Ah, Men! Butler Snares 40 For Juke Box Dance

Butler Hall played host to forty Sigma Chi's of Washington University, Saturday evening, Oct. 2. The dance was held in Butler Gym, and music was provided by a juke box.

This dance was the first of several to be held at which the various halls will invite men from the different fraternities at Washington University.

Paging Sherlock Holmes! Great Mystery Of Baggage Room Still Unsolved

A few of the L. C. Girls have sent out an SOS to Sherlock Holmes to help solve the mystery of the stupendous "Baggage Room Robbery." Maybe Dr. Watson could dig up a few clues as to the whereabouts of the missing criminals.

When the news of the robbery leaked out during the first week of school, the victims climbed in Uncle Guy's limousine and headed out to the scene of the crime. When they arrived Wabash Railroad detectives took them in one by one to view their belongings. It wasn't as bad as expected. A few girls passed out from shock, but otherwise there were no casualties.

Unmentionables were strung from one end of the room to the other like tinsel on a Christmas tree. Trunks and bags with their contents spilling out all over the floor were a part of the scenery. The contents bore a remarkable resemblance to scrambled eggs. On closer observation, however, it was discovered, much to the horror of the victims, that three-fourths of the scrambled eggs in their bags were someone else's. There was a mad dash for one another's bags to grab what was theirs, and arms, legs, and clothes began flying in all directions. Every now and then an occasional moan would go up from someone when a jewel box was discovered, minus the jewelry, or a box for a radio was discovered, only it wasn't being used for a radio any more. Cries of "That's mine," arose.

"No that's mine."

"Are you sure?"

"No." or,

"Eek, my - - - s are missing!"

The criminals seem to have had no difficulty getting into the bags and trunks. They just tore the locks off. After sweating it out for two hours during which the poor victims tried to figure out whose was whose they collected what was left of their shattered belongings into boxes and headed

Campus Radio Station Is Now On The Air

KCLC, Lindenwood's new campus radio station, is on the air from the wired-wireless station housed in sound treated studios in the Fine Arts Building.

As the library clock struck 8 on Sept. 27, Pat Stull, student manager, opened the station with a script entitled, "You'll Love Lindenwood." Following a group of L. C. songs sung by Mary DeVries, Barbara Watkins, and Marjorie Moehlenkamp, the student staff was introduced, and each explained their program. Representing the faculty were Miss Boyer, head of the radio department, Dean Roberts, Miss Lichtler, Dr. Parker, and Mr. Lustig. Dr. McCluer, who was unable to attend, sent his congratulations.

Tentative programming includes drama, quiz programs, popular, semi-classical music, public service programs, fashion reviews, and campus news. Lorraine Peck, Lindenwood exchange student at the American University, Washington, D. C., will send the station a weekly transcribed program from the capital. Another weekly feature will be a forum on public questions in which students from colleges in the St. Louis area will be invited to take part. By means of tape recordings and remote pick-ups, campus sports events, and special activities can be broadcast by the new station.

Pat Stull, of Ziegler, Ill. returned to Lindenwood this year after working on a station in Carbondale, Ill. Others who came back a week early to work on the station were Sally Joy, publicity manager, Gretchen Schurr, who has a drama show and a platter program, Mary DeVries, in charge of the musical programs, Mary Lou McNail, business manager, Betty Joy Haas, continuity writer, and Ruth Ann Ball, in charge of the control room.

Lindenwood offers twenty-two hours of radio work including continuity and script writing; the composition, arrangement, and performance of radio music; radio speech; radio production; and advanced radio techniques. A twenty-five watt transmitter with modulating and power supply plus transmission lines to campus buildings has been added to the cutting, playback, and monitoring equipment already in use by the radio department of the college.

There are now complete facilities for monitoring rehearsals while live programs are on the air. All engineering work is being done by the Concordia Recording Company of St. Louis and will be carefully designed and tailored to the specific needs of the station.

The Lindenwood Children's Theater of the Air, will be conducted as usual.

Dr. Roberts To Deliver Address Commemorating Lindenwood's 122nd Year

To Speak

Dr. Eunice Roberts will speak on Founders' Day.

150 Students Journey To St. Louis To See Veiled Prophet Parade

One hundred and fifty Lindenwood girls piled into three busses last Tuesday night to journey into St. Louis for the annual visit of the Veiled Prophet. They witnessed the annual Veiled Prophet's parade, which this year featured Mother Goose characters. The busses left the campus at 6 p. m.

Three lucky students attended the Veiled Prophet's ball the following night in Kiel Auditorium. They were Dotty Hall, Charlotte O'Keith and Anne Pope. The ball, which each year opens the fall social season in St. Louis, is featured by the coronation of the Queen of Love and Beauty.

Many Sections Of Country Are Represented On Campus

Represented on Lindenwood's campus this year are 28 states and 9 foreign countries. Proof that it is "Lindenwood forever" is the fact that girls have come here from many sections of the country as well as from other countries.

Enrollment by state representation shows Missouri leading with 109. Not too far behind is Illinois with 78; Iowa, 38; Arkansas, 26; Texas, 24; Oklahoma and Kansas, 19 each; Kentucky, 16; Nebraska and Indiana, 15 each; Ohio, 10; New York, and Michigan 7; Mississippi and the territory of Hawaii 6 each; Tennessee,

Luncheon Planned For Alumnae

Lindenwood will commemorate the 122nd year of its founding on October 21. Dr. Eunice C. Roberts, dean of the faculty, will deliver the Founders' Day address at a convocation at 11 a. m. in Roemer Auditorium. Jo Ann O'Flynn, president of the Student Government Association, will present a tribute to the founders, Major and Mrs. George C. Sibley.

