Christmas at Lindenwood

The Annual RED CROSS Roll Call!

The Christmas Seal Sale!

Inquiry About Travel HOME!

TELLS US

CHRISTMAS

IS NEAR!

AS THE Christmas season approaches I am sure all of us have the wish that the good feeling and good will which is ours during the holidays would continue throughout every day in the year. Every one seems to be of that opinion on Christmas Day, and it isn't really impossible for us to be possessed with the spirit of giving rather than getting every day; how much easier it would make problems all over the world.

The dolls that mark the days and the many other gadgets Lindenwood women have to determine "How Many More Days Before Christmas" are as usual very much in evidence. Each year we have lots of pre-Christmas activities on the campus; in fact, Lindenwood's Christmas is over at eleven o'clock on the 19th of December this year — when the girls go home the campus becomes a deserted village.

The college wishes the home folks and Lindenwood women a delightful Christmas season. We hope — as we know you do too — that peace and contentment come to a troubled world. Our belief is the Light of the Star of Bethlehem is the guiding compass in a troubled world. A Memory Candle will come to you again this year, with the hope that many will gather around in Memory Circles to think of College Days and Lindenwood Friends.

Perhaps the most we can do in 1941 is to keep the spirit of Glad Tidings and Good Will alive every day of the year.

Lindenwood Graduate Operates Her Own Business

The following letter tells an interesting story of a Lindenwood graduate who has made good in the business world. The writer is Iva Maye Adams, Class of '23, who is now the proprietor of her own business in Mangum, Okla. Her letter follows:

"As you know, I have been the keeper of my own shop for fourteen years. At first we did drapery and decorative work over Southwestern Oklahoma and a part of Texas, covering the territory regularly taking orders and making deliveries. This was a fascinating job and a profitable one until there were so many bank failures in this section. Of course, that was a luxury trade and since that time we have turned more and more to dressmaking.

"Each year the dressmaking business grows until now we send garments all over the state and have recently signed a contract with a Los Angeles shop to supply them with all their formals. I have two assistants in the shop and another who sketched my ideas for our California customer.

"We plan, argue, work and HAVE FUN! Our aim, a Perfect fit, for the customer, her purse, the time and the place the garment is to be worn. Every problem is different and every customer. It keeps us busy to stay a season in advance in ideas, fabrics, and the markets where they can be found, for in most cases we do all the planning and buying. Most non-resident customers tell us only the type of garment they want, the rest is on our shoulders."

Miss Adams hopes some one of the Lindenwood graduates of 1941 would be willing to come into her shop and work up with the business.

Ohio Lindenwood Club Re-elects Officers

Officers of the Ohio Lindenwood Club were re-elected at a dinner meeting at the Neil House in Columbus on October 19. Miss Dorothy Gartner of Chillicothe is President, Mrs. F. H. ## Four Lindenwood Girls in College Who's Who Four Lindenwood students have been elected to the 1940-41 Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. They are: Mary Jean DuHadway, Jerseyville, Ill., editor of the Linden Leaves and president of Alpha Sigma Tau; Sara Jefferson, Union City, Tenn., vice-president of the Student Council and president of Sigma Tau Delta; Peggy Turcott, Wichita, Kan., member of the Student Faculty Committee and vice-president of Pi Gamma Mu; and Martha Weber, St. Louis, president of the Student Council and maid of honor to the 1940 May Queen.

To be included in Who's Who, a student must have a combination of qualities; character, leadership, scholarship and potentialities.

The purpose of Who's Who is to serve as an incentive for students to get more out of their college careers, as a means of compensation to students for what they have already done, as a recommendation to the business world, and as a standard of measurement for students. Only juniors and seniors are selected.

Lindenwood Boy

Bobby was just three months old when he posed for this picture on Labor Day. (Officially he is Robert Poll Lohrman), and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lohrman, of 611 Kings-highway, St. Charles. Mrs. Lohrman was Evelyn Poll, Class of '35. * * *

Miss Pearl Walker and Mr. John Thomas of the faculty of the department of music presented a recital at Vespers Sunday, November 17.

