Selection Announced By Dr. Clark

Dr. Franc L. McClure, president of Westminster College in Fulton, Mo., has been named president of Lindenwood College. Dr. McClure attracted nationwide attention last year by bringing Winston Churchill and President Truman to Westminster, where Churchill delivered the famous "Fulton address."

The announcement was made by Dr. James W. Clarke, minister of the Second Presbyterian Church in St. Louis, and chairman of the Lindenwood Board of Directors. Dr. McClure will succeed Dr. Harry M. Gage, who resigned last year. He will assume his duties here on or before August 1.

Dr. McClure has been active in church and political affairs and was a leader in the drive to draft and adopt the new Missouri Constitution. He also served as a presidential elector in 1932 and was one of the few laymen to serve as a moderator of the Presbyterian Church. At Fulton he has twice received the McCubbin Award, given each year to the person who has contributed most to Callaway County.

In accepting the presidency of Lindenwood, Dr. McClure is returning to his home county. He was born March 27, 1896, at O'Fallon in St. Charles County and went to Fulton at 12 with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McClure, who still live there. A Westminster graduate, he joined the faculty there in 1918. With the exception of a two-year leave during which he completed work for his doctor's degree, he had been connected with Westminster, first as a teacher and for the past 14 years as president, for a total of 29 years.

Lindenwood to hold Radio Meet

Lindenwood's first radio conference will be held on the campus Friday, April 25. Colleges and universities in this area will send representatives, and professional radio people from St. Louis will discuss the fields and opportunities of the radio world. The conference will focus attention upon the importance of radio in world events, and the responsibility the college shares in its development.

A panel discussion, "Careers in Radio," will be held at 2 p. m. in the Library Club Room, under the chairmanship of the Rev. Elmer Knoernschild, program director, Station KFUD, Clayton, Mo. The speakers and their subjects will be:

Miss Kay Morton, KXOK, St. Louis, Mo., "Programming for Women."

Miss Dorothy Blackwell, assistant director, Department of Audio-Visual Education, St. Louis Public Schools, "Radio in Education."

Mrs. Ellen Brashear, free lance writer

president of St. Louis Radio Council, "Radio and Public Relations."
Karl Hohengarten, Mutual Broadcasting Company, KWK, St. Louis, Mo., "Radio Music."

Lindenwood's Radio Production Class will present a demonstration, which will be followed by a tea in Sibley Recreation Room, sponsored by Sigma Tau Delta.

Dinner will be held in the dining room for the guests. Members of the Press Club will present a skit at the evening session in Roemer Auditorium. The subject will be: "Radio Looks Ahead." The speaker will be Lyle de Moss, program manager, Station WOW, Omaha, Neb.

The colleges and universities in this area to be invited to send representatives to the conference include Blackburn, Christian, Concordia, Fontbonne, Harris, Maryville, McKendree, McMurray, Monticello, Principia, St. Louis University, Shurtleff, Stephens, Washington University, Webster, Westminster and William Woods.

Representatives of high school radio classes in St. Louis and St. Louis County and Illinois will also be included.

The faculty conference committee consists of Miss Martha May Boyer, chairman, Dr. Siegmund E. Betz, Miss Betty Isaacs and Dr. Alice Parker.

Lindenwood Alumnae Wins Renown In Wide Variety Of Fields.

Matrimony is usually the first ambition of Lindenwood graduates, although some alumnae have become career women of some distinction. Of the outstanding alumnae is Dr. Florence W. Schaper, who has been a member of the college's faculty since 1922. In November 1943 Dr. Schaper was granted a leave of absence by the college. She was the first faculty member to join the women's auxiliary branch of any of the armed services. She served as a lieutenant in the WAVES until she was discharged in the summer of 1945, when she rejoined the faculty at Lindenwood and resumed her position as Director of Student Guidance and Personnel.

Miss Virginia Irwin, a former Lindenwood student, served in England as a Red Cross staff assistant and later was a fully accredited war correspondent for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch during the war. She was the first woman to enter Berlin after V-E Day. As a reporter and feature writer for the Post, she is now on her way to Germany to write a series of stories on postwar conditions in Germany.

