To Demonstrate Radio Equipment

Nancy Dana, Connie Schwager and Ruth Ann Ball are shown here in the control booth of the radio studio preparing to cut a record of a radio broadcast. Lindenwood's equipment will be displayed at the Radio Conference to be held here in April.

Popularity Queen And Her Court To Be Revealed At Dinner Tonight

The annual Popularity Court Dinner, sponsored by the Linden Leaves, will be held this evening in Ayres Dining Room. The thirteen members of the court have been chosen by preferential vote from the three upper classes at a student body meeting and the new Popularity Queen and her court will be revealed at the dinner.

This year the celebration will be held in the dining room. During a special dinner, the students will be entertained by musical selections. After dinner, lights will be dimmed, and the court will be introduced. Entering from the south end of the dining room, the members of the Popularity Court will proceed to a special high platform, decorated with candelabra and potted palms. The First Maid of Honor will crown the Popularity Queen, who will then be entertained by members of the student body. Immediately after dinner a reception will be held in the dining room to enable students to congratulate members of the court.

In charge of the dinner are: Decoration Committee—Jean Richter, Joey Choisser, Mary Schwartz and Joyce Nelson; Entertainment Committee—Ann Nichols, Bobbie Wade, and Rosemary Keenan. Mistress of ceremonies will be the editor of Linden Leaves—Janet Brown. Buse's Florist Shop supplied decoration and the queen's and maids' bouquets.

Every year the Linden Leaves has sponsored the popularity contest for the students of Lindenwood. Last year's queen, Miss Jan Miller, of Indianapolis, was introduced at a dance. First Maid of honor was Miss Jeane Sebastian of Cuba, Mo., and second maid was Miss Jody Schroder of Memphis, Tenn.

Lucette Stumberg To Play At Music Sorority Convention

Miss Lucette Stumberg, music major, has been selected as one of the few students to participate in a program before the delegates at the annual convention of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music fraternity. The fraternity conducted an inspection tour which covered every chapter of the United States and from this a few students were selected to give a composite program at the convention to be held in Cleveland, June 23 to 26.

Miss Stumberg was then notified by the national examiner, Mrs. Christian, that she had been chosen as one of the very best of the talents heard during the inspection tour and she had been selected to play a group of numbers before the assemblage next June.

Panel Discussion, Dr. Tyler's Address To Highlight Radio Meet

"The Freedom of Radio" will be the subject of the panel discussion to be held at Lindenwood's second annual radio conference to be held here on April 23. One of the panel speakers will be Ray Dady, manager of Station KWK, St. Louis, and formerly head of their news department.

The principal speaker at the conference will be Dr. Keith Tyler, president of the Association for Education by Radio. Dr. Tyler is one of America's leading

Lindenwood Puts $261 On Line In March Of Dimes Campaign

Lindenwood went over the top! This year over twice as much money was raised for the March of Dimes as was raised last year. Final figures list $261.57 collected. This sum is due mostly to Mr. Motley's efforts as a campaigner, and his offer of an evening in St. Louis with dinner at the Mayfair, tickets to "Sweethearts," and taxi furnished both ways, to the two girls, out of the fourteen collecting money, who brought in the most money. This prize went to Rita Desmond and Shirley Pollock, who collected over $19. All fourteen girls will be guests of Mr. Motley at his home later in the spring.

Taft And O'Mahoney To Headline Student Political Conventions On The Campus

Dr. Lindquist Is Speaker During Religious Week

"Now to Live" was the theme stressed by the Reverend Dr. Raymond I. Lindquist, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Orange, N. J., the principal speaker at Lindenwood's Religious Emphasis Week, February 9-15.

On Monday Dr. McCluer's chapel talk outlined "The Week Ahead." Dr. Lindquist arrived on campus during the afternoon and gave his opening address, "Now to Live," at 7 that evening. Afterwards, students and faculty had an opportunity to meet Dr. Lindquist at a social hour in the Library Club Room.

Half hour student conferences with Dr. Lindquist in Ayres' small parlor began Tuesday afternoon and continued during the week. A variety of group meetings was held. The assembly on Tuesday was followed by an informal question meeting on Wednesday evening.

Dr. Lindquist addressed the student body at the regular Thursday morning Convocation. That evening the girls participated in fireside discussions in each of the residence halls. Leaders in the dormitories were: Buder, Dr. Siegmund A. E. Betz; Ayres, Dr. Franc L. McCluer; Sibley, the Reverend Chris H. Rohlfing; Niccolls, Dr. Lindquist; Irwin, Dr. W. W. Parkinson.