Democracy in Lindenwood's Curriculum

How Lindenwood Is Helping Each Student Work Out for Herself the Pattern for a Well-Rounded Life

by Dr. Alice E. Gipson

ACADEMIC DEAN

THE first premise of democracy to most individuals is that each member of the democracy shall have the right and the opportunity to develop himself in any direction that he desires. There is a denial that the government has the right to formulate for any individual his whole existence and to exact from him undeviating obedience to any type of life which the rulers of the government may try to dictate. If democracy in this country is to survive, it will certainly be the obligation of the colleges to do everything possible to train the students in the way of democracy.

With this in mind, the curriculum of Lindenwood College has been named "Patterns for Living." The conception back of this name is that each individual student shall be given the opportunity to work out for herself the type of life for which she is best fitted and to which she aspires and that it shall be a well-rounded life in every regard. The curriculum assumes that each girl who graduates from the College with a bachelor's degree will be an intelligent and well informed individual. The administration has analyzed the needs of the modern young woman, and the curriculum is designed to meet these needs.

First, the College assumes that its graduates will be well informed on international conditions with the belief that the understanding of these will, when the days of sanity return to the world, enable the college student to take an intelligent part in confirming peace in the world. The curriculum offers many courses in the direction of international understanding, and in addition the College sponsors a strong International Relations Club which is this year giving frequent broadcasts over one of the St. Louis stations. These broadcasts show the solid depth of information which the students in this subject are obtaining.

Closely allied with the question of international understanding is the feeling that the young woman of Lindenwood College should be an intelligent American citizen. This demands an understanding of the problems of local, state, and federal government. In addition, our club of the League of Women Voters is open to all students of the school, and the recent national elections showed clearly the interest that the young women of today are taking in their electoral privilege.

Academic Dean

Dr. Alice E. Gipson

Stress is in these days frequently laid by our instructors and our speakers on the invaluable heritage which we have as members of a democracy and the responsibility that is the part of every thinking individual to defend that heritage.

Many of our students are well able from their interests and their personalities to be leaders in the communities to which they return after graduation. We feel that college women should be leaders, and many courses in our curriculum are offered with the idea that if training of such a sort is given that our students, on their returning to their home towns, they will be invaluable members of the life of the town because of the specialized training which they have received in college.

Our democracy recognizes the family as an invaluable unit in promoting the cause of democracy, and our curriculum endeavors to give the students highly specialized training in family life, child training, and child development, and in a study of human relations in the family through specialized courses in Psychology. Where the family life is sound and sane and the children in the family are allowed to develop normally because of the spirit of intelligence and kindness in the home, there is the foundation for retaining the spirit of democracy in the government. These courses are among the most popular in our curriculum.

The individual in a democracy is more than a member of the community and should have the right to develop himself outside of his vocational and his domestic or public life in the direction in which he has special ability or talent. The students of Lindenwood College are urged to do this. Private lessons in all the fine arts are given with no extra charge to the student with the idea that the spiritual and cultural value of these are of enormous advantages to the individual.

Lindenwood College, therefore, in its curriculum develops the idea that man cannot live by bread alone. There must be vision, understanding, imagination, and thoughtful intelligence in every college student. However, the College recognizes that bread is necessary for existence, and it advises each girl, no matter what her present economic status is, to prepare herself to make her own living if the need shall arise. The College trains students in many vocations and lays the foundations for professional training in others.

In every way, therefore, with the idea that each individual is a separate entity with different tastes, inclinations, and abilities, the College endeavors to allow its students to develop themselves along the lines for which they are best fitted. "Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" are the blessings which we still have in this country. This College has a deep appreciation of the value of retaining these, and in every way through the training it gives its students is endeavoring to stress to them the inestimable values which college trained people may obtain and which will make them of enormous importance in this country in the years to come in helping all the citizens of the country to retain these great benefits.