Another alumna who has won distinction is Miss Margaret "Cotton" Cannon, of Louisville, Ky. Miss Cannon, who was graduated in 1942, is remembered on campus as the originator of the "All Bark and No Bite" column in the Linden Bark. She now has her own radio program on Station WGRC in Louisville. In addition to this she has been selected to be secretary of the Little Theater in Louisville.

Miss Harriet Thistlewood, well-known dress designer, attended Lindenwood in 1939-41. She completed her preparation for her career at the Parsons School of Design in New York City and was graduated in 1943. She is now studying retail merchandising as an assistant buyer in the college shop at John Wanamaker & Co., in New York.

Miss Ellen Ann Schachner, under the stage name of Ellen Andrews, appeared in Walter Huston's play, "Apple of His Eye," at the American Theater last January. Miss Schachner, originally from St. Louis, attended Lindenwood College for two years, 1935-37. Her stage career has included parts in two Orson Welles productions, and the role of Ellie May for eight months in the New York cast of "Tobacco Road."

Another Lindenwood alumna, Major Lucille Spalding, served as Chief Nurse of the Army Hospital Unit in Europe. Before entering the service as a lieutenant early in 1942 Major Spalding was assistant professor of nursing at Western Reserve University School of Nursing. At Lindenwood she was a member of the Class of 1922.

Dr. Gibson Attends College Meeting

Dean Alice E. Gipson was in Chicago last week end representing Lindenwood College at the meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges.

Welcome Dr. McCluer

The students of Lindenwood College, the faculty and the Bark staff issue a hearty welcome to Dr. Franc McCluer, an outstanding educator, who is our new president. Dr. McCluer is well known throughout the United States as a leader in the educational world. Besides bringing Winston Churchill and President Truman to Westminster where Churchill delivered his "Fulton Address," Dr. McCluer is active in church and political affairs.

We sympathize with Westminster over their loss of such a great man, but at the same time are happy to know that by August 1 he will be at home on the Lindenwood campus. In welcoming Dr. McCluer, we wish him to know that we shall all be behind him in keeping up the traditions of the Lindenwood "big happy family."

The Radio Conference

A step to the future—Lindenwood College will hold its first radio conference April 25. With representatives from the colleges and universities in this area, Lindenwood will be the host. High-lighting the importance of radio and the college's part in its development, Lindenwood's radio classes hope to ignite the students' interest in this profession. Various programs, panels and discussions will be presented during the day. Speakers from St. Louis radio stations will introduce new fields and techniques to the students.

Lindenwood's radio classes are looking to the future, the future of radio and the future of college radio.

Spring Is Fun At Lindenwood

Another quarter of the year is over and after Easter Vacation the spring activities will be in full swing. The days will be crowded with picnics at the ovens, club meetings, teas and sun-bathing. Terrapin will give the annual water pageant on April 11. This year's pageant is based on the various holidays. The May Fete, with a colonial theme, has been scheduled for May 17, and will bring visitors from far and near. The Junior-Senior Prom will be the high light for the upperclasses.

A big part of college life centers around these activities. This will be the last year at Lindenwood for many of us, so let's all help to give it a happy ending by attending everything we can.

The Significance Of Easter

In the midst of a partially destroyed and suffering world, we pause to observe the most significant of all the religious holidays—Easter.

Easter. What does Easter mean to you? When we were young, it meant brightly colored eggs hidden in the grass for us to find. Then, when we got a little older, it meant new spring clothes, and we joined the parade to church to pass judgment on all the other new spring clothes, probably without hearing a word of the sermon. The Easter parade was the meaning of Easter during those years.

Easter during a war is different—as we all learned during World War II. Easter during a postwar period is different too—as we are learning now. This year there may be a parade to church; but this time people will do more than pass judgment on other people's clothes. They will listen to the services. And in doing so, will take time to realize the true significance of Easter. It is a time for worship, prayer and inspiration, which we so desperately need in this confused world.

America's Date With Destiny

The American people should be convinced that the beginning of another world war has already taken root in Greece. The appearance of Communism, along with the exhaustion and poverty of the Greek people, demands immediate attention and help. Britain has already lost her dominant position in Europe; so unless the United States assumes a more definite role, the Mediterranean countries could fall one by one. Students are now beginning to realize the perilous conditions in Europe, but more attention must be given to the details of the problems.