To close the week, student counselors and counselees attended the church of their choice. At concluding vesper service, the theme, "Now to Live," was again emphasized.

Joyce Nelson was chairman of the organization committee for Religious Emphasis week; working with her were, Audrey Mount, S. C. A. president; Dolores Thomas, chairman of the refreshments committee; Casey Jones, who was in charge of publicity, and Nancy Kern, who headed the counseling. Marie Koch was chairman of the poster committee.

Delegates From Other Schools To Attend

The eyes of the politicians will be on Lindenwood as well as on Maine this year. United States Senator Robert A. Taft, Republican presidential aspirant, and United States Senator Joseph O'Mahoney of Wyoming, a Democratic party leader, will give the keynote addresses at the Student Political Conventions to be held on the campus April 1, 2, and 3.

Three hundred fifty colleges and universities in the Mississippi Valley have been invited to send two delegates each to both the Democratic and Republican political conventions.

The conventions will follow the pattern of the national party conventions in Philadelphia this summer. Each party will adopt a platform and nominate its candidates for president and vice president.

The delegates to the convention must present credentials from their institutions at the desk in Roemer Hall April 1. The number of votes for each delegation will be determined by the enrollment of each school.

Five committees will be formed for the organization of the convention. These committees will be in charge of Credentials, Rules and Order, Platform, Resolutions, and Permanent Organization.

The conventions will open at 9 a. m. Thursday, April 1, and will close at 6 p. m. Saturday, April 3.

A dance will be held in Butler Gymnasium on Friday night for the delegates of the convention.

Plans are being made for the keynote addresses by Senators Taft and O'Mahoney to be broadcast by a national network and to be televised. These addresses will be delivered whenever it

St. Louis Artist Describes Two Years Of Head-hunting To College Students

It's all very much "art" with both Mrs. Mildred Carpenter and her husband. Mr. Carpenter is a St. Louis artist who teaches painting at Washington University.

Working under the auspices of the U.S.O., Mrs. Carpenter spent two and a half years travelling to different hospitals all over the United States, drawing portraits of servicemen. Her portraits were on exhibit at the Fine Arts Building last Tuesday. Informal discussions were held with Mrs. Carpenter and afterwards a tea was given in her honor by Dr. and Mrs. McCluer.

Mrs. Carpenter said that plans were being made for a new organization to take over the duties of the U.S.O. and that she would like to find her place in this program and take active part in it.

Entries For Press Club Contest Being Received

Entries for the annual Press Club contest are now being received, according to Susie Martin, president of the Press Club.

A $5 prize will be awarded at commencement for the best article or story that has appeared in a student publication this year. These publications include the Linden Leaves and the Linden Bark.

The judges, who will be announced at a later date, will be chosen from the faculty.

The winner of last year's Press Club contest was Mary Jane Horton of Kansas City, Mo.

Radio Conference

Radio, an innovation of the 20th century, is a means of communication still in its infancy. Although its potentialities and possibilities are yet to be recognized, steps are now being taken to develop radio into an educative and creative, as well as entertaining, voice.

Programs such as "Chicago Round Table of the Air," "CBS Is There," and "The Land We Live In" all serve an educative purpose and are well worth their listening time.

However, as listeners, we must guard against accepting opinions of others, that we hear over the radio, before fully investigating and contemplating the issue at hand. Never listen to only one side of a controversial issue. By doing this we lose initiative in our way of thinking, and tend to accept the opinions of others as our own. We must remember that time on the radio is bought by a sponsor whose aim it is to get us to believe one certain way, whether it be to vote for a certain candidate for office, or buy a certain brand of soap. Thus, when we listen to these programs, we must contemplate the various factors, and then form our own opinions.

The coming radio conference at Lindenwood will stress these and other points when the merits and criticisms of radio are discussed. This conference is, in itself, an advancement of radio education, and a product of the growing Lindenwood radio department.

Cabin Fever

The time of year has rolled around when the snow has turned to slush and it is easy to get an attack of "Cabin Fever," that closed-in feeling when everything seems so dull and drab, routine becomes so tiresome and it is so easy to fly off the handle at our roommates and friends. It is probably somewhat natural that most of us feel the same at this time. If we stop and think about the situation, however, it won't take long to realize that there are remedies for the problem.

