Renie Oakes Elected Senior President; Pat Underwood To Head Juniors

Eleanor Trefz Sophomore President

Maureen Oakes is the new president of the Class of 1950. Renie lives in Butler Hall and comes from Butler, Mo. She is an active member of A. A., S. C. A., and the Republican Club.

Sue Finney has been elected vice president, and Sally Joy is secretary-treasurer. Class representatives to the Student Council and Judiciary Board are Betty Orr and Joe Anne Choisser.

Patricia Underwood, of Knox, Pa., has been elected president of the Junior Class. The Literary Editor of Linden Leaves in '48 and '49, Pat was also vice president of Phi Alpha Delta, president of the Poetry Society, and a member of Sigma Tau Delta and Alpha Sigma Tau.

Dorothy Hall was elected vice president, Carolyn Furnish, secretary, and Joyce Powell, treasurer. Representatives to the Student Council and the Judiciary Board are Sarah Hilliard and Jennifer Sullivan.

Eleanor Trefz, of Beatrice, Mo., is the president of the Sophomore Class. Vice president is Diane Lent; secretary, Pat Kloss; treasurer, Laurie Bowman. The class is represented on the Student Council by Ruth Butler and on the Judiciary Board by Nancy Starzl.

The Freshmen will elect their officers in about four weeks, giving everyone a chance to get acquainted first.

Miss McCrory Improves

Miss Juliette McCrory, head of the Speech Department, expects to be able to take over her classes in about three weeks. Miss McCrory underwent an operation in August and pneumonia developed. She is now at home in Guin, Ala.

Elections were also held in the dormitories the past week. Ayres has elected Carol Brower as president and Molly Carr as Student Council representative. Butler—Jean McKahan, president; and Polly Allen, Student Council representative. Pat Schilb is president of Irwin and Mary Lou Matthews represents the hall to the Student Council. President of Sibley is Dorothy Hall and Student Council representative, Patricia Sowle. Nicolls has not elected its officers yet because of the majority of Freshmen living there. Hall proctors will be elected later.

It's Granddad Now At President's Home

Here's a business story with a happy ending: For three years Dr. Franc McCluer has been inducing, soliciting, and urging young women to attend Lindenwood College. In turn, the campus has sprouted forth with foreign students, a new dormitory, and beautiful dahlias. But fate saved her special smile for our President until the time when he should become a grandfather. For, what else could the mythical stork have brought than a potential member of the class of 1970? Yes, Dr. McCluer is now the proud grandfather of a bouncing baby girl, who has been named Jean Allison.

Jean, who was born in Princeton, New Jersey, on September 9, will arrive on campus this Friday accompanied by both her mother and the president of her future Alma Mater. Her father, Richmond McCluer, is now a member of the faculty of the Music Department of Washington University.

New $300,000 Residence Hall Will Be Dedicated On Founders' Day, November 21

Founders' Day Speaker Dr. Arthur H. Compton Will Deliver Address

Dr. Arthur H. Compton

Lindenwood's new $300,000 dormitory will be dedicated on Founders' Day. This year's observance of Founders' Day has been postponed until November 21 to insure completion of the building. The full day's program will begin at 11 o'clock in the morning, when the Rev. Dr. James W. Clarke, president of the college's Board of Directors, will receive the building from the contractor and architect. At that time, the new residence hall will be named in honor of a distinguished friend of Lindenwood.

Dr. Arthur H. Compton, Chancellor of Washington University, St. Louis, will deliver the annual Founders' Day address. Dr. Compton, one of the world's outstanding scientists, helped develop the first atomic bomb. He initiated and directed development of the first atomic chain reactor and of first quantity production of plutonium. Awarded the Nobel Prize for physics by the Swedish Academy of Science in 1927, he contributed such further achievements to science as the discovery of the total reflection of X-rays and the electrical composition of cosmic radiations.

During the last war Dr. Compton served on the Advisory Committee to the Manhattan Project, the Presidential Commission on Higher Education, and the State Department Advisory Council on UNESCO. In 1938, he organized the Chicago International Congresses on Cosmic Rays.

Dr. Compton, who received his Ph. D. from Princeton University, has served on the faculties of Cambridge University and the University of Chicago. He was appointed Chancellor of Washington University in 1945. A member of many honorary and international scientific organizations, Dr. Compton is also the author of several books, the latest of which is "The Religion of a Scientist," now in its fifth printing.

Eight New Members Join Lindenwood Faculty This Fall

Eight new members have been added to the faculty and administration this year. Robert C. Colson, former registrar, has been appointed to the newly created post of business manager. Mr. Colson is replaced by Miss Mildred McMican. Miss McMican was graduated from Buena Vista College at Storm Lake, Ia., and has worked in the placement office at Washington University. Miss McMican has also worked in the Dean's office at Lindenwood.

Coming here from Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., is Miss S. Louise Beasley, who will teach courses in mathematics. Miss Beasley has a B. S. degree in education from Southwestern Missouri State College, Springfield, a M. A. degree from the University of Missouri, and a Master's degree in education from Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.

Before coming to Lindenwood to teach education, Donn W. Hayes was assistant to the Dean of University College at Washington University. Mr. Hayes has a B. S. and M. S. degree from the University of Illinois and is working on his doctorate at Washington University.

