Fair Days for 103rd Commencement

Concert and Play, and Library Dedication Illumined the Week

"Dedication of the Margaret Leggat Butler Library" was a legend in capital letters, the first event in all that were listed for Lindenwood's 103rd Commencement Week, May 30 to June 3, 1930, in a booklet of 16 pages announcing the eleven formal items of the annual closing. One statement of Dr. A. H. R. Fairchild in that admirable Library address on Friday afternoon expressed a thought comparable in permanency to the Library itself. After the echoes of honors and receptions and concerts and baccalaureate and class day and the play have passed, it will be remembered, as Dr. Fairchild said:

"You have a president who more abundantly than any college president I know, embodies and expresses the true spirit of his institution, who with the faculty and with former students and valued friends not a few, is outstanding in devotion to the true ideals of education. You have a student body with a fine sense of esprit de corps. And now you have a Library Building."

But the item of Commencement Day, the crowning award of the season, must be announced at once. To Miss Mary Ambler, A. B., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Ambler, of Maplewood, went the $500 Fellowship for excellence in studies throughout her four years, and fidelity to the standards of Lindenwood. Miss Ambler, Dr. Roemer announced when he gave his congratulations, was one of four seniors each of whom came very near to the prize. These four stood, as he said, "right in the front rank." Miss Ambler has majored in history. Her trip abroad, a year ago, under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, was a distinguished honor for Lindenwood. She has been president of the college International Relations Club, an officer in Alpha Sigma Tau and in Beta Pi Theta, a member of the Y. W. Cabinet, of Pi Gamma Mu and the League of Women Voters, of the Missouri Club and of the English Club. So everyone is satisfied that she is a fitting representative, and that she will pursue her graduate studies, wherever she may go, reflecting high credit on her alma mater.

Baccalaureate Sermon

Dr. Arnold H. Lowe, pastor of Kingshighway Presbyterian Church, St. Louis, gave a strong address at the baccalaureate service, Sunday afternoon, June 1, with the theme, "A Religious Diagnosis." He said that the world in its social fabric is sick, but there are no incurable diseases. Many of society's ailments, said Dr. Lowe, are due to man's inability to grasp the fullness and the greatness of the Savior. A few of his words are here quoted:

"A diagnosis of our ailments shows that our new knowledge has unsettled us. We have come to believe so much in the omnipotence of machine and mechanism that we have dethroned God in a practical way. We may call on God and we may use His name, but practically He has become quite non-essential. He is not vital to us. Theologically we have been and are monotheists. Practically we always have been polytheists. In place of God, we have erected altars and shrines for the gods of efficiency, success and material satisfaction."

"We are afraid of Jesus. We always have been. We know an honest and fearless application of the teachings of Jesus to all of life would revolutionize our whole existence. It would mean the surrender of much that we love and magnify. It would turn our economic and political world upside down.

"If taking Jesus seriously is hard, let it be hard. At any rate, it will be honorable. In fact, it would be far more honorable not to follow Him at all than to exploit His name for the sake of a false respectability. It is getting more and more important that we ask ourselves whether or not we shall call ourselves Christian. Still more important is it that we ask ourselves whether we shall behave like Christians."

The vested choir sang at this service, and there were solos by Iris Fleischaker and Pauline Brown.

Commencement Address

Rev. Harry C. Rogers, D. D., of the Linwood Boulevard Presbyterian Church of Kansas City, gave the Commencement address on Tuesday morning, June 3, speaking on "The New Pioneers." He came with his wife and daughter and son-in-law, motoring across the State. Dr. Roemer recalled other occasions when Dr. Rogers has spoken at Lindenwood and made the felicitous observation in view of the day's sunshine, that "someone had said it was wise to ask Dr. Rogers to speak, because ever since the last time he was here, every Commencement it has rained." Whether that weather prognostication were correct or not, Dr. Roemer said everyone was glad to have Dr. Rogers here.

Before his address, Dolores Fisher sang, "Il est doux, il est bon" from Massenet's "Herodiade," with Doris Oxley as accompanist. Following the address, Dorothy Gartner sang "Shadow Song" from "Dinorah" by Meyerbeer. Miss Cora N. Edwards, of the music faculty was her accompanist. Miss Edwards merited everyone's sympathy because of the recent death of her father, in spite of which she fulfilled without a flaw every detail of the musical setting of Commencement, both at this program and at the services on the preceding Sunday afternoon and night.