Following the program in the auditorium, an alumnae luncheon will be held in Ayres Hall, where the alumnae will be guests of the college.

The President's home will be the scene of a reception for alumnae and students at 2 p. m. Following this, there will be an opportunity for an informal get-together of the alumnae.

Continuing a tradition of former years, the graves of the founders will be decorated, and students wishing to pay homage to them may visit the cemetery on campus.

Also a feature of the Founders' Day program will be a concert held at 7 p. m. in Roemer Auditorium, presenting Elizabeth Humphrey, soprano, and Helen Kettner, composer-pianist.

Lindenwood, the oldest college for women west of the Mississippi River, was founded in 1827 by Major and Mrs. Sibley. In the many years of its history, the college has stood for good scholarship and thorough Christian training. It is interesting to note that the Easton Avenue on which Lindenwood girls go through Wellston into St. Louis was named for Rufus Easton, the father of Mrs. Sibley. Mr. Easton was the first postmaster of St. Louis.

and California, 4 each; West Virginia, Colorado, New Mexico, 3 each; Utah, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, 2; Connecticut, Massachusetts, Wyoming, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Alabama, and Virginia, 1.

After being in a state of confusion last year as to which Waltner twin is Beverly and which Barbara, we find this year that they have a sister, Lillian, on campus. All three are in Nicolls. Then to add to the who's who situation, we have another confusing combination, Laura Louise and Catherine Pope, of Osceola, Ark.

We Make Our Bow

This is it—the first issue of the 30th volume of the "Linden Bark." Fanfare, please! Now that we have taken our bow without, we hope, falling flat on our faces, we should like without further ado to make a promise. The high standards of past editions of the "Linden Bark" will be maintained and, we hope, even surpassed.

In this year's "Bark," you'll once again find "Gracie Gremlin" dishing it out, another harvest of corn in "Of All Things," the "Hall of Fame," and the "All Bark-No Bite" column. New and different items will be introduced from time to time. Broadminded people that we are, modest souls too, we're open to suggestions. If you have any, just drop a note in Box 499.

By the way, when you're downtown, remember our advertisers.

What's Your Politics?

Every Lindenwood student who attended the mock political conventions on the campus last spring could not help being impressed with the importance of the coming national election. Yet there may be some who think that until such a time arrives when they can actively make their choice by marking a ballot, politics and the mechanics of our democracy hold little interest. This is a misconception, for any woman who has attained a college level is vitally affected by those who govern her. In many countries, organized student movements greatly affect the policies followed by their leaders.

The United States has outgrown the politician. This is an age for diplomacy; our real need is for statesmen. It is the duty of every thinking countryman to give great consideration to this fact, if we are to remain a thinking, free people.

This election is yours. That is a statement which cannot be said, in truth, in many other countries of the world. Make it your purpose to acquaint yourself with its principals, and the issues involved. Above all, be aware of party tricks to win votes. Sift and weigh each alternative, and then stick to your decision as if your life depended upon it, for it does: Yours and that of democracy.

Join The Crowd

Are you to be a "wallflower" or "Miss Popularity" this year? Here at Lindenwood College your education comes not only from class work but also from the campus activities or clubs. If you participate in campus activities, you will find many new friends, discover how clubs are run and their activities are planned and carried out. You will also learn how easy it is for you to get along in a large group of girls.

When you do not join these clubs, you are depriving yourself of a good time and lots of friends. It is up to you alone to make your education here complete. Watch for the meeting time of your favorite club.

Bark Barometer Of Campus Opinion

Lindenwood students were asked several questions concerning politics and the coming elections for the Bark's first in a series of polls for campus opinion. This week's questions were asked of a number of students on the school campus, and the results tabulated as follows.

1. If the election were held today, whom would you vote for? 60 per cent of the girls said Dewey, 30 per cent Truman and 10 per cent were undecided.
2. Do you know your senator or congressman from your state? 15 per cent said yes, 80 per cent no and 5 per cent knew the senators only.

3. What issues do you think most important in the coming election? State and Civil Rights 20 per cent, Communism 13 per cent, Foreign Policy 55 per cent, Draft 7 per cent, Price Control and Inflation 2 per cent and Conflict between Russia and the United Nations 5 per cent.

This poll represents girls from all the classes. Watch this column for interesting tabulations and results on different issues during the year.

GRACIE GREMLIN

Hm-mm. Lemme see. It's too cold to take sun baths, too warm to be warning you about pelting faculty members with snow balls, too early for the rains to come (yeah, I'm knocking on wood). What to do, what to do. Maybe just this once I don't have any stones to cast.

Anyway I'd like to welcome all the new students to L. C. Be seeing you throughout the year.

By Sally Joy

Hi Ho, Hi Ho! For another year we go! Welcome back Upperclassmen, and an especially big hearty "hello" to all the Freshmen and transfer students—it's swell having you with us, and already you've become a part of Lindenwood.

Hey Freshie! Whether you entered Lindenwood by tripping out of a car, or struggling down the pullman steps, one of the persons you met was your student counselor, and she really meant it when she said "Welcome." The counseling system went off in grand style, thanks to Casey Jones and her untiring effort, so how about a big orchid and lots of thanks to that gal for making you feel really at home. And remember, your student counselor will be around to help you all year long, so don't forget about her now that orientation week is over.

The street supper, white apron jamboree, and dorm parties, all served as wonderful mixers. Lots of food, fun, songs, and above all, informality. Bet it's the best formula in the world for getting acquainted.