A new member of the Physical Education Department, Miss Martha Elizabeth Reese, graduated from the University of Colorado in June with a B. S. degree.

A former Lindenwood student, Miss Dorothy Ely, will teach English. She has a B. S. degree from Lindenwood and a M. A. degree from the University of Wisconsin. Miss Ely has taught a number of years in the St. Charles High School.

Lindenwood Artists Win Wide Recognition

A number of Lindenwood art students received recognition in exhibitions at Ypsilanti, Mich., St. Louis Artist Guild and in the annual exhibition at Springfield, Mo., last spring. Two students, Marie Koch and Beverly Pannell, and two art professors, John Middents and Miss Elizabeth Watts, exhibited work in the Springfield show which consisted of work from artists in nine states. Dorothy Walker has had a lithograph reproduced in the Art News magazine. Students represented in other exhibits were Helen Ray, Barbara Hueftle, Dolores Moore, Jane Foust and Ardis Schrik.

Miss Elizabeth Watts, chairman of the Art Department, has recently been exhibiting work in New Jersey, as well as in Missouri shows.

Students studying interior design at Lindenwood under the direction of Miss Ellen Irish are having practical application made of their designs. Their plans have been accepted for the decoration of certain rooms in the new dormitory which is being erected on the campus.

L. C. Has Cosmopolitan Air, 30 States, 23 Countries Represented

Thirty states and 23 foreign countries are represented on Lindenwood's campus this year. Missouri is leading with the largest number of girls, 121. Illinois has 62 girls to cheer for the blue and gold, and Iowa has 22 girls here. The students from the foreign countries represent all corners of the world.

There are no twins on campus for the first time in many years at Lindenwood; however, there are six sets of sisters. Hyne Tin and Myotin Chang are here from Bengal, India. Sophomore Pat Kirshner brought her sister, Mary L., this year to the Freshman Class as did Marie Zarraga, whose sister, Carman, came all the way from Cuba with her. Kathleen and Helen Hartzog, Marilee and Nancy Darnall, and Glenna and Joyce Shoemaker are back.

Uncle Guy Motley recently confided to a Bark reporter that "the gals are gettin' better 'n better all the time."

Admiral Trip Plus Men Equals Exciting Day For Lindenwood Gals

By Mary Lou Matthews

Well, I was supposed to meet him at the gate at 2:45, and while I was standing there, this simply MELLOW creature walks up, and guess what? HE WAS MINE! This was a conversation overheard between two L. C. Elsie's, about a blind date for the B. D. O. T. A. (Big Day On The Admiral, that is.) Believe it or not, Mr. Ripley, there were literally hundreds of dates; 130 from Westminster College, Fulton, and 80 from Parks Air College, East St. Louis, and all the boys who came from the "home town" for the grand occasion.

Five hundred wind-blown girls and their sun-quinting dates stood on the top deck, the Lido, as Captain Jim Brasher, pilot of the Admiral, sounded the "All ashore that's going ashore" whistle, and then the fun began. There was a fast-moving stream of land-lubbers inspecting each deck of the 385-foot-long ship. The bottom deck, called the Circus Deck, drew a large crowd, but the most popular place of congregation was the second deck, in the ball room. As the orchestra furnished the music for the biggest blind date in history, a roving photographer of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch blinded a chosen few, taking pictures of the event, which probably will be published in that paper sometime in the near future.

Besides the Circus Deck and the ball room, the third deck is a balcony overlooking the dance floor, and the fourth deck is an open-air dining room, where many of the faculty and administration were to be found. (Incidentally, Mr. Machell's lost son was found.)

Thirty miles down the Mississippi the fun-packed Admiral turned around and started back to "de ole levee." By this time, there was no such thing as a "blind date" to be found on any deck . . . every

The Bark Presents

The staff of the Linden Bark presents for your approval its first edition for this school year. Realizing the high standards set in former years by the Bark, the staff will not be corny as Kansas in August, but will try to repeat the making of this year's Bark a big blow-out rather than a slow leak of interesting events.

Most of the old favorites such as the Schmoos, Hall of Fame, Of All Things, the All Bark-No Bite column will appear again. From time to time news items will be introduced. One of our aims is to represent the students, and we are open to suggestions from you. If you have any, just drop a note in Box 499.

By the way, when you're downtown, remember our advertisers.

Greetings From The President

Orientation Week and the first week of classes have been weeks of ready adjustment to the new tasks. The ease with which this adjustment has been made is due to the splendid cooperation of the students and the fine spirit prevailing in the student community. We are justified in the pride we have in this student body.

Here is a hope that the good beginning which we have had together is an earnest of a year of significant accomplishment for each one of you. May you find happiness throughout the year at work and at play and in all of your college undertakings.

F. L. McCLUER

Pigskin Proposal

Sitting at home week ends if you don't have a date is getting to be an old, old story. It's no fun seeing everyone else getting ready to do something; and there you sit, twiddling your thumbs. Wouldn't it be a grand thing if we could go to some of the big football games around here sometime?

It wouldn't take too much money for a bus to be chartered to Columbia for the gals to see Mizzou play. The bus could leave Lindenwood at 9 a. m. some Saturday morning and arrive in Columbia in plenty of time for the game. The return bus could leave Mizzou about 4:30 or 5 p. m. and be at L. C. by 8 or 9 p. m. A lot of fun would be had by all, and it wouldn't be too expensive for any one girl.

