Student Honors Are Announced At Honors Day Convocation

Recognition was given to girls with 3.5 grade averages or above at the annual honors day convocation in Roemer Auditorium on May 8. Dean Eunice C. Roberts announced the scholastic awards and Dean Thomas S. Hall of Washington University was the special speaker for the convocation.

Those girls with a 3.5 grade average or above for the preceding two semesters were B. Banta, A. Becker, J. Buck, B. Burcham, S. H. Chan, J. Cheney, N. Culver, L. Deisenroth, J. Ellis, C. England, E. Franklin, A. Frazier, P. Gleason, J. Hester, K. Lewellen, B. Luchsinger, W. McGuire, B. Nebesnick, J. Neilson, P. Pennel, V. Ratcliff, L. Rogers, C. Smith, M. Stoerker, B. Stukenbroeker, B. Sutton, E. Trefz, B. Trescott, M. N. VanBibber.

The girls with a cumulative grade average of 3.5 or above are: Seniors, for seven semesters work, L. Deisenroth, C. England, K. Lewellen, W. McGuire, J. Neilson, B. Stukenbroeker, B. Sutton, and E. Trefz; Juniors, for five semesters work, B. Banta, J. Cheney, N. Culver, P. Pennel; Sophomores, Becker, Chan, Ellis, Franklin, Hester, C. Smith, Stoerker, Trescott, and Van Bibber; and Freshmen, Beaumar, Gibson, Gingell, Keeton, Kennedy, McLaughney, Neblett, Shuttleworth, Thielecke and Thiery.

Girls who won the President's Scholarships this year are Peggy Pennel, Jackie Cheney, Nell Culver, Mary Beth Banta, Rita McGee, Arleen Becker, Beverly Trescott, Suk Hun Chan, Jeanette Hester, Marion Stoerker, Doris Beaumar, Jill Gingell, Mary Ann Thielecke, Susan Kennedy, Cara Jean McClelland.

The scholastic averages for the resident units were as follows: Sibley, 2.81; Irwin, 2.72; Butler, 2.68; Day Students, 2.67; Ayres, 2.67; Cobbs, 2.53. The Nicolls average for second semester last year was 2.80.

Sibley Hall won the President's Cup this year for the highest scholastic standing.

The class averages were: For the Seniors, 3.12; Sophomores, 2.70; Freshmen, 2.42, and Juniors, 2.39.

The American Association of University Women honorary membership was awarded to Lois Deisenroth after she was chosen by the faculty and administration as the Senior who has done outstanding work during her four years at Lindenwood.

The Alpha Lambda Delta book award was presented to Janet Neilson Monning. The girls who have won this award are Seniors who have done seven semesters of outstanding work and are members of Alpha Lambda Delta.

Eleanor Mauze and Louise Swain each received a check for $100 for perfect recitation of the Westminster Catechism.

Pat Gleeson Is Editor Of 1953 Linden Leaves

Pat Gleeson of Wahoo, Neb., will be the editor-in-chief of the 1953 Linden Leaves. The announcement was made in student assembly by Bonnie Holt, editor of the 1952 yearbook. Others included on the board are: Advertising Manager, Joan Blessing; Business Manager, Anita Marshall; Literary Manager, Jo June De Weese; Organization Manager, Mary Nell Van Bibber; and Art Manager, Camilla McCluer.

The 1952 Board included: Bonnie Holt, editor-in-chief; Lois Deisenroth, advertising manager; Carry England, organization manager; Willene Grove, business manager; Joanne Buck, art editor; and Barbara Luchsinger, literary manager.

What Members Of This Year's Senior Class Plan To Do Next Year

The Class of 1952 will soon be exchanging college life for life in communities outside Lindenwood. The girls of this year's graduating class have made plans for next year ranging from home making to careers in the modern business world.

Wilma McGuire has visions of doing editorial work.

Cynthia Ricklin plans to work in New York City.

Carol Romann will teach public school music and will do concert appearances next fall with the Alton Symphony.

Lois Deisenroth is getting married in June and will work at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis.

