

COMMUNIQUE

March 1, 1993
Volume 168, No. 1

☛ What's Happening...

- Students are currently registering for spring quarter classes (MBA and LCIE). Quarter classes begin April 3. Summer trimester class registration is also underway. For information, contact the Office of Graduate and Adult Professional Admissions, ext. 4933.
- Lindenwood College is finalizing details of a contract to teach on-site at the Ford Motor Company plant in Hazelwood. Word has it that Ford execs are very impressed with LC's adult education programs and feel that we can offer excellent academics to Ford employees. Once the ink is dry on the agreement, LC will teach undergraduate and graduate programs beginning in the spring quarter.
- At the January Council of Deans meeting, the following task forces were created. Anyone interested in serving on these committees should contact the chairperson:

External Campuses	Arlene Taich
Marketing	John Guffey
Non-traditional Formats	Bo Hagan
Retention/Past Due Accounts	Dave Williams

Other task forces will be created as the semester progresses.

Another Lindenwood Milestone...

Right now, it looks like we have a record number of students graduating in 1993. Preliminary numbers from the Registrar's Office indicate that about 724 students will be taking part in the May Commencement ceremonies; a total of approximately 750 students are graduating. A meeting will be set in late April or early May concerning faculty voting on the graduates.

Please ask...

Professors, at the beginning of each term, please remember to ask your students whether they need special assistance or consideration due to a disability. We may be able to change classrooms or make special arrangements for students unable to navigate stairways, etc.

Unique Partnership

Lindenwood College is involved in an exciting new educational-business partnership in St. Charles County. Lindenwood is teaming up with the Economic Development Council and the Small Business Synergy Corporation to provide the educational component of the new Synergy Center for Business Education. The Synergy Center is a small business incubator located at 5988 Mid Rivers Mall Drive in St. Peters. Governor Mel Carnahan will cut the ribbon at the Center's grand opening, set for Friday, March 12.

Beginning April 3, Lindenwood will offer undergraduate and graduate business courses at the Center. LC will have offices and classrooms, along with an administrator on-site. This partnership gives LC business students a unique opportunity to gain valuable hands-on experience with area businesses that are just starting up. Besides offering these courses, LC will also provide seminars, training workshops, conferences, and special classes tailored to individual business needs.

Judi Stotlemeyer is the new Director of Business Programs for Lindenwood College at the Synergy Center. Judi will be the liaison between the College and area businesses to determine their needs, and how LC can meet them. Once the Center is open, Judi will have an office there, although she'll be on the main campus at times. Welcome aboard, Judi!

New Lion Home

The LC Board of Directors has approved plans to break ground on a 3000-seat gymnasium this summer. The new gym will be home to the Lion basketball, volleyball and wrestling teams. President Dennis Spellmann also unveiled plans for a regional amateur athletic convention center which would house the only indoor 8-lane banked track in the state. A leading sports architect has designed the center, which would be located on Lindenwood land adjacent to the new gym. So far, City and county leaders are supporting the proposal, which would help make St. Charles County a cultural and entertainment center.

Education Approval

Congratulations to the Education Department, which received State Board of Education approval for all LC's 21 professional education programs. The College received approval for the maximum time allowed -- 5 years. Again, congratulations to everyone in the Education Department for this fine achievement!
