Tribute Paid To Sibleys By Dr. Kate Gregg In Founders' Day Address

Celebration Marks 120th Anniversary Of Lindenwood

Lindenwood paid tribute to its founders and to all the men and women of the past who have helped make it great, at the annual observance of Founders' Day on October 24. The Founders' Day address was delivered by Dr. Kate L. Gregg, professor emerita of English, who chose as her subject, "The Days of Old."

Dr. William Parkinson gave the invocation and the Choir, dressed in its colorful gowns, presented a musical program. Dr. Alice E. Gipson, academic dean, presided.

The audience followed the advice of Dr. Gregg and with her entered the Library vault. There they found documents pertaining to the early life of Maj. George C. Sibley... his birth in Great Barrington, Mass., on April 1, 1782, his education in N. C., his coming to the Missouri frontier before Lewis and Clark had returned from their long journey to the Pacific Coast, his many years as an Indian trader for the government, his work as a commissioner in surveying and marking a road from Fort Osage to Santa Fe... and his founding of Lindenwood College.

Lindenwood College was established during the educational movement sweeping the country, Dr. Gregg said. This wave was brought about because of the elimination of the Bible from the state schools of New England and New York. "The abiding faith of Presbyterians in education and unceasing activity for its furtherance were augmented in the forties and fifties to a point never reached before in this country and not equalled since."

"The act to incorporate the Lindenwood Female College passed both branches of the legislature and was approved by the Governor on February 24, 1853.

Lindenwood Red Cross Prepares Christmas Boxes For Sailors

Twenty-five Christmas gift boxes have been prepared by the Lindenwood Red Cross organization to be sent to the men on the high seas, thereby finishing the first project of the year. These boxes were made on request of Miss Shelton who is in charge of the St. Charles chapter. Five boxes from each dormitory have been completed. The dormitory chairmen were: Nicolls, Dorothy Fink; Sibley, Nancy Dana; Butler, Barbara Allen; Ayres, Beverly Bacon; and Irwin, Ann Bush. Miss Pottorf, the college sponsor, wishes to commend these girls on a job well done.

Nancy Hohman, president of the campus group, announced that anyone interested in participating in this organization is welcome to come and help. The club is now in full swing with Ann Bush, vice-president, and Barbara Henke, secretary-treasurer, helping to make this a profitable year.

Miss Ely is again the St. Charles representative with whom the college works. During the year students will be asked to take part in fulfilling requests made by the St. Charles chapter.

Biology Enthusiats Explore Wildlife At Pere Marquette Park

Thirty students from the Plant Survey course, Trees and Shrubs, and other advanced biology classes explored the wild life of Pere Marquette State Park Saturday. The state park is a large tract of land along the bluffs of the Illinois River, near the spot where Father Marquette and Joliet landed on their trip down the Mississippi River. They were the first white men to explore the Mississippi River from the north.

Dr. Mary Talbot, Dr. Marion Dawson, Miss Lillian Wernle and Miss Lois Karr led the students in their study of various plants and animals.

November 14 Will Be Red Letter Day For Lindenwood Book Worms

Something new is coming! On November 14, from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m., Hagedorn's, one of the largest locally-owned book shops, will hold a book fair in the Library Club Rooms. Although Hagedorn's has held book fairs at other colleges, among them Principia and Monticello, this is the first time anything of this sort has come to Lindenwood.

Books from many fields—art, theater, music, fiction, non-fiction, vocational psychology, current events, and biographies—will be shown. This is not a commercial venture, but representatives from Hagedorn's will be on hand to take orders for the books if students wish to place orders. Also on exhibit will be imported Swiss calendars.

According to Dean Gipson, the objective of the book fair is to give the students an over-all view of the latest literary productions. In our library the books are classified, and it is often difficult to correlate the progress made in different fields of literature.

The books will be brought to Lindenwood by truck Thursday morning. Tables are to be arranged in a U formation in the Library Club Rooms, and the books will be displayed on these. This will enable visitors to the fair to view the books with a minimum of effort.

