Lindenwood College, St. Charles, Missouri, Tuesday, February 13, 1940

$1.00 A Year

FROM THE OFFICE OF THE DEAN

Dean Gipson is well satisfied with the grades. Many students are doing exceptionally fine work and only a few are doing utterly unsatisfactory.

Students are urged to watch their cuts this semester, so that grades will not be lowered.

Student schedules are to be made out in chapel today so they can be put in the hands of Miss Hooton and regents or buildings.

The proof for the new catalogue has been read and within a few weeks will be here. Students will find there are changes in different departments, which will endeavor to offer new courses that are designed to make the department more efficient.

Lenten Resolutions

Lent always brings forth sacrifices on the part of Lindenwood girls. Many give up desserts, between-meal snacks, and other luxuries. This year about the same number of girls have given up the usual

L. C. Former History Head Gains Doctorate, Columbia

Mrs. Ivor Spector (Margaret Marion Mitchell), who was head of our history department from 1930 until 1936, has been awarded a doctor's degree from the history department of Columbia University. Her dissertation, "The American Department of the British Government from 1768 to 1782," already has been published by Columbia University Press.

Mrs. Spector, who was born in Canada, became an American citizen just a year ago last month. She was graduated with honors in 1926 from the history department of the University of British Columbia, and in 1927 received her M. A. degree from Clark University in Worcester, Mass. In 1935, during a brief leave of absence from Lindenwood, she went to England where she collected material at the British Museum and Publications Record Office on the American department and on William Knox.

At the present time she is acting assistant professor in history at the University of Washington, and is the wife of Dr. Ivor Spector of the department of Oriental studies, whom she met in 1937 while taking his courses in Russian history and the Russian language.

Distinguished Publisher Spends Day Here

Mr. James H. Gipson, of Caldwell, Idaho, brother of Dr. Gipson, Dean, visited Lindenwood on Tuesday, January 30. Mr. Gipson is the president of the Caxton Printers, a celebrated publishing firm a distinctive characteristic of which is its extensive publication of Americana.

Vardis Fisher who won a $10,000 prize given by Harpers Magazine for the book "Children of God", dedicated that book to Mr. James Gipson, who had been the first publisher of Vardis Fisher's books.

Mr. Gipson has been traveling quite extensively, spending a good deal of time in New York, Washington, and other cities in the east. He visited and dined with Senator Borah just a week before the Senator's death. Mr. Gipson and Mr. Borah were old friends.

Before returning home Mr. Gipson visited his brother, Dr. Lawrence Gipson, historian and professor at LeHigh University, Bethlehem, Penn. Also included in Mr. Gipson's itinerary was a trip to Hollywood on business.

Mr. Gipson's name appears, as does that of Dr. Alice E. Gipson, in Who's Who. Also in that roster is Dr. Lawrence Gipson, and a sister who is a well known writer of children's books. There are four brothers and sisters of the Gipson family in Who's Who, which, it is believed, is a record unmatched by any other family in the United States.

things. Some of the sacrifices may seem trivial, but they require real determination!

Spiritual Emphasis Week

Dr. Malone's Addresses Gave Many Helpful Ideas

Dr. Walter J. Malone of the McKinley Foundation, arrived at Lindenwood last Monday night and was received by Dr. Gipson, Miss Hooton, Dr. Terhune, Dr. Harmon, Kay Wagner, Marge Dearmont, Jeanne Miller, and Mary Kern. The reception was in Ayres parlor. Dr. Malone was welcomed back to the college and they sat and talked. All the girls were indeed glad to see him back.

