Five Seniors Complete Their Honors Projects

Five Seniors have completed honors projects. Betty Jack Littleton, Mel Bemis, Pat Underwood, Jennifer Sullivan, and Rita Baker, all members of the 1951 graduating class, have possibilities of graduating with honor credit, "cum laude," "magna cum laude," or "summa cum laude." All five girls have handed in their projects and have taken their oral examinations before the department members in their field.

Betty Jack Littleton wrote a volume of poetry, "Between the Moon and the Thistle," containing about 50 poems. Some of her poems were entered in a contest in the Atlantic Monthly and she received seventh place on one poem.

Rita Baker made a study of "The Effects of Indole-3-Acetic on the Fission Rate of Paramecium" for her honors project. This was a laboratory research problem and results were written up in a paper.

Mel Bemis surveyed the field of "Direct Investments of United States Private Capital in Latin America" for her honors work.

Jennifer Sullivan wrote her honors project on "The Effect of Intraperitoneal Injection of Methylene Blue on Sarcoma 37 in Mice." This was also a laboratory research problem and results were written up in a paper.

Patricia Underwood has been working on a double honors project. One of her projects was a volume of 11 short stories called "World of Rain." Her other project is "A Study of Liberty."

The results of these honors projects will be announced at the commencement exercises on June 2.

Two members of the Junior Class are now working on their honors projects for next year. Kathryn Lewellen, and Nancy Starzl. Kathryn is working with zirconium phosphate, a coagulant in analysis of colloidal solution of proteins. Nancy is investigating relationship of water content to survival of bacteria subjected to ultra-rapid cooling.

Home Management House To Be Ready For Students Next Fall

The new home management house is to be ready for Home Economics students next fall. The old Tea Room has been converted into a home for Lindenwood students in the Home Management classes next year. The girls will live in the house for a period of six or eight weeks, keeping the house, doing the cooking, laundry and planning their own menus. Four or five girls will be accommodated at a time. Miss Margaret Lindsay will be the faculty member in charge of the home management house and will live in a three-room apartment fixed up in the house.

The house is being completely remodeled and redecorated at a cost of approximately $15,000. The downstairs consists of a living room, dining room, a modern

Ruth Beutler Will Be New A A President

The Athletic Association banquet was held last Thursday, May 24, in Ayres Dining Hall. The officers for next year were announced with Ruth Beutler, president; Mary Kircherr, vice president; Jane Amsden, secretary; Marlene Czarlinsky, treasurer; Violet Moskoff, social chairman; Eunice Shelley, publicity chairman, and Sharlene Agarter, intramural chairman.

The intramural plaque was awarded to Sibley Hall, and letters were given to the A.A. girls who won enough points. Mollie Carr received a sweater, and a blanket was awarded to Shirley Falls as the outstanding Senior girl who had done the most for A.A.

kitchen, breakfast nook and bathroom. Miss Lindsay's apartment is in the rear of the first floor. The old fireplace has been remodeled and built-in bookcases are from floor to ceiling on the lefthand side of the fireplace. A china closet has been built into the dining room.

The upstairs has been fixed into bedrooms and a small study room. The interior of the building is in the process of being painted now and as soon as the painting is completed some new floors will be laid. The furnishings will be early American.

It is hoped that the building will be near enough completion by graduation week end that it will be open for inspection.

Appointments Made For Annual Staff

Bonnie Holt, of St. Louis, Mo., editor of next year's Linden Leaves, has announced the members of her staff. Lois Diesenroth will be the new advertising manager, and Phyllis Heyssel will become business manager. Caroline England will handle the details as organization manager, and Joanne Buck is art editor. The new staff was welcomed last week at a dinner given by the sponsors and the old editors at Lake Village Inn.

The place of literary editor has not yet been filled, but will be announced at a later date.

Mock Political Convention To Be Held Here

A national intercollegiate political convention will be held on campus next spring, sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

It will be run in the same manner as the regular national convention, with both the Democrat and Republican parties choosing their candidate for president and making their platforms.

The last convention of this type was held in 1948 with U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft and U. S. Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney as the keynote speakers. Dr. Homer Clevenger, sponsor of the League, says the speakers for this convention will be of national reputation and may possibly be presidential candidates.

Invitations will be sent this month to colleges throughout the country. The green light has been given and the convention is underway!

Residence Halls Elect Presidents For Next Year

The house presidents for next year have been elected, and new regulations for the house staffs have been voted and will start functioning with next semester.

Elected are: Butler, Cynthia Ricklin; Irwin, Barbara Burcham; Cobbs, Carolyn White; Sibley, Ruth Beutler. Every girl voted for the dorm where she will stay next year. Niccolls Hall will not vote until next semester.

The new regulations actually were started in 1948 but have not been entirely implemented yet. They will create a sole governing body of the dormitories where the head residents will be hostesses and counselors. All house rules will be made by the staff, only within the general rules of the college. The staff will conduct all house-meetings, give special permissions, and take care of all infractions of regulations.

Thirty-Seven Seniors To Be Graduated At Lindenwood's 124th Annual Commencement

To Get Degree

Dr. Elise L'Esperance, who will be awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree at this year's commencement.

Dr. Sibley Will Teach In England On Exchange Plan

Dr. Agnes Sibley of the English Department at Lindenwood will go to England next fall to teach English at Bishop Otter College at Chichester, England. Prof. Marjorie M. Hiller, member of the faculty at Bishop Otter College, will teach English, and probably a course in drama, at Lindenwood. The exchange is approved by the State Department.

