Doctor Marie Finger Is New Director Of Personnel Office

The new director of Guidance and Personnel is Dr. Marie Finger. A graduate of Lawrence College at Appleton, Wis., she received her Masters degree in Personnel and Guidance at Northwestern University. She later attended School of International Studies at Geneva, Switzerland, returning to take her Ph.D. at Northwestern in Psychology and Guidance.

For four years she was employed by a life insurance company, doing secretarial and field work. More recently she was supervisor of Social Studies at Illinois State Normal University. She has received extended experience as supervisor of Youth Activities, counselor, and director of Dramatics at Indianapolis Chitakwau Community, the Wisconsin Girl Scout Camp, and Lake Geneva Institute.

The assistant director of Personnel is Miss Mary Miller. She received her A. A. at St. Joseph's Junior College, her A.B. at University of Kansas at Lawrence, and her A.M. at Missouri University at Columbia.

She was Principal of Platt City High School and has taught in Liberty, Jefferson City, and St. Joseph High Schools in Missouri, and also in St. Joseph Junior College. She has traveled in the British Isles and nine other European countries. Her sister, Mrs. Howard Fitch, is a former student of Lindenwood.

Movie Star To Choose Lindenwood's Romeo of 1944

From Hollywood comes the news a Universal star will choose the 1944 Lindenwood College Romeo. The announcement of which filmland beauty will do the selecting will be made later, but the Bark staff suggests all girls decide which of their Romeos is the man Lindenwood has been seeking.

Perhaps your man is not the Gable type, but remember the other classifications—the most athletic, the most marriageable, and the most intellectual. When you submit your Romeo, write a short description of him, how you met him,

Dr. Gage Attends Meeting In Chicago

President Gage went to Chicago last week to attend the meeting of the Board of Trustees of the College of Christian Education.

Recently he attended the annual meeting of the United Hebrew Temple, speaking to the United Hebrew Congregation. He also was present last Wednesday at the Blewett High School commencement exercises in St. Louis.

HALL OF FAME

A feathercut, a bit of mischief, a suggestion of an Arkansas twang, and a lot of ability—Lynn Jackson, the newest member of Lindenwood's Hall of Fame.

She meets all the requirements for a true "Big Woman on Campus."

Lynn is president of Sigma Tau Delta, vice president of Y.W.C.A., vice president of the Junior Class, secretary-treasurer of the Residence Council, secretary of the Triangle Club, and a member of the Athletic Association, International Relations Club, Alpha Sigma Tau, and the Linden Leaves staff. Reads like a success story, doesn't it?

Look up her rating in the book of geniuses if those recommendations don't convince you she's chipped a niche for herself in L.C.'s place of the great. She must be of the Quiz Kid variety; she'd have to be to major in mathematics. Quote Lynn, "Trig is fun!"

Christmas Vacation Is Over--- But The Memory Lingers On

Christmas gone, but the memory lingers on. The first week back at L.C. seemed to be entirely devoted to relating experiences. Listening proved interesting, amusing, and sometimes a bit shocking.

Has everyone seen B. Daneman's and Betty Jo Mackelvane's Florida tans? They missed the trains, each other, and the Florida sunshine (it was pouring down rain when they got there!) on the way down. Coming back was a different story. They were entertained constantly by several young aviation cadets. My, but the porter must have been angry.

Jerry Hastings and Jane Withers left school terribly in love. When they returned they were still terribly in love—with different fellows.

Jaynn Mann spent Christmas in Denver with Walt's family. He would have to be in California the entire time. However, Jaynn enjoyed every minute of it. Denver seems to be winning favor over Boston. She saw a lot of Nancy Ingerson, who was a freshman at L.C. last year.