We think it's a pretty good idea. Why not drop a note in our Post Office box and let us know how you feel. Who knows! Maybe we can get the buses rolling.

The Water's Fine

"Come on in, the water's fine!"

Ever hear that expression? You know, it can be talking about swimming, or participation in school activities. And we do have a lot of school activities that need people, and lots of people, to be any fun for the whole crowd.

There's always something going on for everyone to do. It's no fun to sit along the sidelines and watch the team play. They need you, and you need them.

Bark Barometer Of Campus Opinion

New Students Give First Impressions Of Campus—Variety Show Tops In Orientation Week Entertainment.

First impressions are lasting! Lindenwood's new students received their first introduction to the campus during Orientation Week. In the Bark's first poll on campus opinion, a selected number of girls were asked the following questions:

1. What impressed you most during Orientation Week?

2. What confused you most, and

3. What did you enjoy the most?

The beautiful campus impressed 39 per cent of the girls and the friendliness of the girls impressed 28 per cent.

Registration seemed to be the most confusing with 28 per cent. Many other opinions were expressed, the aptitude tests, what courses to take, and telling the halls apart.

The Variety Show was first on the enjoyment list with 44 per cent and the White Apron Jamboree was next with 22 per cent.

One Freshman said: "I enjoyed the square dance in the Gym. It seemed to 'break the ice' for the Freshmen." Another quote: "What confused me most? A struggle that every Freshman has . . . trying to remember the names of the faculty." Another confused Freshman said, "The most confusing aspect of the first week at Lindenwood was trying to find the right building, for the right time, for the right thing, especially where to eat."

Schmoos' Schmoothies

Susie Schmoos rolls out the welcome mat to all you new students and also all the old students. Get ready for another glorious year at Lindenwood (where men, through a minimum of red tape and ping pong games, may be obtained without any risk.) We are all looking forward to a grand, healthful year. While on the subject of health, during this wonderful Indian season in good ole "Misery," take advantage of it, gals, and get out and enjoy it! Just spend an hour romping through the fallen leaves and leave your troubles and woes back in the dorm or at the post office. Stay happy and healthy at Lindenwood!

OF ALL THINGS

Of all things, here we are back again starting out a new year. Got any cute little things that you think we'd all like to hear? Just drop them in the journalism room, and we'll see what we can do about it. Only—they have to be printable. This little verse expresses our sentiments:

The gals who think our jokes are rough

Would quickly change their views,

If they'd compare the ones we print

With the ones we can't use.

Now to keep you happy, how's about some mirth? Heard any of these lately:

"A bachelor is a man who didn't have a car when he was in college."

"Oh, darling, I've missed you!" she cried, and she raised her revolver and fired again.

Did you hear what the journalism major's answer was to the question "Who was Milton?" found on the E. Lit. final? A famous gambler who wrote about losing and finding a pair of dice.

No offense meant to anyone:

A word used in talk banal Depends for meaning on the locale.

A yawl in the nawth Is a craft on the froth;

But in the south, it's second person, plural.

Here's a new excuse why a cold always goes to your head—it's not crowded there!

By Sally Joy

Dorm doors opened . . . teachers transported half the books in the library from the stacks to the reserve shelf . . . Upperclassmen arrived with last year's clothes straight from an overhaul job at the cleaners . . . Freshmen hit the campus in beautiful new tweeds and the latest styles from fashion magazines . . . Mr. Motley began running around with a list of names in his hand . . . yep, it meant just one thing: September, and Lindenwood opened again.

Sho' is a cute collection of Freshies that have headed St. Charles way this fall. With the trite but conventional greeting, "Welcome," we bid you take off your hats and stay awhile . . . we love havin' you around. In case you find yourself with a little spare time between 5 and 6 in the afternoon, remember such organizations as the League of Women Voters, International Relations Club and Athletic Association, for they all need and want your support.

"Underneath the Linden trees" where we gave our . . . every free moment to studies, books and tete-a-tetes from 7 to 11 every night at the Library. We are told Lindenwood is raising its scholastic standard. We believe it. Of course, the reason we came to college is to get educated, but man! . . . I feel like I'm gettin' so much edjucashun it doesn't know where to stop. But, gals, cheer up. Quoting from Mr. Machell, "Everything reaches a point of diminishing returns," so sooner or later the teachers will get tired of typing out those long assignments.

Still all work and no play makes L. C. a dull girl and the Week End Recreation Committee has really come through with yellow and white banners flying. Scooping the recent parties was the fling on the Admiral. Those rumors that circulate every year concerning Wouldn't it be wonderful if the fellow who perfected wingle's chickens could only work on pamless bellhops and waiters?

You know, lots of folks find their square meals make them too round. They'll have to hunt up that London reducing salon who had a sign saying: "We're specialists in devaluing the pound!"

We'll close with a word to the wise: "If you can't write it and sign it, don't say it."

If Cedar Falls do you think Lindenwood?

combining a well known men's college near here and our school, resulting in Westwood Co-ed College certainly have the support of everyone who made the Admiral trip. The whole plan was much more successful than the attempts made at blind dates. Telling Johnnie and Joan, who are perfect strangers, they must attend a dance together and have a wonderful time usually results in a most boring evening for both parties. Fewer blind dates and more mixers!