Books make excellent Christmas presents, and this may be a way to get your shopping done early and effortlessly.

THE CAMPUS HALL OF FAME

The Lindenwood Hall of Fame proudly presents its third candidate for 1946-47, Jeane Sebastian.

President of the Junior Class and past president of the Sophomore Class, Jeane is a well-known personality on campus.

All out for sports, she is president of the Athletic Association, and an American Red Cross swimming instructor, a member of Terrapin, and vice-president of Beta Chi.

Jeane is also a member of the League of Women Voters, the Home Economics Club, the Popularity Court of '45, and secretary of American Red Cross.

From Cuba, Mo., Jeane hails from a long line of Encore Club members, and is proud of the honor.

To you, Jeane Sebastian, we make a bow!

Bark Staff Says The Time Has Come To Talk Of Men

Flash! The Romeo contest opens after Thanksgiving vacation. Pictures of your favorite men will go to Hollywood where a Paramount star will choose the 1947 Romeo. The winning men will receive autographed pictures of the star. So if you want your man looked over by an actress, bring his picture over to Room 18, Linden Bark office before December 16.

Some of you fickle young ladies will be interested to know that there isn't any limit to the number of Romeos turned in by each girl. Dig out all your old pictures—even those you have turned against the wall for some reason or another—and lend them to the Linden Bark. All pictures will be returned (unless someone on the staff takes a special liking to them).

With each picture submit a paragraph about when and where you met him, describe him as to height, coloring, and his best attributes, what branch of service he is in or was in, if he is a civilian now, where and what he's studying to be at school, and whether or not it is a case of true love. They will be judged under the classes of: The most marriageable, the most athletic, the most intellectual, the most kissable, and the Romeo.

Last year, Yvonne de Carlo selected the ideal Romeo of the year.

Halloween Spirit Rules At Gala Costume Party Given By Freshman Class

Lindenwood Goes Over Top With Gift of $1,062 To Community Chest

We did it! Lindenwood College has contributed $1,062.69 to the Community Chest Fund. The college's quota this year was $1,000, all of which will be donated to the U.S.O.

Nicolls Hall led the campus in contributions with a total of $194.00. Irwin Hall ranked second with a donation amounting to $161.39. Ayres Hall contributed $138.30, Sibley Hall, $141.50, and Butler Hall contributed $125.00. The Day Students donated $14.00, and the faculty and administration donated $288.50.

An assembly was held on October 23 to announce the opening of the drive. Guy C. Motley, secretary of the college, was chairman of the campus campaign with Dr. Alice E. Gipson as chairman of the faculty division, and Dr. Florence W. Schaper as chairman of the student division.

Mr. Motley appointed the following girls as captains on each floor of the dormitories to collect the donations: Ayres Hall: Jeane Sebastian, Susie Perry, and Jean Temple; Butler Hall: Pat Tuttle, Marge Fodness, and Janet Brown; Irwin Hall: Kay Blankenship, Colleen Johnson, and Mary Lois Wallsmith; Sibley Hall: Dorothy Moss, Jane Morrissey, and Jan Miller; Nicolls Hall: Mary Ann Smith, Rebecca Hardy, and Nancy Gannaway. Louise Ritter was chairman of the Day Students.

Paul Friess Presents First Faculty Recital

Paul Friess, organist, gave the first faculty recital of the year on October 29 in Sibley Chapel. The program included: "Prelude" by Clerambault, "Fugue in C Major" by Bach, "Sonata No. 4" by Mendelssohn, "Benedictus" by Reger, "Ballade in D" by Clokey, "Arioso" by Jean Pasquet, and "Toccata" by Boellmann.

Regular Tuesday afternoon student recitals will begin November 12 in the

Mrs. Sibley's Ghost Reveals Hidden Desire In Talk With Bark Reporters

The clock struck twelve. The night was thick with mystery as a shadowy form drifted through dark pools to Sibley Chapel.

With a swish of her ghostly shrouds, Mrs. Sibley ascended to the organ.

A creak of the door, an icy blast, and suddenly two Bark reporters appeared.