Hattie Scruby has made another conquest. She is now wearing a Nu Sigma Nu pin. One slight difficulty has arisen, her lucky fellow and one of her ex's have met. Surely they

Faculty Spends Christmas Holiday In Various Ways

Back to school! Both students and faculty members are at last settling down to the old grind, after a month's carefree holiday. Before starting the new semester, though, there is one item we have all been curious about; where did the faculty spend their vacation? Nobody knows, so your reporter decided to find out. Here are the findings:

President Gage spent part of his vacation at Lindenwood, and then went to Salt Lake City, Utah, for a week, and Dean Gipson spent her vacation in Caldwell, Idaho.

Dr. Kate L. Gregg, of the English department, spent her vacation in history libraries in St. Louis and in Columbia, Mo. She worked on research, reading old newspapers of the gold rush to California from Missouri.

Prof. John Stine, of the Speech department, spent his vacation in Chicago. Mr. Stine said most of his time was spent rushing from one play to another, in order to see all the good ones.

Miss Rachel Morris, Dr. Lloyd Harmon and Dr. Homer Clevenger spent the holidays in St. Charles. Dr. Clevenger did research work for

Interesting New Courses Offered Second Semester

Since final examinations are well started we can look into the second semester and see what the college is offering in the way of new courses and new instructors.

One of the new courses is Mechanical Drawing, which is in line with specifications for war work and will enable the student to apply for a defense job. All students interested in this course should sign in the office of the Dean.

In the Physical Education program a teachers' course in dancing is being offered, which is primarily for girls who are planning to teach.

Among other courses that were not scheduled at the first of the year, and which will be offered the second semester are Anatomy, Current Economic Problems, Differential Calculus, Phonetics, Advanced Organic Chemistry, and also a third section of the course in Foods is being added.

Dr. L. L. Bernard, head of the Sociology department of Washington University, is the only new instructor and will assist in the Lindenwood Sociology department.

A new course is being offered to those who are interested in drawing. It is known as Engineering Drafting and will meet six hours every week. The classes will be held at night and three credit hours will be given for a semester's work.

Many of the girls who are taking this course plan to get jobs this summer where the knowledge of this type of work will be very beneficial.

Students Sell War Bonds In St. Charles For 4th. War Loan Drive

The students of Lindenwood College, in cooperation with the Treasury Department, went to the homes of the St. Charles citizens to sell War Bonds Monday, January 24.

Mr. Guy Motley is the chairman of the Drive for St. Charles County. Each student had a certain section to cover. Students also covered the different halls and classes.

According to Mr. Motley, the Lindenwood girls who volunteered to sell bonds received pledges for approximately $15,000 worth of bonds. He said that the stamp sale has been active and that many girls have converted their stamp books into bonds. Lindenwood College bought $10,000 in bonds, and Mr. Motley stated that the total of the pledges, stamp and bond sales amounted to approximately $30,000.

Where Is Your Romeo ?

"In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of—"
What a gal's been thinking of all winter—"

That blasphemer of Tennyson must have been some good looking man who knew some college girl ate her heart out because of him. Only a man could be so egotistical; only a man could say that and get away with it. That exciting creature probably knew some little girl student said, "Allah" three times daily before a picture of him. He probably knew that all college girls regard "his" picture as a combination shrine and room decoration. And if he knew Lindenwood, he'd say we had it as badly as the rest.

To every Lindenwood gal her man's picture is prize possession number one—it even gets dusted occasionally. It occupies the best focal point in the room.

O. K.; so you're proud of him. If he's really that good, enter him in the Romco Contest and share your prize. His picture will be taken care of, and you know you'd like to see his picture on the front page of the Bark!

Exams Ahead

Semester exams! In every room this week we will see the midnight "Lights Out" rule disregarded. In every room will be girls pouring over the hastily scribbled notes they have taken

We have dreaded those two words—Semester exams—for weeks. But is it right to fear them? Are they not given us for our own good? Let's all get busy to make the best grades of our lives this year.

Good luck to everyone!