Next on the agenda, . . . The new things on campus. That anonymous building between Irwin and Nicolls is quite a beauty. Since no name has been suggested as yet, may we submit, Dream Dorm . . . The remodeled Post Office and Book Store is both pretty and handy, and will save many trips to St. Charles. Dr. McCluer's office with its oriental prints and charreusse walls is an eye catcher . . . glad to see that Churchill's picture survived the rejuvenation, however. Just wouldn't seem like the same office without the former Prime Minister's friendly glare and whiff of cigar smoke drifting down from the heights of the wall.

Of course, mention must be made of the old things on campus. There are many, but most prominent is Lake Success. Funny how a thing grows on one . . . I'm beginning to feel our lake is really one spot visitors must not miss. Only one year old and already tradition has grown around our esteemed lake, not to mention weeds, grass and mosquitoes. We love you, Lake Success, and may you continue to grow until we can claim the biggest and best mud puddle in Missouri.

We wonder who the stag was who cut in on a girl at one of the recent dances and began the conversation with, "And where do you go to school?"

Addresses A.A.U.W.

Dr. Alice Parker of the English Department met with the newly-formed branch of the American Association of University Women on September 26, at Eldorado Springs, Mo.

The following evening she addressed a meeting of the organization on "The A. A. U. W. in a Changing World" at Fayette, Mo.

Lindenwood Olympettes

Lindenwood Athletic Association will swing into action on October 19 with the initiation of new members. Come on, all you Freshmen, and of course, all you old girls who haven't joined, get your practice hours in and you'll be part of an organization that has all the fun. All you have to do to join is get two practice hours in three sports and then pass the tests in those sports. Incidentally those tests are very simple, so don't worry. The Athletic Association is one of the more active clubs on campus, sponsoring several parties and barn dances the year.

For the benefit of all who don't know the officers in A. A. here they are. President, Jody Viertel; vice president, Alice Mack; secretary, Diane Lent; treasurer, Laurie Bowman; and sponsor Miss Ver Kruzen.

Intramurals start in about a week with golf and archery on October 12, hockey Oct. 19, bowling Nov. 11, and volleyball November 28. Get in your practice hours and come out and play for your dorm. Let's get that plaque circulating this year, shall we?

THE CLUB CORNER

Sigma Tau Delta has held its election for officers. They are Sally Joy, president; Gretchen Schnurr, vice president; Remy Rodriguez, secretary, and Pat Underwood, treasurer.

The officers of Poetry Society are Helen Parks, president; Remy Rodriguez, vice president; Barbara Allen, treasurer.

Kappi Pi initiation was held in the Fine Arts building last Thursday night.

The first formal dance of the year was given last Saturday night. The student council sponsored this big night which was called the "Pigskin Prance" in keeping with the football season.

FOUNDER'S DAY

Following Dr. Compton's address, luncheon will be served in Ayres Dining Room. Immediately after this there will be the annual pilgrimage to the graves of Lindenwood's founders, Major and Mrs. Sibley. Continuing a custom of many years, certain of the college's students will decorate the cemetery where the founders are buried.

At 1:30 p. m., friends of the college are invited to inspect the new residence hall, accompanied by student hostesses.

The completion of this four-story dormitory marks another step in Lindenwood's expansion program. The overall dimensions of the building are 140 feet by 40 feet, with a projecting wing on the ground and first floors approximately 50 feet by 30 feet.

Designed by the architect's firm of LaBeaume and Unland, St. Louis, the completed dormitory will be in keeping with the general architectural plan of the campus. The exterior is to be of brick with limestone trimming. The roof will be flat and will allow for full size rooms on the top floor.

Accommodating 72 students in 28 double rooms and 16 single ones, the new dorm will also provide quarters for the Tea Room, to be located at the rear of the ground floor.

On the first floor will be the office and rooms of the head resident and a living room 48 feet by 30 feet. Another feature of this floor will be ten date parlors adjacent to the living room. This section of the building will be two stories in height and above it will be a large sun deck. Student bedrooms, provided with connecting baths, will be located on three floors.

On Founders' Day, which has been postponed for the completion of the new residence hall, all classes will be dismissed.

The Lindenwood Alumnae Association has invited all former students to return for the occasion. Officers of this year's Association include Mrs. H. K. Stumberg, president; Miss Gladys Campbell, vice president; Mrs. Robert R. Wright, secretary, and Mrs. George M. Null, treasurer.

Father Of Dr. McCluer Dies

Lindenwood students and faculty extend their sincere sympathy to Dr. and Mrs. Franc L. McCluer in the death of his father, Clarence E. McCluer, who died September 8, in Fulton, Mo., at the age of 92.

THE CAMPUS HALL OF FAME

We are introducing Dorothy Walker as our first nominee for the Campus Hall of Fame this year.

Dot has been very active in campus affairs since her first year here. She is a member of Lindenwood's chapter of Kappa Pi, national honorary art society, and she served as vice president last year. She has been a member of the Instrumental Association. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Tau and Sigma Tau Delta.

She was on the art staff of Lindenwood last year, and is editor of the annual this year. This association with the college publication entitled her to membership in the Press Club.