Barbara Ebeling will work at Wagner Electric in St. Louis and after a year might work for government in Foreign Service.

Shirley Price is going to work in June for the Sinclair Coal Co. as a secretary.

Joan Kirchherr will start to school June 13 at the University of Illinois where she will be studying to be a librarian.

Jean Rice will be a second grade teacher at McMillan School in Mexico, Mo.

Ruth Beutler plans on being a physical education teacher.

Marilyn Fawley plans to teach in Chicago.

Sharlene Agerter—not sure—either radio or journalism work.

Beverly Stukenbroeker will teach school next fall.

Charline Armstrong plans to teach commercial subjects in high school.

Willene Grove will do secretarial work in St. Louis.

Joy Hellwig Hausman plans on being a housewife.

Bettegene Nebesnick will do graduate work in English at the University of Iowa.

Kathleen Hartzog plans to teach public school music.

Commencement Speaker

Dr. Fosdick, State Department assistant, will deliver address to graduating Seniors.

Thirty-Six Seniors Candidates For Degrees At Lindenwood's 125th Commencement To Be Held May 31

Bark Staff Given Honor Rating At MCNA Meeting

Members of the Bark staff received Rank I awards at the Journalism Week at Missouri University on May 9. The awards are as follows: Special Feature, Nell Culver; News Story, Jane Amsden; Feature Story, Shirley Price and Nell Culver; Editorials, Barbara Ebeling and Nell Culver. Rank II awards for the various classifications were given to Nell Culver, Jane Amsden, Joan Kirchherr, Barbara Ebeling, and Shirley Price.

Charles C. Clayton, instructor in journalism, spoke at the MCNA luncheon, at which the awards were given out. Mr. Clayton also received an award at the annual award meeting of Journalism Week. The award reads as follows:

"To Charles C. Clayton, an alumnus of the School of Journalism, for his years of notable editorial writing for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat;

"His work in education in journalism as exemplified by his classroom teaching and his text book in the field of reporting;

"His leadership in the course of journalism as a professor, culminating in his present office of national president of Sigma Delta Chi."

Seniors Will Possessions

"We, the Senior Class of Lindenwood College, being of questionably sound minds and infirm bodies, do will and bequeath all of our worthless goods to the following . . ." Thus began the class will.

The class of 1952 left its dating privileges and "apple-polishing cloth" to the Juniors, its parking place to the Sophomores, and to the Freshmen its ability to sleep through Vespers "without being ostentatious."

The traditional items were given away to another class: the key to Butler, the bust of Diana, Clara-belle the Butler frog, "Custer's Last Stand," and all the others.

Several of the faculty were on the receiving end this year. Dr. Betz and Mr. Hendren both received hats, Miss Morris the big black crow, and Mr. Hume, Miss Reese, Dr. Talbot, Mr. Schmidt, and Miss Hiller were so honored, among others.

There were new items this year, too. Barbara Burcham willed her coonskin cap, a relic of the political conventions, to Mary Lou Stubbs. Jeane Rice contributed an almost-new footstool.

The class prophecy took us ahead to 1972, and predicted that members of this year's class would all be in or near St. Charles, following their vocations.

There are 36 candidates for degrees at the 125th annual commencement at Lindenwood College. The commencement address will be delivered at 10:30 a. m., May 31, by Dr. Dorothy Fosdick, a member of the Policy Planning Staff of the State Department.

Miss Fosdick received a B.A. degree from Smith College, and a Ph.D. degree from Columbia University. For five years she was a member in the Department of Sociology and Government. She entered the Department of State in 1942. She is a daughter of the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached on Friday evening, May 30, at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. Clem E. Bininger, D.D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Kansas City, Mo.

Immediately following graduation, there will be a luncheon in Ayres Dining Hall. The graduates will be welcomed into the Lindenwood Alumnae Association.

Candidates for degrees are:

Diplomas

Bachelor of Music Education Degree

Seniors Pin Juniors

The Senior Class of 1952 filed in for the annual Pin Day. After short, but heartfelt speeches by Joy Hausman, president of the Senior Class, and Jan Blevins, president of the Junior Class, the Seniors pinned the Juniors with the Senior class pin and traditional white carnation. The two classes then sang the old favorite, "Remember."