Mrs. Sibley's sheet crinkled into a smile, as we timidly grasped her ghostly hand, and sat beside her.

"Even the elements of nature cannot prevent the spirits from returning to their old homesteads, she said.

Attending the Harvest Ball, Mrs. Sibley remarked upon the gait, but expressed her regret that the Major was unable to accompany her.

"He's been looking ghostly," she sighed sadly.

Prizes Given To Winners Of Best Costumes

Corn stalks, lighted pumpkins, witches, and black cats decorated Butler Gymnasium for the gala costume party given last Saturday night by the Freshman Class. The Halloween spirit was evident in the wide variety of costumes. Daisy Mae, Li'l Abner, Pirates, Hobos, and many others danced to the music of Mac's Merry Maids.

One of the high lights of the evening was the style show given by the Freshman Court. The queen and her attendants modeled evening gowns, afternoon dresses, and sport clothes.

After a grand march around the gymnasium, costumes were judged by Dr. Mary Talbot and Robert Colson. A box of stationery was awarded the winner.

A jitterbug contest, judged by Dr. Homer Clevenger and Miss Jane Marker, brought laughter and applause from everyone.

Contestants in the apple dunking race came out with wet faces but happy smiles as they finally bit into an apple.

Cokes and popcorn were served during the evening.

Marilyn Adair supervised the party with the help of the following committees: Program—Bonnie Webb, Billye Ann Breimo, Nannette Wells, Hope Wadsworth, Judy Sponenbarger, Topsy Garvin, and Jackie Corrigan. Decoration committee—Sally Young, Joan Hierholtzer, Pat Shilb, Marjory Day, Dorothy Moss, and Joyce Shoemaker. Food committee—Dorothy Fink, Selma Couch, Dell James, Virginia Holcomb, Barbara Lehman, and Harriet Deal. Publicity committee—Lorraine Windsor, Sandy Chandler, Natalie Lege, Dorothy Walker, and Donna McNaughton. Clean Up committee—Barb Scheven, Pat Ball, Martha McCorstin, Ella Scaife, Nancy Cartwright, and Joan Bond.

Sibley Chapel at 5 p. m.

Miss Pearl Walker, soprano, and Miss Allegra Seingen, pianist, will present a program at the Vesper Services November 17 in Roemer Auditorium.

"Thanksgiving vacation will be nice this year, but I know the girls will hate to leave their studies!"

And we promptly agreed.

"The college certainly doesn't seem the same without dear Dr. Gage, and his son, Bill. You know, I hear he was quite the Romeo on campus."

"Although, I noticed that the girls don't seem as boy crazy as they were in my day."

We merely laughed. Dismissing us abruptly, Mrs. Sibley revealed her hidden desire.

"If only Lindenwood girls would take Lena the Hyena as their model!"

With this parting advice, our genial ghost placed her icy fingers upon the keys, and began the opening strains of "Rock of Ages."

Ah, Red Meat Again

"I'll take the T-Bone dinner, please."

At long last, this treasured phrase is coming into use again.

No longer shall we awake from a delicious dream of sizzling sirloins and spicy hams to the cold, hard reality of spam.

No longer shall we hear the woeful wail, "Steak, steak, my kingdom for a steak."

Lifted price ceilings have loosened our belts and deflated the butchers' ego. Eagerly they have left their gin rummy and begun the "whirr" of the whetstone.

Roquefort and Pimento have returned to the dark corners of the meat counter. . . . Beef takes over.

Junior is still required to eat his spinach, yes, but now meat shall join in the muscle-building. And Junior heaves a sigh of relief!

The sole sadist of this situation is the vegetarian. His will power is weakening rapidly.

Make way! The stockyards are brimming and the meat-lovers are stampeding.

Off the hoof and on the table!

Three Cheers!

It's Your Health Center

Why get that tired run down feeling, the "blues," or that hair raising cough, when all you have to do is walk down to the Health Center, ring the bell, and walk in?

The doctor holds your hand, the nurse gives you a tablet (maybe a colored one), and you are a different person. At least you feel different, even though you may not look it. Occasionally you will feel so different that you will go immediately to bed—but then, rest never hurt anybody.