Dr. Agnes Sibley is an associate professor in English and has been a member of the Lindenwood faculty since 1943. She holds her B.A. and M.A. from the University of Oklahoma and a Ph.D. from Columbia University.

Doctor Of Laws Degree To Dr. Elise L'Esperance

Lindenwood College will honor 37 seniors at the 124th annual commencement on June 2. The commencement address will be delivered at 10 a. m. Saturday June 2, by Dr. Elise Strang L'Esperance, of New York.

Dr. L'Esperance has had a distinguished career as a teacher at Cornell University Medical School and as a research pathologist. She held the Mary Putnam Jacobi Fellowship for research in tumor pathology in Munich. She is a Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine, a member of the American Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists, American Radium Society, and American Cancer Society. She is the editor of the Journal of American Medical Woman's Association. She has also served as a director of the Strang Cancer Prevention Clinics and has been on the staff of Memorial Hospital and New York Infirmary since 1937.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached on Friday evening, June 1, at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. Raymond I. Lindquist, D.D., of the First Presbyterian Church, of Orange, N. J. Dr. Lindquist is one of the great preachers who has visited the college in the last few years and was invited at the suggestion of some of the Seniors who had heard him.

The St. Charles chapter of the Lindenwood Alumnae Association will give a reception in honor of the members of the class of 1901 and of the other classes having reunions designated this spring on Friday afternoon, June 1. The other classes having reunions are the Classes of 1926, 1912, 1913, (Continued on Page 4)

Broad New Horizons In Evidence As '51 Seniors Plunge Into Reality

"What are you going to do when you finish school?" This is the stock question that faces a Senior everywhere she turns. During the last few months of school it becomes a new form of greeting. Instead of saying "hello," when a Senior is spotted, people always say, "What are you going to do when you finish school?"

The Bark staff roving reporter has cornered the members of the Senior Class long enough to discover their post-graduating plans.

Many of them are taking the easier way out—marriage, that is. For instance, Sarah Hilliard and Polly Allen plan to rush the season a little with weddings in June. Martha Reid has set the date for August, and Joyce Powell will probably walk down the aisle in October. Carol Brauer Wieland, of course, has already taken the fatal step. Sarah and Martha plan to teach elementary school after their marriage, Sarah in St. Louis County and Martha in Kansas City, Kans.

Others who are planning to teach next year are Pat Moss and Nancy Armitage in St. Louis County, Carolyn Furnish in Kansas City, Mo., and Elizabeth Bates, Pat Sowle, Shirley Falls, Alice Mack, Carol Hachtmeyer, Mollie Carr, and Kay Shaddock, who do not have a location as yet. Pat says she'd just as soon do radio work, Kay would like to work on a Missouri newspaper, and Carol plans a wedding besides teaching.

Despite the past four years of term papers and final exams, some members of the Class of 1951 still seem not to have had enough. For instance, Rosa Tsatsakos, Jean Loo, (Continued on Page 4)

Ink, Sweat And Tears

With tears in our eyes and the ink still wet on our bloody fingers we roll up the presses, tuck our typewriters in their snug black hoods and file in prison formation from the Bark Battleground. We've made our last deadline, heard the last call for copy and seen the last of our journalistic attempts in print.

We want you to realize that it has been with great tenderness that we have hounded you for news, smeared your name, and used the worst picture of you we could dig up. But thank you for your cooperation and that ever-welcome exclamation every other Tuesday: "Oh, the Barks are up!"

The muffled laughs at college jokes and the informality behind that door in Roemer didn't mean that we weren't glued to our machines, battling out the stuff that won us the All American award . . . thinking up new features like "Know Your Clubs" and Washington Correspondent to give you more to read come Tuesday mornings.

It's with an acute case of nostalgia that we depart and leave only our trails in the staff room . . . all that's left of us is a year's stack of left-over Barks and wrinkles a year deep on Uncle Charlie's brow . . . But who knows, perhaps we shall return to you in a testimony for Hadacol . . . evidence that old Bark Staffs never die, they just fade away.

To The Seniors

"Farewell to college joys, they leave at break of day."

Five tired but happy Seniors pounded away, banging out their last issue of the Bark. After nine months of meeting deadlines by a split second, and listening to Mr. Clayton's constant cry, "Let's have some copy," of groping their way around in a smoke-filled room, of coming to class promptly, or working their fingers to the bone, they are meeting their last deadline.

It has been a staff that has won the All American award for their paper. True journalists at heart they have been diligent in their work. As sole survivor of the staff, I want to say they have done a grand job and do wish them luck in whatever they do. As the saying goes, it has been "real."

An Orchid To The Annual

Hats off to the 1951 annual staff for the grand job on this year's issue. Most of us by now have thumbed through the pages of the annual, enjoying the pictures immensely, but we seldom stop to think about all the work that was put into making this outstanding issue of the 1951 Linden Leaves. Again, hats off to the annual staff for a superb job.

Bark Barometer Of Campus Opinion

L.C. GIRLS STUDY BETTER IN WINTER MONTHS, BUT 86 PER CENT INSIST THEY LIKE SPRING BEST OF ALL SEASONS ON THE CAMPUS.

For its last poll of the year the Bark Staff decided to find out the effect of the weather on grades. This is appropriate for this nice sunny weather we've been having.

Forty-three per cent said they made better grades in the spring than in the winter. Fifty-seven per cent make better grades in the winter.

Forty-three per cent thought the weather had an effect on their grades and 57 per cent said the weather had nothing to do with it.

Fourteen per cent preferred the winter semester and 86 per cent liked the spring semester better.

Now you know which category you fall into when you cut classes to go sunbathing.