Dr. Paul Popenoe to Headline Family Life Conference

Nationally Known Authority to Come to Lindenwood for Conference in March—Alumnae to Participate in Sessions

By Dr. Florence W. Schaper

DIRECTOR STUDENT GUIDANCE AND PERSONNEL

As a contribution to American family life your Alma Mater is making extensive plans for the Family Life Conference to be held in March, 1941. This is the first conference on family living to be held on a college campus in our part of the country. The committee in charge of the conference is in close touch with the American Institute of Family Relations of Los Angeles, which plans to use all the resources of modern science in the development of happy family life.

Dr. Paul Popenoe, the founder and general director of the Institute, will be our featured speaker. He is a recognized authority in the field of family relationships and is a frequent contributor to books and pamphlets on the subject. In addition to Dr. Popenoe local authorities on family life will lead the panel discussions. Some of the topics to be presented are: "Boy Meets Girl"; "Challenges to Youth"; "Child Training"; "The House I Live In"; and "Family Budgeting."

Perhaps one of the most vital sessions will be the one in which outstanding representatives of the Jewish, Catholic, and Protestant faiths will explain the place of religion in contemporary American family life. Another interesting meeting will be a panel discussion in which parents and young people will discuss parent-child relationships. There will be meetings for youth, for parents, and for both groups together.

Invitations to the conference will be extended to student delegates from all of the colleges and universities in the area, to representatives from the faculties of the high schools in the St. Louis district, and to members of the Parent-Teacher Association and Federated Clubs of Missouri. It is our hope that the guests who attend this conference will be able to carry back to their respective communities inspiration and information for family living in these difficult times in which family security is essential for happiness. Readjustments in human living lie ahead for all of us in America and any contribution which a college can make to the life of the democracy in the area of family relationships, is thoroughly worthwhile.

As an alumna of Lindenwood you are cordially invited to participate in this Family Life Conference by making suggestions or listing special problems that in your judgment we ought to take cognizance of in planning for the conference. We will be very glad to receive these suggestions and problems from you by January 1, inasmuch as we hope to incorporate them in the program. A tentative program will be published in the January issue. Communications should be addressed to the Department of Sociology, Lindenwood College.

Chicago Lindenwood Club to Meet December 13

A style show, a discussion of Christmas decorations and menus, and cards will feature the December luncheon meeting of the Chicago Lindenwood Club on December 13 at 111 West Jackson boulevard. The luncheon is being given for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund and tickets will be 50 cents.

Mrs. Genevieve Wild Davis, the corresponding secretary, who lives at 602 Lake street, Evanston, writes us that the club invites all Lindenwood girls living near enough to attend, to come to the meetings which are held on the second Friday of each month.

Southern California Club Holds Hawaiian Luncheon

From Helen L. Rakestraw, Class of '20, and secretary of the Lindenwood Club of Southern California, comes an interesting letter telling of the club's meeting on October 19. Her letter follows:

"Members and guests of the Lindenwood Club of Southern California were entertained at an Hawaiian Luau at the Chancellor Hotel in Los Angeles. The Hawaiian motif was carried out in the decorations, prizes and luncheon; and in the costumes worn by the hostesses, Mrs. Dear, Mrs. McAdams, Miss Kinkaid, Miss Jean Carter, and Mrs. Carter.

"Following the luncheon our president, Mrs. Donnelly, called the meeting to order and introduced our guests: Mrs. Nelson, Mary Sweeney, and Mrs. Hamblin. We were happy to have Lillian Glen Prouty with us again; and also glad to welcome Jane Leonard back after an absence of nearly a year.

"During the business meeting which followed the club voted to send $125.00 to the Knight Chapel Fund.

"After all had joined in singing Lindenwood Songs, led by Lillian Henning with Thelma Conklin at the piano, Miss Kinkaid described her trip to Honolulu and showed colored slides of the interesting and beautiful places in and about the Islands. As a fitting close the club joined in singing Aloha."