This is a day in which fond memories of classmates made, are remembered. The Senior Class of '52 wishes all the blessings of God to the Senior Class of '53.

Faculty Party For June Brides

The faculty and staff of Lindenwood College plan a party to be given in honor of three faculty brides or brides to be—Mrs. Robert Barker (Mrs. Lois Manning Burkitt), Miss Martha Reese, and Miss Elisabeth Watts, tomorrow evening at Dr. Marion Dawson's home in St. Charles.

Miss Watts and her fiancé, Mr. Walter Beatty, plan a wedding in June. They will be in Madison, Wis., this summer as Mr. Beatty plans to attend summer school in Madison.

Mrs. Barker's husband is superintendent of schools in South Dakota, and their plans are indefinite for next year.

Miss Reese and her fiancé plan to be married in June and they are to make their home near San Antonio, Texas.

Ink, Sweat And Tears

With tears in our eyes and the ink still wet on our bloody fingers, we tuck away our typewriters, roll up the presses, and leave our Bark battleground. We've heard the last call for copy, made our last deadline, and seen the last of our journalistic attempts in print.

We want you to know that it has been with good intention that we have hounded you for news, smeared your name, and used the worst picture of you that we could dig up. We thank you for your cooperation and that ever-welcome exclamation every other Tuesday: "Oh, the Barks are up."

Through the year, as we sat glued to our typewriters, we have tried to bring you some new jokes, a few laughs, and features and articles that you have wanted. But now that we have put out our last paper, we realize how much fun we have had in bringing you the Bark. All that's left of us is a year's stack of leftover Barks, and wrinkles a year deeper on "Uncle Charlie's" brow.

Now we bid our farewell to you all . . . and say that it's been real. We leave our typewriters, presses, and nights at the printers to next year's staff and wish them luck.

A Fine Annual

June is both a sad and joyful month for students at Lindenwood College. At this time of year there are tearful partings between friends. Some never to see each other again, others to return to campus next fall. Because of the outstanding work of the Linden Leaves board and staff, memories of the 1951-52 school year will be preserved and can be renewed by looking again and again at their copies of the yearbook.

The Bark staff wants to take this opportunity to congratulate the girls who made the 1952 annual possible.

Hail And Farewell!

We always do have trouble bidding people a fond farewell. And the better we like them the harder it is. We usually say "Goodbye. Have a good time," and leave it at that.

We've been saying goodbye to the Seniors all year; especially in the last few weeks. It's more than words; it's in what we do every day. We wish them all luck, and that luck coupled with the excellent training they've had at Lindenwood, will serve them well.

We'll miss you. Two of us will especially feel the need for the rest of the Bark staff next year. It will be the same way all over the campus. You'll leave a big empty space that we'll have a hard time filling.

But good luck, wherever you go.
"Goodbye. Have a good time."

Linden Leaves Honors L. C.'s 125 Years

Something new has been added! At long last after the many announcements in student assembly to please be some particular place to have your picture made and to please pay your 50 cents, the issues of the 1952 Linden Leaves have arrived. This year's annual is something special in honor of Lindenwood's 125th anniversary. The book was dedicated to Major and Mrs. George Sibley. This theme was carried through the division pages depicting Life at Lindenwood 1827. A running commentary may be found at the bottom of each page telling some of the history of the college.

ELSIE SAYS

Elsie has tears in her eyes this morning because this in the last time this year her column will be in. She has enjoyed being with you and is looking forward to next year.

Elsie wishes the Seniors the best of everything and all the luck in their years to come in the big, wide world. She is going to miss them. She sends congratulations to all those girls who are going to be married this summer.

Be good and I'll see you next year in the first issue.

OF ALL THINGS

By Barbara Ebeling

Well, I do hate to say goodbye to this dear old column, but it seems this is the last paper of the year. It sure has been fun hunting for all those jokes and not finding any. (had some dillies but you know how it is, censorship). Wish to say good luck to all the Seniors of this year and next. And so long.