All Bark And No Bite

By Mary Lou Matthews

Pin Day already a Memory . . . Seniors have left all their treasured belongings to eager recipients . . . Linden Leaves arrives . . . Dr. Elise Strang L'Esperance to speak at commencement . . . Officers for next year already announced . . . Exams casting their ominous shadow over our happy community . . . A whirl of end-of-the-year picnics by all the clubs on campus . . . Prophecies made for ten years hence . . . To almost everybody these things are a welcome prelude to a long, lazy summer, and then . . . back to school again.

But to a rather large group on campus, they mean more than that. They mean piling all the accumulated books in the car, all the souvenirs collected over four years, saying good-bye to street-suppers, convocations, exams, dorm bull sessions, and midnight feasts in the rec room. For the Seniors have now reached the point where they are supposed to leave the "Halls of Ivy," and, full of confidence, go twist the world by its tail. To the underclassmen it means they will soon move up one more rung on the collegiate ladder. To everyone it means good-bye to the 1950-1951 school year. Though the future is imminent, take a look back, just for a minute, at the last 10 months. Here, then, are the "Big Stories" from this year.

Carol Romann Named To Serve As "Miss Missouri Of 1952"

Carol, a Junior from Granite City, Ill., was selected from 13 candidates, all college girls with beauty and brains, in a pageant sponsored by the St. Louis Junior Chamber of Commerce. The choice of "Miss Missouri" was handled without bathing suits, and with an emphasis on talent.

Sarah Hilliard Is Elected May Queen

Miss Sarah Hilliard will reign as queen over the 1951 May court at Lindenwood. Sarah is a Senior and hails from Miami, Okla. She is majoring in elementary education at Lindenwood and is planning a June wedding after graduation. The two attendants elected from the Senior Class, are Martha Reid, Carrollton, Mo. and Patricia Underwood, Knox, Penn.

Beta Chi Is Organization For Horsewomen Of Lindenwood. Trips And Visits To Horse Shows Are Among Activities

Beta Chi is the organization on campus for the horsewomen of L.C. Tillie Haggerty, a Sophomore from Centralia, Ill., is this year's president, with Laurie Bowman as vice president, and Betsy Elliot as secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Helen Egelhoff as sponsor.

Among the activities planned by Beta Chi was a trip to Mexico, Mo., to see the horses, and a trip to St. Louis for the horse sales. Also the Beta Chi annual picnic was held last Wednesday night, May 23.

The last event on the agenda for this year will find all the members attending the Annual St. Louis Spring Horse Show.

Beta Chi members also helped with the A. A. Play Day by letting the girls from other schools look over and ride our horses.

Virginia Ratcliff President Of Christian Assn.

President of S.C.A for next year will be Virginia Ratcliff. "Ginny," a music major from Jasper, Texas, has been busy in many activities on the campus. This year she has been president of Delta Theta and of the Judiciary Board of the Student Council. She also was the treasurer of Future Teachers of America. "Ginny" might be most well-known as the accompanist of the Lindenwood College Choir.

"Ginny" will succeed Martha Reid as S.C.A. president.

The president, officers, and cabinet were installed in a candle lighting ceremony at Vespers.

Plans for next year were made at the SCA retreat held at Lake Village Inn, May 19.

Popular Music Heads List Of Student Likes

Last week the KCLC staff took a survey on campus to find out what programs the students wanted to hear on the campus station. These were the results:

- Popular Music—57 per cent
- Classical Music—38 per cent
- Recorded Music—50 per cent
- Live Music—13 per cent
- News—29 per cent
- Drama—58 per cent
- Sports—13 per cent
- Interviews—12 per cent
- Discussions—15 per cent
- Special—19 per cent

They also took a poll on the best listening hours and came up with the following:

- 7-9—16 per cent
- 9-11—84 per cent

The facts revealed by this survey will be used in making out the program schedule for next year.

Jo De Weese Editor Of 1952 "Griffin"

Editor of the "Griffin" for next year will be Jo June DeWeese. Jo, a Freshman from Hugo, Okla., was on the "Griffin" staff the second semester this year. She had a story, "That's for Remembrance," and several poems in the issue of this year. Jo is, of course, a member of the Poetry Society.

Other staff members for next year have not been chosen.

The first printing of this year's issue of the "Griffin" has been sold out. Additional copies are now being printed. They will go on sale about May 29.

Many New Features In 1951 Annual

The 1951 Linden Leaves arrived last week, and was distributed to students on May 19 from Pop Ordleheide's office.

The theme of the annual this year was "Lindenwood and I," and the personal element of college life was carried out throughout the book. Continuity on the division pages gave inside-glances into the work and play of the student on campus, and the division pages themselves were treated in a manner differently from other issues. Photographs were used instead of straight photographs. Objects were placed on light-sensitive paper, the paper was exposed to light for a short time, and when the objects were removed, their imprint was on the paper.

Instead of individual pictures for all members of the student body, only the Seniors had portraits. Underclassmen had group pictures with five or six students in each picture in an informal pose.

"Lindenwood and I" was dedicated this year to H. P. "Pop" Ordleheide, superintendent of grounds.

A printer's error is responsible for the omission of the name of the Encore Club, on page 89 in the annual. The staff apologizes for this oversight.

Don Bolt Speaks At Convocation

Don Bolt, a former newspaperman now traveling all over the world and lecturing, spoke at the convocation Monday night. Mr. Bolt came to Lindenwood as a courtesy to Claride Woodward's parents. The title of his speech was: "A World in Revolt."

Sharlene Agerter Is Elected Regional Director Of IBS

KCLC's representatives returned to campus Sunday evening, bringing back a new honor to the station. Sharlene Agerter was elected regional director of Region 7 of the Intercollegiate Broadcasting System, replacing Jean McConohey of MacMurray College. It will be her job for the coming year to correlate the activities of the stations in this region.