The Gym is nearly always available for recreation. There is always some house-cleaning to be done to keep us busy. Or what about planning your new spring wardrobe in detail? Something constructive not only for yourself but for the school can be done if you enter wholeheartedly into all the campus activities you have time for.

It won't be long till spring anyway (time for spring fever) and if we are busy it will come much sooner.

Roses Are Red...

It is often observed that times change. To which statement the fond parents of college-age people are prone to agree. This week our model parents, Uncle Philip and Aunt Gertrude, have been shaking their heads most emphatically over the realistic, yes even hard-boiled, approach of the younger generation to such an ancient and beloved occasion as Valentine's Day.

"It wasn't like this in the old days," Uncle Philip reflected as he nibbled at a corner of the eight-inch chocolate heart which one of daughter Janie's devoted young admirers had sent. He was referring to her comment at its arrival, "Oh, it's only from Joe. He would think of something like that."

Janie had averred that "this Gay Nineties stuff doesn't mean a thing in my life." Now she sighed and tossed aside the paper she'd been reading. After some moving and considerable adjustment of bifocals, Aunt Gertrude established the fact that on the cast-off sheet was a poem—presumably of love. As she gathered her courage to ask whether or not the author was the skinny, spectacled youth with the twitching left ear who had been a regular visitor last summer, the maid entered.

She set down a vase in which were arranged a dozen red roses. "Valentine, Miss Jane," she said.

"Really?" Janie yawned. "Who from? Roses are so terribly trite!"

"The card says: From William, the maid replied.

"William," Janie cooed. "How wonderful! Aren't they marvelous! No one but WILLIAM would be sweet enough to send roses!" Hugging the flowers, vase and all, she left the room.

All of which left Uncle Philip with a fine chance to moralize. And Uncle Philip is not one to let an opportunity escape him. His message, as usual, took the form of verse:

Though roses are red
They're meaningless too,
Less you love the giver
And he loves you.

GRACIE GREMLIN

Geek kids, am I ever disappointed in you! Here I finally talk the ole Linden Bark into carrying a column just for you who would like to have your opinions known... the letters to the editor column, better known as the Soap Box. So far, however, not one of these letters has been received! Now kids, you've got your chance... let's hear from you or forever hold your peace. How 'bout it... huh?

Of All Things

If you are trying to live by your wits and are making only half a living, there is an obvious conclusion to be drawn.

"You should use discrimination in kissing," advises a woman columnist. "Oh, we do. We never kiss a member of our own sex."

Intuition: That gift which enables a woman to arrive instantly at an infallible and irrevocable decision without the aid of reason, judgment or discussion.

And that brings us to this: The little doughnut said to the three-layer cake: "If I had all your dough I wouldn't be hanging around this hole."

Talent is that which is in a man's power; Genius is that in whose power a man is.

Judge: Why did you steal those jewels as well as all that money?

Prisoner: Because my mother always told me that money alone can never bring happiness.

Joe College: Will you marry me?
Cloe Co-ed: No!
And so they lived happily ever after.

ALL BARK AND NO BITE

By Janet Brown

"When the winds blow, can spring be far behind" a great poet once made this or some such remark, and judging from my previous years of experience he knew whereof he spoke, but it sure is hard to believe in weather like this. Of course, when we're in our rooms, we occasionally are misled into thinking spring has arrived—at least those times when it is necessary to keep both windows open in order to breathe and the steam surges out of the radiator, but outside—and in those rooms with a northwest exposure—we know it's winter. Spring at Lindenwood is really lovely—well worth waiting for—but whether it's worth all this suffering or not is something you'll have to decide for yourself.

Finals are over and grades are out. Somehow they're never as high as you hoped or as low as you expected. A few mix-ups—people with good grades suddenly dropping inexplicably, and vice-versa. It all serves to keep us on our toes, and remind us that after all teachers aren't infallible. Grades are funny things—they seem vitally important now, and indeed we tend to overemphasize grades here, inasmuch as membership in many organizations depends upon your grade averages—but in a surprisingly short time the sting vanishes from an I or F, and the gilt wears off the E. As far as that goes—whoever kept a job by telling the boss about the wonderful grades she made in college? If you've been in class, you must have learned something that will stand you in good stead later. Incidentally, have you heard about that blase student who when asked by her teacher if she had expected an E replied, "Why, of course"—she got it.