The Health Center is one of the nicest places on the campus. It has a phone on every floor, and a radio, not too far away. The nurses are kindness personified, and the doctor is pleasant, too.

The purpose of the Health Center is to promote and maintain the health of every individual on the campus. Secretly, it is happiest when nobody is there, for then it knows everyone is well and happy, but when you are ill, it lovingly envelops you with rest and quiet, Life and Good Housekeeping magazines, and its outstanding feature, BREAKFAST in BED!

Everything is free of charge, and waiting for you, so drop in now and then. Remember, You're Welcome!

Peace Or An Armistice

A professor once asked his students on an examination what had occurred on November 11, 1917. In response he received this answer from one industrious student. "On November 11, 1918, peace was declared, and ever since then on that date we have had two minutes of peace." This answer is relatively true when you stop to think over these past years of both inward and outward struggle between nations. Armistice Day, however, should be set up in our mind's eye as not a day to just observe the two minutes of peace, but as a day to idealize and to put to practice on every other day of the year.

We college students have the future which is now being molded to live in. Shouldn't we train our minds and our hearts to have that future a peaceful one? To do this we cannot sit back and ignore the problems that have arisen from this last war that are now being discussed so vehemently in the New York conference, but we must try to understand each country's problems and the solutions to them that will bring a satisfactory result for all concerned. If we now realize the direness of these situations and attempt to put ourselves in the other person's shoes to get a clearer idea this generation should be able to pave the way for a world of peace.

Stop and think during those two minutes on the 11th this year about the past quarter of a century and its two great wars. Stop and think of it not as another day to pray for the end of one war, but as a day to pray for the end of all wars.

'A Book's A Magic Sort of Thing'

Have you ever gotten lost in a library? Try it sometime—forget the exit to the stacks and wander up and down, in and out among the shelves just gazing at the books. Before long you will have spotted an intriguing title, announcing a book that is begging to be read. You leaf through it quickly, then become lost in its story. As you browse further into the stacks, you will see more and more fascinating books. Time loses all value as you stop to read a page here, a paragraph there. If one displeases you, there are more. When you find the way out, you will be a new person, for your interests have been reawakened. All things seem more valuable because of an afternoon spent lost in a library.

GRACIE GREMLIN

Gracie is giving all you gals fair warning. Nine week finals are coming into view. Now don't get blue. You'll live through them. All you gotta do is study a little, get enough sleep, eat right, and keep a stiff upper lip when the teacher tosses one of those little blue books at you. Sure, you'll sail right through them in high colors. Good luck and smooth sailing!

Racial Equality To Be Subject Of League Of Women Voters Meeting

A round table discussion of the race problem will be sponsored by the League of Women Voters this afternoon. Carolyn Mertz, Molly Whiteker, and Eleanor Springfield will lead the discussion.

Nancy Kern was elected president of the club at the final meeting last spring. Other officers are: Vice-president, Jackie Foreman; secretary, Jane Morrissey; treasurer, Sue Perry; and social chairman, Marilyn Mangum.

The officers are making plans for interesting programs throughout the year. The problem of whether or not Hawaii should be admitted as a 49th state, will be discussed at a future meeting.

The league began its activities this year according to tradition, by having the first tea of the year. At the tea, which was given in the Library Club Rooms, Miss Hilda Kelly was introduced as the organization's new sponsor.

In addition to a series of interesting meetings, the club is also looking forward to National Citizenship Day and the annual picnic in the spring.

The organization, at present, has about seventy members; however, enrollment is not yet complete. Anyone wishing to join the club may pay her dues to Sue Perry, the league treasurer.