No More Hearts and Flowers

'Member Valentine's Day when you were in grade school—how you used to spend hours beautifying an old hat box with red and white crepe paper, numerous hearts, arrows and cupids? You were just heart-broken if you didn't get a Valentine from every boy in your home room.

Then when you first started dating, you looked hopefully for that heart-shaped box of chocolates or the red roses that your current crush bashfully presented. Those were the days before the man shortage and sugar rationing.

Lots of those fellows are more than crushes now, and many of them are far away. They will be thinking of hearts and cupids, too. And, although there won't be as many flowers and candy this year, they will miss sending them as much as you will miss receiving them.

Bonds Buy Bombs

A young Marine walks fearfully through the Jap infested jungle. Death is surrounding him. He aims his gun at a sniper and fires—silence. Then another shot is heard but this is from the Jap. The Marine was out of ammunition. One bullet would have saved him. A bond would have bought and gotten the bullets to him. Even a few stamps would have helped.

We all have the opportunity during the Fourth War Loan to help our service men. The quicker the war is over the sooner your fathers, brothers and sweethearts will come home.

Even if you think you have bought enough stamps and bonds this is not the time to quit, the time to stop buying is when our enemies stop fighting. We must show our boys we are behind them.

Buy a bond today. If Freedom is worth dying for, it is worth buying for.

Sam: "What steps would you take if you saw a dangerous lion?"
Bo: "Long ones, brother, long ones."
—Scholastic

Say kids, did you forget about the WantAd column? Haven't you a White Elephant you want to exchange or something you need?

By Emmy Gumm

It's all over now and everyone is back with gay tales of a grand vacation. And from what one hears, old Santa was right there on the job and his load this year was made of practically nothing else but war bonds and engagement rings.

BOBBIE BURNETT has decided that Jim is the only one, and she received a lovely solitaire from him. RUTH KERLEY decided against getting married during the holidays and accepted a diamond instead. CARRIE LEE LANEY'S ring practically blinds you! Vance really knows how to pick them. Maybe you got a peep at Vance while he was around campus last week. He visited several of Carrie Lee's classes with her and caused some excitement in a few—especially in Dr. Bernards' Family and Marriage course—she had to postpone her lecture until another visitor-less day! More girls with rings on that proverbial third finger, left hand are: ERNESTINE HALSELL, RUTH HEYDEN, ESTHER BARCLAY, BETTY SHOOK and ANITA EGAN. Anita was lucky enough to have Pat around almost all of her vacation—he had a 21-day furlough.

Jerry Bigger is roommate-less for the present. Her ex, June Bruce left last week to be married. Before she left JERRY, TERRY AULD, JENNIE HERD, RUTH HEARD, ANITA EGAN, WINNIE REYNOLDS, JOANNE CRAWFORD, SCOTCHIE CARTER, and SHIRLEY WISE gave her a kitchen shower. Included in the many clever gifts were cooking utensils, dish towels, and luncheon sets. Another married woman on campus—Martha Barshfield took those vows Christmas and is now Mrs. Anderson.

SALLY MITCHELL traveled to Ill. to visit A/C Peters over the holidays, and BETTY FOX went down to Memphis to see Adam. JINNY GILREATH came back to school for a couple of days then went right back home to be with her man during his short furlough.

Adele Sheek came back with a DU pin from Ames. "Adele" had a couple of visitors last weekend from a near by college for young women, and from their reports it seems L. C. is actually "out of this world." Bet 100% of us will agree to that, too.

Before we get too far off the subject of engagement rings—MARILYN VINEYARD handed her ring to a friend to hold for her while she played basketball and lo and behold the friend laid the ring on the bench and left it there. Some honest person found it and reported it too the personnel office and Marilyn is happy again. RUTH HEARD had a scare the other night. She dropped her rings into her pocket while playing a few hands of bridge. When she started to leave she missed one of her rings—the one from Bob—and the room was turned upside down but no ring. Finally everyone took time out for a deep breath and Ruth glanced at a pack of Luckies in her pocket—sure enough, the ring had fallen into the almost empty package.