It was also decided at the regional IBS meeting that the clinic for next year should be held at Lindenwood again. Plans are being made to include not only the full member stations of Region 7 but also all the trial member stations, which will enlarge the clinic considerably.

While at Columbus, both Sharlene and Gretchen attended meetings of Alpha Epsilon Rho, national honorary radio fraternity, and sessions of the Institute for Educational Radio and Television. The AERho meetings proved at some points to be quite exciting. There were about thirty chapters in attendance at the convention. The first day was spent in hearing reports from the national office and from all the individual chapters. Then the convention went into committees on national development and expansion, local chapter problems, and by-laws and elections. These committees brought new suggestions and amendments before the convention to be voted upon.

Last year AERho severed all relations with AER, Association for Education by Radio, and this year voted to incorporate as a new organization at Stephens College. The incorporation was between Alpha chapter at Stephens and Gamma chapter at the University of Minnesota.

The last day new regional directors and national officers were elected. Gale Adkins of the University of Texas replaced Don Clark of Oklahoma as our regional director.

Both girls were impressed by the enthusiasm shown by the students and the parliamentary procedure with which the convention was conducted. Of course much of the work was done out of meetings but maybe it is best not to mention that. The annual AERho banquet was held Friday evening at which the trophy for the best news letters was awarded to Psi chapter at Boston University. The girls missed the banquet to have dinner with Miss Martha Boyer and her nephew, Jim, known to all LC girls as last year's Romeo.

A few hours were taken off one day to take a tour of WOSU, the Ohio State radio station. The Institute was held under the auspices of Ohio State University and was composed of panel discussions and speakers from stations throughout the country, the U. N., Voice of America, U. S. departments of government, and the Armed Forces.

For a change, the weather was relatively cool and the entire trip was very enjoyable.

L. C. Girls Go Nautical For Trip On The Admiral

It was "anchor's away" last Saturday afternoon when about 300 Lindenwood girls boarded the "Admiral" for a trip on the Mississippi river. All enjoyed the last chance for dancing, sunbathing and playing before final exams.

The "Admiral" is one of the largest and most modern river ships and can take 4,000 passengers.

Here She Is, 'Miss America' Of 1951 Lindenwood's Composite Senior

Congratulations! A part of you has been chosen to make up the ideal senior. With a playtex girdle and a little make-up applied to the rough spots, we are convinced this composite lady would throw the "Miss America" judges into a frenzy, ring down the curtain in Hollywood, and put the very sun to shame. Here she is:

The Campus Hall of Fame

The Hall of Fame frames Marilee Darnall, from Illiopolis, Ill., as the last candidate for this year. "Corky" has been a Cobbs girl from the time the last stone was set, and can usually be found down at KCLC, in the Little Theatre, or obligingly taxiing the girls from Cobbs to Roemer in time for a quick class.

"Corky" is this year's president of Alpha Epsilon Rho, vice president of the Senior Class, and is in the midst of being initiated into Alpha Psi Omega. As public relations director of KCLC, "Corky" has not only stimulated interest in the station, but managed to have a few radio shows as well. She is a member of Press Club, and is a former president of the Encore Club, and you all remember "Corky" in "The Cradle Song" and "The Whirlwind Passeth."

So, congratulations to Marilee Darnall, and welcome to the Hall of Fame!

Bark Wins First Rank In MCPA Contest

The staff of the Linden Bark left at dawn on May 3, to attend the annual meeting of the Missouri Collegiate Press Association at the University of Missouri in Columbia.

After a meeting of the officers of the MCPA, the group attended a luncheon at the Tiger Hotel, at which Dr. George Gallup, of Gallup Poll fame, was the main speaker.

At 4 in the afternoon, the members of the staff were guests in the home of Dr. Frederick A. Middlebush, president of the University, at a reception honoring Dr. Gallup and Marquis Childes, who was the main speaker at the dinner held Friday night in the field house.

The Bark won a first rank rating in the annual college newspaper contest and members of the staff won a number of individual awards.

Variety Of Literary Talent Is Revealed In 1951 Griffin, Just Off The Press

By Birgit Johansson

"The Griffin" is out! The efforts of literary creating on the campus during the last year have come to print and are available for everybody at the price of 75 cents.

Jane Ewing is the editor of the issue; assistant editors are Laurie Bowman, Jo June DeWeese and Peggy Pennel. Dr. Agnes Sibley is the faculty adviser. The business manager is Patricia Thomas; art editor, Dolores Hawkins; assistant art editor, Joanne Buck. The contributions to "The Griffin" have come from the students at Lindenwood, some faculty members, and former students and friends of the college. The 30 numbers include short stories, poetry, essays, and a play.

It is hard to mention some of the contributions without being unjust to the rest of them. Among the members of the staff Jane Ewing and Jo June DeWeese have written both poetry and short stories. Helen Parks' play "Randolf the Raindrop" has been performed over the Lindenwood's Theatre of the Air. Dr. S. A. E. Betz and Dr. Agnes Sibley have a poem each in the issue. An interesting essay by a German poet, Gertrude von Le Fort, has been translated by Beate Luther. Beate was one of the foreign students at L.C. last year. A speaker at a convocation last year, Miss Barbara Napier from Scotland, has given a picture of St. Louis' showboat. Patricia Underwood and Betty Jack Littleton, both graduating this year and majoring in English, have contributed short stories and poetry from their honors work. Rita Baker, a former editor of "The Griffin," has given an analysis of "Shakespeare's Affirmation of Justice."

