Koenig to Discuss “How I Survived the Holocaust” on Feb. 21

The Center for International and Global Studies is sponsoring a discussion by Jerry Koenig called “How I Survived the Holocaust” on Tuesday, Feb. 21 at 7 p.m. in Dunseth Auditorium in Harmon Hall.

Mr. Jerry Koenig, a Holocaust survivor, was present as a pre-teen in the Warsaw Ghetto during World War II. A native of Pruszków, Poland, Koenig was born in 1930 to Isadore and Mary Koenig. However, on Sep. 1, 1939, Nazi Germany invaded Poland. Immediately, the rights of Jewish citizens were stripped as they were in Germany four years prior. The Koenig family was shipped to Warsaw in the winter of 1940. Conditions in the Warsaw Ghetto were horrific. Before being shipped to the Treblinka concentration camp, Jerry’s family made a harrowing escape from the Warsaw Ghetto. Mr. Koenig and his family and seven other Jewish people were saved by a Polish family and hidden in a small underground structure in a barn without sun for 22 months. After the war and following the Kielce pogrom in Poland in 1946, Mr. Koenig and his family left Poland for the American free zone in West Germany. From there, the family eventually made their way to Davenport, Iowa supported by the small community of Jews who wanted to help refugees. In 1951 Mr. Koenig was drafted into the U.S. army and returned to Germany. After his service, he and his family eventually settled in St. Louis where he had a successful 35 year career as an engineer for LaClede Gas Company.