Hats off to EILEEN MURPHY, RUTH MEYER, and DONALEE WEHRLE. They are looking forward to their new positions with Nellie Don next year.

Ask JENNIE HERD what her most prized Christmas present was and she'll grab the autographed picture from her favorite bull fighter in Mexico, Luis Briones, and show it to you. It's something worth being proud of, Jennie. While you're talking to Jennie be sure to ask her

From The Office Of The Dean

Dean Gipson offers her congratulations to all the students of Lindenwood on the beginning of the second semester. She hopes that everyone will have a happy and successful year.

Gracie Gremlin

Gracie Gremlin doesn't have time to do any watching this week. She's too busy studying for exams. Hope you are, too! 'Member how unhappy you were last year when you didn't study enough for the exam? A hint to the wise is sufficient.

Member of WAC Speaks At War Activities Convocations

Lt. Elizabeth E. Ruth, Women's Army Corps, and Technical Sergeant Kenneth D. Rourke spoke at a war activities convocation the morning of the opening of the Fourth War Loan Campaign. The speakers stressed the fact that college women are fulfilling a war time duty by getting an education.

Sergeant Rourke, who was at Pearl Harbor and later fought at Guadalcanal, displayed a Japanese war flag he had captured.

to do her "Little Girl in Writing Class" skit for you. It is well worth the time.

Extras: If Adele Cheek gets a phone call just turn it over to Joan Earnest—people get them mixed up—wonder why? Confusing, isn't it? RUTH HERD refuses to accept any more collect telegrams.

THE CLUB CORNER

At the last meeting of Mu Pi Epsilon, Alpha Mu Mu presented a musical program. A business meeting and refreshments followed the program.

Delta Phi Delta, at their meeting January 19, made plans for a patriotic musical program to be presented in Chapel April 13.

The girls of Tau Sigma are putting in a lot of work on the dances for their program, which will be presented March 1.

The Encore Club sponsored a tea for the faculty and student body, Sunday, January 23. Chocolate cake, ice cream covered with chocolate sauce, and tea were served.

The League of Women Voters was honored at their meeting with the presence of Haward Elliot, Speaker of the Missouri House of Representatives. He spoke on better legislation. Refreshments were served.

The intermural basketball championship was won by Sibley Hall. Sibley played the Day Students last Friday in the gymnasium. Every second of play was fast and exciting with the final score being Sibley 36, Day Students 18.

Two girls who played outstanding basketball were Marilou Rutledge for Sibley Hall and Lovetra Langenbacher for the Day Students.

Sibley showed its superiority early in the play-offs by defeating Nicolls Hall 43 to 3 and then Butler Hall 30 to 8.

The members of the championship Sibley team are: Marilou Rutledge, Helen Bartlett, Florence Clair, Virginia Gilreath, Hazel Pruitt, Carolyn Hempelman, Mary Jackson, and Nancy Papin.

THE SAFETY VALVE

This column is devoted to the students of Lindenwood to permit them to let off steam. Our readers are invited to contribute to the column. The student's name must accompany each letter as evidence of the good faith of the writer, but a nom de plume will be used if desired.

Dear Safety Valve:

What's the matter with the freshman class? They have less school spirit than has been exhibited around here for years. Take the A.A. Barn Dance, for example. Where were they? One of them was sitting in a pitch dark room writing a letter and doing some "deep thinking." Others were washing their hair or fixing their fingernails. If they can't respond any better to invitations like the A.A.'s, all invitations to them ought to be suspended. This letter does not, by any means include them all; there is a small minority that ought to be congratulated on the way they are pulling the Freshman class along and trying to hold it up. Perhaps pretty soon others will join them, and they'll be rolling along in a teamlike way. Let's hope so.