OF ALL THINGS

By Kathryn Shaddock

Spring is here—the time of the year you can tell the amount a student has been studying by the tint of her skin. The shade of the tint makes no difference—if it's tinted, that's it!

Since this is my last chance at this column, I'd like to take a paragraph off to say "Thanks a lot!" for bearing up under my scintillating jokes during this year. It's been fun, even if the censor did get busy with the scissors. Oh well, at least I tried. Anyway, good luck in the years ahead.

Now to get down to the stuff and junk—

What is a girl always looking for, but never wants to find?

A run in her stocking.

Coed: "But, dad, don't you think that two can live as cheaply as one?"

Dad: Sure, daughter, your mother and I live as cheaply as you do."

The newcomer placed his hand on the shoulder of the convict before him and began the rhythmic lockstep back to jail. He leaned forward a little and whispered to the tired convict ahead:

"Is this all there is to this rock splitting job?"

"Ain't fourteen hours a day of it enough?"

"Nothing to it."

"Seven days a week of it! Bad food, rotten beds . . ."

It's heaven!"

"Say, where did you come from?"

"I . . . was a college professor."

Prof: "If there are any dumbbells in the room, please stand up."

A long pause and then a lone freshman stood up.

"What! Do you consider yourself a dumbbell?"

"Well, not exactly that, sir, but I do hate to see you standing by yourself."

Said the cannibal chief to the victim, "What did you do for a living?"

"I was an associate editor," quaked the victim.

"Cheer up," said the chief.

"After tonight you'll be editor-in-chief."

THIRTY-SEVEN SENIORS TO BE GRADUATED AT

1914, 1914, 1915, 1931, 1932, 1933, and 1934.

This year's graduates will be welcomed into the Alumnae Association at a luncheon to be given Saturday noon.

Pre-commencement honors were awarded to six members of the Senior Class whose cumulative grade point average is 3.50. Seniors receiving these honors are Margherita Baker, Jennifer Sullivan, Betty Jack Littleton, Anne Baldwin, Carol Greer and Patricia Underwood.

The Senior Class officers are Patricia Underwood, president; Marilee Darnall, vice president; Helen Parks, secretary, and Carolyn Furnish, treasurer.

Seniors are not required to take semester exams if they have a satisfactory grade record for the past semester. Exams for the underclassmen will be given Monday, June 4, through Friday, June 8.

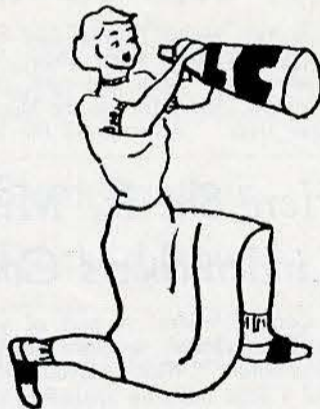

Sharlene Agerter Heads New KCLC Staff

Sharlene Agerter will be the chief voice for the Voice of Lindenwood next year. The new staff appointments have been announced by Miss Martha May Boyer, head of the Radio Department.

Sharlene, KCLC's manager, will have a staff of seven members to help her keep on the air. Nell Culver has been named program director; Deana Izenberg will take over the production department; and Arline Becker's new title is sales and publicity director. Scripts and formats will be under the direction of Janet Tabor, who heads next year's continuity department. Betsy Nevins will handle the technical end of radio operation as chief engineer, and Alice Walthall's job will be to keep KCLC's programs on an intellectual level as educational director. The position of music director is still open, as the search for talent continues.

Sharlene and next year's staff will have a number of willing hands and voices ready to assist them through the year. Among the old heroes who will be on the air again next year are Phyllis Laux, Ruth Beutler, Pat Thomas, and Cynthia Ricklin. Among next year's sophomores from whom Sharlene expects to find a great deal of talent are Vi Moskoff, Eunice Sheley, Nancy Stigall, Connie Gordon, Betty Jo Green, Elaine Stigler, and Norma Pallissard. They will have shows and assist in all departments.

Elsie Says:

Pardon me while I brush a tear from my eye! Golly, is this place ever going to be lonesome without the Seniors around. When I came here, I thought they'd all be so snooty, they wouldn't even look at a little Freshman like me, but they sure have been nice! They really add spice to the old campus—and now in just two weeks they'll be gone! Well, I sure hope they'll come back to visit us, and that they won't forget us, because we won't forget them!

NEW STAFF TAKES OVER ON KCLC AND BEGINS MAKING PLANS FOR NEW PROGRAM FOR NEXT YEAR.

By Carol Greer

The new staff has taken over . . . they've come in like a big gust of wind, blown the dust off the old staff, and sent them on their way. Last Tuesday night was the first broadcast . . . I've got to say they got on the air without the help of any of the old hands . . . the fact is, they really don't need us at all, if their one week of programming and broadcasting this year is any sample of what they can do.

Eunice Sheley, Vi Moskoff, along with Nancy Stigall, Petie Nevins, and all the rest look like they'll make a sturdy backbone for the staff to fall back on.

Most of all, in this last column, I want to ask you to give your radio station a chance NEXT year. If you can't help them get on the air, you can help them by listening. Be around when KCLC goes on the air next fall!

Helen Parks, Betty Littleton, Jennifer Sullivan, Pat Underwood, and Emily Terry all plan to do graduate work. Pat plans to go to law school in the fall, Jennifer is going to the University of Minnesota, and Emily hopes to get a music teaching fellowship in piano or organ in the South.