ALL BARK AND NO BITE

by Janet Brown

Mrs. Sibley had gone into seclusion this week to practice the organ; so your reporter wandered up to the third floor biology lab to interview Paul, the skeleton. Paul has been at Lindenwood for a long, long time. He arrived one day, nicely crated up, was put together by energetic professorins, and ever since has been hanging cheerfully (during the day only) in his little glass cage. Paul would tell us nothing of his past life, except that he died young of overstudy during his freshman year. He expects to be joined by many Lindenwood students at the end of this semester. Paul's best friends at the moment are Oswald and Herkimer, the two jack o'lanterns living on third Butler. Oswald was a student who died of boredom during a class (note yawn) while Herkimer was arrested and electrocuted for winking at Lindenwood girls.

What does Paul think of Lindenwood women? He's all for them, that dance was the most wonderful one he had ever been to. There is something about Lindenwood girls that makes a man proud to go out with one. They are poised, well-groomed, intelligent and FUN! Yes, he's glad to say "My girl's from Lindenwood" even though he can't quite understand her.

Sometimes though, Lindenwood girls do odd things. Last week one shoved a little yellow book in his face and started rattling off something like this: "Blankenship, Burba, Blah, Dana, Darn, Dick, Griffiths, Gross, Gingko, Hemoglobin, Hagerty, Hencke, Heck, Wade Wayne, Wetzler, Whew!" It's no wonder that she mistook him for a student; most of them are developing skull faces from overwork. ISN'T IT ABOUT TIME FOR A STOP DAY? After all, 500 skulls can't be wrong.

Paul is fond of Missouri weather, which is probably about the most unpredictable weather in existence. Profiting from experience of previous years, he prepared for the rainy month by investing in some wet-proof boots, and here we've had a perfect Indian summer for two months. Yes, Missouri can be wonderful.

Paul thoroughly enjoyed the Irwin serenade on Founder's Day. Viewed from the third floor, the girls made an effective picture, holding candles in an L formation. He knows that Mrs. Sibley was touched. Mention of Mrs. Sibley reminded him that he must polish his skull, they had another date for the Sibley Club Room Saturday night.

Bark Barometer of Campus Opinion Students Record Likes And Pet Peeves In Linden Bark ---All Bite Column Leads In Reader Popularity

'Hard Work' Is Way To Success Says Metropolitan Opera Star

The Metropolitan Opera Star, Frances Greer, who charmed us under a spell on October 25, is a most versatile and interesting young lady.

Her favorite perfume is "Indiscret"; she likes Frank Sinatra, but prefers Bing Crosby. Vanilla ice cream is her favorite dessert, and she plays "boogie woogie" as well as you or I.

She majored in music, during her four years in college, and her recipe for success is "hard work."

Her hobbies are reading, and more music. She is an accomplished musician, and can sight read anything.

She believes that playing in stock companies is good experience, and stresses again, hard work can accomplish anything.

Becoming an opera star has been her most exciting experience. Her life is a busy one, and on Monday she began recording for the Victor Company. In the past six weeks she has given 28 concerts.

To quote her husband-accompanist, Victor Trucco (who volunteered this information while Miss Greer was resting at the hotel), "getting reservations and then having them canceled is the heartbreaking thing in travel; we traveled from Texas to taxis, and from taxis to Texas."

Madama Lyolene To Be On L. C. Campus Nov. 10

Word has been received that Madame Helene Lyolene, noted designer, arrived in New York three weeks ago and will reach Lindenwood on November 10. Before coming to this country she was in Paris, where she spent the summer designing clothes for a French showing.

Madame Lyolene will be on campus for a month as a lecturer in the clothing and art classes. She will also be here in the spring for the annual for the annual style show.

Girls who want help with designs are

As you were sitting in your cozy little room peacefully studying, reading, or maybe writing to Mom and Dad, or the man of your life, there was a knock! knock! on the door—and in barges a member of the Bark staff who proceeds to ask you a dozen questions about your likes and dislikes of our "beloved" school paper. Laying down your book or letter and noting the eager expression on the intruder's face, you agree to answer her questions.

She asks you—What feature in the Linden Bark do you like the best? What do you read on the editorial page? and What does the Linden Bark lack? She then journeys in to bother the rest of the girls in the dorm to get her vital statistics.

The poll reveals that the three most popular features in the Bark are: All Bark and No Bite, 50 per cent; The Linden Leaves Are Whispering, 35 per cent; and Molly Freshman, 15 per cent.