Midnight Oil and Wrinkled Brows---It's Exam Time Again

By Jane McLean

"Carol, what did you do with those notes you borrowed from me?"

"Oh-h-h-h! What am I going to do? I've lost that note book with all my important information in it! I'll flunk! I'll just flunk! I know it!"

"Sue, turn off that radio! You know I can't study with you listening to Bob Hope. Just because you don't have any finals tomorrow is no sign for you to bother me. Now—TURN IT OFF!"

"No—no—NO! I cannot possibly go to the show with you! I have three exams tomorrow. Three! That's practically unlawful. They can't do it to me—I'm a taxpayer!"

Nerves are frayed, edges are rubbed just a little bit raw, friends glare at each other with sleepy red eyes—finals are here. Lights burn until 3 and 4 a. m., books are shuffled back and forth until they are ready to fall apart—finals are here.

Finals—more power to 'em. The Germans have a rocket gun; the English have a rocket plane; and Lindenwood has its semester exams. This will make the seventh set for the seniors, the fifth for the juniors, the third for the sophomores, and the freshmen—oh, the freshmen—their first. Well, youngsters, listen to the advice of an old hand—one who has gone through this too many times. Don't get excited. You'll live. Finals have never been known to kill anyone. They take something away that try as you may, you can never regain. Perhaps it's your youth. But never mind, you'd grow old sooner or later anyway.

Don't stay up until dawn. Get to bed at least by 7 a. m. You can use that half hour of sleep. And when you're finished—in more ways than one—just relax. Best of luck to you all!

Residence Council to be Morale Booster

The Resident Council is sponsoring a fun hour in the Butler Gym during exam week, Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 3 to 5 o'clock.

Butler Hall and the Day Students are having their Dormitory Dance in the Gym, February 5.

Samuel Dushkin, Violinist Gives Concert In Roemer Auditorium

Samuel Dushkin, the famous violinist, gave a number of violin solos in Roemer Auditorium Monday, January 17. Erich Itor Kahn, pianist, accompanied him.

Mr. Dushkin played a variety of selections by famous composers. Among them was the Concerto in D Major by Mozart. A violin and piano duet was played by Mr. Dushkin and Mr. Kahn.

Linden Lounge Now Popular Campus Sport to Entertain Your Dates

Lindenwood students, you are all cordially invited to the smart new "Linden Lounge," in the Butler Gymnasium. The only catch is that you must have a masculine escort.

Dancing, ping pong, and other activities may be enjoyed. New furnishings have been bought by the college. It is attractive and everyone who patronizes it will have an enjoyable time.

The lounge was made possible through the cooperation of the college and the Student Council.

Margaret Cannon, Now A Radio Writer

Margaret Cannon, the "Cotton" Cannon of All Bark and No Bite fame, is now continuity writer with Radio Station WGRC at Louisville, Kentucky. While Miss Cannon was at Lindenwood from 1938 to 1942, she was a three year-member of the Bark staff and advertising manager for the Linden Leaves.

SOCIETY GOSSIP and GAB

By Shirley Friedman

It looks as though Mary Stanton and her captain are that way about each other. Everyone is looking for wedding bells.

The Latham twins really had a wonderful Christmas vacation. Lillie came back engaged and Lilla found herself an army cadet who is really supposed to be something.

Jeanne Boellner is worried to death these days. She is afraid two men are going to visit her on the same weekend.

B. J. Daneman celebrated her birthday by having a gay party at Irwin. Best of all, she received a bouquet of flowers from her marine who is now somewhere in the Pacific.

Do you think that this being leap year has anything to do with the engagement rings worn by so many Lindenwood girls since Christmas vacation? Elsie Marshall, Nancy Wallace, Betty Roark, Jean Melroy, and Joyce Robinson are but a few who are wearing rings.

Doris Bensinger's fiance took her by surprise last week. He suddenly turned up, much to Doris' delight!

Sitting in a crowded street car, a man noticed that his friend had closed his eyes.