A few new faces around this semester—welcome to all of them—a few old familiar ones missing—washed away on floods of tears. That is probably the hardest, and yet the most fascinating part of Lindenwood—watching the students come and go.

Things have been swinging along right energetically of late. The basketball season is going strong, with the Day Students taking the first game in spite of Ayres' valiant fight. More inter-school games are scheduled—be on the lookout for them—this year L. C. has a crackerjack team. Speaking of basketball—our praises to the guard—a Senior, too—who made a basket for her opponents.

Pity the Seniors Dept.—Hey all you Freshmen—feel for the poor Seniors! We try so hard to be awe-inspiring and the best results we've gotten so far were from an intellectual Freshman who alluded to one Senior, then blithely tripped her. The best-decorated-door-on-campus prize goes to two Freshmen on third Nicolls who have their entrance plastered with signs, comic valentines and cute cracks of all descriptions. Another clever design is the funeral wreath in Ayres—put up during final week and kept up after grades came out. Symbolical, perhaps?

Religious emphasis week was even more successful on campus this year than last. The S. C. A. fortunately secured Dr. Lindquist—a fascinating speaker who inspired many late-night dorm discussions. That week was strategically placed too, coming at a time when we needed a pause for spiritual reinforcement. It fitted in neatly too with the "New Look" on campus—that attitude of maturity that we are attempting to carry into our everyday life—in the dorms, especially. Say, that honor system is really working in the dorms—if it keeps on successfully we'll be ready to move into other spheres.

Note for the Future—coming soon—another week sponsored by S. C. A. World Student Service Fund Week. On this topic—harken unto the words of John Donne so ably illustrated by Hemingway in his novel, "For Whom the Bell Tolls"—"Everyman's death diminishes me, inasmuch as I am involved in humanity; therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls, it tolls for thee." The cause of those students struggling for an education in other lands is our cause—for we are like them, and able to help them. It is one way we can help insure our world, by helping educate those who need it. Your allowances are fresh in March—put aside some money for this, our own cause, and turn in some textbooks to be sent overseas. Let's prove to ourselves that we can be interested in the needs of a world outside the L. C. walls.

Bark Barometer Of Campus Opinion

Lindenwood Students Admit Their Lives Are Governed By Superstition—29 Per Cent Confess Practicing At Least Some Common Superstitions

Because of habit, many people unconsciously practice superstition. We knock on wood, refuse to walk under a ladder, carry "good luck" talismans, and fear black cats.

In Japan there is a movement by the government to outlaw superstition. Surveys have proved that industrial production at times has been cut 40 per cent because of the superstitious beliefs of the workers.

On the Lindenwood campus 29 per cent of the students said they are superstitious while the remaining 71 per cent denied—and in some cases vigorously—that they are superstitious.

Asked if they believed in superstitions, 17 per cent of the students sampled said "Yes" and 83 per cent answered "No."

According to the survey of Lindenwood students, the most commonly practiced superstitions are: 1. Fear of black cats. 2. Refusing to walk under ladders. 3. Knocking on wood.

Dr. Neibuhr Urges Men Keep Eyes On Present In Campus Address

"Man should live in the present," said the Reverend Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr when he spoke here January 28 before the Lindenwood student body and guests from St. Louis. Dr. Niebuhr felt that man, too often, looks forward to the future and forgets to live in the present.

An Evangelical minister, Dr. Niebuhr, from Manhattan's Union Theological Seminary, is the leader of the movement which advocates a return to traditionalism in Protestant theology.

Red Cross Workers Complete Birthday Boxes For Veterans

Members of the Lindenwood chapter of the Red Cross have completed eleven birthday gift boxes to be sent to veterans at Jefferson Barracks. The girls, under the direction of Nancy Dana, Lindenwood's Red Cross chairman, hope to complete more of these boxes as soon as funds to cover the expenses are raised.

Christian Association Plans Drive For World Student Service Fund

The Student Christian Association plans a drive for the World Student Service Fund early in March, Miss Auedrey Mount, president, has announced. The drive is part of a world-wide work by the students of America for students of foreign countries. Lindenwood's goal is one thousand dollars or over.

Attraction of the week will be a bean supper, at which faculty members and a few upperclassmen will act as waitresses. Diners will be allowed to tip the waiters and the money will be donated to the drive. During the week an auction will be held and students will make a sacrificial offering on Sunday. A large sign showing the progress toward the thousand dollar goal will be conspicuously displayed on campus.