Lots of changes and new faces around Lindenwood this year. That cute black haired gal running around the Student Guidance office and Butler Hall isn't a Freshman—no, it's Butler's new housemother, Miss Waite! The old personnel office is no more—it's Student Guidance and Placement now, and Miss Lichliter is doing a grand job of being a friend indeed when you're in need of help concerning that future which seems awfully distant right now.

And when you're all befuddled about those credits, classes and hours, Dean Roberts willingly straightens you out.

KCLC has opened with a bang! Sure is grand having a radio station of our own—huh? Lots of talent is needed for the station, too, so if you've ever cherished ambitions of replacing Dinah Shore, Hedda Hopper, Arlene Francis, or Dorothy Thompson, just drop in at the studios in the Fine Arts Building for an audition. Maybe you'll get your start at L. C., and we'll all be able to say, "I knew her when—". And even if you feel you have no budding talent don't forget to listen in every week night from 7:00 till 9:00, for you never can tell when your own name might come in on that radio beam.

Dances, dances, dances, fun, fun, fun! Butler Hall started the season by inviting the Sigma Chi's from Washington University out—much fun for all concerned. Last Saturday's dance was a big success, too. Did you ever see such a pageantry of fashion as when L. C. gals turn out en masse to a formal frolic?

"Brrrrrr, I didn't realize it was so cold at this time of the night!"—"and I was having the most heavenly dream about Jimmy,"—"Look at me, caught with a mud pack on!" Yep, fire drills this year. Lots of bother, but it's a necessary precaution Lindenwood has failed to make in the last few years. Let's hope we never have a fire, but just in case—well, it's always nice to know what to do.

The Student Council has been busy revising rules and regulations—most of them in favor of the students. The revised point system will give more girls an opportunity for offices in campus organizations as well as take the burden of too much work, off a few girls. Looks like everyone will benefit from it. The new honor system concerning chapels, vespers, and convocations also seems to have met with co-operation from the student body. Perhaps reducing the number of these assemblies accounts for the good attendance when they are held.

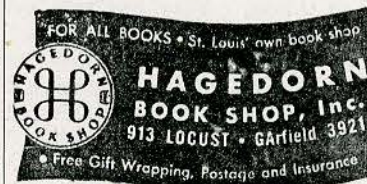

Speaking of organizations and clubs (and who was?) there are many of them that want and need you Freshmen in them. The first meetings of the year are being held right now, so come on out! You'll really benefit by joining the League of Women Voters, International Relations Club, Athletic Association, and any others that are directed along the lines of your favorite interests.

Sorry that my predecessor, to this column, Janet Brown, isn't here to see the partial realization of a cause for which she fought long and diligently. Namely, fewer clubs. State clubs have finally disbanded and the three foreign language clubs have consolidated. Now I'd like to take up the fight where she left it and ask, "Can't something be done about cutting down the organizations that are left—31, in all?" In some of these organizations there are just enough members to fill the offices, and the situation is especially bad when the membership lists contain only the names of Jr.'s and Sr.'s who already have twelve points! Just t'aint right.

You can tell it's the fall of '43 because—the Class of '49 is acting very mysterious and silent concerning Senior Skip Day—the Class of '50 is now sitting in the balcony during chapel—and the class of '51 is at long last the Sophomore class—the class of '52 is here—the L. C. Stables have a new look—590 is the favorite spot on everyone's radio—the lake is here, but where are the fish? And remember, this year

The biggest bugs of all Live in Butler Hall!

P. S. Any aspiring cartoonist who would like to make some screwy sketches for "All Woof and No Nip" this year, please leave a note in Box 222, or drop in at the Bark office on Tuesday or Thursday mornings.

Dr. Rio Was Member of Philippine Underground

A new addition to the Lindenwood faculty this year is Dr. Pedro Rio who is dean in Silliman University in the Philippines. He is a visiting professor and teaching Principles of Education and Marriage and Family Relations.

Dr. Rio was in the Philippines during the Japanese occupation and was always in enemy territory around the mountains of Cadiz. When his life became monotonous in the mountains he volunteered to get supplies and information for the Philippine guerrilla army from enemy territory and bring it to the mountains. This meant faking a number of risks, such as carrying guerrilla money and getting past sentries. At one time he was carrying 500 pesos in guerrilla money when he noticed a Jap sentry was stopping people and searching them. Quickly he snatched the money from his pocket, wadded it up, pressed it into the palm of his hand, and tried to hold his hand out as straight as he could without dropping the money. The sentry searched him and let him go on by.

Another interesting experience started when he was standing in front of a farm house waiting for a passenger bus to pick him up and carry him to the city. When he heard the sound of a bus motor he raised his hand to signal it to stop. The next thing he knew he was staring at several Japanese rifles and machine guns. He had stopped a Jap troop bus by mistake! Dr. Rio quickly raised his other hand and the soldier in command gruffly asked what he wanted. Dr. Rio proceeded to explain to him that he thought it was a passenger bus. The bus didn't leave, and there seemed to be debating as to whether they should drag Dr. Rio on the bus and kill him or let him go. Finally the soldiers decided to leave and Dr. Rio was safe again! Dr. Rio credits the majority of his narrow escapes to the fact that he was able to keep calm, use his head, and smile as pleasantly as he could. Otherwise he would never have survived life in the Philippines during the war.

The new president of the Commercial Club is Helen E. Jones. Mary Alice Sanders is secretary with Rose Gilmer as treasurer.

Alpha Psi Omega has named Marie Koch as president with Folsa Bailey as secretary-treasurer.

Kay Pemberton will preside over the meeting of the Student Christian Association.

nally the soldiers decided to leave and Dr. Rio was safe again! Dr. Rio credits the majority of his narrow escapes to the fact that he was able to keep calm, use his head, and smile as pleasantly as he could. Otherwise he would never have survived life in the Philippines during the war.