DEATHS

We record with deep regret the death of Mrs. Harriet Look, of Collinsville, Ill., on October 19, at St. John's Hospital in St. Louis. Mrs. Look, who was Harriet Anderson, attended Lindenwood in 1899 and 1900. Her sister, Mrs. Leslie A. Burrirt, of New York City, attended Lindenwood in 1881-82. Another sister, Miss Maud Anderson, of Collinsville, also survives.

The faculty and alumnae extend their sincere condolences to Miss Margaret Cobb, A.B. '31, on the death of her father, W. Francis Cobb, on October 22 at Leavenworth, Kan.

Friends of Mrs. C. P. Barshfield, of Bonner Springs, Kan., were shocked to learn of the death of her husband, Lieut. Col. C. P. Barshfield, station commander of the national guard units in Kansas City, Kan., who had recently begun a training course at Fort Benning, Ga. Mrs. Barshfield will be remembered as Elizabeth McCoy.

Willkie Wins Election —at Lindenwood

Though Roosevelt was reelected in the national election, Willkie took Lindenwood campus by a landslide. Of the 461 students who registered, 392 voted in the Lindenwood presidential election on November 5. Willkie received all the 57 electoral votes and 270 popular votes to Roosevelt's 122.

Joyce Works, Republican leader, when interviewed on the outcome of the local election stated, "I am at least happy that Willkie was victorious on the campus. I certainly appreciate the cooperation and interest of the faculty and student body in making this election possible."

Kay Anderson, Democratic leader, said, "I learned more from our straw voting here on campus than I would have if I had merely voted in the national election. The interest of the girls has made possible the study and observation of the national party platforms.

What Members of Last Year's Senior Class Are Doing

by Kathryn Hankins

Every year in October, a letter goes out from the Alumnae Office to each four year graduate of the preceding June. The purpose of the letter is to let every graduate know that whatever career she has taken up is of vital interest to the college. The college is rated and judged by its product. We are proud of the many different things our graduates have accomplished. Enclosed with the letter is a questionnaire to be filled out and returned. We had hoped these questionnaires would be returned 100 per cent. At the present writing, 39 per cent of the questionnaires have been returned, so in the following items, we are giving the information that has been returned to us.

Frances R. Brandenburg is at her home in Pineville, Kentucky.

Helen Rose Bruns is secretary at W. N. Matthews Corp., St. Louis, Mo.

Bette Foster is at her home in Keokuk, Iowa, doing volunteer work in charitable organizations.

Estelle Hays is at her home in St. Charles, Mo.

Helen Louise Hellerud is at her home in University City, Mo.

Peggy Hocker is at her home in Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, doing Girl Scout work, and is head of a committee for war work.

Jeanette Lloyd is now Mrs. Charles J. Thiebeault, and is attending business college in Chicago, Ill.

Christine McDonald is doing substitute teaching at her home in Washington, Mo.

Beverly Houston Mayhall is now Mrs. George P. Baumunk and lives in Webster Groves, Mo.

Martha L. Norris is teaching high school at Inman, Kans.

Helen Martha Shank is now Mrs. Russell A. Daggett, and lives in St. Louis, Mo.

Lucille Vosburg, our fellowship student, is doing graduate work at the University of Chicago.

Kathryn Wagner, student president her senior year, is now Mrs. William A. Orth, Jr., and lives in Houston, Texas.

With the questionnaires, letters of appreciation came from Bette Foster, Peggy Hocker, Lucille Vosburg, and Kathryn Wagner. We are always delighted to hear from the girls. Perhaps by the time the next Bulletin goes to press, the rest of the questionnaires will have been returned.

The Alumnae Office will be happy to receive accounts of the work done by Lindenwood girls.