French Students Transcribe Program

Miss Anna Wurster of the Lindenwood faculty, and Misses Caroline England, Patsy Fields, Jewett Langdon and Mary Nussbaum collaborated in a radio transcription which has been used by the French Broadcasting System in North America. The program was beamed to French students and told a little of what college life here in the United States was like. The record was done in French and in addition to the dialogue Patsy Fields sang a French selection and Mary and Caroline played a duet. The transcription was cut at the KCLC studios.

The transcription was played over the International Good-will Network and reached many French students. The object of the broadcast was to bring relationships between the two countries closer. We receive recordings in return from the French students. Miss Wurster hopes that the Lindenwood students will be able to record another broadcast again this year.

Dr. Alice Parker Leads A.A.U.W. Workshop

The St. Charles Branch of the American Association of University Women will hold a Workshop of the Association at Lindenwood Saturday, under the leadership of Dr. Alice Parker of the college's English Department.

Mrs. Carl N. Ettinger will speak. Since her graduation from Colorado College, she has been active in civic affairs. She is married and has two grown sons. Her home town of Cedar Rapids, Ia., has benefited from her leadership in P.T.A., Community Chest, American Red Cross Welfare Council, Children's Home, Board of the Social Planning Council, and the Cedar Rapids Symphony Orchestra and Concert Association.

She is president of the Iowa Division of the A.A.U.W., member of the National Committee Status of Women, A.A.U.W., and on the advisory boards of both the International Relations Conference, Grinnell College and the night college of Coe College at Cedar Rapids.

Two main topics to be discussed at the Workshop will be: "Status of Women" and "What is A.A.U.W.?"

Stag Line Presents Unusual Situation At First Dance Of Year

The usual ratio of men to women was suddenly upset the night of Lindenwood's first dance for this year. The uninvited, with the expected, men from St. Louis University, Washington University and Rolla School of Mines crowded the campus on the evening of September 24, while house mothers frantically canvassed the residence halls to find available dates for the waiting stag line. The resulting paired-off and united two hundred couples finally assembled at the Butler Gym, where they danced to the music of Ronnie Ross' orchestra. Although the refreshments, cokes and popcorn, rapidly disappeared, the gaiety of the evening lasted until the deadline hour of 12:30 o'clock.

The dance was sponsored by the Week End Recreation Committee, headed by Miss Leah Mae Williams. Miss Williams was the resident counselor of Sibley Hall last year, and will supervise the new dormitory when it is completed.

Enrollment Counselors Meet With Faculty

Enrollment counselors of Lindenwood College met with the faculty and administration last week on the campus.

Counselors and their addresses and territories are:

Clarence C. Keel, Admission Counselor, 1900 Park Avenue, St. Charles, Mo.; territory: St. Louis and County, southeast Missouri, and southern Illinois.

James L. Lewis, 6922 Patricia Avenue, Dallas, Tex.; territory: Oklahoma, Texas, and Arkansas.

Carey L. Motley, 458 N. Missouri, Liberty, Mo.; territory: Kansas, and Missouri

F. B. Lamb, 126 North Prairie, Batavia, Ill.; territory: Northern Illinois.

B. B. Branstetter, 1211 West Main, Marshalltown, Ia.; territory: Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, and North and South Dakota.

Hockey Practice Begins; Positions To Be Filled

Hockey practice has started. Competition for the Lindenwood hockey team began last week and will continue for another month at least. Beginners are urged to try out. There are several positions to be filled this year.

There are only six returning lettermen: Alice Mack, center forward; Sihrley Fall, goalie; Helen Parks, Ruth Beutler, and Diane Lent, half-backs, and Jody Viertel, wing.

On November 12 and 13 there will be a Midwest hockey tournament at Forest Park. Let's have a big crowd to represent Lindenwood. We have five hockey games with other colleges this year and they really are going to be big games.

October 21, Harris Teachers—Here.

November 5, Monticello—There.

November 19, Principia—There.

November 26, Maryville—Here.

No date, Washington U.

Remember it takes more than the players to make a good game, so let's see you out rooting for the team. They'll really appreciate it.

Faculty Members Enjoy Varied Vacations

Faculty, as well as the students, enjoyed the summer vacation. Many members of the faculty continued teaching, attended conferences and school, while others traveled.

Dr. and Mrs. Franc McCluer spent ten days in Guatemala sight-seeing at Chichicastenango, Lake Atitlan, Antigua, and Guatemala City. They were also in the party that was entertained to a buffet supper at the American Embassy. Later in the summer they vacationed for a week at Ludington, Mich.

Miss Martha Boyer, head of the Radio Department, was a member of the faculty of the radio workshop held jointly by Radio Station KMOX and the University of Missouri at KMOX in St. Louis. She also taught courses in speech at Washington University.

Charles C. Clayton, Journalism Department, conducted by a Workshop in Journalism at the School of Journalism, University of Missouri, for faculty advisors of college and high school publications.

Dr. Homer C. Clevenger, head of the History Department, was a member of the History Department at the University of Missouri and taught three courses in American History.

Dr. Alice Parker attended the National Convention of the American Association of University Women at Seattle, Wash., with Dr. Agnes Sibley, in June. They visited on the way back with Dr. Kate L. Gregg, professor emerita of English, and Dr. Alice E. Gibson, former Dean of the College. Dr. Parker also traveled extensively through the New England states.