Comparing the students of the Philippines to those in the U. S., he says the only great difference is that the U. S. students respond more to group singing and have more school spirit. Although their education was retarded three years during the war, the oppression of the Japanese gave them a greater desire to continue their education after the war. Dr. Rio says as far as he has seen the students in the U. S. show just as much interest in their studies as do the Filipinos. However, he says his former students carried a heavier load than his students now. They carry 18-23 hours to our 16-17 hours.

Dr. Rio is married and has two children, one boy and one girl.

Social Season Opens As Dance Successful

To the strains of Russ David's orchestra the Lindenwood campus social season opened with the first formal dance of the year in Butler Gymnasium last Saturday night, which was sponsored by the Student Council.

The novel theme of the Autumn Ball was followed up by the clever autumn decorations.

In previous years the traditional Harvest Ball with its Freshmen court of twelve maids and queen opened the Lindenwood campus social season. The queen will be crowned instead at the Halloween dance following up the custom of previous years.

Dates were obtained from Westminster College by Miss Leah Mae Williams, head resident at Sibley Hall.

With this successful dance behind the Lindenwood girls are now looking forward to more.

Miss Lichliter Heads Placement Service

Something new has been added to the office of Guidance and Personnel. A placement service under the direction of Miss Mary F. Lichliter, Director of Student Guidance and Placement, will be in full swing here within the next few weeks. This service will be of aid not only to the graduating seniors but also to alumnae of the college. Graduates may at any time ask the school for aid in finding a suitable position.

A graduate of Wellesley College, Miss Lichliter did her graduate work at Ohio State University, the University of Chicago, and the School for Deans at the University of Pittsburgh. She holds her master's degree from the University of Chicago. She has had experience in educational work and has served as Dean of Lasell Junior College at Auburndale, Massachusetts; as Dean of Women and Assistant Professor of History at Drury College, Springfield, Mo., and since 1943 has been the Associate Director of the Department of Student Counseling at Boston University.

Miss Lichliter succeeds Dr. Florence Schaper, who resigned her position last summer.

THE LINDEN LEAVES ARE WHISPERING

by Dot Steiner

Some lucky young ladies are sporting luscious diamonds these days. Congratulations Mary McNail, Jean Gross, Dolores Thomas and any one else who is a good prospect.

Looks like Sue Finney and several other Butler gals really had a terrific time in Cape Girardeau last week end.

Cute Joyce Holt returned this week end with shorn locks. Seems as though everybody is still striving for that certain look.

Just a word of pride for the girls who have been working so hard on the radio station. Pat Stull, Mary DeVries, Mary McNail, Betty Joy Haas, Gretchen Schnurr, Sally Joy, and Ruth Ann Ball. We're all proud of the work you've done. The radio station is definitely a success.

Sibley Hall is attached to Fritzie Ballard who likes to play ghost on rainy nights. Don't be too harsh with her kiddies, just burn her at the stake.

By the way Fritzie, who is your newest? Notice at Sunday dinner you were feeding him.

When Freshman start throwing Juniors in the bath tub (fully clothed) well things are really getting rough, watch it Maddux.

At a little "charade" party the other night, Carol Greer was in her height of glory when she drew "Idiot's Delight."

Rose Gilmer has almost come to equal Kissy Shoemaker in the rare telling of old Kentucky folklore.

Fourteen New Members Join The Lindenwood Faculty This Fall

Lindenwood welcomes to the campus fourteen new members of the faculty. Succeeding Dr. Alice E. Gipson, as Dean of the faculty, is Dr. Eunice C. Roberts. Miss Gipson is serving as Lindenwood's faculty representative on the staff of the American University in Washington, D. C.

To succeed Dr. Florence Schaper, Miss Mary Lichter has been appointed director of the Student Guidance and Placement service. Previous to her arrival at Lindenwood, Miss Lichter was Associate Director of the Department of Student Counseling at Boston University.

Appointed to head the new Department of Philosophy is Dr. C. Eugene Conover. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, Dr. Conover holds degrees from the College of Wooster, and Union Theological Seminary in New York. He received an A. M. and Ph. D. in Philosophy from the University of Cincinnati, and formerly served as Director of the Westminster Foundation at Miami University and was Professor of Philosophy and Religion at Blackburn College.

Four courses will be taught by Mrs. Anna Croft, newly appointed Instructor in the Department of Psychology, during the first semester. They are: Adolescent psychology, vocational guidance, testing and counseling, and the psychology of marriage, which is a study of marriage, not of the family. Mrs. Croft received her M. A. degree from the University of Michigan and has done further work in the field of psychology at this university.

John V. Machell, Jr. has been appointed Associate Professor of Economics, and his wife is Assistant Professor of Sociology. Mr. Machell, who graduated from Temple University in Philadelphia, holds his master's degree from the University of Illinois. He has served as an economist in the Office of Price Administration; as instructor in economics at the Syracuse University, and at Yale University, and as Associate Professor of Economics at Guilford College.

Mrs. Lecie G. Machell received degrees from the University of Illinois and from Washington University, and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. Mrs. Machell gained professional experience as a case worker in Champaign, Ill., as co-director of the Student-Industry Project of the American Friends Service Committee in Philadelphia, and has been a member of the faculty of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

Two new teachers have been added to the English Department: Dr. Louise Hastings as Associate Professor of English, and Miss Carolyn Trimble, as Instructor.

Dr. Hastings, who received her degrees from the University of Indiana, has had graduate study at Detroit City College, Iowa State University, Harvard University, and Detroit School of Applied Art.

