May Queen To Be Crowned Saturday

L.C. Does Part in Second Nation-Wide War Loan Drive

The second nation-wide war loan drive was met with full approval and cooperation of Lindenwood's students, faculty, and administration. A total of $2,000 was originally anticipated, but this amount was greatly exceeded when final results showed that bonds and stamps had been sold to the amount of $18,335.

The drive got off to a big start on Monday evening, April 26, with a bonfire-sale which took place north of Butler Hall. A contest was held to see which state represented on campus would be purchaser of the majority of bonds and stamps. Iowa was first, New Mexico second, and Kansas third.

Four days — Tuesday through Friday — were divided respectively among the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes at which time various members were in charge of the sale booth. The Juniors had the best day, bringing in $2,375.

It was originally planned that each girl would purchase at least $1.00 in stamps. The sale of stamps alone amounted to $360.00; bonds, purchased by both students and faculty, came to $4,525; and the school contributed $10,000.

Those of the students who secured bonds were: Mary Jean Head, Althea Hooper, Jo Ann Butters, Barbara Randersan, Jerry Oppenheimer, Helen Wells, Alice Gabbert, Catherine Bishop, and Jerry Lewis.

Three Candidates Nominated For Student President

The candidates for next year's student government association president are Sally Dearmont, Lell Lewis, and Beverly Wescott. They were chosen by a committee representing the four classes. Voting will take place today, and a two-thirds majority vote is required.

Sally Dearmont, of St. Louis, has recently been chosen Maid of Honor to the May Queen, and was also in the Popularity Court. She is secretary of Y.W.C.A., and the president of the Encore Club.

Lell Lewis of Kentucky is the assistant business manager of the 1943 Linden Leaves. She belongs to Alpha Sigma Tau, El Circulo Espanol, and Pi Gamma Mu.

Beverly Wescott of Omaha is the secretary of the Junior Class. She took over the job of advertising manager of the annual, and is president of the International Relations Club. Recently, she was elected vice-president of the student section of the Missouri Academy of Science.

The student government association is the most active organization on campus. Its functions are to

Seniors Plan Their Futures--- Matrimony Is First On List

"Hip, hip, hurrah! Hip, hip, hurrah!" Such shouts can be heard all over the campus, from the halls of rambling Roemer to the doors of old Sibley. There are the freshmen, who have gone wild after one year of college, trying to out yell the seniors, who have survived four years of higher learning. Of course there are only 44 seniors, but if you listen carefully you can note a difference in the quality of the yells. Some of the yells are shouts of "I finally made it after four long years."

Maybe you would have something to "hip, hip, hooray" about too if after long hours of lectures and research you were at last going to undertake an experiment on your own. Perhaps the experiment is in teaching, further study, careering, or that task of housewife.

Here is what some of the Seniors plan to do:

Betty Gierse hopes to marry Leonard but she can spend only half of her time in Detroit at the present. Estelle Blumeyer is planning a trip to California or Texas. It really doesn't matter, just as long as Buddy is there. The Army seems to be getting several of the seniors. Carolee Burchard who has an eye for being an Army wife and Gloria Palmer plans to look after her husband. Jane Merideth Kennedy and Dick are looking forward to a life together. Kay Anderson Corl left last Friday to keep house for Stan until he leaves for combat. Intending to get married is Jinny Bauske, "But with my luck," she says, "there's not much hope." Little Minnie Hanna is determined to go to school another year. She is looking for another school, but prefers it to be along the lines of matrimony. Rena Eberspacher and Betty Myers want to get married some day too, but they are considering going to graduate school until the subject becomes more definite. Carol Bindley, an

Ruth Haines To Reign Over Colorful May Ceremony

Lindenwood's silver anniversary May Queen, Ruth Haines, will be crowned in a colorful ceremony Saturday afternoon. The first May Day was celebrated in 1918. This year, because of the war, the traditional ceremony will not be held on Sibley steps but will be changed to the lawn east of Irwin Hall.