Communist-led guerrillas, already highly organized in Greece, could easily start a civil war with outside support. The appeal to the United States by Greece shows that she cannot heal her wounds and also prepare for another battle alone. Turkey also needs backing in modernizing its military force to watch over the Russo-Bulgarian borders. This all brings us to the fear of the spreading Communistic influence.

President Truman recently declared war on Communism within the government groups here in the United States. We must start at the bottom of all these problems to reach a satisfactory conclusion. We also must work fast for large fires can start from one small spark, and when several sparks, which are by no means small, have begun their destructive work the necessity of speed and efficiency is needed more than ever.

President Truman, General Marshall, Congress, other governmental groups and the people need to work together in solving the problems of what to do with Greece, Turkey and Communism. It is necessary to dig in and discover what help is needed to further what we are looking for so eagerly—co-operation and peace throughout the world.

ALL BARK AND NO BITE

By Janet Brown

Mattie and Florella are all worn out this week. Poor souls! Nine weeks was just too much for them. They sprawled out on beds and proceeded to give with the latest news. A new intramurals has been added—bowling. Quite a crowd came down to the Lutheran alleys to cheer for Nicolls, Irwin and Butler Saturday night. Basketball intramurals have been played too. Swimming comes up next; so anyone with any strength left, get your practice hours in. A. A. intramurals have certainly been smoothly run this year—A. A. has given us some grand parties too—Lindenwood laurels of the week go to the capable officers of this organization.

Last Saturday Mattie took a few hours off to trek into the big city for a spring suit. She found lots of adorable suits, but no formals—guess last year's will have to do for the next dance. She found the cutest hat, though. Needless to say, Florella had to support Mattie this week—a trip to the city isn't easy on the bank book.

Oh to be in Missouri, now that spring is here. There's nothing quite like it! Sleet, rain, snow, wind and sun all in 24 hours. The first spring crocus must be a little chilly under two feet of snow. Walking to classes is somewhat hazardous now—there's no telling when a baby avalanche will slip down the roof. Hamster will carry hot chocolate to the rescue of all snowbound persons.

Mattie and Florella thought Religious Emphasis Week was really a good idea.

Dr. Tucker was certainly an interesting speaker, and an understanding person to talk to. Everyone on campus was very interested—there have been some grand talks in the dorm since then. A week of no tests helped us to get into the proper frame of mind, too.

That Cultivated Plants class sure has fun. Did you see those gorgeous arrangements in the hall of Roemer? Some of them were strikingly unusual. The bride's table was beautiful and the other tables were equally lovely. Get someone in the class to give you a resume of the rules of flower arrangement—you'll find it's fun, in addition to beautifying.

Just think—tomorrow at this time I'll be home. It's been a long time since we saw Mom and Dad. Just think—Easter vacation is almost here—five whole days to play with—five days of freedom. It is the perfect break in the year. Mattie and Florella love Lindenwood, of course, but it's good to get home once in a while. Come to think of it, there isn't much left of this year after Easter. Those last months just speed by. Do you have your money in for next year? Believe it or not, there is a waiting list, and if you plan to come back, now is the time to make sure of a room.

Mattie's critical essay is due tomorrow; so she and Florella kicked all visitors out of the room, armed themselves with cokes and went to work.

Madam Helene Lyolene will return to Lindenwood Campus.

Mrs. Helene Lyolene, one of the outstanding designers of women's clothing in both the United States and Europe, will return to the Lindenwood campus April 15.

From February 15 to March 15, Mme. Lyolene has been an instructor in the fashion design department of the Kansas City Art Institute.

For 20 years a designer in Paris, Mme. Lyolene for twelve years of that period had her own establishment in the Palace Verdome under the name of the House of Lyolene. For three years she was head of a special department for the house of J. Heim under the name of Heim Jeunes Filles.

At the beginning of World War II she was invited by Hattie Carnegie to come to the United States to operate a special department known as the Carnegie Jeunes Filles.

After leaving Carnegie, Mme. Lyolene taught in Columbia University, Cooper Union and here at Lindenwood for a period covering nearly five years. Last July she returned to Paris and designed an outstanding collection for the Heim organization. On returning to the United States she taught in the Rhode Island School of Design. For many years she was a critic for the Parson's School of Design in New York City. For 18 years, Mme Lyolene has been a consultant designer for the Donnelly Garment Company in Kansas City.