Dr. Rogers spoke of spiritual pioneering as the work farther on, which Lindenwood graduates of today and others of their generation are to accomplish. He told of great teachers, artists, architects, mothers of the race, remembered in monuments. Forces which lie deeply imbedded in the great moral and spiritual centers of life will become revealed and will be used with the same certainty and practical availability as is found today in the great forces of material and physical science set before our door.

"What a vista!" said Dr. Rogers. "What new fields and new territory for conquering! To use the forces of mind and soul just as today we use the great elemental forces of physical science!" He pictured the using of the heart's highest impulses, courage, love and goodwill, with the same certainty that electricity is used today.

"Wherein," he said, "do you think we could be more inspired than by just the reflection of the words of Christ, 'Greater things than these shall ye do'?" Paul in his letter to the Corinthians when he spoke of the opening up of new worlds said, 'These things must be spiritually discerned.' Spiritual forces spiritually discerned! If you have faith as a grain of mustard seed, you can lift a mountain. What mountain do you behold? What difficulties in the world? What starvation? What a mess that is made of government? What might we not do internationally by the genuine practice of goodwill?

"May each member of the class of 1930 of Lindenwood say to herself, in the great words of the pioneer explorer, George Rogers Clark, 'Tomorrow we are going farther on!'"

Prizes and Awards

All of the scholarship prizes and awards were then announced, except Miss Ambler's fellowship, which latter was reserved until the high point of the program, after all diplomas, certificates and degrees had been bestowed. Taking them, in the order in which they came, these distinctions were:

Library's Activities

Just before Dr. Roemer departed with Mrs. Roemer for a vacation motor trip to Maine and the Atlantic coast, he finished the arrangements for publishing in a small booklet Dr. A. H. R. Fairchild's dedication address for the Margaret Leggat Butler Library. This was a gem of literature, and may be had for the asking. It is to be one more of the historic writings which Lindenwood has in its custody, safe in the vaults built for that purpose in the new Library.

Without intention, almost, the accretion of bits of history goes on in the college. One instance is Dr. Kate Gregg's undertaking, these summer days, copying the Sibley letters that are kept at the Jefferson Memorial by the Missouri Historical Society. The earliest, so far, dates back to 1804.

Board of Directors

All the officers of the Board of Directors have been re-elected by that body at its annual meeting on June 16. In the interval between business and luncheon the members inspected what is going on in the old library quarters in Roemer Auditorium. This large space on the first floor is being remodeled so as to make classrooms for some of the studies which attract large roomsful of students.

Greetings

Many messages of congratulation were received by President Roemer at Commencement time. Mr. Gilbert Lovell, Director of the Life Work Department of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, sent regrets that he was unable to attend, and the hope that "every part of the program will be successfully carried out and it will be in every way the most joyous Commencement Lindenwood has had."

From Baton Rouge, La., Mr. Charles H. Stumberg sent a letter saying that his university work would keep him from being at Lindenwood's celebration. He said he followed "with great interest the extraordinary development of Lindenwood College from year to year."

Dr. Lucinda de Leftwich Templin, Principal of the El Paso School for Girls and former Dean of Lindenwood, sent "congratulations on the dedication of the Margaret Leggat Butler Library and best wishes for Commencement."

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Clark, of Mexico, Mo., in a congratulatory telegram expressed the hope that "the inspiration of the Margaret Leggat Butler Library will continue through the ages."

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Weil and family sent a telegram of congratulation to "the Students of Lindenwood College."

The junior class presented a $55 memorial to the new Library.

Mrs. Roscoe R. Gardner (Beatrice Rollins, 1911-12), of Glenrock, Wyo., visited Lindenwood in the last month. Mrs. Gardner is a grandniece of Mrs. Laura J. Heron, who was Dean of Students during Dr. Ayres' administration.

St. Louis Annual

The annual luncheon of the St. Louis Lindenwood College Club was held at Forest Park Hotel, Monday, May 26, with President and Mrs. Roemer, Dean Gipson, and Mrs. F. H. Littlefield, President of the District Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, as guests of honor.

Mrs. William K. Roth (Anna Haeussler) was toastmistress, and those who responded to toasts were Mrs. Arthur Krueger (Marguerite Urban), Mrs. J. G. Vogt (Tonina Carr), Mrs. Lorraine Thompson Bernero, Miss Anna Petri and Miss Agnes Adams.