Besides seven years of reporting and editing newspapers in Detroit and Lima, Ohio, she has been a member of the faculty at Indiana University and at Wellesley College. This last year she has been devoting her time to the writing of the biography of Mary Moody Emerson, famed aunt of Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Miss Trimble received her degrees from Louisiana State University and Columbia University in New York. She has worked as reporter for the Shreveport Times in Shreveport, La., and has had special work in the field of remedial reading, of which she will have charge at Lindenwood.

Three people have been added to the faculty of the Art Department: John R. Middents, Miss Ellen G. Irish, and Mrs. Tizrah Dunn.

Mr. Middents received his collegiate education at Westminster College and at the University of Iowa, from which institution he holds his master's degree. He has been employed as artistic lithographer of the Coastal and Geodetic Survey, and as Supervisor of Art in the schools of Whiting, Ind.

He will give courses in sculpture, lithography, and introduction to art.

Miss Irish has been appointed Instructor in the Art Department, and will give courses in modern art, interior design, and history and appreciation of art. She holds her degree from the University of Iowa and is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Mrs. Dunn, an outstanding commercial artist from St. Louis, will give the course in commercial art. Her professional experience and attainments make this course particularly interesting.

Appointed Instructor in music. Mr. Kauko W. Lustig, of Bessemer, Mich., teaches the two courses in radio music and will prepare music portions of programs given over our campus station as well as presentations offered over St. Louis stations by Lindenwood. He also directs the orchestra and teaches orchestral instruments. Mr. Lustig holds his degrees from Northland College, Ashland, Wis., and Northwestern University.

Miss Marjorie Savage has been appointed Assistant Professor in Home Economics. She received her degrees from Mississippi State College for Women and Iowa State College. Formerly on the faculty at Henderson State Teachers College in Arkadelphia, Ark., and will teach courses both in foods and in textiles.

Dr. Pedro E. Y. Rio is visiting Professor in Education at Lindenwood. He is dean of the School of Education, Silliman University at Dumaguete, Philippine Islands. Dr. Rio speaks English fluently and will give courses in the De-

Paris Designer Tells Of Latest Styles For Milady's Wardrobe

Paris designer Pierre Balmain discussed the latest style news from Paris at a special convocation in Roemer Auditorium last Friday.

In his early thirties, Mr. Balmain gave up the study of architecture to concentrate on dress designing, a lifelong ambition. He was associated with Molyneux and then Lelong. He served at the front in World War II during the winter of 1939-40 and after the liberation, opened his house with little capital but great confidence and enthusiasm.

His basic principles in dress designing rest on femininity and elegance; to these he adds simplicity and perfection in fitting. "I never forget that a dress is something to be lived in," he says.

One of the youngest and most successful of Paris dress designers, Mr. Balmain credits the success of his collections to the loyalty of the people who work with and for him, who contribute their ideas and talents unstintingly.

partment of Education.

A new course, "Community Leadership," has been added this year, under the direction of Paul Greer, visiting lecturer. An expert in the field of agricultural economics, Mr. Greer understands community problems over a wide area in the country. Mr. Greer, who is the editor of the out-state of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, began his newspaper career on the Kansas City Star, later became editor of the Grand Forks, North Dakota, American and managing editor of the Oklahoma Bee.

Manson M. Brien has been appointed Assistant Professor in the Department of History and teaches the course in Humanities. A graduate of Princeton University, he did graduate work at Princeton and the University of Michigan, from which he holds his master's degree. He was formerly teacher at Lycee Pothier, Orleans, France, Princeton University, and the University of Michigan, and Washington University in St. Louis. An author of a number of published articles and books, Mr. Brien edits a weekly column titled "As Brien Brien Views It," used in many papers throughout the Midwest.

Peter Pan To Make Debut

Peter Pan, the magazine containing the best writing of both students and faculty of Lindenwood College, will be published by April, Rita Baker, editor of the publication, announced recently. Subscriptions are $1.50 for this 64 page magazine whose contents will be chosen by a group of students comprising the staff.

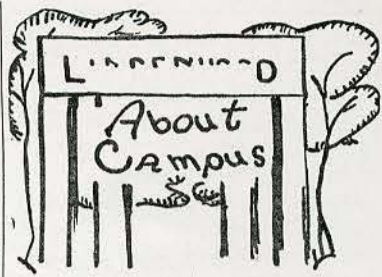

The subscription drive which is now in progress will not be the last opportunity for you to buy Peter Pan, for any member of the staff will take your order at any time. Compositions of any sort, either prose or poetry, will be carefully read and judged by the staff in cooperation with Dr. Agnes Sibley, sponsor of Peter Pan.

To submit writing for Peter Pan simply give your work to your English instructor or to one of the following girls: Rita Baker, Pat Underwood, Betty Joy Haas, Sally Fielding, Marie Koch, or Eloise Batts.

Marianne Mohl's question of the week is, "Why do all the girls want to know how to say 'I love you' in Danish?"

Seen on the beaten path . . . Nancy B. having a wonderful time at a delightful tea . . . Babs Bush tired from shoveling . . . Sapie serving as a first aider . . . Renie Oaks and her twin Charlotte O'Keefe . . . me missing Jack . . . Wilhelmina Hegheta Walters looking as luscious as always? Tweedie twitting around . . . Carol Cole and Joyce Fleet oh so happy in their red and green boudoir . . . winter coming around the corner . . . Betty Carlson always with a smile . . . Mary Morris and Physics not getting along too well . . . Parks making a terrific sound effects woman . . . Diane B. forever generous with her skirt . . . Cookie and Geneva together . . . Martine worn out from Terrapin . . . the one o'clock E. Lit. class fretful over comparison and contrast . . . everyone having a wow of a time at the first dance of the year . . . Jake having record trouble . . . Suzie raving over her pictures . . . Olive and Betty Joy my Sunday night visitors . . . Totsie forgetting to say "Bunny bunny" . . . Well kids, that's all for now. Better watch, Cause, Dottie gets about.