"Wassamater? Sick?" he asked. "Oh, I'm O. K. but I hate to see ladies standing."

Sibley Hall Gives Dance For Naval Cadets

The Sibley girls are jubilant over their dance with the Lambert Field Naval cadets as guests on January 15 in the Butler Gymnasium. According to the Sibley girls the cadets were "neat dancers, smooth talkers, and lots of fun." The music of Carl La Rue and his orchestra helped make the dance a success.

There are three ways to avoid embarrassment when you fall on the dance floor:

1. Just lie there: they'll think you fainted.
2. Get up gracefully; they'll think it's part of the dance.
3. Start mopping up the floor with your handkerchief, they'll think you work there.

Pres. Gage Speaks At Vespers On Subject "An Orderly Mind"

At the Sunday evening Vespers on January 16, Dr. Gage spoke to the Lindenwood students and guests on "An Orderly Mind." He said that an orderly mind is one of our greatest possessions. We should strive for that goal. One of the attractions of heaven is that it is peaceful and orderly. Make your mind a heaven. If you have a clear mind, you can think better.

He quoted many great men on the value of an orderly mind.

and if it's love. He'll probably be in the service, but what branch is it? You have until February 15 to submit your Romeo and let all Lindenwood knoy just how wonderful he is. Your man will be guarded with care while he makes a trip to Hollywood. You needn't worry about him.

During the holidays romance was at an all time high if engagement rings are any indication. That means there are new men for some of you. Bring your entries to Room 18, Roemer Hall and share the wonders of your men with all of us.

After Romeo is chosen, all the men (in picture form) will be exhibited in Roemer Hall. Do bring your pictures to the Bark staff, and don't forget there's no limit to the number of entries.

New Courses Offered Second Semester

Mr. Motley also announced that there will be a number of new students second semester, but that a great many more applied than there will be room for. He said that the Freshman enrollment for 1944-45 is the largest in seventeen years. Mr. Motley has a word of advice for students who are planning to come back next year: "If you want to come back next year, it is advisable to make your $25.00 room deposit soon. This will give you a much better opportunity in the drawing to get the room you want."

Irwin Hall Contributes Most Dolls For Christmas Contest

Irwin hall contributed the most dolls for the YWCA's collection for the children of the Markham Memorial. Shirley Eagle won the individual prize for the most beautiful doll. Best handiwork award was given to Barbara Wayne and Gwen Tilling. Flo Barry and Debbie Higbee's dolls were the most original. Most cuddly dolls were those of Lou Mallory and Jane McLean. Annette Hoffman won prize for her Raggedy Ann.

The dolls were greatly appreciated by the children and brought much enjoyment to them.

Gertie's Fame Spreads And Fan Mail Is Now A Deluge

Below is reprinted a letter sent a friend of Cuthie's to Gertie. It seems Cuthie has been telling the entire army, or at least as much of it as he comes in contact with, about his girl back home. He has made her sound so good her fame has spread; for all the poor girl does now is answer her fan mail.

Dear Gertie,
Having heard so much about you from varied soldiers, sailors, marines, and aborigines, I began to feel that not writing you would be some sort of sin punishable by court martial. Your name has become sort of a legend here in the ——. Our battalion has named you the Queen of the Witch Doctresses. Please write soon and tell us whether or not you will accept.

Now, how about your school. eW've had vague rumors here that you are having exams there. Gee, I envy you. I never got to have any finals; I never progressed beyond the third grade. And I hear the old school is simply glowing with rocks. Gee, Gertie, you didn't go and get yourself tied down to any one fellow, did you? You'd kind of destroy the morale of the whole army if you did, not to mention the Japs. You know, a couple of them sneaked into camp the other night and were caught sitting in front of one of your pin-up pictures just smiling and carrying on. They're a kind of dumb race, those Japs; no offense, of course.