The crowning of the Queen will take place at 4 p. m. First the sophomores will carry the traditional evergreen chain, and will form an aisle. Then the Juniors and Seniors will form the coronation procession. The Queen's Court, in pastel formals, will follow in order. The Freshmen attendants are Kay Barngrover and Sophia Russell, the Sophomores are Betty Waters and Jacqueline Schwab, the Juniors are Florence Barry and Virginia Donovan, and the Seniors are Doris Banta and Joyce Burge. Sally Dearmont, the special Maid of Honor, will be followed by the crown bearer, Ann Clevenger, and the flower girls, Sarah and Sue Garnett. The Queen, dressed in white, enters last. After the crowning, there will be a May pole dance, singing of class songs, and a dance entitled "Plantation Memories."

At 6:30 o'clock the campus guests and students are invited to the formal dinner in Ayres Hall. Then at 8 p. m., Tau Sigma, the honorary dance sorority, will present a recital in Butler gym. The program, based on the theme of "America in Dance" will be as follows:

Colonial Revolution—minuet and ballet group.

Civil War—tappers and negro numbers.

Spanish-American War—tango and rumba.

Intermission—Gay Ninety Number.

World War — Castlewalk and Charleston.

Second World War—hula.

Finale—Satire on War.

Sunday at 4 p. m., there will be a tea given in honor of the May Queen party on the lawn. The students voted that this should be made a closed week-end.

Doris Banta and Ruth Haines Get Scholarships

Doris Banta, president of the Student Government Association, has been offered a full tuition scholarship from Northwestern University Law School, and also one from Cornell Law School in Ithica, New York. She has accepted the scholarship at Cornell.

Ruth Haines, editor of the Linden Leaves, has accepted a scholarship from Columbia University in New York City. Ruth will continue her work in chemistry there.

Our Own Apology For Idlers

Have you been so busy studying that you haven't noticed the campus this May? All the trees, lilacs, iris, tulips, and violets are blooming frantically to catch up with war-time production. The whole campus is a riot of color. 'Tis the time of the year for clearing those cobwebs out of your brain. We have just the right prescription. Close your books for a few hours, take several deep breaths, and get out in the sunshine and fresh air. In June you'll have more gay memories, and you'll be able to tear into those finals.

Win The Peace

Perhaps we shall come out of this war a better educated people. War calls for educated citizens. As a nation, we have not taken education seriously. Perhaps the war will awaken us on this issue.

The war has given us a new sense of the meaning of liberty. No longer do we take freedom for granted. At long last it seems probable that the people of the United States have learned that we've got to take a part in the affairs of our neighborhood—which is the world.

We need not fear that this war will have been fought in vain if we are willing to put as much energy, intelligence and unselfishness into winning the peace as we are putting into winning the war.

War Bond Drive

Lindenwood has shown its spirit again. The quota for the school has again been equalled and excelled. There is no doubt the students and faculty have cooperated to make the drive a successful one. But that does not mean that your work is over. Keep on buying stamps and bonds whenever you can. There can be no letdown until the final victory is won!

Riding Team Excels

Under the direction of Mrs. Daily, the riding team has given many splendid performances this year. The girls are required to practice group riding (in fours, pairs, and threes) five or six hours a week. Besides this, they put in many extra hours. The team has participated in seven competitive horse shows, and the St. Louis horse show. With their new tailored riding habits and with the horses being much better this year, the girls on the riding team have done wonderful jobs and every Lindenwood girl should be proud of them.

THE SAFETY VALVE

This column is devoted to the students of Lindenwood to permit them to let off steam. Our readers are invited to contribute to the column. The students' name must accompany each letter as evidence of the good faith of the writer, but a nom de plume will be used if desired.

To the Editor:

I believe one of the biggest problems of the world is how to get people to cooperate. It takes a crisis before people realize that there must be unity and cooperation before results will be gotten.

Why can't we make people realize that we must always be ready to give in order to be happy.

If only we could have one main goal to be striving for, with everyone at the same goal, with all benefiting, everyone, I feel sure would be happier.