An Ayres Dorm girl was being interviewed. "Do college girls kiss?" the reporter asked. "You'd be surprised," she remarked coyly, "how much goes on under my nose."

First student: "Let's cut Psychology 101 today."
Second student: "Can't, I need the sleep."

DOWN ON THE FARM

A hog once swallowed a stick of dynamite and was kicked by a mule. The blast that followed killed the mule, blew down the barn, and flattened several hundred feet of fence. "And," as the farmer said, "for a couple of weeks there, we had a mighty sick hog."

She was quite a success as a bubble dancer . . . until her career blew up in her face.

Cop: "What's the idea of speeding like that?"
Driver: "Well, the brakes don't work so I'm hurrying home before I have an accident."

Final Exams Begin June 2 And Run Through June 6

Once again the annual sessions of cross questions and wrong answers is about to hit L.C. campus—exam week. The official word from the proper channels is that the finals schedule is Monday, June 2, through Friday, June 6. The motto for that week—"In God We Trust." But a few nightmares will probably be stalking the halls those last nights.

The Seniors do not have to take their final exams—reward for four years good work well done.

By Nell Culver

We're finally face to face with it: The End of the Year. Honors Day, Senior Class Day, and Pin Day have passed in rapid succession . . . the annual has been dispensed . . . officers of all the clubs are being elected . . . there are picnics seven days a week . . . exams are ahead . . .

We're all ready for a busy (or lazy) summer, and then back to school next fall . . .

For 36 of us, though, loading all of the clothes and parapheralia of college into the family car will have a final note.

The Seniors will be driving away "in a cloud of dust," for the last time, with the accumulated books and junk of the last four years. They'll be saying good-bye to the picnics, the dances, the street suppers, classes, meetings, convocations, and bull sessions.

They'll be saying good-bye to 1951-1952, and the events that made it unique . . . the political conventions, Junior haze day, the four plays . . .

Stoerker Is Head Of AA At Dinner

The Athletic Association held its annual banquet for the presentation of the new officers and for the distribution of awards, in Ayres Dining Room on May 14.

The new officers are: Toosie Stoerker, president; Ruth Weber, vice president; Ann Frazier, secretary; Carol Wolter, treasurer; Mary Kirchherr, intramural chairman; Alice Vignocchi, social chairman, and Jane Amsden, publicity chairman.

The blanket award this year was presented to Ruth Beutler, who was chosen as the Senior who has done the most outstanding work in AA. Ruth is retiring president of AA, has been active on the basketball, hockey, and volleyball teams during her four years, and has participated in intramural games.

Sharlene Agerter and Marlene Czarlinsky earned their sweaters this year by accumulating a total of 2,000 points.

The numerals, which are given to girls earning 1,000 points, were awarded to Carol Wolter, Mary Kirchherr, and Jane Amsden.

Emblems, for a total of 750 points, were given to Mary Kirchherr, Carol Wolter, Jane Amsden, and Barbara Williamson.

Letters for those girls with 500 points were given to Doris Beaumar, Zeke Curtin, Marlene Eitman, Ann Frazier, Jill Gingell, Joan Kirchherr, Carolyn Neilson, Thil Vanderhaagen, Carol Wolter, and Barbara Williamson.

Individual team sport awards were given to girls who have participated in hockey, softball, riding, Terrapin, basketball, and volleyball.

These were awarded to: Softball—Wolter, Davis, Vignocchi, Stoerker, Beaumar, Agerter and Amsden. Terrapin—Neilson, Sissy Roberts, Swain, Garnholz, Wade, and Baim Basketball—Frazier, Amsden, Williamson, Wolter, Reed, and M. Kirchherr Volleyball — Eitman, Williamson, Gingell, Curtin, Wolter, Stoerker, Vignocchi, and Weber Hockey—Wolter, Gingell, Neilson, S. Anderson, Williamson, and Curtin.

Sibley Hall was presented the intramural plaque again this year for winning the highest number of points in intramural games played. This makes the third year in a row that Sibley has won the award and will now keep it permanently.