In Baltimore

The cameraman caught Dr. B. Kurt Stumberg, John Avirett (a nephew of Dr. Roemer), and our Frank Wyhs, on the streets in Baltimore, Md. You can see they are interested as they are on the way to have luncheon with Mr. Avirett. This picture was taken while Dr. and Mrs. Stumberg were on vacation and they made a special trip over to see Mr. Avirett of whom all the College is very fond, he having been here on several occasions.

Christmas Story Contest

The winner of the annual Christmas story contest will receive a cash prize, and will have her story printed in the pre-Christmas issue of the Linden Bark. The contest will close early in December, the final date to be announced later, Dr. Gipson stated in chapel.

The class in Food Buying and Preparation has been busy preparing and serving breakfasts; they also were given a demonstration of cuts of meat in a meat market.

Is any class planning a reunion at the commencement of 1941? This office will be glad to furnish names and addresses of the members of various classes.

Dr. Marion Dawson, of the science department, lectured on "Indoor Winter Gardening" at Bowling Green, Mo., November 6. She was accompanied by a group of students who presented a musical program.

Strange Epidemic Found on Lindenwood Campus

"Mike Fright" is a disease—as horrible as the measles and more contagious. Prof. John Rath of the History Department doesn't say so in those words but that is the implication. Ann Gardner, Jane Henss, Harriet Dillman, and Jean James all hint at the same thing. The unfortunate victims of "mike fright" have been speakers on the radio programs over station WTMV on Sunday afternoons.

When questioned they only nodded their heads and looked frightened, staring blankly into space as though remembering a horrible nightmare. Was this thing called "mike fright" so terrifying that its past sufferers could not even bear to discuss it? Did it really cause strong men like Prof. Rath to quake, brave fearless girls like Mary Helen St. Clair and Sara Jefferson to shiver and tremble in its clutch, and even courageous Doris Banta to shudder and remain in awful silence when questioned? That this tiny instrument, the "mike," could send terror into the hearts of these highly civilized, well-educated people was a revelation. Yet apparently it had!

These people are to be congratulated on the way they have been bravely facing life since their encounter with the "mike." Little did we know that beneath their suave surfaces lurked this devastating fear. But in the fifteen-minute periods in which we have heard them speak on the air, obviously their fear has been well-controlled because they sound like a group of professionals, veterans of this "Terrible Terror," the microphone.

Miss Janice Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Martin, 7347 Cornell Ave., University City, appeared on the Aeolian hour at 8:15 Sunday morning, October 13, over station KMOX. Miss Martin, a sophomore at Lindenwood College, St. Charles, is quite a talented pianist and presented Etude-Caprice by Ganz on the broadcast. Miss Martin was recently elected president of Alpha Mu Mu, national honorary music sorority for underclassmen.

Miss Frances M. Whitehead, new head of the Economics and Business Department, came to Lindenwood from the University of Illinois where she was the assistant in the Department of Economics.

Dr. Dawson's class in trees and shrubs had a field trip November 8 to Defiance, Mo., to study the ecology of trees and shrubs. A steak fry was a happy ending for a day of field work.

St. Louis Alumnae Enjoy Founder's Day

The reaction of the St. Louis Alumnae to the Founder's Day activities is vividly expressed in these letters. One is from Mrs. J. Ernest Kuehner, 326 Tower Grove drive, St. Louis.

"We're loyal to you, Lindenwood," was hummed by more than one girl as she drove home from the October meeting of the Lindenwood College Club of St. Louis. At this time, twenty members met at the college for a special Founder's Day program and luncheon. All were delighted with the hospitality extended them by the faculty and student body. The improvements on the campus were outstanding and made the alumnae proud to belong to such a growing institution.

Mrs. Louise N. Keeter, corresponding secretary of the club, has written to Mr. Motley:

"The St. Louis Lindenwood Club want to thank you, Dr. Schaper and the rest of the administration for your generous hospitality on Founder's Day. We all enjoyed the day so much and appreciate how much you all have done through this trying time. It is always with the utmost pleasure that we return to Lindenwood and enjoy seeing the many improvements."