By Nancy Bailey

It's a little late but anyway here are some hi's and hellos for everyone, old and new on campus. This brings us upon the subject of greetings. Some of our campus Yankee friends still get confused when friend Rebel greets them with a "Hey them." Yankee says, "What do you want?" to Rebel and Rebel thinks Yankee crazy and was only using that southern hospitality anyway. But it is all a very pleasant confusion and the Lindenwood family remains just as closely knit as ever.

Old L. C. (meaning affectionately old of course) has become quite a smooth cosmopolitan college this year and we love it. Like very much seeing the faces and knowing the people who make it such. Think perhaps some of them can promote more interest in the foreign language department for some of "us illiterate Americans."

Have many students including upperclassmen, sigh huge weary sighs of relief that the awful period of "lines" has passed, at least for awhile. We can almost have true sympathy for the army boys after the extremely sultry line for books. Sultry with heat that is. More than one person about decided to go into the airconditioning business after an hour or two of standing. However just as they decided life wasn't worth living much less getting 50 pounds of material to enliven their brain cells, the post office window was suddenly there and all business transactions completed. Life became bright and wonderful then and very much worth living, even though it was hard to keep from staggering under all the many beautiful books.

It is a busy time now with all the teas and such and Freshman and new students trying to decide which and what club to join, what dress who will wear to which dance and it also seems that studying rears its ugly head every so often to call for followers, who sometimes don't follow. Whew! That was a long sentence, but anyway everyone is so busy. People are wishing all over the place that they had saved some of that free time they had this summer to tack on these days. It is very probable though that all of us will live and even with enjoyment.

The campus in a few weeks, if not sooner, will be beautiful with vivid fall colors. Take time out from the "bull session" once in awhile to look around, for we are lucky to have such a beautiful campus. Don't let the biology classes on their eager field trips be the only ones to appreciate it.

Boom, Boom Cheers for all the newly elected officers of the various and sundry clubs, classes, books, dorms and such. A Lindenwood sticker and a bucketful of luck to you all.

No reports yet of any Freshmen mistaking a trash box for a mail box this year, as did so horribly happen last year.

Madame Lyolene Returns From Paris With Latest Fashion Tips

"Fashions in the United States are an echo of what we have in Paris," said Madame Helene Lyolene, in an interview last week. Madame Lyolene just returned from six weeks in Paris and will teach French design, construction, fitting and finishing of custom made items.

During the last seven years, Madame Lyolene has spent one month of each year at Lindenwood College teaching the fundamentals of French design. This year, she will be here for the whole semester.

Madame Lyolene was born in Russia and educated there. She left Russia in 1926 and journeyed to Paris where she began the study of fashion designing.

"I know how things belong so I just made them that way," she said. "That is the same way I teach my students." She has designed for many noted French women and when she isn't teaching here she designs for a dress concern in Kansas City.

"I think America has some wonderful designers but they don't have the freedom here that we do," said Madame Lyolene. "In Paris women wear what the designers design, but here designers make what the women wear."

She believes that navy with white trimmings will be the spring colors and here is another tip, from one who knows fashions. There will be very few prints, and they will be mostly polkadots. "The fuller skirts are gone for good, and the length of your skirts, will be about twelve inches from the floor, all according to your build."

Big fun was had by all at the street supper—some people are so graceful at square dancing. The little affair, one memorable night, back of our beloved tea-room wasn't bad either. The harmonious band only hit one sour note this year—well—perhaps that is exaggerating a little, but it was great fun and a couple of stomach aches from too many hot dogs.

Little did we realize the stupendous talent of L. C. girls, till the light dawned with the rise of the Lindenwood radio station. Would never have suspected that some people possessed such talent, but they do. This radio business is a wonderful opportunity and seems to be improving with every show.

Keep the chin up and keep racing around campus. After all that's more fun than sleeping all the time. What is sleep anyway?

PAGING SHERLOCK HOLMES back for campus.

None of the clothes were taken, but a few were trampled underfoot in the excitement. However, some pawn shop is going to or may already have a new shipment of jewelry and a couple of radios.

The thieves left no forwarding address when they left the station and so far no clues have been found as to their whereabouts. For a while the detectives thought they had a clue when they found a matchcover with a name printed on it lying on the floor of the baggage room. It tured out, though, that Frank Wyhs had dropped it the afternoon before when he was loading baggage so he was saved from a life behind bars.

Lindenwood To Vote on October 19

Lindenwood students will cast their ballots for President of the United States on October 19. The polls will open at 8 a. m. on that date in Roemer Hall and will close at 5 p. m. The election is being sponsored jointly by the Lindenwood League of Women Voters and the Linden Bark.

To be eligible to vote, every student must be registered. Registration will be held on October 15 at the "Political Fair" in Butler Gym, which will be sponsored by the League of Women Voters.

Impromptu political organizations have been formed on the campus to campaign for their candidates. The Lindenwood straw ballot will contain the names of President Truman, Gov. Dewey, Wallace, Thomas and Thurmond, representing respectively the Democratic, Republican, Progressive, Socialist and Dixiecrat parties.