She was born in Russia, where she received her college training. Later she spent two years at the University of Lausanne, Switzerland. She also spent five years in Dresden and Berlin studying music and fine arts. She became a naturalized American citizen in 1946.

Exhibit of Woodblock Prints on Display in Roemer Hall

Thirty colorful woodblock prints are now on exhibit on the second floor of Roemer. This exhibition, sponsored by the Art Department at Lindenwood, is circulated by the Museum of Modern Art in New York City. It consists of original works of art by three contemporary American artists and may be purchased by amateur collectors.

These artists, Werner Drewes, Louis Schanker and Charles Smith, won attention a year ago with shows of their prints in New York galleries. They are some what influenced by cubism and abstract art.

Schanker's gay, highly personal interpretation of a polo game and Drewes' interlocking design of white ducklings are the result of a technique essentially unchanged since its first appearance in 7th century China.

Among Smith's prints are subjects varying from strutting cocks or a playful family of turtles to a work such as "Horizontal Arrangement."

The prints will be on display for three weeks after which the exhibition will continue its tour around the country.

JUNIORS ARE GUESTS OF FRESHMEN at MOVIE.

Around The Campus

By Mary Jane Horton

Ay, and it was a fine Irish ball, my lassies. Ay, and it was St. Pat, with a royal Pop Queen and Court to boot. Hats off to the Shamrock popularities!

Well, D-Day is past, my pets, and doom day it was! According to a recent ghastly poll (not Gallup), we Sophomores are third-rate imbeciles. PU to IQ's!

Frantic rustling through the pages of Mademoiselle, and hurried trips to the city... Beware! Oh, what to wear... Spring is almost here!

Umm, what's up, Doc? The bunny rabbit brought us a new president! And we are all for you, Dr. McCluer! But surely, you'll bring a parting remembrance of Westminster with you—say a few hundred students or so?

We extend our sincerest sympathy to the Rehgs upon the recent death of "Taffy." The campus misses that canine touch.

LOST: One fool, missing since last April 1. Reward offered, one loaded cigar.

THE CLUB CORNER

The Commercial Club held its annual St. Patrick's Day Tea Sunday, March 16, in the Library Club Room.

The League of Women Voters is sending two representatives, Linda Blakey and Gaelic Ching, to the Mid-American Congress in St. Joseph, Mo., April 11 and 12.

The Future Teachers Association held its annual tea for the teachers of St. Charles in the Library Club Room on March 27.

Beta Chi is preparing for the St. Louis horse show which will be held April 17, 18, 19. Buses will be chartered for those wishing to attend the show.

Merlyn Merx was elected vice-president of the Missouri State Home Economics Club in St. Joseph on March 21. Lindenwood was represented by Merlyn Merx and Louise Ritter.

Exodus For Easter Vacation Starts Thursday Morning

Thursday morning at 11 a. m., the hour we have been waiting for will be here but we'll be gone! Throughout the campus, in the halls, the dorms, and in the Tea Room, the girls are discussing plans for Easter vacation. There are plans regarding parties, dates, dating whom they wish, and when they wish, shopping and "just having a gay ol' time in general."

The deadline for returning to the campus is Tuesday, April 8, at 11 a. m.

Lindenwood's radio and recording equipment is one of the most modern in American colleges today. This equipment will be displayed at the radio conference April 25.

Journalism Textbook by Faculty Member is off the Press.

"Newspaper Reporting Today," a journalism text by Charles C. Clayton, is now off the press. Mr. Clayton is an editorial writer for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and instructor of Journalism at Lindenwood.

A foreword for the book was written by Dr. Frank Luther Mott, Dean of the School of Journalism of the University of Missouri and a past president of the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism.

"Mr. Clayton's book is one that, in my opinion, should prove of real worth to all preparing for newspaper work as well as those now engaged in it," states Dr. Mott. "It is practical in content and specific in treatment. Into it the author has written the results of his own experience. He points the way toward better reporting and tells how to achieve the goal. Such a book is a contribution to the literature of the profession."

The Music Box

By Mary Neubert

The Phi Theta Chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon presented a Vesper Piano Concert, Sunday, March 23, in Roemer Auditorium. Those participating were Lucette Stumberg, Barbara Ann Little and Colleen Johnson.