Perhaps someday all people will adhere to the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

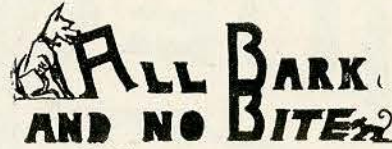

—STUDENT.

To the Editor:

Truth is a precious thing—still more precious is the way in which the truth is handled. More heartbreaks and distrust is caused by the careless handling of facts. I believe facts should be used only to help—not to hurt. Many times a little word a slight inclination of the head, or a subtle insinuation can change the whole course of a person's life. I don't imagine its particularly in a malicious spirit . . . rather a thoughtless mood. Lack of better conversation in an idle moment some times may be the cause. I suggest at a time like this, to try and discover the basis for any rumor, and, providing there is a basis, try to understand and help the person involved.

A friendly word and a kind smile can mean a lot to an individual who is the object of thoughtless conversation.

By Emmy Gumm

There's no doubt about it. SPRING HAS SPRUNG.

WHEN:

They start serving iced tea in the dining room When girls sit on the grass looking for four leaf clovers When Dr. Dawson tramps her cultivated plants class all over St. Charles and county When the swings are full of singing people every evening after dinner When the peroxide begins to flow free and fast with interesting (we might add astonishing) results When we see white dresses, painted lges and spectator pumps all over the place When we hear, "Oh, I guess I'll just loaf this summer" and "Are you keeping your same room?"

Some of the things we miss most this spring are: Dr. Betz and his out-under-the-trees class periods; tables on the Cupboard's porch; plans for a boat trip; and maybe a man with a car.

The senior assembly made us all realize that it's all just about over for this year and there are going to be some sad farewells coming up soon. To start things off we wish Kay Anderson Corl and Dot Baily goodbye and good luck. Kay will join Stan and dot starts rehearsing for the Municipal Opera.

No one will deny that the seniors really put on a "hum dinger" of a show for us Friday. It was plain to see that the versatile Jerry Lewis has been keeping her many talents secret all year. Who else could slither on to the stage wearing at least five pounds of jewelry, two corsages (yellow and violet), yards of veiling, with a stuffed pet in her arms, and then flop in the middle of the floor and read the futures of more than twenty people from a basketball, pardon me, crystal ball? She was a scream and we can't be blamed for laughing our heads off.

Don't forget to take a peep at Jean Ream and her new victory bob. And while we're on the subject of hair, you may just ignore Pearl Payne when she starts bragging about her new French braid it couldn't be that she is sort of lazy? We're only kidding, Pearl. We know it's because you don't want to ask Debby to fix it for you so often. Also connected with hair. These jolly spring showers haven't been helping any as far as curl is concerned.

Don't misunderstand if you happen to see supposedly big girls going around carving and modeling little joy animals out of soap and clay like we used to do in grade school days it is all just a project in the child psychology class.

Mrs. Palmer (Gloria Omahundra to most), we hope you had a perfectly divine time while John ED was here. It was the first time she has seen him since their honeymoon last February.

Jean Mac Murray Is Recovering From Operation

Jean MacMurray of Oklahoma City, Okla., is in the St. Charles Hospital, recovering from an appendectomy, and is doing very nicely. Keep it up, Jean, because we want you back soon. Jean is the daughter of F. G. MacMurray, one of the college counselors.

From The Office Of The Dean

All students who are planning to take certificates or diplomas, or any Seniors who have not already been measured for their academic costumes, should come to the office and give their measurements this week. This order will be sent off this week.

Blanks are in this office for students wishing to apply for working scholarships. Please call at the office and make your request, if you wish to be considered for such a scholarship.

If you wish to order Commencement invitations, please come in this office and sign for the number which you desire to have. The cost of these is generally between 10 and 15c apiece.

Any student who finds it necessary to leave the college early for any reason should have a written request from her parents and one in her own handwriting stating the reason for leaving early. Please do this at your earliest convenience, if you wish arrangements to be made about getting away.