Although some of the money and books collected will be sent to the national headquarters, some of the money will be used for a scholarship for a foreign student at Lindenwood next year. Miss Coy Payne is chairman for the week.

"This is one drive exclusively by and for students. By helping foreign students we help to insure world peace in the future. We hope that L. C. will exceed its goal," was the comment of Miss Mount, SCA president.

The Music Box

A student recital was held February 3 in Sibley Chapel. Those participating were: Voice—Shirley Emmons accompanied by Jean Eiel, Nancy Brunn accompanied by Carolyn Furnish, Mary Frances Morris accompanied by Barbara Ann Little, piano—Carolyn Hughes; organ—Lucy Ann McCluer.

A student recital will be held in Sibley chapel this afternoon. Those participating will be: Voice, Joyce Powell, Carolyn Furnish, accompanist; Eleanor Serkes, Louise Kendrick, accompanist; piano—June McDonald, Marthan Dusch Lucy Anne McCluer; organ—Ann Watt.

At a Student Recital on February 10 in Sibley Chapel the following students participated: Voice, Eleanor Miller accompanied by Louise Kendrick; Peggy Jane Bivens, accompanied by Marthan Dusch; violin, Greta Rehg, accompanied by Barbara Ann Little; piano, Shirley Adams and Emily Terry.

An orchestra concert, under the direction of Leon Karel, was held in Roemer Auditorium last Tuesday evening. Selections included "Egmont Overture," by Beethoven; "Habanera" and "Gypsy Song" from "Carmen," by Bizet, featuring Mary DeVries, contralto; "Concerto No. 2 in D minor," for piano and orchestra, by MacDowell, featuring Jean Shelton, pianist; "Malaguena" from "Andalucia," by Lecuona.

A faculty vespers concert was held February 22 in Roemer Auditorium. Those featured were Miss Virginia Lee Winham, pianist; Miss Pearl Walker, soprano, with Paul Fress accompanist. Miss Winham's selections included "Sonata, Op. 109," by Beethoven, and "Ballade in G minor," by Chopin. Miss Walker's selections included "Hear My Supplication," by Mozart, "Quando ti ribedro," by Donaudy, "Il Neige," by Bemberg, "Non la Sospiri," by Puccini, "I Attempt from Love's Sickness to Fly," by Pyrcell, "Ah, Twine No Blossoms," by Gliere, "Wind," by Theodore Chandler, and "Song of the Robin Woman," by Cadman.

126 Students Listed On Scholastic Honor Roll For The First Semester

Twenty-seven per cent of Lindenwood College students are listed on the Dean's Honor Roll for the first semester. Dean Gipson has expressed her great satisfaction as to the academic standing of the school, and especially commends the 52 Freshmen who stand at the head of their class. The Sophomore Class added 34 members to the list; the Juniors, 18, and the Seniors, 22. An "S" average is required to be listed. The Honor Roll includes:

Cast Selected For Noel Coward Play To Be Given March 5

"Hay Fever," by Noel Coward will be presented by Alpha Psi Omega Fraternity on Friday, March 5, at 8 o'clock. The cast consists mainly of active members of Alpha Psi.

The action of the play centers around Judith Bliss, a retired actress, played by Caroline Coons. Her husband, David, is played by Marie Koch. The two children are Sorel by Mary Ann Metzger, and Simon by Nancy Dana. Ruth Ann Ball is the maid, Clara. The situation becomes one of high comedy and farce when each member of the family invites a week-end guest to their country home near London. These are Richard Greatam played by Falsta Bailey, Sandy Tyrell by Jean Richter, Jackie Coryton by Charlotte Nolan, and Myra Arundel by Nancy Fanshier.

The settings for "Hay Fever" are being constructed by members of the stagecraft class: Darlene Macfarlane, Jeannine Johnson, Suzanne Campbell, Loleta Briggs, Jo Ann Coble, and Jean Meyerhoff.

L. C. Glee Club To Sing At Rolla

Members of the Lindenwood glee club will sing at Missouri School of Mines, Rolla, Mo., on March 12. The girls will also have dinner there and be entertained at a dance following the concert.

THE CLUB CORNER

The Poetry Society held a meeting on February 2 in Sibley Club Room. Poems written by the members were read and discussed, and several poems by the members' favorite authors were read.

The League of Women Voters will meet this evening in the Library Club Room. A panel discussion on city councils, school boards, and county courts will be held.