Lucette, a junior at Lindenwood, opened the program with Bach's "Concerto in the Italian Style." Her other selections included "Polonaise in E Flat Minor, Op. 26, No. 2" by Chopin and "The Fountain of Acqua Paolo" by Griffes.

Coleen, who will receive her Bachelor of Music Degree in June, played Beethoven's "Sonata, Op. 53, C Major" and "Etude de Concert in F Minor" by Liszt.

Barbara Ann concluded the program with "La Cathedrale engloutie" by Debussy and "Elegie, Op. 3, No. 1," by Rachmaninoff.

The Lindenwood Orchestra, under the direction of Leon Karel, gave an entertaining concert Wednesday, March 25, in Roemer Auditorium. Among the selections were Mendelssohn's "Nocturne," "Racoczy March" by Berlioz and "Larghetto" (from the 2nd Symphony) by Beethoven. Barbara Wade played a French Horn solo, "Concert-Rondo" by Mozart; and Norma Jean Blankenbaker, soprano, sang "Batti, Batti" by Mozart.

Barbara Watkins, contralto, gave the first Diploma Recital of the year yesterday afternoon in Sibley Chapel. She was assisted by Irma McCormac, flutist. Accompanists were Virginia Turner and Jean Shelton.

THE LINDEN LEAVES ARE WHISPERING

Joan Reed is the lucky one, she will be flying home to Mexico to attend her sister's wedding and spend Easter with her parents.

All reports indicate the St. Pat's dance here was a big success, and that the Queen and her court reigned in splendor.

Patsy Stickler seems to have taken a sudden interest in Mexico. And seems as if all the available material has proved it to be a "very" interesting place.

Hey, Butch, when does "Red" sail?

Wetzler certainly gets some interesting mail—note that love poem—ending in "oh my, oh my."

Lindenwood lassies are certainly skilled—one Miss we know managed to have two dates on campus at the same time.

PRESS CLUB CONTEST ENTRIES ARE NOW BEING RECEIVED.

The annual Press Club publication contest is now open for entries, Carol Clayton, president of the club, has announced.

Every student is eligible, and may hand in as many entries as she desires. The entries must consist of articles used in student publications this year. This does not, however, include writing for the Linden Bark Literary Supplement.

The winner of this contest will receive an award of $5. The closing date for the contest is Monday, May 5, so students are urged to start collecting their best articles and hand them in to the journalism office. The author's name should be placed on each article.

Dr. Alice Parker, Miss Elizabeth Isaacs and Dr. Siegmund Betz will judge the contest.

Sophomores Deluged with Tests; about ready to Give Up the Ghost.

Who was the character who originated the "survival of the fittest" routine? At this point, I'm physically unable to combat any of those jokers who pass this intensive testing program off with a grin. Naturally, I accept the inevitability of the national sophomore examinations, but why, oh why did they have to precede the veritable beating we all have to submit to at the close of each nine-week period? Having overheard a number of remarks made by some unsuspecting freshmen concerning those two half-days of vacation from classes, I have concluded that some people certainly are obsessed with grim senses of humor. I vaguely recall having whispered to myself that there really couldn't be as much finality about them as the sympathetic upperclassmen had warned. I had the situation in hand (optimist that I am) until I met with a mathematical maze. There is no joy in refreshing my memory with any of the disturbing details. I understand that we will not be able to consult the results. I should thank someone for that humanitarian aspect. Without a doubt, some rather extreme measure would be taken and I would assume promotion responsibilities.

Of the two fateful episodes which have recently befallen us, from a sophomore's viewpoint, nine-weeks exams, I must admit, have more relation to the present status. I am always saddened by the thought that the longer I grind, the less satisfaction I derive from my endeavors. They say that these periodical check-ups act as a sort of stimulant . . . warding off that natural inertia which besets the best of us. Well, confidentially, I might as well withdraw from the game. The outcome is yet unknown, but my imagination has foretold the consequences. I've almost decided I can't win. Am I just a little morbid?

MUSCLE BOUND

By Jeanne Gross

The intramural basketball game between Irwin and Nicolls was replayed after they had tied the first game of the intramural set. The final score was Nicolls 22, Irwin 5.