Students are urged as soon as possible to see their counselors to talk over programs for next year. It will be of great assistance to return and find your schedules partially planned. Students who will be Seniors next year, should check carefully their classes so there will be no difficulty in obtaining degrees.

DR. ALICE E. GIPSON,
Academic Dean.

Change of Heart

Do you like these golden wings? These same wings he gave me in a delicate white box. They lay on the dark red velvet like Some rare mounted butterfly. His eyes were so eager, so proud To share with me a little of his Courageous future. In silence I held the golden toy Tenderly in my hand. Yet, I hated to take it, it burned my palm.

I wanted to fling it away from me. But no, I didn't, not with His eyes on mine to find The joy that was not there. It seemed such a harmless thing.

Harmless? It was an emblem of love

And fear, and parting and sadness. Yet, it was an emblem of his innocence,

Courage. His love for me. So I took it and smiled Perhaps, my smile was only on my lips

But he didn't see. Yes, I wore it when he left "It was a mutual feeling of pride." He said, that it would hold us together.

I nodded, then waved, as he left Me alone with my pin. Yes, I wore it through the bitter months

Of worry and fear. There it is In the same box, the same velvet bed I do not wear it anymore. Our ways have parted, and a real love

Has come along, for now I wear A shining pair of "silver wings."

—Jinny Bauske.

Seniors Plan Their Futures—Matrimony Is First On List

other one of the old maids of Senior Hall, wants to get married, but is torn between matrimony and a career.

The Ferry Command or WAAFS will take up most of Virginia Rose's time. Bey Sage will work riddles with test tubes along with Barbara Bickles who threatens to blow up all of her experiments. Roena Ott wants to start digging and do something botanical, eventually owning a farm. Poor Jerre Lewis, won't somebody build a house so she can have a job doing the interior decorating?

Frances Shudde is going west to San Diego in order to take care of all the Marines. Doris (Daniel Webster) Banta is going to study law at Carnell University and Lois Anderson is going to be teaching little Americans how to use their vocal cords. Juanita Cook just can't think of anything to do so I guess she will do the same thing that Joyce Burge and Herbie Mart are planning to do, drive her family crazy until she finds something better to do.

All of you who aspire to be homemakers need to see Gloria Crosby as she has offered to teach anyone the art if she can't be a homemaker herself. Jean Graham may go to medical school while Jean Harmon, will teach mathematics and science in some high school. Adelaide Caraker hopes to get a job. Other little Americans will have Betty Schoen as a camp counselor at the Pennock Girl Scout Camp and Janet Thomas will have a nursery school in Omaha, Neb., when she isn't dashing off to South Carolina to see Jimmy. The business world will be enlarged by that executive whiz, Jean Ream, who will work for her father as a stenographer. Believe it or not, Bunny Wonder is leaving the corn-growing state of Iowa to go to Texas and teach. And at last but not least, Betty Proctor will represent the class and college in Uncle Sam's armed forces, commonly known as the WAACs.

To the class of '43, hip hip, hooray!

How To Keep Up Your Soldier Correspondence In One Easy Lesson

"Write Him Today!"—that statement is constantly seen on posters. You certainly know how it feels to peek in your mail box and discover that you still haven't heard from the certain "him." Just remember that maybe he can't write, and needs plenty of cheering up. Dig out some of your new spring lines and give him the one-two by mail. For example, line number 209—(if you love him, of course) Quote: I love you insanely, insatiably, with all the impetuosity of a lone wolf yowling for its mate—unquote. Now this line not only pleases him but also gives him something to do—in other words, he generally has to look up the words to discover what you really mean. This line has plenty of "umph" behind it and if it doesn't affect him—well, you might as well give up.

Then there is line 412—this one originated from a St. Louis add: "Please remember that my love for you is not in the least way hurried—it is aged and mellow—it is flavored, and the date is plainly stamped on the cover—"good forever." This line often makes them feel rather thirsty so I'd advise you not to use it too frequently.

Now for an astounding ending or post-script you can always write these few simple words—"Ontogeny recapitulates phylogeny"—or you made me what I am today! (For a full complete definition of this statement contact Barbara Bickle!)