When asked "What do you read on the editorial page?" the answer of 45 per cent of the girls was that they read all of it, 20 per cent read only the All Bark and No Bite, 20 per cent do not read the editorial page, and 15 per cent of the students read "From the Office of the Dean."

The final statistics were that the Linden Bark lacks nothing, which totaled 70 per cent of the L. C. lassies, 15 per cent stated that the paper lacks world affair problems, and another 15 per cent believes that we need to have a longer gossip column which includes more of the students.

Speech Department To Present First Recital

The first speech recital will be presented November 20 at 5 p. m. in the Little Theater.

The department has devised a program of centralized themes for the year. The first recital will be based upon Mark Twain, and the next will introduce the Christmas spirit.

urged to make arrangements for special conferences with her.

THE CLUB CORNER

The Poetry Society contest opened with a skit in Chapel on October 15, by members of the society. Keltah Long read a poem which was portrayed in pantomime by Janie Horton, Linda Fee, and Mary Neubert. After the skit, Jane Morrissey, president of the society, gave the rules for the contest and announced the closing date as October 29. The poems are now being judged and the winner will be given a free membership. Other girls writing acceptable poems will be invited to join the organization.

New German students, including Miss Elizabeth Isaacs, were invited to the recent meeting of Der Deutsche Verein. Dr. Sigmund Betz and Dr. Walter Grundhauser were among the guests. Henry Turk, sponsor of the organization, led the group in singing German songs.

At the first meeting of the Encore Club, Miss Hankins held informal initiation of new members by calling the roll and telling something about the girls' relatives who had attended Lindenwood. The following officers were elected: President, Mary Walsmith; vice-president, Mary Morriss; secretary-treasurer, Mary Titus; publicity chairman, Chloe Wherry.

Future Teachers of America met on October 24. Initiation of new members was held. Dr. Garnett spoke about Future Teachers as a professional organization.

Officers of Children's Theater of the Air for the coming year are: President, Susie Perry; vice-president, Hazel Clay; secretary-treasurer, Rosemary Dron.

Dr. Sigmund Betz was the speaker at the International Relations Club meeting on October 23. His topic was the re-education of the German prisoners of war. Dr. Betz, who was the chief of the Review Branch of the Special Projects Division, office of the Provost Marshal General, War Department, selected the books for the prisoners to read.

Tau Sigma began practicing for its recital scheduled for February 28 at the last meeting. The practice was led by Mrs. Elizabeth Schneider, who is the sponso. and also the dancing teacher.

At the recent meeting of the Army Brats, the following officers were elected: President, Mary Sandberg; vice-president, Marge Murphy; secretary-treasurer, Carma Haselmire. Each member introduced herself and told in what branch of service her father is.

Broadway and Olive in St. Louis would seem almost deserted in comparison to the L. C. post office at 9 o'clock in the morning. In spite of the pushing and shoving, the PO is still the most popular spot on campus.

Thanksgiving Vacation Is Eagerly Awaited By Girls

Can you imagine? Thanksgiving vacation's coming up—right soon, too. The topic of all conversation these days points to the coming holidays and the plans that are being made. This innovation at L. C. is going to be "just what the doctor ordered." Of course, we'll have to discount a certain trivial matter—everyone will return in a sadly lacking condition, in terms of the sleep situation.

Sometime I believe it would be wiser to delay the announcement of an approaching holiday. Haven't you noticed that intangible feverishness in the atmosphere already? Whenever groups congregate on campus, in the tea room, everywhere, in fact, this excitement pervades and develops into high-pitched conversation. Only the distraction of harassed packing remains.

I have often wondered why Lindenwood has never inaugurated an airline system for its own private use. There are two opinions concerning such an

Unless you have an unusually kind roommate who brings your mail to you every day, you have undoubtedly heard these remarks in the post office, twice a day, every day.