Sibley won over Ayres with the score of 48-8. Casey Jones was high scorer with 19 points while Dorothy Moss followed with 17.

Butler trounced the Freshman hall, Nicolls, with the score 36-25. Marg Einspahr was high point girl with 14 points.

The Day Students beat Sibley in one of the hardest fought games of the season. The teams were very evenly matched and both teams played a very good game. The score at the half was 22-22, but at the end of the game the Day Students had 34 while Sibley had 30. High point girl for the Day Students was Ruth Schaefer with 14 points.

The final intramural basketball game will now be played between the day Students and Butler Hall.

Basketball intramurals were refereed by the following girls who received their local ratings from the St. Louis Board of Women's Officials: Bobbie Wade, Casey Jones, Betty Bishop and Freshie Platt.

Swimming intramurals will begin soon. Be sure to have your complete number 0 hours in.

Riding intramurals began March 29.

Remember to reserve the afternoon of April 11 for the Water Pageant given by Terrapin. It's guaranteed to be good entertainment.

Lindenwood Delegates attend Conference on Student Government.

Lindenwood delegates compared rules and counseling troubles with council members of other schools at a Student Government Conference held at Christian College, Tuesday, March 25. Maryville, Stephens, Cotter and Christian delegates also attended. The occasion for the conference was the introduction of the new constitution of Christian College.

Delegates agreed that more emphasis should be placed upon the individual's responsibility to the school. This was easier for four-year schools such as Lindenwood and Maryville. Both of these schools had much more liberal rules than the three junior colleges. Topics discussed were cheating, dating hours, clothing regulations, drinking, students' activities on campus and similar problems. Louise McGraw, president of Student Council, and Janet Brown, secretary-treasurer, attended from here.

MOLLY FRESHMAN EASTER CHAPEAU to be EYE-OPENING CREATION.

Dear B.J.

What shall it be? Alice blue, tomato red, flesh pink or egg white? (Egg white! Glory be, what kind of white is that?) It is quite a situation when you cannot decide exactly what to get for Easter. Whatever it is, I want you to know, this outfit of mine would set Cleopatra's heart aglow. It was pretty difficult to get my purse, hat, gloves, compact, shoes, hose, nail polish, lipstick, eyebrow pencil and hair dye to all match, but the effect is really quite dashing and entirely new. You will be able to see for yourself though, because once again the railroad companies will receive the big thrill of carting the exuberant and eye-catching Lindenwood girls to their respective abodes. From my letters to my mother she has gathered that at last her daughter has acquired a taste for clothing, but believe me, when she sees this latest creation (especially the bills for it) she will be floored.

It hardly seems possible that spring is here, but from the looks of how nature is coming along it is entirely up to the radio announcers and the daily papers to inform humanity about the wonders of spring. Every morning I look out my window expecting to be confronted by blooming flowers (Way up here on third floor?).

chirping birds and budding trees, but all I see is drizzling rain, grey clouds and my unfinished daily assignments.

We have been voting for so many queens and their courts lately that almost anyone you meet you can greet with a "Hi, Queenie." Not only do the Lindenwood girls receive recognition for their beauty here on campus, but they are hailed by other colleges and organizations. The May Day business should be a pretty beautiful affair. Some of the girls were telling about the ones had in previous years that were wonderful.

We have finished three-fourths of the school year already. Why is it that all the teachers manage to have tests the same day? That only means that instead of being able to put forth all my efforts on reviewing for one test I have to dabble a bit in them all, therefore, I kind of mess up all the tests. Maybe by next year I will be able to manage my time a little better so my grades will show that I honestly do get my lessons. Which, of course, reminds me of the stack of books to read for my term paper. I know I had them last Friday. Oh, here they are, under the bed behind my new Easter hat!

Love,
Molly

16 crisp slices bacon
16 slices tomato

Toast bread and spread with butter. Cover 8 slices with chicken, spread with mayonnaise and cover each with another slice of toast. Spread these with mayonnaise and cover each with another slice of toast. Spread these with mayonnaise place 2 slices bacon and 2 slices tomato on top of each and cover with remaining toast. Fasten securely with toothpicks, cut each sandwich diagonally into 4 triangles and stand them upright on a plate. Serves 8.