If you can't get results or answers with all these lines, or at least cheer them up, well, you better quit writing the fellow for he's no doubt frightened to death by your coy remarks!

Senior Class Will Is Read at Senior Chapel

The first Senior Chapel took place last Friday morning in Roemer Auditorium. It was quite a hilarious and memorable meeting for the traditional class will and prephecy were read. The will was composed by Mimi Hanna and Carol Bindley.

All your poor underclassmen who were willed things, the seniors want to wish you luck—you'll need it!

This was only the first of the series of senior chapels and the next one will be Friday, May 14. At this time Coralee Burchard will give a short talk.

Press Club Contest Entries To Close On May 15

Do you realize the Press Club contest ends May 15? Don't forget there is a $5 prize to be awarded and you may be the lucky one. The prize will go to the best piece of journalistic writing submitted and published in a campus publication during the year. Select your own subjects—three entries to a person. Give your entries to Jinny Bauske, secretary of the Press Club.

The judges will be members of the faculty and the winner will be announced in chapel.

Riding Team Wins Honor at Horse Show In St. Louis

Three members of Lindenwood's riding team won honors in the St. Louis horse show held at the Missouri Sales Stables Arena, April 29 through May 1. Hardy won third in horsemanship and fifth in the five gaited class; Butters won fifth in horsemanship and third in the five gaited class; and Stephenson won fourth in jumping ace high in the knock down and out class.

Other girls that participated in the horse show were Papan, Rutledge, Barngrover, and Armstrong.

Saturday, Lindenwood competed with Monticello in archery and riding at Monticello College, Alton, Ill.

Prof. Martin Wins Another Art Prize

Gail Martin, head of Lindenwood's Art Department, has been awarded the Clark McAdams Memorial Prize of $50 for the most outstanding work in the thirtieth annual exhibition of oil paintings and sculpture at the Artists' Guild. His painting is a still life.

HALL OF FAME

Sarah Lee, more popularly known as Sally Dearmant has been chosen as the newest member of the Linden Bark's Hall of Fame.

A friend of all who know her and the possessor of a charming personality, Sally has a number of achievements.

A member of the Junior class, she came to Lindenwood in 1941.

1942-43 found her serving as president of the Encore Club, a member of the Popularity Queen's court, and Junior special maid of honor in the May Queen's court.

Sally is a swell gal and the Hall of Fame hails her heartily.

Dear Cuthbert:

I'm getting over-stuffed with Gertie having all the attention of a wonderful army man like you. I just have to show you I'm just as interesting and certainly as intellectual as that campus goose is. Cuthrie, I'm simply enraptured over discovering that you like poetry. Isn't it thrilling?—I do too! And, oh, Cuthrie, let me tell you something before Gertie does. She doesn't know about it yet 'cause she doesn't associate with the intellectual people, but Sigma Tau Delta and the Poetry Society are publishing a book of super-duper Lindenwood poetry. They put out a book in '34 and this new one will include the best poems since then. Just think how exciting it will be to see the poetry of people who have been here and people who are on campus now, in a real book.

I simply can't stand calling you the same thing that Gertie does. It isn't a bit original, and besides, Bert sounds much more masculine. From now on, I shall always call you Bert.

You really should have seen all the pretty pictures that the art department had on display. They were the

Miss Abbie Graham Is Guest Speaker At Lindenwood

Miss Abbie Graham, chairman of the creative arts program of the Cleveland YWCA, was a campus guest and the speaker for Lindenwood's Better Camping Program.

Miss Graham talked to the students Friday and Saturday, and Sunday a tea was given in her honor.

Miss Graham has been connected with a number of camps. Namely: The Y camp of Boston; New York City camp, which is located in the interstate park; the Dallas YWCA; and others. She is chairman of the publication committee of the American Camping Association magazine, "Camping Magazine". She is a free lance writer. She has written several books and many articles on camping and other subjects.

League of Women Voters Speakers Tell of Civic Activities

Mrs. George Gellhorn and Mrs. Virgil Loeb, members of the League of Women Voters, from St. Louis, spoke on the campus on April 29.