After a few attempts to get safely through the 9 o'clock mob in the post office, it would seem an intelligent L. C. gal would adopt the attitude that it just isn't worth the effort. But instead, everyone comes back for more

At first, it's something of a surprise to find your quietest, most considerate friends suddenly transformed into pushing fiends, intent only upon getting to their boxes, but finally you get used to being stepped on and discover that you really can go for several minutes without breathing.

There is one distinct advantage in these mobs, though. If you happen to be among the unfortunates of the day who didn't receive any mail, you are certain to hear at least one good, gushy letter read aloud, providing you stand around long enough.

"Out of this world letters" from the one and only (or a whole string of ones and onlys, whichever the case may be), checks from Dad, food from Mom, notes from the Dean, and even an occasional letter from the brats of the family, all serve to make the post office the most popular spot on campus.

THE LINDEN LEAVES ARE WHISPERING

Elizabeth Davis didn't react in the approved fashion when she learned "Stretch" was confined at Scott Field for an indefinite period. Come Elizabeth, don't be that way!

Why does Jeane Sebastian float atop pink clouds these days? Well, it's Clarence, of course! Just ask Jeanie.

Barbara Wenner came back from Terre Haute in the finest of spirits last week end. WE know how it is, Barbara, those Frat. send us all!

Shirley Redell and Beth Kahre are sure glued to Sibley these days—and by the telephone at that! Could it be they're expecting calls from New York? The way I hear it their men are coming over on the same boat from Italy. Bon Voyage, fellas, and good luck, girls!

Things are still going smoothly for Nan Amis and Joe Barmueller. . . . So we hear. He seems to make it out to Butler four times a week.

Kay Blankenship, Babs Bush, Linda Fee, Judy Haggerty, and Marie Koch made a mad dash for Kansas City a few week ends ago. Nope, it wasn't to see their "heartbeats" . . . but their "hoofbeats." Tally ho, girls.

A certain phone call last week end put Janet Lednick in the dreamy class. Honey, come on down, we're lonesome without ya' laughing face.

St. Louis calling Jo Griebeling is a closed circuit.

Was it his personal magnetism that made Ruth Manson decide to keep Dick's Sigma Nu pin . . . or maybe his recent visit?

Have you heard about the club formed over at Sibley? . . . They call themselves the T.G.I.F.'s . . . The sister club is the O.H.I.M.'s; members are Jo Magee, Janet Lednick, Barbara Wenner, Janet Errington, Joyce Helt, Carol Clayton, Rosalee Cheney, and Pandy Hirst, and Sally Elam. All are welcome to join . . . meetings, no dues, but a fine club!

Dena Bass and Jack sure seemed to have spent a nice week end. Tell us about it. Dena, we want to know how to entertain our men, too!

Trips To St. Louis Stores Will Be Feature Of Home Economics Program

Trips to Union Market, Lammert's furniture store, Pevely Dairy, the Union Electric Department, and a trip to a St. Louis department store will be high lights of the year for the Home Economics Department, it is announced by Mrs. Margaret Ahrends, head of the department.

There will be lectures and demonstrations throughout the year, and a speaker on silverware will be one of the features. There is to be a meat demonstration, which will illustrate the various methods of meat cookery. In December, the class will prepare a Christmas breakfast.

The Clothing Laboratory is making aprons in ingenious ways, and it will begin making evening dresses soon.

The class is anxiously awaiting the return of Madame Lyolene this month with many new styles and designs from Paris.

The students will see a number of movies during the year. "The Way to A Man's Heart" has been shown already, and several of the other movies to be seen will be "Good Grooming" and "The Balanced Way."

The Home Economics Department was fortunate in obtaining some venison last week. The main shortages in the department appear to be a shortage of sugar, meat, and shortening. However, the meat shortage was relieved last week by a delicious frozen dinner including different vegetables, and horse meat with tomato sauce.

