Greene Joins Development Effort

A big welcome to Gary Greene, LC's new director of institutional advancement and chief fundraising officer. (Try fitting that on a business card!) Gary comes to LC from a position as vice president with Crane National Vendors. He is also the husband of Robyn Greene, director of Work & Learn and LC counseling grad student. Gary can be found at extension 4975.

Professors Honored

Congratulations to Jean Fields, associate professor in English and communications for being selected as an Emerson Electric Excellence in Teaching Award recipient, and to Bryan Reeder, assistant professor and director of theatre, for receiving the Governor's Award for Excellence in Teaching. Jean has been teaching at the 'Wood since 1965 and Bryan came to LC in 1987.

Registration Rundown

Spring Semester registration for current students will begin the week of November 7. The first Open House/Registration Day for new students is scheduled for Friday, November 18. Spring Semester schedules will be available the week of October 31.

Adjunct Achievements

Kudos to Keith Polette, adjunct professor of humanities in LCIE. Keith recently earned his Ph.D. from Saint Louis University. He received the prestigious Walter Ong Award for Best Graduate Student for the excellence of his dissertation and comprehensive exams.

Membership Drive Taking Off

KCLC's Fall '94 Membership Drive starts Thursday, October 20 and runs through the 26th. Twice each year the station asks its listeners to help defray operating costs by making a tax deductible donation. Contact Glen Cerny at extension 4880 if you are interested in becoming a member.

Holocaust Survivor To Speak

Students, faculty and staff are invited to an LCIE colloquium given by Holocaust survivor Hedy Epstein. She will speak Wednesday, November 9 at 7:00 p.m. in Jelkyl Theatre. Epstein survived the holocaust by being sent on a Children's Transport from Germany to England in 1939. Her parents and other family members were deported to camps and subsequently perished either on their way to or in Auschwitz. After the war, Epstein worked as a research analyst at the Nuremberg Trials of the physicians who performed medical experiments on concentration camp inmates. Epstein, who now lives in St. Louis, gives lectures and slide presentations to schools, colleges, churches and other organizations all over the world. For more information, contact Arlene Taich at ext. 4952.

United Way Drive Wrapping Up

The annual United Way fundraising drive is wrapping up. If you'd like to making a donation or pledge, please contact Glen Cerny at ext. 4880.

Happy
Halloween!

"We're Number One!"

What a way to start the season! The Lindenwood College Lions wrestling team is ranked number one in the nation in the recent NAIA pre-season poll. Head Coach Stacy Weiland, four All-Americans and four national meet qualifiers are returning to lead the pack in its fourth season. Last year, the Lions finished fourth in the nation in the NAIA. Weiland was named runner-up "Rookie Coach of the Year" by the Amateur Wrestling News last season in a ranking that included coaches from NCAA Division I Schools. The Lions open the season November 4 at the Iowa State (Ames) University Open.

Outstanding Soccer

Congratulations are also in order for Coach Tim Champion, Assistant Coach John Guffey and members of the women's soccer team. They are ranked number 11 nationally.

Lions Football Takes Heart

The Lindenwood Lions football team has been officially invited to join the Heart of America Conference, beginning in the fall of 1996. This conference consists of other NAIA colleges in Missouri, including William Jewell, Culver-Stockton and Missouri Valley, as well as a couple of schools in Iowa and Kansas. Head Coach Jeff Driskill says that's good news for our team and student-athletes. "We'll be taking shorter trips and playing colleges with more local name recognition. We're thrilled to be asked to play in a league that's rich in football tradition." Currently, the Lions are members of the Mid-States Football Association, a new conference. The Lions played as an independent team for its first five years.

Making Tracks...

Lindenwood's new all-weather six-lane track is nearing completion. The first layers are down, and after about two weeks of "curing," the track will be ready for the final rubberized surface. The Lions are looking forward to making good use of the new track in the spring.

Under Construction

Members of the Lions baseball team are already getting a good workout. They are hard at work constructing dugouts for the College's baseball field.

"Conventioneering"

Athletic Director and Women's Basketball Coach Steve Crotz recently returned from the NAIA national convention in Tulsa. Issues discussed at this year's conference included gender equity and updates on eligibility requirements.

Parents Weekend Participation

Faculty and staff are invited to join students and their parents for a continental breakfast in Ayres Dining Hall Saturday, November 5 from 9 - 10 a.m. Price is $1.75.

A reminder to faculty: Parents are invited to attend classes with students Friday, November 4, as part of Parents Weekend. For more information contact Barbi Dodds, director of student activities, at extension 4848. A complete list of Parents Weekend activities will be published in the October issue of the Lindenworld.
