Brown-Hudson to be Published in Anthology

Heather Brown-Hudson, Ph.D., associate professor of French and gender studies, will be published in an anthology titled The Absent Mother in the Cultural Imagination: Missing, Presumed Dead. Brown-Hudson's chapter, titled "A Side of Family, Hold the Mother: Dare Wright and her Fictive Kin in the Lonely Doll Series," covers a missing or absent mother in a literature series.

The anthology is set to debut March 2017, to be published by Palgrave Macmillan. Brown-Hudson said her writing grew out of her doctoral dissertation. She got the news it would be published on Labor Day.

"I'm very excited to see my work published," Brown-Hudson said. "It was a year in the making, and it was great learning this Labor Day that my labor of love would be published."

Hammond Institute Hires Lindenwood Graduate for The Constitution Revolution

Dr. Howard J. Wall, director of the Hammond Institute for Free Enterprise, has announced that the Hammond Institute has partnered with The Constitution Project, also known as The Constitution Revolution, a centerpiece of the Supreme Court of Missouri's Civics Education Program. Wall also indicated Matthew M. Adams has been hired as an Administrative Assistant in charge of coordinating the statewide project's day-to-day operations. Adams graduated from Lindenwood in 2015 with a BS in computer information systems, and in July, completed his MBA at Lindenwood. Adams' appointment with the Hammond Institute was effective July 1.