When the bridge tournament is completed, the girls on the winning team will each receive a deck of Kem cards.

Following the banquet, Ruth Buetler, former AA president, conducted the ceremony for the installation of the new officers.

Karl Gauss Is Honored At Convention Here

Lindenwood College was host this year to the Missouri Section of the Mathematics Association of America when it held its annual conference here on May 2. The year's convention was a tribute to the 175th anniversary of the birth of the renowned mathematician, Karl Friedrich Gauss, and to members of the Gauss family now residing in St. Charles.

The convention program featured the presentation of several papers by members of the group and a talk in the afternoon by W. L. Ayres, Dean of the School of Science at Purdue University, on "A Critical Look at Undergraduate Mathematics."

Representatives were present for the convention from Harris Teachers College, Central College of Fayette, Southwest State College, Maryville, St. Louis U., Trenton Jr. College, Southeast Missouri State, Westminster, William Jewell and St. Charles High School.

Miss S. L. Beasley, mathematics instructor at Lindenwood, was in charge of the convention planning.

The Linden Leaves Are Whispering

By Jane Amsden
Well, gals, here we are. Another year has flown by and pretty soon we enter upon another session of cross questions and silly answers. Since this is my last column, I want to get in my two cents and thank all of you who went places and did things, got pins and rings and who have furnished me with gossip during the year. My apologies to anyone embarrassed.

It's been a swell year. All the week-end dates and dances, parties, and week-end jaunts. The P.J. parties, dorm riots, and gab sessions. I want to say so-long to all the Seniors and wish them as well as all the girls best of luck.

You know, it is said that 99 per cent of all Lindenwood girls marry. It seems that several L.C. ladies are planning on marriage this summer. We will hate to see Miss Reese and Miss Watts leave, but best wishes to both of you, and come back to see us sometime.

Jackie Owens, Carol Dearing, JuRhee Jensen, Mona Hand, Joyce Glauber, Carrie England, Barbara Burcham, Sally Sienmsen, Harriet Brown, Louise Swain, Barbara Reed, and Annie Goodall have all set their wedding dates for this summer.

Ingrid Getreu and Key Collins have received engagement rings. Carol Daring has traded her pin in on a ring. Mighty pretty too. Congratulations, you lucky girls.

Congratulations to Sissy Roberts who was KA sweetheart queen at Washington U.

Deane Keeton stayed up half the night last Tuesday waiting for Washington U. to raid Lindenwood and went to bed in tears when they didn't come. Guess she thought she needed some excitement.

Rumors are that Mrs. Barton will be the sweetheart of Sigma Chi next year. She will be "Mamma" to the Sigma Chi's at Michigan University.

Serita Humphner was honored at the sweetheart dance at Valparaiso U. in Indiana recently. Serita is pinned to an Omega Chi Beta at Valparaiso.

With this I end my column of gossip and slander for the year. Everyone have fun this summer. Bye for now.

French Design Classes Give Three Fashion Shows This Spring

The French Design classes of Madame Helene Lyolene have had a busy schedule this spring with three fashion showings of original clothing designs at the De Soto Hotel in St. Louis in April, for the Lindenwood Club in St. Charles in May, and an informal showing was held in the Library Club Room on May 15.

The girls in Madame Lyolene's classes designed and made the garments modeled in the spring fashion shows. High lights of the Library Club Room showing were: Betsy Severson with a two-piece suit dress made of wool crepe which was designed by draping over a dummy. Betsy also modeled a ballerina length formal of organdy polka dot lined with pink taffeta. Margie Null's white pinafore dress of pleated cotton was striking with a small box jacket. Her formal of forest and chartreuse green tulle stood out with its four layers of net. Marilyn Fawley achieved a contrast in her sundress by designing a reversible jacket of two-toned, rayon-nylon salina cloth of beige and benedictine. The contrast was carried on in the inset pleat of beige in the benedictine skirt. Shirley Musick modeled her navy two-piece faille suit dress with its vertical line jacket and skirt with double inverted pleats. Bette Baer also designed a two-piece suit dress of beige linen. The straight lines in Bette's suit were accented by a printed scarf. Mrs. Marie Mayfield modeled her two-piece suit of powder blue linen. Mrs. Mayfield designed navy pleated skirts and white blouses for her three little daughters.