Air Queen

Ghosts, Goblins and Gremlins Gambol On The Campus On All Saints Night

Dear B. J. Since neither ghosts, goblins or Mrs. Sibley got me on Halloween, it is about time to dash off a few lines to let you know that all is well here on the Lindenwood Campus! Speaking of Mrs. Sibley's ghost—she really had me worried for awhile when I could actually see her and hear her play the organ. It didn't take too much to make me forget about it, though, because when I got back to our room it seemed as though a cyclone had visited us. No, it was just a few pranksters who had gaily soaped our mirrors and totally destroyed our nice clean room. Bed clothes were strewn all about, drawers were missing, and chair backs were greased to add to our sorrow. Thank goodness that only comes once a year. However, just to keep up the spirit of it all I entered wholeheartedly into the devilishness.

Something that was almost like Halloween was the initiation into the Athletic Association! No matter how wobbly and weak I was when wondering what kind of a business they had in store for us before initiation I am glad that I went through with it. That is one bunch of swell girls—and I'm sure we will all have loads of fun this year.

Woe is me—and also, low is me! We just finished struggling through four weeks tests, which, I must admit, weren't so tough after all, but they sure sapped my energy in preparing for them. Just wait until nine weeks or semester tests if you really want to see a sad excuse for a student!

If you have never heard "Shanty in Old Shanty Town" just prick up your ears some night in the dining room. There is one table full of ultra-pep that sings it every night. It was hard at first to get acquainted with the new bunch at our assigned tables, but now we are all the best of friends and the dining room is always ringing with merry voices bellowing forth on state, school and service songs.

Oh dear, I am out of stamps. Here I go again seeking a cruel heartless death by entering the post office at the time that mail is just put up. If you don't hear any more from me for a while, it is just because I got slightly mangled in the rush.

Love,
Molly

'Tish' To Be Presented By The Dramatic Art Department Nov. 15

Gwen Rosier will play the lead in Mary Roberts Rinehart's scream-lined comedy, "Tish," which will be given November 15, by the Dramatic Art Department. The comedy will be under the direction of Miss Glo Rose Mitchell.

Tish is a middle-aged spinster, blunt, outspoken, and entirely lovable. She informs her two boon companions, Lizzie and Aggie, that she is determined to get closer to nature, to "lead the simpler life." So she buys a second-hand car and they start out on the road to fun, with Tish doing the driving. In the course of the play, Tish gets everybody around her into and out of more jams than you can shake a stick at.

The cast of characters is as follows:

- Tish.....Gwen Rosier
- Lizzie.....Keltah Long
- Aggie.....Mary Lou Brite
- Ellen.....Nancy Fanshier
- Mexican girl.....Marjorie Everston
- Luther.....Gail Frew
- Callie.....Charlotte Nolan
- Charlie.....Jean Richter
- Bettina.....Patricia Stull
- Lem.....Patricia Brown
- Wesley.....Roberta Court
- Denby Grimes.....Louvelle Selzer
- Dorice Gaylord.....Marianne Metzger

The following girls are working diligently with their committees to make the play a success:

Stage Crew chairman, Marian Bebb
Properties chairman, Beverly Nissley
Publicity chairman, Mary Lou Cunningham

Costumes chairman, Lucia Whitcomb
Lights chairman, Nancy Dana

Make-up chairman, Marilyn Mangum

Ruth Ann Ball holds the position of Student Director, and Pat Arnold is the Stage Manager.

Founders' Day Address

had managed to collect enough money for a three story structure of hard red brick, Dr. Gregg continued. The roof was of slate and on the top of the building they reared an observatory from where the bluffs of the Missouri, Mississippi and Illinois rivers could be seen. The stairs were of yellow pine and the white door knobs on the browe doors made very interesting staccato marks that decorated the halls.

The plumbing for this first building at Lindenwood was interesting. "There was a cistern holding 250 gallons of water, and a force pump for supplying the tank for bath room, wash room, etc. The tank and bath tub were lined with heavy sheet lead. One thirteen inch marble wash basin was to be supplied with hot and cold water.

"On July 4, 1856, the Sibleys gave quit claim deed to the college before an assembled crowd. The project was at last under way."

The traditional midnight caroling was done by the girls of Irwin Hall on Founders' Day night. They serenaded the various halls, the infirmary, Mr. Motley's home, and the quonset homes. Each girl held a candle, and as they sang they formed a huge L.