Dr. Eunice C. Roberts attended the I. S. S. (International Student Service) conference at Wells College, Aurora, N. Y., from July 25 to August 3.

Mrs. Helen V. Egelhoff, riding instructor, her daughter, Rosemary and son Dick, Miss Ross, head of the Physical Education Department, Willie, groom of the Lindenwood stables, and the fourteen horses spent the summer at Hunters Lake, Winter, Wis. Mrs. Egelhoff taught riding there.

Robert Douglas Hume vacationed during August on the West Coast, visiting San Francisco, Monterey, and Portland. While in Monterey, he directed the Olio for the new show at the First Theater. Theater.

Dr. Siegmund A. E. Betz, a would-be de Kruif, studied beginning chemistry and physics at the University of Cincinnati.

Both Freshmen And Upperclassmen Present For Orientation Week

"Big sisters" met their adopted offspring Tuesday, Sept. 14, as Freshmen got in full swing of Orientation Week with dinner in the Ayres dining room. Freshmen heard Dr. McCluer welcome them officially to Lindenwood immediately after dinner in the Auditorium, and dashed back to their dorms to get a good night's rest before the trial of theme writing and aptitude examinations Wednesday.

But not all of Orientation Week was drudgery. Even upperclassmen without counselors came back a week early to get in on the fun of the street supper, square dance, dorm parties, receptions, and the all-important Faculty-Student Variety Show. It was hard to settle down to classes on Monday, Sept. 19, after a week of play.

Art Department

Miss Elizabeth Watts, head of the Art Department, is now exhibiting some of her work at the Art Museum of Oakland, Calif. On exhibition are watercolors, pastels, prints, and drawings by Miss Watts.

The Art Department has put on display in Roemer Hall several prints by the contemporary Brazilian artists, Goeldi and Oswaldo.

The new sculpture studio behind Sibley has been completed, and classes are now meeting there.

FACULTY

J. Walter Grundhauser, who teaches bacteriology, has taught here before. Last year he worked on his doctorate at St. Louis University and will continue his work this year.

Two new hall residents this year are Mrs. Haizelle B. Garrison and Miss Betty White Winter. Mrs. Garrison is the mother of Joyce Garrison, who graduated from Lindenwood last year. Her home is in Westfield, N. Y. Miss Winter is a graduate of Lindenwood and lives at Marissa, Ill.

A new nurse, Miss Stella White, has been added to the infirmary staff. Before coming here, Miss White was a nurse at the Pike County Hospital in Louisiana, Mo.

Dr. Lautenschlager Discusses Far Eastern Political Question

The Rev. Stanton Lautenschlager, L. H. D., told a Lindenwood audience of his experiences in missionary work in China under the Communist and Nationalist governments at a convocation Thursday, Sept. 29, 1949.

Rev. Lautenschlager is well acquainted with China, its life, and students. He first went to China in 1920, after training in Canadian and American institutions and experience as a teacher in Huntington College, Indiana. In China he taught modern history at Cheeloo University, in Tsinan, and at Lingman University, Canton. When Cheeloo University moved to West China at the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese War, he went along and devoted half of his time to teaching and half to evangelistic work among students in high schools and universities in unoccupied China. He lectured in China's great northwestern provinces, including Communist-held territory. He spoke and preached to over a thousand of Yen Hsi Shan's political and military leaders. ## Fall Vespers Programs, Convocations Scheduled

The Dean's office has completed its schedule of fall chapels and convocations. Many of the programs will feature the return of names familiar to Roemer Auditorium. Sunday chapel addresses for the next three months include:

October 9: The Rev. Harry T. Scherer, Webster Groves Presbyterian Church, Webster Groves, Mo.

October 16: The Rev. G. Earnest Lynch, Episcopal Church of Hannibal, Mo.

October 23: The Rev. Walter Brown, Presbyterian Church, Mexico, Mo.

October 30: The Rev. Albea Godbold, St. John's Methodist, St. Louis.

November 27: The Rev. Dr. James W. Clarke of the Second Presbyterian Church, St. Louis.

Both Dr. Clarke and the Rev. Scherer are well known on campus. They are both members of the Board of Directors for Lindenwood.

The Music Department of the college will present two programs on November 6 and 20. December 11 will be the date for the annual Christmas choir concert.

The Thursday convocation schedule features:

November 3: May Sarton, poet.

November 29: Harry Farbman, violinist, and Edith Schiller, pianist.

spent in this work, over six thousand students made decisions to become Christians or to study Christianity.

Both overseas and at home Dr. Lautenschlager holds his audiences fascinated as he brings his missionary and evangelistic messages. He was given the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters by Huntington College in 1944, and is the author of "Far West in China" and has also written numerous magazine articles.

Many Changes Take Place On Campus During Summer

There is a new look on the campus this fall. During the summer the carpenters and painters were busy making improvements. One of the first face-lifting jobs to catch the eye of returning students was the remodeling of the Post Office. One room of the old quarters has been painted and fitted out as a modern book store and variety store, stocked with a number of items in demand on the campus.

The Library boasts of a new coat of paint, and there is a new asphalt tile floor in the Library Clubroom. In Roemer Hall, Dr. McCluer now has an attractive modernistic office, complete with a new desk, bookcases and a pleasing color scheme of chartreuse.

