PEOPLE, NEWS & NOTES

Alumni Hold First Annual Auction

The Lindenwood College Alumni Association will hold its first annual dinner\auction at 6 p.m. in Ayres Dining Hall as part of the annual alumni reunion festivities.

Auction co-chairperson Glenda Raef Schaefer ('68) and Mary Eileen Rufkahr ('82) said the Association would like to extend an invitation to faculty, staff and other friends of the college to attend the dinner and auction. The cost of the steak dinner/auction will be $9.00 for the college community.

Dr. James Hood will serve as auctioneer for the event. Auction items donated by alumni include, a painting by John Wehmer, a 16"x20" photograph by Hans Levi, a resume writing consultation by Alumna and Professor Lee Phillion, tours of major U.S. cities, a book of poetry by LC Emeritus Howard Barnett, booth space for Mrs. Sibley's Attic Sale, a $100 gift certificate for Brooks Brothers clothing by Clayton Wilhite, a $250 Nieman-Marcus gift certificate by Alumna Dorothy Warner, lunch and tour of McDonnell Douglas for four by John Wolf, a professional piano tuning, a poem by Professor Jim Feely, a painting by Emeritus Arthur Kanak, an embroidered tablecloth by Emerita Dr. Esther Johnson, a travel log on a choice of countries by Professor Dean Eckert, a winter weekend for eight at Lake Geneva by Alumna Carol Stoub, a video Christmas Card by Professor Suzie Sakahara, a visit from Santa Claus by (guess who?), a $25 gift certificate for clothing alterations in St. Charles, a weekend for two in Colorado, hand-made items and more.

"We have received many wonderful contributions for the auction," said Schaefer. "We are looking forward to this exciting fun event and hope that everyone can join us this year."

Proceeds from the auction will go into the 1988 Reunion Gift Fund. The class with the most contributions and the one with the most money collected will choose the gift from a Lindenwood wish list.

If you would like to attend the auction and/or dinner call Esther Fenning at 949-2000, Ext. 317 no later than October 7!

Students Play Stock Market At No-Risk

AT&T invites college students to play the stock market with nothing to lose and much to gain. You'll be playing with make-believe money, but the annual AT&T Collegiate Investment Challenge is real. The top finisher in the first annual competition will receive $25,000 from AT&T.

For more information about the many other prizes, a description of the game and registration fees, call Tom Eschen, director of organizational development at 949-2000, Ext. 372.

Join the more than ten thousand college students across the nation who have already enrolled in this risk-free opportunity. Test your stock market skills and learn how the stock market works.

Deadline for registration is October 21. The competition will end when the stock market closes on February 28 at 4 p.m.

Study Center Opens in Niccolls Hall Basement

THE NEW STUDY CENTER IS OPEN! Recently painted and refurbished with efforts of Peer Tutors and funding from the Lindenwood Student Government, the Study Center is located in the basement of Niccolls. It offers a pleasant, quiet area for all Lindenwood students and is open from the morning through midnight all week.

Peer Tutors are available at specified hours to help students with their studies. Schedules are available at the Study Center. The LSG has agreed to continue up-grading the Center as long as students will use and maintain it.

LCIE Master's Candidate Tim Smith will exhibit color photographs in the Young Showcase Gallery from October 3 through October 28 at Lindenwood.

His recent images explore form in color and represent one of several of his current artistic concerns.

Smith is a member of the art faculty at Parkway West High School and recently enrolled in Lindenwood's LCIE graduate program.

The exhibition is free and open to the public. Gallery hours are Monday through Thursday from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. For more information about the artist or exhibition space, please call Hans Levi, Lindenwood professor of art, at 949-2000, Ext. 283.

NAIA District 16 Names Stigen Player of the Week

Soccer Midfielder Becky Stigen, a Lindenwood Junior from Midwest City, Ok., has been named among the players of the week according to the NAIA District 16 Report.

Stigen had a hat trick (three goals) in Lindenwood's 8-1 win over Missouri-Rolla and also had an assist. She scored another goal in LC's 6-0 victory over Westminster and had yet another goal versus the University of Tulsa.

Lindenwood College now ranks #6 in the WOMEN'S NAIA TOP 10 soccer teams. Their record is 6-0-1.

Other soccer notes include the Lady Lion's victory as first place winners of the Lindenwood Tournament. Mimi Hahn was selected Most Valuable Player. The men's soccer team placed second in the weekend tourney and is currently undefeated in their conference.

Limited Express Interviews On Campus

A recruiter from Limited Express will be conducting interviews at Lindenwood on Tuesday, October 11 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Management trainee positions are available for persons with the minimum qualification of an Associate's Degree. To sign up, contact Debbie Coats at 949-2000, Ext. 307.

Tampa Review Publishes Castro Poetry

LCIE Professor Dr. Michael Castro's poem, "Closing Down The Bars," appeared in the premier issue of The Tampa Review. His poem was published along with the works of Derek Walcott, William Stafford, Lee K. Abbott and others.

Also, Castro's essay entitled, "Henry Dumas: Poetry of a Natural Man," was featured in the Summer 1988 special edition of Black American Literature Forum. The project, devoted to Dumas's work, received contributions from more than fifty writers from around the world, including Maya Angelou, Gwendolyn Brooks, Quincy Troupe and Eugene B. Redmond.

Bornmann Publishes Article on Chemical Reactions

The Journal of Polymer Science recently published a paper by Dr. John Bornmann, chemistry professor at Lindenwood. The paper entitled, "Chemical Reactions in the Low Temperature Decomposition of an Epoxy Resin," describes a possible chemical mechanism to explain some observations which had previously been made at McDonnell Douglas Research Laboratories.

The epoxy resin studied is the same epoxy resin used to make the plastic parts of modern aircraft, not only at McDonnell Douglas but by most other aerospace manufacturers. "This work and my interpretation would be of interest to persons concerned with smoldering fires in aircraft," said Bornmann.

Academy Awards Cronkite Scholarship Winners

Scholarship Committee Chair Ellen Wallace announced today that the St. Louis Chapter, National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences (NATAS), has selected two students from Lindenwood College as recipients of the academy's annual Walter Cronkite Scholarships.

Ronald W. Watermon of Fenton and Carole Knight of St. Charles each received a $1,000 Walter Cronkite Scholarship.

Watermon is a senior majoring in mass communications and political science, and for the past two years has been president of Lindenwood's Student Government. During his first term as president, he was responsible for initiating an exchange program with the State University in the Soviet Union. Watermon hopes to pursue a career in broadcasting and aspires to be a future White House correspondent.

Knight received a B.S. degree in Communications from Lindenwood College in June, 1988 and served her internship as a production assistant at KMOV-TV, Channel 4. She plans to enter graduate school in the fall to further her career in television broadcasting.