St. Charles High School Band Presents Concert

The St. Charles High School band gave a concert at a Lindenwood assembly January 20. The director was J. F. Skinner. Soloists were Ira Schuster, Patty Skinner, and Louise Ritter. Student director was Edyard Paule.

Program consisted of "Our Bugler," march by Missud, "The Trojan Prince" overture by Holmes, "The Elephant Dance" by Putnam, "The Show Boat" selection by Kern, "Last Movement of Mozart Concerto No. 5," "Bells Across the Meadows" by Ketelbey and "American Patrol" by Meacham.

The program ended with the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Father: And what did you learn at school today?

Roy: I learned to say "Yes, sir" and "No, sir" and "Yes, ma'am" and "No, ma'am."

Father (greatly pleased): You did?

Roy: Yep!

Mr. Jones barged into the grocery store and indignantly asked: "Remember that cheese you sold me yesterday?"

"Yes," replied the grocer.

"Well, did you say it was imported or deported from Switzerland?"

—The Log

Say, that Barn Dance you had there must have been fun. Who is that Barry girl who called the Square Dance? oWuld she make a good prospect for a queen of something or other?

Well, seems like there isn't much more to tell you except I sure want to hear from you about being our (Wtch Queen. Seems like I kind of left out a word there. Oh, well.

Slam a letter back right quick, kid. We need the paper to start fires with.

Your pal and long-time admirer (of sorts),

Herkemer Jerk.

Athletic Association Barn Dance Is Great Success With Students

"Swing your partner to and fro, around and around and dosie-do!" Such expressions could be heard resounding through the Butler gym at the barn dance given by the members of the Athletic Association, Jan. 22.

Barrels at the door, everyone dressed as cowpunchers, and the rustic decorations all over the gym completed its transformation to a barn. Square dancing was the feature of the program, with the A.A.A. members showing the "how" of it, and then everyone entered into the spirit of the thing and carried out the theme of a real, old-fashioned barn dance.

One feature on the program was a Can Can dance executed by those gifted artists, Dorothy Heimrod "Tootie" Bartlett, Twilla Graham and Martha Ann Young. Between performances Bev Wescott was persuaded to give out with one of her favorite cowboy songs—"Home on the Range."

Gorged with root beer and pretzels, and still laughing about broken barrels, Can Can dancers and the fine art of square dancing, everyone could agree on one thing—the A.A.A. members know their beans when it comes to showing us a good time. Let's have more!!

I step on the starter; it works,
I jazz up the motor; it perks,
I let out the clutch; no jerks,
"Holy smoke! Wrong car!"

She began studying for the dance at the age of 15 with Pavlova. She has appeared in New York, Chicago, London, Buenos Aires, Moscow, and has made several solo appearances with opera companies. She was the guest artist at the enthronement ceremonies for Emperor Hirohito in Japan.

Miss Page presented a diversified program, combining humor and serious intent. The most popular numbers seemed to be "Lucy Lake" by Ogden Nash and "Tropic" by Scott. Other numbers presented were "Juliet" by Schubert-Liszt, "Delirious Delusions" by Mompou, "Lament for the Death of a Spanish Bullfighter" by Lorca, "Rebecca" by Belloc, "Nocturne" by MacLeish, "The Cambridge Ladies" by Cummings, and "Waltz from La Traviata" by Verdi.

Dr. Mary Terhune spent her vacation at the home of her mother, in Louisville, Ky., and Dr. Wilhelmina Feemster went to Chicago.

Miss Anna Wurster was in Lafayette, Ind., and Indianapolis, Ind. Miss Juliet McCrory spent half of her vacation in Evansville, Ind., at the home of her sister, and the other half in Guin, Ala.

Now that the mystery is cleared up it is evident that the students aren't the only ones who had a wonderful time on their Christmas vacations—looks like the faculty did all right on their own, so Hurrah for the faculty!

We always called a tack, a tack until we stepped on one barefoot the other night.