Changes were made in the Bank, with quarters provided for the office of the college's new business manager, Robert C. Colson. There is a new black and white linoleum tile floor on the first floor of Sibley Hall, and a new recreation room and kitchen in Ayres Hall.

Plans are now being drawn for the construction of an indoor riding arena near the stables back of Sibley Hall. Another improvement now in the blueprint stage is the remodeling of the Tea Room to serve as a practice house for the Home Economics Department as soon as the Tea Room is moved to the new residence hall.

THE LINDEN LEAVES ARE WHISPERING

By Marian Rattner

Hi everybody, welcome back to Lindenwood for another gay and happy nine months. Over the summer vacation we've been hearing about many of the L. C. alumnae and the happy things that have been happening to them. We hear Dot Steiner has set the date for a December wedding in Cincinnati to Thomas S. Benjamin. Bobbie Walters, this year's Freshman Counsellor, has also set the date for a walk down the aisle. Congratulations, Bobbie!

Congratulations to Mr. Clayton of the Journalism Department on the marriage of his daughter Carol to William Greer Hill. Carol is a Lindenwood alumna. She and her new husband will make their home in Pulaski, Va.

Fraternity pins, what are they? My mother once told me about those things. Now why couldn't I get a pretty one like the one Louise Braz is wearing with those T. E. P. letters? Also saw Marilyn Tweedy and she still is shining with that perfectly wonderful Phi Delt pin with the compliments of Westminster. Sarah Hilliard has a brand new Sigma Chi pin. The lucky guy is Lou Merjanek.

Orientation Week brought back some welcome friends to L. C. Casey Jones, a very popular gal about campus last year, was here. This year Casey is teaching not far from L. C. and maybe we'll be seeing more of her. Also saw Babs Bush on campus. Babs is planning to go on with her studies. It was great seeing the gals.

Evelyn Zane, L. C. ballerina, is back home this year completing her studies at the University of Hawaii.

Heard on the party line . . . . Lorraine Peck finally got that call from Slater at the zero hour . . . Ginny Verplog giving Alice Walthal her Toni . . . Gretal Groos, otherwise known as Rebel, dying for some good southern fried chicken . . . saw Susie Haas' steady when he was up from Missouri Valley, Hum! Where do these gals get the cute guys . . . also saw that cute doctor from Chicago that belongs to Marian Rattner, now what were we saying about cute fellas? . . . Better hang up the phone for now, we'll be calling you next Bark.

Love 'n kisses

ADMIRAL TRIP

one knew every one else, and any bystander would have thought the blind-date couple had known each other since kindergarten days. But did the blind-date couple know anything about the big boat they were enjoying? Mr. John Bonzani, chief engineer of the Admiral, and with the line since 1918, gave us a few interesting facts. There are facilities for a capacity of 4500 pleasure-cruisers on the Admiral, and a competent crew of 100, excluding waiters and musicians. The engine room holds a million fascinations, but the most surprising one is the brig . . . didn't know that? Happily, the brig doesn't do too much business these days, just sort of a "just-in-case" precaution.

Captain Brasher, who has been on the Mississippi all of his life, invited the Lindenwood press up into the pilot's cabin, and told us some more about this amazing ship. The huge searchlights on either side of the cabin in the bow are 5,000 candlepower, and the Admiral has all the features and facilities of an ocean-going ship, except the Admiral has a flat bottom, whereas a sea-going vessel has a pointed hull. Incidentally, Captain Brasher told us to "be sure and come back next spring."

Reluctantly, the Lindenwood excursion went ashore as the ship docked at 6:30 at the levee on Washington. Buses and cars took them back to Lindenwood, where an informal dance was held in the Gym until midnight.

Maybe it was the bright October day, maybe it was just because it was Saturday, and possibly it was because of the seldom-seen-in-such-quantity men, but Lindenwood won't forget the last cruise of the Admiral for the 1949 season, because they made it the best one!

Large Representation From Foreign Countries Present On Lindenwood Campus For Second Year

The four corners of the world meet again at Lindenwood this year, and give the campus a cosmopolitan air. Lindenwood's foreign students have come from Denmark, Sweden, Greece, Germany, Philippines, Guatemala, Cuba, Argentina, and India. They will study here as any Lindenwood lassie, and try to find out about the American life as any of us would do in their own countries.

Helen Heilborn is from Sweden. She came on a "Student Boat" full of American students returning from a tour through Europe. She met there her first American friends and already she misses them. Helen expresses with enthusiasm the moment she saw the "Statue of Liberty," and the skyscrapers around the port of New York.

As she is to be here only for a year she takes courses that interest her. After going home she will specialize in secretarial work, and hopes to be the private secretary of one of the ambassadors of her nation in a foreign country.

Germany is represented by two blondies, Elga Margaret Hese, and Beate Luther. Elga and her family escaped from their home town in Silesia (the Russians occupied and gave it to Poland.) Before coming here, Elga worked at a publishing house of "Music Literature." She came to Lindenwood to learn about the American educational system, and way of living. She is also interested in social work, and hopes some day to help her fiance who plans to be a teacher.

Beate Luther comes from south Germany. She is interested in his-teacher of German and English history courses, and plans to be a tory at home.