Miss Janet Stine, on behalf of the club, presented Mrs. Krueger, the retiring president, with a past-president's pin in the mode of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Election of officers resulted in the choice of Mrs. Oliver K. Sanders (Ethel L. Chadsey, 1910-11), president; Mrs. J. G. Vogt (Tonina Carr, 1905-7), first vice-president; Mrs. Lulu T. Hynson (1883-85), second vice-president; Mrs. J. H. Dickerson (Eva Seiber, 1921-25), treasurer; Mrs. Arthur S. Goodall (Euneva Lynn, 1924-28), recording secretary; Mrs. W. K. A new member, Mrs. Nell Van Nort McKane, a former resident of Chicago,

Mr. and Mrs. John Massey sent cards of invitation for the marriage of their daughter Helen (1928-29) to Mr. Lawrence Eugene Stanley, which will take place Saturday morning, July 5, at 10 o'clock, in the First Presbyterian Church of Wichita, Kan. Society columns of a recent issue of the Wichita Beacon carry a portrait of Miss Massey and an account of a luncheon which she gave at the Innes Tea Room announcing her engagement. "Miss Massey and Mr. Stanley," says the society editor, "are members of two of Wichita's most outstanding and established families."

In the Wichita press also appears a portrait of another former Lindenwood girl, Miss Beryl Wade (1924-26), now a bride. She was married May 28, at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. James H. Announcement has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McNary, of Granite City, Ill., of the marriage of their daughter, Bessie Belle, to Mr. George A. Collidge, on Thursday, June 19, at her parents' home. The bride received an A. B. from Lindenwood in the Centennial Class, 1927. She has since taught in the schools of Illinois.

Dedication of Library

Lindenwood had a splendid scholastic procession in its march from Roemer Hall to Library, at the latter's dedication, Friday afternoon, May 30. The president of the Board, Dr. John W. MacIvor, with other members, was present with Dr. Roemer and the faculty, the choir was in full ceremonial, leading in the singing of "old girls'" songs—"Schools of Our Mothers" by Louise Crandall, 1906; "In the Heart of Our Great Country," by Elizabeth Bates, 1923-24; and "'Neath the Shade," by Alberta Shell, 1923-24.

Dr. A. H. Fairchild, of the University of Missouri, spoke on "The Heart of Alma Mater." This "heart" is the library, which he said, proffered three great gifts: wholesome recreation, wisdom and inspiration. When he concluded, Dr. Fairchild made a graceful gift to the new Library—two works on Shakespeare which he and Mrs. Fairchild released from their own personal library, one of which had been a gift to her from him in the days of their courtship.

Dr. MacIvor presented the library, after the group had reassembled under the cathedral-like, vaulted spaces, and Dr. Roemer accepted the building, both speaking in well-chosen words which marked the high significance of the day. The prayer of dedication was offered by Rev. R. S. Kenaston of St. Charles.

Alpha Mu Mu pledges: Eleanor McFarland (voice), Sharon, Pa.; Albertina Flach (public school music), Belleville, Ill.; Audrey McAnulty (organ), Independence, Kan.

The names of those receiving degrees, diplomas and certificates were published in the May number of the Bulletin, except that Miss Lewella Todd, of University City, a student of preceding years, was added to the list of those becoming Bachelors of Arts.

In bestowing the degrees, candidates having first been presented by Dean Gipson, Dr. Roemer inaugurated the method of having each graduate on the stage, so as to receive the precious document more publicly than if it were simply handed to her in her seat. To each one he then spoke a few personal words, telling of her prowess, her future, the esteem in which she was individually held by the college, and extending his own congratulations and good wishes. This plan was very well received.

Rev. R. W. Ely, D. D., pastor of the Jefferson Street Presbyterian Church of St. Charles, offered the opening and closing prayers.

Commencement's Social Side

As never failing when the day is fair, Lindenwood's Spring Festival drew thousands to the natural amphitheatre back of the main buildings. Elsewhere is seen the picture of the Queen and her maids. It was "May Day in the Old South," showing the games and dances which were enjoyed on an old Southern plantation by guests and the old-time Negro servants, with the story of Pocahontas and Capt. John Smith interpolated in rhythmic measure. The daisy chain was borne by the seniors, and the music of piano, violin and voice was most charming. Misses Duggan and Reichert of the faculty directed the dancing, with student assistants, Miss Isidor led the violin players and Miss Gieselman the singers of spirituals.

