the new president of the society and Mary Elizabeth Roberts is the new secretary-treasurer.

The FTA, the only professional organization on the campus, will hold its first meeting of the year on October 15 at 4 p. m. The meeting will be held in the Library Club Room and will have as its purpose the perfection of the organization for the school year 1952-53. Officers will be elected and the year's programs will be planned.

Of last year's membership of 50 members, 20 have returned. With this number as a nucleus, an enrollment of 75 or more students in the organization is expected. All students currently or previously enrolled in education courses are eligible. The aim of the FTA is to stimulate a professional attitude and spirit among those who plan and are preparing to enter teaching. Three other meetings of the group will occur during the year. Excellent programs including addresses by prominent educators will be planned.

Sports at Lindenwood have gotten off to a good start. This fall as usual, hockey heads the list. Miss Marguerite Ver Kruzen is pleased with the turnout among the Freshman Class and also among the upperclassmen.

Coming up on October 22 is A.A.'s informal initiation. To be eligible a potential athlete has to have six hours of three sports, two hours in each sport.

FOR EVERYONE INTERESTED A.A. WOULD LIKE TO SEE A BIG TURNOUT THIS MONTH

The Women's Athletic Association at Lindenwood College is off to a booming start! Many activities are scheduled for the first semester.

Officers for the year are: Marian Stoerker, president; Ruth Weber, vice president; Carol Walters, treasurer; Marlene Eitmann, first semester secretary; Alice Vignocchi, social chairman; Thil Vander Haagen, publicity chairman; Marlene Czarlinski, intramural chairman.

There is a slight change in the Athletic Association constitution in that the white sweater award will not be given. The A.A. has as its purpose the promotion of sportsmanship, rather than the accomplishments of awards.

Newly appointed hall chairmen are: Sue Norton, Butler; Sissy Roberts, Irwin; Sue Anderson, Cobbs; Gret Bartenbach, Sibley; Kay Collins, Niccolls; Joan Blessing, Day Students.

One of our most important activities of the year is the A.A. initiation for all new members. To gain admittance into the association the following requirements are to be fulfilled: Twelve participation points plus 30 test points which are equal to 42 points, three beginning sports tests must be passed. Two practice hours in the sport in which the test is to be taken are required.

Members of the A.A. board will give the various tests on October 14 and 16 from 6:30 to 7:30 p. m. and on October 20, from 6:30 to 7:00 p. m. in the gymnasium.

An Athletic Federation of College Women convention is scheduled to be held in Springfield, Mo. Marian Stoerker, Alice Vignocchi, and Nada Sue Roberson are to be the official delegates representing Lindenwood.

All students are encouraged to attend hockey practice. Experience is not necessary. The official team has not been selected, so all positions are open. Team practices are on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoons from 4:00 to 5:30 p. m.

Miss Sophie Payne Auston, head of the Department of Home Economics.

FACULTY

Mrs. Dora Quinn Arney, who has been teaching in the St. Charles public schools, is a new member of the Department of Physical Education at Lindenwood. She has replaced Miss Martha Reese, who is now living in Texas.

Mrs. Arney is a graduate of Southwest Missouri State College at Springfield and received her B.S. in 1950. She had been doing graduate work at the University of Missouri. Her husband, Nelson D. Arney, is a coach and teacher in the St. Charles public schools.

Robert A. Cruce, former assistant professor of music at Georgia State College for Women at Millersville, is a new member of the Music Department this fall.

Mr. Cruce was graduated from Hendrix College, Conway, Ark., and received his master's degree from the University of Michigan. He served in the infantry during World War II in Europe. Mr. Cruce taught for a year in the Cape Girardeau public schools immediately after his release from the service.

As a member of the Lindenwood Music Department, he will direct the orchestra and will teach courses in public school music education.

Miss Charlotte Clutterbuck is the new chairman of the Department of Secretarial Science at Lindenwood this fall. Miss Clutterbuck holds a graduate degree from the University of Chicago and has attended Rockford College and Northwestern University. She has taught at Moser Business College, the United States Navy Radio Training School, and Northwestern University.

Miss Mildred Fischer has been appointed chairman of the Department of Art this fall. Miss Fischer was an instructor at the Fort Wayne Art School in Indiana last year. Miss Fischer received her education at Mount Holyoke College, Boston School of Interior Decoration, Harvard University, Chicago Art Institute, Cranbrook School, the School of Emmy Zwerbrück (Vienna), and the School of Franz Cisek (Vienna). She has received numerous prizes for painting and some of her paintings have been exhibited in national exhibitions since 1944.

The new Head Residents are Mrs. Calvert, who has been at McMillan Hall (for women) at Washington University, and is now Head Resident of Niccolls Hall; Miss Beals, who has been teaching English in the public schools at Murray, Ky., and is now Head Resident of Butler Hall; and Mrs. Jones, the new Head Resident in Sibley Hall, who comes from Henderson, N. C.

Miss Dorothy Matthews, of Sikeston, Mo., has been appointed Director of Social Activities. She was, for a time, at Hollins College and was graduated in 1951 from the University of Missouri.

Missing Week Freshman Found At Home

Miss Patricia Powers, who has been missing since September 22, has been found in Wichita, Kans., her home town. But the 17 year old girl is now Mrs. Cecil Banks. When questioned earlier, the missing girl's boy friend said that he hadn't seen her. Acting on an anonymous telephone call, Wichita police found Mr. and Mrs. Banks. Mrs. Heshley, a Wichita chiropractor, who is divorced from Pat's father, has been in St. Charles since last Saturday, helping in the search.

Betty Jack Wins Honors For Poetry

Betty Jack Littleton, 1951 graduate magna cum laude, won recognition for two poems in last year's Atlantic Monthly contest for college students. The poems were written in a special project course which she took the year before last with Dr. Elizabeth Dawson, professor of English. One poem was among the "top papers," from which contest winners were chosen, and the other was listed among the "merit" papers. Judge of the poetry was Theodore Morrison, poet and critic.

Prof. Dobinson Speaks At Student Meeting

Prof. C. H. Dobinson of Reading University, England, was the guest speaker at a convocation September 29. His topic was "Social Changes in England Since the War."

While visiting Bishop Otter College in England, Professor Dobinson met Dr. Agnes Sibley, who told him about Lindenwood. He has been teaching at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Ark., and was invited to Lindenwood by Dr. McCluer.

Upperclassmen Give Variety Show

Upperclassmen entertained the Freshmen with a variety show, "The Lindenwood Family Album," during Orientation Week. The show was divided into eight skits.

Included in the skits were: "Coun-Syncopated Skit," "Bathroom Parlor Meeting," "Blind Dates," "ties," and "Orientation." The skits were take-offs on situations with which the Freshmen would soon become familiar.

Directors of the show were Estelle Swanson and Nell Culver. Lyrics of the songs for the show were written by Estelle.

V.P. Celebration One Of Oldest In St. Louis

The Veiled Prophet celebration has been held early each October since 1878. The celebration begins with a parade of elaborate floats expressing some chosen theme, followed by dancing and street revels. The culmination of the celebration is a formal ball, given in Kiel Auditorium, at which His Mysterious Majesty, the Veiled Prophet, picks with pomp and ceremony a Queen of Love and Beauty to reign over St. Louis social life for the coming season.

Nell Culver, Von Burton and Tamara Wilson are among the lucky L.C. girls who will attend the ball.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."