Now from Germany to the Philippines to pick up the story of Maria Angeles Fresnito, "Angie" for everybody. Angie is a friend of Remy Rodriquez. She is the daughter of a Filipino and U. S. A. F. F. E. officer, who was killed during the liberation period in Philippines. Angie's major is music. She would like to be a professional singer. But "you are obliged to starve to death if you are a singer in my country," so she will probably give up singing and become a voice teacher.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, is our next stop. Here we have Haydee Scheinin, a cute little person with fair complexion and blue eyes. Haydee has been teacher of English at a private school in Argentina. She has come to L. C. to specialize in English and American literature. In the meantime she admires the high standard of life in America and is astonished at the "fury of the Americanos for baseball games."

Quillermina Pena-Flores comes from Quezaltenango, Guatemala, and wants to study kindergarten and education. She is a teacher of "Escuela Primaria" at home, and hopes that when she goes back, she will teach at the "Escuela Normal" at the Presbyterian College, "La Patria."

Bertha Perret, comes from Union de Reyes, two hours from Havana, Cuba. She came to Lindenwood to learn the language and study piano. Her brother is a student at Rolla, so she does not feel very homesick. After going home, she will be a secretary at her father's office. Bertha likes the American music, but she is very nostalgic when she speaks about the "rumbas," "boleros," "passo doble," and "danzon."

And now let's have a talk with the Chang sisters. Their home is in Kalimpong, India, and they came to study medicine. Whey-Ting wants to specialize in surgery, and Myotin would like to be a general physician. They still miss their home and the spicy Chinese food to which they are used. Though born in India, the two charming sisters are Chinese. Whey-Ting wants to go to China and be a surgeon in a hospital. Myotin plans to follow the steps of her sister.

KCLC Opens Fall Season With New Programs Sally Joy Is Station Manager

By Lorraine Peck

The Voice of Lindenwood, KCLC, began its fall season with a full schedule of musical, quizz, and dramatic shows, including three new programs.

The campus radio station went on the air the first time the evening of September 26 with an introductory broadcast. New shows featured included "This Is Jazz," "Inside L. C.," and "Week-End Review." All three are musicals, with the first presenting transcriptions of the great jazz artists of America. The theme of "Inside L. C." centers around students and the music of the states which they represent. The top four songs of Lindenwood will be played on "Week-End Review" each Friday evening, along with suggestions about plays, concerts, and movies, currently being given in St. Louis.

This year's radio staff is headed by Sally Joy, station manager. Dott Hall, producer of the Monday evening program, "Dramatically Yours," is production director. Carol Greer, who talks about the latest styles in her Wednesday evening show, "After a Fashion," also has the position of business manager for KCLC. Lorraine Peck, continuity director, will continue to present a weekly summary of political happenings over "Party Line." Barbara Sutton, moderator for "This Is Jazz," is the new music director. Publicity and special events have been assigned to Jean Robb. Helen Parks returns once more as head engineer. Gretchen Schnurr, absentee staff member, will resume her job as assistant station manager upon her return from the Washington Semester next year.

New Courses Offered

Four new courses have been added to the Lindenwood curriculum for the first semester of 1949. All the courses are in the Fine Arts Department. Two of the courses are under the direction of Dr. Siegmund A. E. Betz: "History of English Language," and Chaucer and his Times." Miss Kathryn Hankins is offering a course in "Vocabulary Building," and the Fine Art Department is offering a course in "Crafts."

ART

National attention of the art world was focused upon Lindenwood lithography students and their instructor, Mr. John Middents, by the appearance and mention of their work in the September issue of "Art News."

Coast To Coast Is Summer Itinerary Of Student Body

Some of us stayed home, some of us traveled, some of us worked, but all had a wonderful summer. Some of us met some Great Names, too. Remy Rodriguez met "Joltin'" Joe Dimaggio, and several other members of the New York Yankees, while she was working in the St. Louis Catholic Organization this summer. That team was in St. Louis for a game with the St. Louis Browns.

Betty Jack Littleton spent six weeks on the west coast, and in Alaska. Beegee can verify the fact that shopkeepers in Alaska are every bit as persistent as in the United States. She brought back a practical and particularly fragrant pair of "muck lucks," Eskimo snow boots.

Rosa Tsatsakos could write a travelogue about her summer. In June, Rosa went to Washington, D. C. Washington, with all its statues, and Greek architecture, reminded Rosa so much of Greece that she felt right at home. She also visited New York City, Cleveland, and Chicago before returning to St. Louis.

Pursuing scientific study, Pat Schilb, Jennifer Sullivan, and Rita Baker worked as laboratory technicians in hospitals in Wichita, Kans., Lawrence, Kans., and Springfield, Mo.

But Clancey Miller had the most typical of Lindenwood vacations . . . catching up on the Book-Club editions she missed last winter, and listening to the Cardinals win the pennant. (Well, almost!)

L. C. To Be Represented At Detroit Convention

Like to get away from campus for four days? . . . Just ask Barbara Allen and Dorothy Walker how it's done. The girls are going to represent Lindenwood at the National Convention of the College Newspaper Association in Detroit. In addition to meetings, forums and speakers the girls are anticipating a grand time. General Motors is sponsoring a banquet at Hotel Statler, where the delegates will be staying, and there will be a dance for all those attending.