Bev Pannell and Lorraine Klockenbrink want to do fashion designing. Mary Lou Matthews plans to work on a newspaper or do public relations work in St. Louis. Rose Marie Murfey is going to do personnel work in Chicago. Jayne Collins plans to go into interior decoration, probably in Arkansas. Dott Hall wants to do summer stock work in the East, and who knows where that might lead her.

Mel Bemis has a job with the Y.W.C.A. in Portland, Ore. Jo Sullivan says she is either going to school to get her teaching requirements or going to Europe. Betty Tom is going to stay in the U. S. during the summer, and then she will go into real estate work with her father when she returns to Hawaii. Ann Baldwin already has a job as chemist at Ralston-Purina in St. Louis.

That leaves two other categories—the girls who plan to go into radio work and those who just plain "don't know." Jean Robb, Carol Greer, Marilee Darnall, and Gretchen Schnurr are our budding radio artists. Marilee plans to work in Springfield, Ill., on Station WMAY.

Last, but not least, Jean Callis and Rita Baker say they don't know what they will be doing. Jean is thinking of doing work in religious education, but it is not definite.

Faculty Humiliates Seniors In Wild Softball Contest

The Faculty-Senior Picnic, held at 5 o'clock, May 14, proved the faculty can almost be human. A tremendous time was had by all.

After all the gormets had been satisfied by the sandwiches, cokes, potato chips, baked beans, and doughnuts, a rousing Faculty-Senior baseball game was played. It got off to a bang as Polly Allen hit Dr. McCluer over the head with a bat, quickly explaining she'd never played baseball before! Then with cries of "Clevenger's at bat—Let's have a homer," the game proceeded.

"Picasso" Middents outdid himself by sending the ball galloping into the far field, and out of the waiting, upturned hands of the Senior outfield every time. Pitcher Schmidt knocked out all competition by acting like a professional and pitching strikes all the time. (All agreed Donn Hayes was the outstanding hurler.) The game, unfortunately, was put to an end, when Umpire Colson decided he didn't want to play any more and called all balls strikes. However, the score was 17-7 at that, so he was really exceedingly kind to the Senior Class.

The game over, and the time being close to 7:30, most of the faculty and Seniors decided to go home, except for a small band who stayed down at the ovens singing songs until it was so dark no one could follow anyone else on the songs they didn't know, so it was agreed to serenade another time, and end the Faculty-Senior Picnic for this year.

The Linden Leaves Are Whispering

By Carol Greer

Ay say, old girl, it tis blarsted bad luck that we have to part this way It tis been rawther charming fun smearing your monikers this year Well, buck up old dears, pip pip, and all that rot; this is the last time yew'll be hearing the linden leaves whisper. However, on the other hand, perhaps, yet, yew know that old gossip never dies, it just smells that way. . . .

HEARD WHILE GUZZLING CRUMPETS

The prime minista was telling me over a spot of tea that Jim Morris has decided to make the Royal Marines his career, now that he has plighted his troth to Duchess Reese yew know, it tis like I always say . . . Parris Island can't keep a good man down, it just makes 'em mighty lonesome

One blarsted rose found its way into Corky Darnall's heart. Some old boy must be monstrously in love, but monstrously poor

Ay say, but have yew noticed the tolling of Big Ben? Don Williamson (better known in Latin circles as Jose,) is carrying off Princess Armijo from this grim ivy tower in his shiny white auto Ain't it exciting though, having another wedding in the crowd

Ay want yew to know right off that Ay don't believe in this Moon-June-Spoon-Honeymoon bosh, but nevertheless there's a ghastly amount of courting coming to the serious stage Queen Elizabeth Bates is considering betrothal to Prince Hal well old girl, it looks as though yew might not have to teach moppets music in Shoreditch next year

SEEN THROUGH FROSTED SPECTACLES

Kathy Hayes' swain has opened his heart and they are become engaged, gawgeous ring and all Nice going old boy, and so young too. . . .

Janet Neilson wearing a new bauble of the knight of the Sigma Chi (same man, new pin)

Jean Robb looking for fall lodging in St. Louis the grass always looks greener Shirley Falls putting away her A.A. award blanket in her hope chest. . . .

And now, one last word from the book of the sage Don't flirt with bobby, cause bobby socks Cheerio

Often, the grouch a woman nurses is her husband.

Beauty is only skin dope.

A new definition of a college graduate: One who can count up to twenty with his shoes on.

A man will always go to bat for a girl with curves.

Seniors Will Possessions To Undergraduates And Forecast Their Fascinating Futures

To the strains of "School Days," the Senior Class waltzed down the aisles beating on drums, violins, triangles, combs, and hard-to-play instruments, and led by a plumber's friend, to the cheering throngs gathered for Class Day, on May 17. Dressed in jeans, gay nineties outfits, night shirts, and any old thing available, and carrying huge parasols, the Senior Class proceeded in creating quite a spectacle!

When the shrieks of delight had died down, Dott Hall stepped forward to read the class will. Among the notable highlights was the "Rose La Rose" act pulled by Mel Bemis as she distributed layer after layer of clothes to willing friends. Another cheer went up as Liz Bates relinquished her choice collection of bottles to the most deserving girls. Corky Darnall gave up the keys to her blue Mercury to her sister, Nancy, with an illustrated booklet showing where to find the starter, brakes, and gear shift and the purpose of each. Jo Sullivan willed her tardy record to Vi Mas-koff and her record for cutting classes to Sherri Armijo. Another highlight was the famous picture of Custer's Last Stand which Betty Tom willed to Boots Nebesnick. Last but not least, Carol Greer, Jean Robb, Corky Darnall and Dott Hall willed Dougie Boy Hume to those who will take good care of him next year and help him over his many hurdles.