Then came at night the remarkably well rendered play, "East Is West," given by Alpha Psi Omega, under the direction of Miss Cracraft. The scenes were laid in San Francisco, and several Chinese were among the characters.

The art exhibition on Friday afternoon was in the nature of a reception and reunion, when the art students' work of the year was admired by many who returned for the season.

After Miss Alma Peterson's very delightful operatic concert on Monday night, Dr. and Mrs. Roemer and Alpha Mu Mu received in the Library Club Room, and it was a pleasure to meet the great singer personally.

Not less important in the same room was the reception of Alpha Sigma Tau, earlier in the evening on Monday from 4 to 6 o'clock. A new thought this year was to make this affair a special tea for the parents of senior members and the faculty who are members.

Senior class day had occurred Monday afternoon, in which Mrs. Roemer and Miss Schaper assisted the class, and there was a most amusing "tea-party" showing each senior as she would be "five years hence."

And the final social event, as it is every year, was the hospitable luncheon served to all in the dining room of Ayres Hall, after the Commencement exercises.

Art Fraternity

Just before commencement, Kappa chapter of Kappa Pi, national honorary art fraternity, elected the following student officers for next year: president, Jane Tomlinson, Chillicothe, Ohio; vice-president, Olive Gillis, Chicago; secretary-treasurer, Evelyn Elben, Duluth, Minn.; historian, Betty Cambern, Fredonia, Kan. Besides these girls, others newly initiated into Kappa chapter are Ethel Seitz, Salina, Kan., and Frances Knorp, California, Mo.

Kansas City Officers

About 20 members, writes the secretary, attended the Kansas City Lindenwood College Club meeting at the Woman's City Club, Monday, June 9, at which the annual election of officers was held, resulting as follows: Mrs. Lois Bockemohle Berry (1913-14), president; Mrs. Mildred Mayfield Kraft (1909-11), vice-president; Mrs. Alice Docking Neville (1916-18), recording secretary; Mrs. Katherine Pence Matthews (1922-23), corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alice Van Guilder Neely (1916-17), treasurer.

A committee was appointed to conduct a garden party and fashion show the latter part of June, in the garden of Mrs. Kraft's residence. Plans are being made to make this a very lovely affair, in order to raise funds.

* * * *

Chicago Club Elects

The Lindenwood College Club of Chicago met at the Allerton Club on Friday, June 13, for the annual meeting, at which officers elected for the coming year were: Mrs. Genevieve Wild Davis (1906-7), president; Mrs. Rebecca Alden Joice (1910-12), vice-president; Mrs. Eugenia Whittington Basquin (1924-26), secretary; Mrs. Martha McDearmon Flanagan (1886-89), treasurer; Mrs. Faye Elder Lamb (1923-24), corresponding secretary.

The club by its recent card party added $62.75 to its contribution to the Mary Easton Sibley scholarship fund.

"We were glad to welcome two new girls to our club, Mrs. Remner and Mrs. Lietz," writes the secretary. "Dorothy Edwards McEachran (1923-24) is recovering from a recent operation. Our most traveled member, Mrs. Gentry, is sailing for Europe soon."

Lindenwood's alumna of days long ago, the late Miss Delia Gibbs (1858-64) is being remembered in a memorial window which is one in a series of seven windows that are installed by the Cote Brilliante Presbyterian Church, St. Louis. The memorial states that Miss Gibbs was one of the founders of this church. She lived her long life in St. Louis, and was widely known as a teacher and as principal of the Cote Brilliante School.

Miss Hilda Culver, Lindenwood's young newspaper exemplar at Butler, Mo., keeps the Bulletin informed on the excellent quality of the teaching staff in the Butler schools; that is to say, Miss Gertrude Hull, who attended the college 1926-28, is to teach there next year, and Miss Edna Krinn, another Lindenwood girl (1921-23), has been re-engaged as principal of one of Butler's grammar schools.

Births

Jack Edward Gilliland, Jr., arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Gilliland, Kansas City, on May 13. The baby's mother was formerly Martha Johnson (1921-22) and the Gillilands' home address in Kansas City is Villa Serena Apartments.

From East St. Louis, Ill., comes the pleasant news of the advent of James Patrick, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Donahue. The latter will be well remembered as Eva Marie Fleming, of Jerseyville, Ill., prominent in the Student Council, athletics and home economics, and the recipient of the degree B. S. in 1922 after four years' residence.