Mrs. Loeb told of the part the League of Women Voters played in the recent constitutional committee to revise the Missouri State Constitution. Mrs. Gellhorn gave a history of the League. She told of the difficult time the league had in getting started.

JABBER from JINNY

By Jinny Bauske

You know that old saying—"In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love!"—well by the looks of the new engagement rings on display and the love lights in the girls eyes definitely shows that the feeling is mutual.

Jackie Holsinger goes around quoting—"to keep it or not to keep it, that is the question!" She received a beautiful ring from George who is stationed at Lambert Field.

D. D. Chapman is another lucky girl. She definitely has that love light burning and a lovely display on her third finger, right hand proves it.

Mimi Hanna was very happy and shall be say "elated" when Marvin called her and said he would be down to visit her over the week end. Marvin hails from Oklahoma Military Academy and is well worth knowing—right Minnie?

Gloria MacCarrick is also listed among the newly engaged girls. Wonder when the wedding bells will ring for her!

Marion Hardtke seemed to run into a little difficulty when she took her handsome date to the U.S.O. dance. She spent most of her time trying to cut back in on him. Never take a date to a girl's cut-in dance.

Speaking of the U.S.O. dance, Sybil Osburn received a large, single, Calla Lily as a corsage. That will teach her not to go around saying in a Katherine Hepburn accent—"The Calla Lilies are in bloom, really they are!"

Here's a few more campus song hits:

"After It's Over"—The college year of 1942-43.

"Don't Leave Now"—Dedicated to the Senior Class.

"Savin Myself for Bill"—Dotty Baily.

"Something for the Boys"—L. C. girls!

Fun For All In Store At Senior Carnival Friday

Come one, come all, to the wonderful Senior Carnival and supper, Friday at 5:30 p. m. in front of Ayres and Sibley halls.

Booths of all kinds and food galore will add to the fun. Balloons and confetti will be found in all directions. There will be little side shows with acts put on by the girls.

Jerrie Lewis is chairman of the carnival with a committee made up of Seniors.

It will no doubt be a gala affair, so come out and enjoy yourself!

"Letters To Lucerne" To Be Presented As Commencement Play

The cast for the commencement play, "Letters to Lucerne," will be presented Saturday, May 29. This play was written by Fritz Rotter and Allen Vincent and will be directed by Miss Mary MacKenzie Gordon. The play, Queen at Commencement, is an annual affair given by the members of Alpha Psi Omega and other students who are interested.

Members of the cast were chosen after tryouts in the Little Theater last week. The cast includes Minota Bayliss, Marjorie Irwin, Jean Bowlsby, Sue Beck, Ellen Wadley, Peggy Proctor, Joyce Salmon, Betty Ann Rouse, Freda Eberspacher, and Jane McClean, and Rheba Crowder.

The plot of the play centers about a girls' school near Lucerne, Switzerland in the late summer. It is a fast moving drama of the war, which depicts the heartbreak and tragedy of World War II.

Juniors Host To Seniors Class at Dinner Party At Park Plaza Hotel

The Junior-Senior dinner party was held Friday evening, April 30, in the Crystal Terrace Room of the Park Plaza Hotel in St. Louis.

Those present, aside from members of both classes, included the senior sponsor, Miss Rachel Morris; Mrs. Eva Englehart Douglas, sponsor of the juniors; and Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Gage; Dr. Alice Gipson, Dr. Florence Schaper and Mr. and Mrs. Gus C. Motley.

The seniors were told to look for "green place cards" which turned out to be a green covered box containing a crystal perfume bottle with a novel stopper.

Air Cadets Invade Campus For All College USO Dance Saturday

Air cadets from Lambert Field and Scott Field invaded the Lindenwood campus last Saturday night for an all college USO dance. The gymnasium was decorated, and the couples danced to the music of Art Wilbert.

The dance was a boy and girl cut dance. Punch and assorted cookies, made by the Home Economics Department, were served in the lounge.