After the Seniors displayed their unselfish attitude by giving away their most cherished possessions, Kay Shaddock and Mary Lou Matthews proceeded to read the class prophecy of the Lindenwood Class of 1951, 10 years hence. Some of the girls were found in strange places. Kay Shaddock was found working at the Times-Picayune newspaper in New Orleans, talking over the phone to Mary Lou Matthews who was in charge of publicity for Lindenwood College. Betty Tom was found resting up from a recent real estate sale, she had sold the Royal Hawaiian and Waikiki Beach to Mollie Carr, who had previously married into the Anheuser-Busch family. It was reported that Jennifer Sullivan had been spending her summers with Bee Gee Littleton and her hubby Bill, studying the effect of the effect of Gordon's Gin on the rate of multiplication of three-headed hydra on black sheep.

Corky Darnall was at the time in Tia Juana, sent as an official delegate from NBC for National Tequila Week. She was getting marvelous ideas for her show "Life with Manana" starring Carol Greer, who is now one of the foremost woman columnists in the United States. Mac and Squirley were found to be on the U. S. track team. Dott Hall was directing "The Whirlwind Passeth" on Broadway and her next play is to be "The Battling Baptist" by Helen Parks. Em Terry was found to be music director for movies in Hollywood.

After the class prophecy was read, the Senior Class of '51 trooped out with instruments in hand, leaving their most cherished possessions behind them.

Sports 'n Skirts

By Jean Robb

The big news is Sibley winning the intramural plaque for the second year in a row. If they win it again next year, the plaque will have a permanent residing place in Sibley.

Lindenwood has played four softball games—with Webster, Washington U, Harris and Principia, and beat Webster, losing by very small margin to the other schools.

There have been several tennis matches with the above-mentioned schools and Mollie Carr distinguished herself and Lindenwood by winning every match.

Play Day was successful, and all the schools who participated seemed to have a really fine time, playing softball, tennis, golf, ping-pong, and riding.

Wednesday evening, May 23, Ken Davidson, a former badminton champion, played a demonstration game with Ruth Beutler. He also had a clinic after the game.

The faculty-class officers softball game proved conclusively the faculty are the best ball players, as they won 12-7. The Seniors thought that the reason the faculty won in their game was because the Senior Class was just out of condition, but maybe they're better players after all.

McCluers Entertain Senior Class

If you'd happened to go by the presidential mansion on May 17, you would have found it ablaze with activity, as the Senior Class with its sponsors, Prof. Douglas and Miss Marguerite Ver Kruzen, invaded the McCluers for dinner.

After chicken salad, potatoes au gratin, asparagus, rolls, cake and strawberries and coffee, the happily-fed group decided to play some games.

The first game played proved the Senior Class' artistic ability, as easels were set up, and the group divided into two sides, and two girls were chosen to draw the person, book title, or thing whispered into their ears by Mrs. McCluer, while each side tried to guess the object first. Among notable objects drawn was a cat for Dr. Betz (which was guessed immediately).

MISS KATHRYN HANKINS

this school year. "It is with deep regret that I leave Lindenwood for a much needed vacation," Miss Hankins says. "It has been my college-home for many years."

Miss Hankins came here in 1920 as professor of Latin and head of the Classical Department. She stated that her work in the classics has given her much joy; that she believes wholeheartedly in the values the classics have to offer; that she has had many, many interesting students, and several of them have taught Latin after graduating from Lindenwood. She has sponsored Pi Alpha Delta, classical sorority, during the years here; started the Encore Club and sponsored it from the beginning; helped to start Alpha Sigma Tau and has been its sponsor for the past two years. Since 1927, Miss Hankins has been the Alumnae secretary, and for the past eight years secretary of the faculty.

Miss Hankins expects to make her home in Topeka, Kans.

Interdepartmental Course In Sociology Planned For Fall

The course listed in the catalogue as Sociology 102, to be taught as an interdepartmental course next year, has been announced by Dean Roberts.

This experiment will be under the direction of Dr. Schmidt of the Sociology Department, with participation in instruction by Dr. Clevenger of the History Department, Dr. Moore of the Economics Department, and Dr. Conover of the Philosophy Department. The new course will be entitled, "History of Social Thought." Dr. Clevenger, Dr. Moore, and Dr. Conover will add the political, economic, and philosophical aspects.

There will be no prerequisite for the course and it will be open to all upper-class students.

'Miss Missouri' On Television

"Miss Missouri" and her bassoon appeared on KSD-TV Sunday night, May 13, on the Laclede Gas Music Hour. This was the first of many appearances to be made by Carol Romann, a Junior, since her election as "Miss Missouri."

Seniors Gorge On Spaghetti With Mme. Lyolene

With cries of, "I've never been so hungry in my life," and "Get a look at that divine food," 37 starved Seniors sat down to a spaghetti dinner on May 15. The dinner was cooked by Madame Lyolene and members of the food preparation class, and was served by them.

Not only was there luscious spaghetti, but a tossed salad, meatballs, french bread, ice tea and coffee, three kinds of cake and cookies were featured in the menu.

As all the Seniors were determined to eat their $5 worth, which they paid WSSF for the dinner, 37 bodies crept down the hall after it was all over, holding their sides and grimly declared it was worth every bite. All agreed many thanks were due to the Madame and her girls.

Emily Terry To Give Degree Recital

Emily Terry will give her B.M. degree recital tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in Roemer Auditorium. Emily is a Senior from El Dorado, Ark., and a music major. She is president of Mu Phi Epsilon, national professional music fraternity. The student body is invited to the recital and all music students are required to attend.