The Press Club met on February 3 in Sibley Club Room. Plans for the Gridiron Dinner were discussed and several skits were outlined. The group also discussed plans for a dance in March.

At a meeting of Mu Phi Epsilon, on January 12, Paul Friess spoke on Jewish and Christian music.

An Indiana Club meeting was held on Monday, Feb. 16, in Sibley Club Room. The members played bridge and refreshments were served.

THE CAMPUS HALL OF FAME

Another picture has been hung in our campus Hall of Fame. Nancy Dana, a Sibley Senior, who hails from Highland Park, Ill., has been active in many Lindenwood campus activities. Nancy is active and well known as a play producer and is president of Alpha Psi Omega. This Senior is also known in the world of sports at Lindenwood. She is on the Riding Team and belongs to Beta Chi. Other important activities are: Vice president of the League of Women Voters, vice president of the International Relations Club, chairman of the Lindenwood Red Cross Chapter, the Press Club, Pi Gamma Mu, and the Annua staff. Nancy hasn't any definite plans yet after graduation in the spring, but we are sure that she will make a place for herself in whatever she does.

Biology Students Are Considered For Queen

From the following list of students in the Biology Department, a faculty committee will choose Lindenwood's candidate for Queen of the annual St. Louis Flower Show. The Queen, chosen from schools in this area, will be crowned at a special ceremony Friday evening, March 12.

The girls named are Sandra Chandler, Jane Fox, Ann Knowles, Mary Lou Landberg, Betty Paterson, Shirley Pate, Jennifer Sullivan, Alice Leene Smith, Helen Sherwin, Patricia Underwood, and Hope Wadsworth.

Taft and O'Mahony, cont. from pg. 1) is convenient for the speakers to be present.

Lindenwood students have organized into the two political parties and they are in the process of drafting platforms that will reflect the ideas of the students. Within the Republican party on campus, Dewey, Taft, and Stassen clubs are being formed.

The conventions are sponsored by the Lindenwood chapter of the League of Women Voters. Dr. Homer Clevenger, head of the department of political science and Mayor of St. Charles, will assist the students in organizing the conventions and setting up rules and procedure.

In making the announcement of these conventions, Dr. Franc L. McCluer, president of Lindenwood, said, "I believe these conventions will stimulate student interest in and understanding of the political issues before the nation. It is one of the major responsibilities of education to lead students, whatever their major interest, to an awareness of their responsibilities as citizens."

Tentative program:

April 1, Thursday

9:00 to 3:30—Registration.

3:30 to 6:00—Organization meeting of each convention. Submission of committee candidates by the national chairman.

6:00 to 8:00—Dinner.

8:00 to 12:00—First regular session.

April 2, Friday

9:00 to 12:00—Reports of Committees: Credentials, Permanent Organization, and Rules.

12:00 to 1:00—Luncheon.

1:00 to 6:00—Report of Resolutions Committee. Adopting platform.

6:00 to 8:00—Dinner.

8:00 to 12:00—Dance. Delegates, guests of Lindenwood College.

April 3, Saturday

9:00 to 12:00—Nominations for presidency and vice presidency.

12:00 to 1:00—Luncheon.

1:00 to 6:00—Continuation morning business. Adjournment.

The keynote addresses will be delivered at whatever time it is convenient for the speakers to be present. These addresses will be broadcast.

Honor System Introduced In Dormitories

Group pressure, public opinion, and individual honor will be the governing forces under the newly arranged Honor System established by the Residence Council. This plan has been approved by the students and officials and has been in action in each dormitory since the second semester opened.

The Honor System was suggested to meet the growing need for a new plan of dormitory government. The Residence Council in introducing the new plan, offered this definition, "The Honor System is a plan of government through which the students and only the students will maintain by their own integrity and initiative the aims and goals which they themselves feel will result in better dormitory living, and thus will indoctrinate the ethics of self-discipline, self-respect, and self-esteem in their relations with their fellow students."

"Introduction of the new plan was made in the dormitories in the hope that it would be the first step toward an all-out Honor System," says Eloise Macy, head of the Residence Council.

Martha Coyle Chosen Fraternity Candidate For Homecoming Queen

Miss Martha Coyle of San Antonio, Tex., has been chosen Phi Chi representative for the Westminster College Homecoming Beauty Queen. The homecoming queen was crowned at a dance held February 21.

Miss Coyle is a Freshman at Lindenwood and lives in Ayres Hall.