L. C. Politicians Learn New Tricks In Nation's Capital

Lindenwood's three politicians, Lorraine Peck, Troy, Ohio; Betty Jack Littleton, Miami, Oklahoma; and Miriam Reilly, Pachuca Hidalgo, Mexico; are now in Washington, D. C. This week they are preparing for a full semester of free lance study, including class-work, conferences with the UIP's in Washington Seminar, and a special project to work on and develop into a paper at the close of the semester. The girls are quickly learning that their job is an interesting but difficult one.

Dr. Alice Gipson, who retired as Dean of Lindenwood last year, is also in Washington. Dr. Gipson is serving as Lindenwood's representative on the faculty, and word has been received that she is finding the Washington semester an interesting experience.

Mimi Reilly writes that she is pleased with the new environment and her work. She informs us that the group consists

The Music Box

The annual tea for returning music majors and honoring the new music majors will be given today, from 4:30 to 6:00 p. m. in the rehearsal room of the Memorial Arts building.

A formal program, scheduled to begin at 4:45 o'clock, will be presented by Carolyn Hughes, pianist, Barbara Watkins, contralto, and Mary Jo Sweeney, violinist. Requirements for Mu Phi Epsilon, national honorary music fraternity, and Delta Phi Delta, local honorary music sorority, will be discussed by the respective presidents of the organizations, Katherine Pemberton, and Mary DeVries.

In the receiving line will be Miss Pemberton, Miss Gertrude Isidor, the faculty sponsor of Mu Phi Epsilon, Miss DeVries, and Mrs. Lois M. Burkitt, sponsor of Delta Phi Delta.

Miss Marjorie Moehlenkamp, soprano, will present her Junior recital Tuesday, October 19, at 4:45, in Sibley Chapel. She will be accompanied by Carolyn Furnish and assisted by Mary Jo Sweeney, violinist.

Due to a serious throat infection, Marjorie was unable to sing the program last spring. Immediately upon completion of her Junior requirement, she will begin preparation for a Senior recital, to be given late in the second semester.

Complementing Founders' Day, Lindenwood is proud to present to her student body the first of the visiting artist concerts.

Miss Helen Kettner, pianist, and Miss Elizabeth Humphrey, soprano, are brought to us through the courtesy of the Chicago Concert Artist series. They will present their program in Roemer Auditorium Tuesday evening, October 21.

All the Faculty, students, and friends of the college are cordially invited to attend.

Opening the series of faculty recitals, Mr. Paul Friess, organist, and Mr. Milton Rehg, tenor, will be presented in concert Tuesday afternoon, October 26, at 5:00 in Sibley Chapel.

Mr. Rehg will be accompanied by Miss Allegra Swingen.

Thirteen Foreign Students Give Cosmopolitan Air To The Campus

By Betty Joy Haas

It could almost be said that the four corners of the world meet in the center of the United States at Lindenwood. They have come from Denmark, France, Lebanon, Philippines, Bolivia, Honolulu, Havana, Korea, Greece, Costa Rica, and China to study and have fun, as any Josephine College would.

To tell you about all of them would be impossible in one issue, so we will take the first five this time, and complete the list in next issue.

Marianne Mohl comes from Shodsborg, north of Copenhagen, Denmark. The plane that she came on, was made up largely of a Youth Hostel Group which had been bicycling through Scandinavia. After spending two weeks in New York, she came in to Lindenwood by train.

As Marianne will only be here a year, she is taking courses that interest her, and will count toward her major. Her primary interest is psychology, and though she plans to teach for a while, she hopes to do work in child psychology later on. Marianne has a distinctly British flavor to her speech. This is the result of practicing her English with a British girl who lived in her home for nine months. She may take a girl she met in New York back to Denmark with her, so she may get her accent Brooklynized after all.

From the city of the "Arch of Triumph" comes Martine Porteret, of Paris, France. She is here through a scholarship secured by the Institute of International Education. Having completed one year in the Sorbonne, in France, she is classified as a sophomore with a major in physical education. Martine, as are all the other foreign students, is impressed with the kindness of the American people, but she prefers campus life to American life in general.

Her sister has been in Boston for two years, coming over as a war wife.

When asked what the French people thought of the American soldiers during the war, Martine said "We called them the 'Big Children.'" She is anxiously awaiting the other exchange student from Paris, who was a former schoolmate and good friend.

Cutting down across Europe, and Asia Minor, we come to the Eastern shore of the Mediterranean, and Lebanon. From there, Wadad Dibu boarded an American Export Liner (a Marine Corps Troop Ship) and for 16 days made her way to the U. S. A. She has been teaching in the American Missionary Institute in Tripoli, and has come to L. C. for a sociology major. She is a graduate of the American Junior College in Beirut, Lebanon; it was there she came to know many American teachers, and Presbyterian missionaries from Tripoli.

Now from Lebanon to the Philippines, all in one jump, to pick up the story of Remy Rodriguez, of Manila. During the last retreating field of the Battle of Manila, a piece of flying shrapnel lodged in her foot. Remy was treated with great kindness and care by the American Army doctors, and while here in the states, she would like very much to find "my friends" again. Before coming to L. C. this year, she had completed a year at Washington State, and was a member of the editorial staff of their newspaper. She is working for a degree in English and journalism and is off to a bangup start; if you get a chance to read the Mademoiselle this month, look for an article by Miss Rodriguez on what a foreign student thinks of American Campus Life.

One more stop, this issue—over to Potosi, Bolivia, to pick up a little of the history of Irma Fernandez. Potosi is the third largest city in Bolivia, and from a picture card on Irma's bulletin board, one can look down the attractive streets of her city and see in the distance Mt. Potosi, the largest and most beautiful mountain in her country. Four hundred years ago, the Spanish exploited silver there, today her people take tin from the mountain.