Merry Maidens Take Sherwood

At 10:30 a. m. a cavalcade of cars left campus on May 13, to go on the Press Club Alpha Epsilon Rho picnic. The destination was Sherwood Forest, and after driving 40 miles, and each of the cars getting lost in the woods and spending hours searching for each other, all the groups met, and settled down to picnicking.

New Styles Displayed In Student Show

The annual Spring Style Show was presented by the Home Economics Department and Madame Lyolene on May 11.

Students modeled the clothes they had designed and made . . . and everything from nightgowns to sun-suits danced before the spotlight. The stylish narrators for the evening were Lorraine Klockenbrink and Dott Hall.

After the main event of eating, the rest of the day was spent sunbathing, swimming, playing baseball, and see-sawing (at which Dr. Betz and Mr. Hume excelled!)

The dusty, tired, and hot little band wended their way back to campus in time to scrub their muddy feet and grubby hands for teatime—their only regret being that another picnic wasn't scheduled for the next week.

Choir-Orchestra Spring Concert

The Lindenwood Choir and the Lindenwood College Orchestra presented the annual spring concert of compositions by American composers, on Sunday evening, May 13.

The Choir was under the direction of Milton Rehg and accompanist Virginia Ratcliff. The Orchestra was directed by Kauko Lustig. Vocal Obligati was by Patsy Fields, Beverly Stukenbroecker, Liz Bates, and Mona Lou Hand.

Home Ec Student Designs Trailer

Mrs. Editha Rowell, a special student from St. Louis, enrolled in the Home Economics Department, for a special project has designed a trailer to be used by the Four-H Club of Idaho. The trailer is movable for demonstration, and is a utilization in space and kitchen planning, and may also be transformed into a stage for style shows.

L. C. Students In Roto Spread

Lindenwood College was recently featured in the "Des Moines Register Tribune" in a full page roto layout. Pictures from the Art Department, the radio station and a student room in Cobbs Hall showed several Iowan girls. Among them were Katherine Hays, Gretchen Schnurr, Barbara Reed, and Evid Ulvestad. Every year Lindenwood has about 30 to 50 students from Iowa.

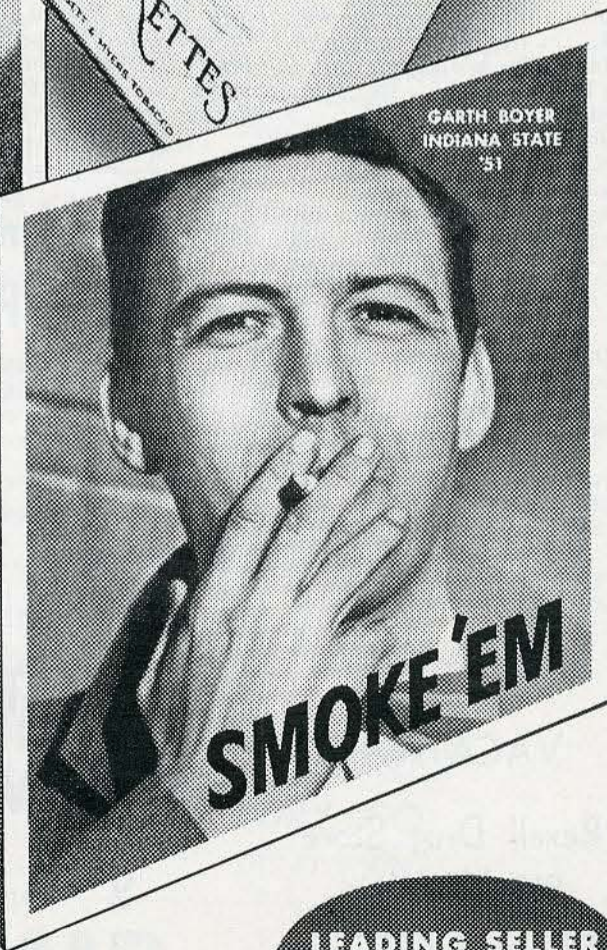

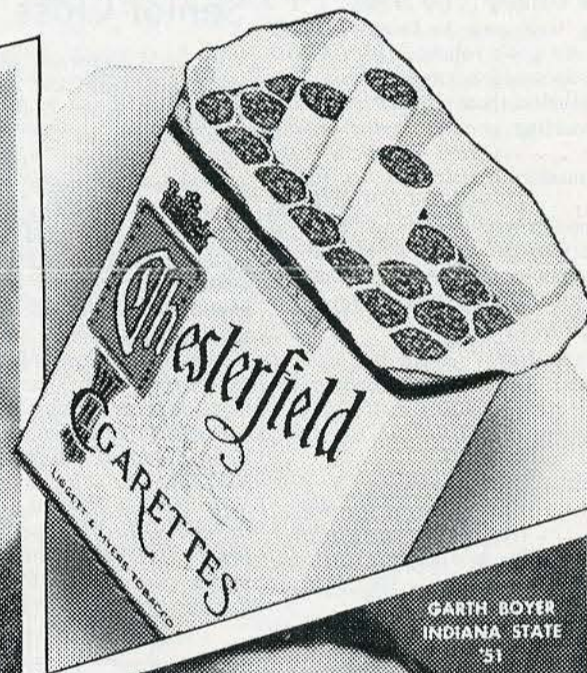

DR. AND MRS. McCLUER ENTERTAIN SENIOR CLASS

"Que Es" for Dr. Terhune, and long wavy locks for Mr. Hume.

Other games played were the story that takes the cake, which Polly Allen and Mary Lou Matthews carefully cut into, much to the delight of the Butler and Irwin girls, charades, and a proverb game.