Dr. Lindquist Speaks, cont. from pg. 1

Other students whose work made the week possible were Jean Callis, Mary Lou McNaill, Janet Anderson, Barbara de Puy, Frances Bauer, Muriel Jacobson, Marie Heye, Jean Jones, Marjorie Marcellus, Shirley Pollock, Jean Richter, Alice Babe, Ernamarie Trefz, and Dorothy Walker.

Follow-up discussion groups will meet in the dormitories on February 25. Dr. Parker will be in Ayres, Dr. Parkinson in Sibley, Dr. McCluer in Butler, Dr. Betz in Niccolls, and Miss Morris in Irwin.

Dr. Clark Walker Cummings, executive secretary of the Metropolitan Church Federation of St. Louis, was speaker at the vesper service prior to the opening of Religious Emphasis Week. Dr. Cummings said that Christianity has the right answers for all of the problems of life. Because we try to use our lives as they are not meant to be lived, Dr. Cummings continued, we always end in disaster. War is the greatest example of people misusing their lives. In conclusion, Dr. Cummings said that if we strive for the beautiful, glorious living as planned by God, we will have the answer to all of the problems of life.

MUSCLE BOUND

Plans are being formed for the Water Pageant by the Terrapin Club. This pageant will be held April 15 and 16.

Faculty Play Night, a new recreational program this year, has had an enthusiastic start and obviously seems to be a worthwhile plan. All the recreational facilities of the Gym are open to those faculty members who wish to attend. Square dancing thus far has been very popular.

Leap Year Dance Is Given By Freshmen

Sponsored by the Freshman Class, the Leap Year dance last Saturday evening was one of the gayest of the year. Eloise Batts was head of the committee which decorated the Gym with posters showing little girls chasing little boys.

Herman Drake's orchestra played and Annabel Anderson was chairman of the refreshments committee.

Intercollegiate Press Association Guests Of Lindenwood Press

The monthly meeting of the Greater St. Louis Intercollegiate Press Association was held at Lindenwood Sunday, Feb. 22. Journalism students from Fontbonne, Washington University, St. Louis University, Le Clerc, Maryville, Harris Teachers College, Stowe Teachers College, and Webster were invited to attend.

Charles C. Clayton, sponsor of the Linden Bark, addressed the group on "Shredded Wheat and Baled Hay." Lindenwood students offered criticisms of members' newspapers, and an executive secretary of the organization was elected.

Dr. Betz Joins Cast Of "Theatre Of The Air"

Lindenwood's own Dr. Siegmund Betz, last Saturday, made his radio debut over the "Lindenwood Theatre of the Air" in the part of Roscoe, the dog. Barking and woofing with amazing felicity, Dr. Betz convincingly portrayed the part of the press-agent dog to the satisfaction of all the kiddie listeners.

The script, "What Kate Did," was written by Lorraine Peck, and those assisting Dr. Betz (the dog!) were Nancy Fanshier, Gretchen Schnurr, Darlene Macfarlane, Charlotte Nathan Sally Joy, Connie Schwager, and Mary DeVries.

The introduction to Radio classes will attend the meeting of the Radio Council of Greater St. Louis, to be held on February 26, at the Junior League Club Rooms. The principal subject will be "The Community Looks at Radio."

John Scott Tells Assembly Of Central Europe Conditions

John Scott, who reported World War II from Stockholm and is at present chief of the Central European staff of Time magazine, recently addressed the student body on "Russian Foreign Policy and American Foreign Policy as They Meet in Central Europe."

Mr. Scott discussed present conditions in Germany. "Food is dominant in the lives of Germans," he said. This preoccupation is preventing, to a considerable extent, normal political and cultural activity.

He also made three points concerning the Marshall plan: (1) The United States should use the machinery of the United Nations and support it whenever possible. (2) In European politics, there has been a definite swing to the left. Americans must remember that any democracy given will tend toward socialism. "We can't force a mirror image of American life upon these people," Mr. Scott said. (3) In Europe at this time there is a great need for unification and the subjugation of sovereignty.

"With atomic strategy at its present development, we cannot afford another war," Mr. Scott said in closing.

Westminster Glee Club To Sing Here

Members of the Westminster glee club will give a joint concert with the Lindenwood glee club in Roemer Auditorium on February 27. The Westminster men will have dinner in Ayres dining hall before the concert and following it will be entertained at an informal dance.