Before coming to Lindenwood, Irma, who couldn't speak a word of English, enrolled in a concentrated six week course at Louisiana State University, at Baton Rouge. There with 150 other Latin American students, she worked hard. Her major here will be English, and her dream is to carry our language, and our ways, home to her people. Irma likes this country very much, and when asked if she felt strange here, with great wisdom she said, "No, the heart is one, in all the world."

LINDENWOOD OLYMPETTES

Lindenwood's Athletic Association got off to a crash bang start with a Freshmen party in the gym. Good time enjoyed by all and that's just a sample of the wonderful year that lies in store for all you muscle bound kids who come out and join A. A. Get your practice hours in and before you know it, you'll be a part of the organization that has all the fun. Only four simple requirements to join, 1. two practice hours in three sports, 2. pass the beginning tests in those three sports, 3. mock initiation, and 4. formal initiation, which is going to be followed up by a swell bonfire this year. Now that's simple enough, don't you think? The date for Mock Initiation is October 27, so we'll expect a gang of you Freshmen and of course the old girls who haven't joined.

Intramurals for golf, archery, and tennis began October 11, and the hockey practice is still going on. Don't worry if you're tied down with afternoon classes, because there are recreation hours on week-ends too. Friday night, Saturday morning, afternoon and night. Take a stroll over to the gym and see what's cooking for yourself.

For the benefit of all the new girls who don't know the officers in A. A. here they are. President, Butch Macey; vice president, Betty Bishop; secretary, Jodie Viertel; treasurer, Suzie Martin; and sponsor, Miss V. K. Hall; chairmen are Ayres—Sally Fielding, Sibley—Barb Hoefel, Butler—Renee Oaks, Irwin—Muriel Jacobson, and Day Students—Jean Heye. The chairman for Nicolls will be announced later. Intramural Chairman is Alice Mack and Publicity Chairman is Marie Koch.

So now you have it girls, our requirements, activities, and officers, and we hope to have you soon as our new members. Join the right gals when you join A. A.

Janet Neilson Has Fine High School Record

Janet Neilson, a Freshman from Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, is a student that commands attention. Not only did she top her class of 507 at Central High School, Oklahoma City, but she also headed the list on the national norms (99 percentile) on all her placement tests at Lindenwood this year.

In her Senior year in high school, Janet received a mathematics award from her school and placed fourth in the state Pepsi-Cola exams, thereby winning a Pepsi-Cola College Entrance Award.

Janet is a member of the Encore Club.

Heads Council

Jo Ann O'Flynn, who will preside over the Student Council this year.

Halls Elect Council Representatives And Dormitory Officers

Following the regular Student Council meeting on October 4, the council visited Butler, Sibley, and Ayres Hall to sponsor the Residence Council election. In accordance with the new constitutional amendment, Irwin and Nicolls will hold similar elections in two weeks. These halls have a majority of Freshmen students.

Bobbie Wade was elected as president of Butler Hall. Helen Sherwin will represent Butler in the Student Council, Rose Murphy and Jane Foust were selected as floor council representatives.

In Sibley the officers are: Corine Weller, president; Betty Bivins, Student Council representative; Georgia Whittaker, first floor representative, and Virginia Crawford, second floor representative.

Mary Lou McNail was elected president of Ayres Hall, and Babe Cargill Student Council representative. First floor council representative is "Puddin" Sivals, and second floor representative is Donna Foutch.

As each council representative for the hall is elected, she automatically becomes the representative from her floor.

Faculty Members Travel Far And Wide In Vacation Season

Summer vacations of the Lindenwood faculty carried them from far Paris to stateside California.

Dr. and Mrs. William Parkinson and Patti spent their summer in Europe visiting various countries. They left New York harbor on June 23 on the S. S. Ernie Pyle and their first stop was Paris. Here they lunched at sidewalk cafes and visited many historical and interesting places.

From Paris they traveled to London then back to Rome, Italy, where Dr. and Mrs. Parkinson had an audience with the Pope. During their stay in Rome there was an attempted assassination on Communist Leader Palmiro Togliatti which threw the country into a general strike and which caused much excitement among the people and the international set. Leaving Rome they went to Zurich, Switzerland, where Dr. and Mrs. Parkinson took a course in Problems of European Reconstruction at Zurich University. From there they took the S. S. Marine Tiger to Southampton, England and then back to New York.

Miss Kathryn Hankins did special research work in classical civilization at the University of Washington in Seattle.

Dr. Elizabeth Dawson and Miss Grace Albrecht went to Boulder Dam where they audited courses at the university.

Robert Hume taught a course in theater speech at the University of California. Then he directed a play at the "First Theater of California" in Monterey.

Miss Virginia Krauthem did graduate work at the University of Wisconsin and Miss Dorothy Ross attended Lloyd Shaw's Cheyenne Mountain Dance School at Colorado Springs, then she counseled at Camp Chickagami in Wisconsin.

Mrs. Burkitt vacationed in California.

Dr. Terhune visited her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Terhune, at Audubon Park, Louisville, Kentucky.

THE CAMPUS HALL OF FAME

To all you new girls and to all you old, the Linden Bark presents Dolores Elaine Thomas as its first nominee for the 1948-49 Hall of Fame. Dorrie, a Senior and the class representative on the Student Council, has been well known for her interest in campus activities, both scholastic and extra-curricular, during her last three years.

In her Sophomore year, Dorrie won the Nelly Don dress award and had published in the Linden Bark one of her prose stories. In her Junior year she was the vice president of the Illinois Club and was on the cabinet of the Student Christian Association. This year, Dorrie is president of S. C. A. and vice president of the Home Economics club.

She is also a member of Future Teachers of America and in her Junior year was on the Dean's Honor Roll.