Charleen Smith's orchid chiffon blouse was hand embroidered with floral designs and the skirt made to go with the blouse was made of navy faille. Charleen also made a pleated luggage skirt.

Paula Tansey modeled a black printed and plain cotton two-piece sundress with a printed cape lined in plain black cotton. Bonnie White modeled her sundress of multi-pleated and tucked lavender and purple broadcloth with a matching stole. Barbara Biener made three garments in Madame's classes. She made a sundress with a pleated skirt and a halter top of cotton nugget cloth. She modeled her navy printed shantung dress with sunburst pleated skirt, high cummerbund and lapel collars. Barbara designed a formal of royal blue ballerina length of nylon tulle accented by silver lace on the bodice and an apron of tulle, also with a silver border, over the formal. Nedra Smallwood's formal was made of blending purple, orchid, and blue tulle. Nedra designed a companion striped and plain chambray dress with ties at the shoulder.

Louise Swain modeled her after five cocktail dress of black cotton. Gloria Bursey modeled her dress of contrasting white and black skirt with pockets of contrasting black. The dress was made interesting with a high cummerbund and lapel collars.

Mary Kirchherr and Sylvia Seay designed reversible and versatile sundress outfits. Sylvia can have four separate outfits out of her two skirts and halter tops of printed nugget cloth and chartreuse sateen. Sylvia topped off her outfits with a matching reversible stole. Mary Kirchherr's white butcher linen sundress can be dressed up for evening wear by adding her plaid overskirt and jacket, both heavily-pleated. She also can make her sundress work for a dressy dress by adding a white bolero jacket, or have a casual afternoon dress by adding a plaid sash.

The Campus Hall Of Fame

Last, but not least in our Campus Hall of Fame is Mary Lou Stubbs, who recently was chosen head Freshman counselor for next year. She hails from St. Joseph, Mo., but will soon be a Florida gal.

Mary Lou is a Human Relations major and was a Washington Semester student first semester. She is a member of the Modern Language Club and is a staunch Republican. During her Sophomore year, she was treasurer of her class.

She has served on the May Court for the past two years and was a member of the Popularity Court this year.

You can recognize Mary Lou anywhere by her bright smile and her big brown eyes. The Bark is proud to present you in this issue, Mary Lou.

Know Your Clubs Press Club For Journalists And Radio Students

As the sponsor of the Gridiron Dinner, the Press Club is an organization on campus that is familiar to both faculty and students.

The requirement for membership in Press Club is to be on the staff of the Linden Bark, the Linden Leaves, or KCLC.

In addition to being responsible for a creative production, this club believes in having a good time. An annual trip is usually made through the St. Louis Globe-Democrat plant.

This year Jo Rhodus is president, and Charles C. Clayton is faculty sponsor.

Commencement Addresses Given By Dr. McCluer

Dr. Franc L. McCluer, president of Lindenwood College, will give several commencement addresses this spring.

Dr. McCluer plans to speak before the Breckenridge High School of Breckenridge, Mo., on May 14; at Dexter High of Dexter, Mo., on May 15; and at the Alton High School, Alton, Ill., on June 6.

Dr. Kurt Von Schuschnigg Talks At Club Meeting

The distinguished teacher and statesman, Dr. Kurt von Schuschnigg, now on the faculty of St. Louis University, discussed "The Place of Germany in the Present International Situation" on Sunday, May 11. His speech was sponsored by the International Relations Club, and students from other campuses were invited to attend.

Dr. von Schuschnigg is former Chancellor of Austria, and is unusually well versed in Central European history. Preceding his talk, Dr. Samuel Johnson, political science teacher at Harris Teachers College, gave the group some background information on Germany's historic role in world affairs, Austria's role, and Dr. von Schuschnigg himself.