Kay Wagner introduced Dr. Malone in chapel Tuesday. His first talk was on "The Great Christian Tradition". He said that there are traditions of all sorts—home, college, Bible—but that the greatest one of all these is the Christian tradition. This is the fellowship between God and man. Wherever you find Christian men and women, you find this tradition and fellowship. Even the Japanese soldiers in China carry Bibles, especially the New Testament. The chief elements in this tradition are self giving, endurance, and victorious and triumphant living. Under self giving Dr. Malone said that the love of God and his love for us was, of course, the most important. Serving is another way of giving, but love covers all. For endurance, he said that perseverance was very needful. Don't give up easily. It may take a long time to accomplish what you want the way you want it, but just keep trying. For victorious and triumphant living, try hard to keep your own goals and ideas. Carry on in the way you think is right, and you will be doing your best. People say that miracles don't happen any more but if you just look around you everyday and are really a true Christian, you can see them. When the crippled walk, and the blind, see; that is truly a miracle.

"We ought to expect to have to sacrifice, endure things, and conquer them and truly see and find miracles in our lives." Dr. Malone's Lenten address on Wednesday was entitled, "That Nothing Be Lost". Jesus gave himself for the world and for the good that might be gained from it, he said. Don't waste precious things but conserve them. Human personality can be so easily wasted and God does not want a single one to be wasted in any way. Some people who are ill are so helpless and unhappy, but others who are just as helpless, do good for others. Such a person is Grace Noll Crowell. She has had a lot of illness and suffering, but she says that from this pain, she writes much better. She says that pain brings beauty. Fear is one of the basic causes of war. It destroys life.

"Some people don't play enough. They may have a job inside a building, never get out to exercise, and in some cases, they lose the joy of living. These people should get outside of themselves and play and try to build up a purpose in life. Do for others. One can overcome his own fears only by doing and

Research and Exhibits

Strong Vocational Interest Tests From Now On, Open To All Students

Last week the student guidance office placed on display in the main hall of Roemer a series of vocational guidance pamphlets and books. Part of the material has now been returned to the guidance office where it is available to the students, and the remainder has been placed in the library.

There are two main sources of this vocational information. One is the Science Research Association of Chicago, a group of specialists in occupational standards. From this group, Lindenwood receives monthly an Occupational Monograph on some vocation. Up to this time, pamphlets have been received on Statistical work, Rural Journalism, Teaching, Clerical work, and How to Choose a Career.

Another source is the Institute for Research in Chicago. From them have been received Vocational Monographs in forty fields of particular interest to women. Both vocational centers consider the vocation discussed in terms of personality traits needed for it, the education basic to it, the expected income and opportunities for employment.

There are numerous other pamphlets from other sources on occupations that are equally as reliable. Each month, the guidance office receives a number of announcements and periodicals relative to standards and opportunities in different occupations.

The objective for Student Guidance and Personnel in Lindenwood is to aid each student to further understand herself. By means of personal conferences, interviews and standard measures, this office strives to evaluate student aptitudes in terms of vocational preparation, relate student ability to different curricula in the college, urge the students to identify their personal interests with the larger group life on the campus and in American society, and encourage the student to attain a level of achievement commensurate with her ability. The office of Student Guidance and Personnel is also a depository of the records dealing with each student so as to obtain a profile of each girl that will better interpret student purpose and ability to the student, her family, and to the college.

This department also has charge of all tests given to freshmen and now has available to all students the Strong Vocational Interest Test, which attempts to measure ones interests in different vocations, the Bernreuter Personality Test, and the Minnesota Clerical Test.

giving to others. Share nobly with others. Don't worry about yourself. Do something hard for somebody else. Gather up the fragments that mean nothing but loss. Learn to take disappointments. Gather defeats and make a victory. The cross might have been defeated but Christianity came from it to triumph over it."

The Linden Bark:

See the mountains kiss high heaven,
And the waves clasp one another;
No sister flower would be forgiven
If it disdained its brother;
And the sunlight clasps the earth,
And the moonbeams kiss the sea;
What are all these kissings worth,
If thou kiss not me?

LOVE'S PHILOSOPHY, published by Hunt, "The Indicator"

THERE IS A DRIVE ON FOR THE SCOUTS IN ST. CHARLES

Of course Lindenwood is for women, but we shall always be interested in young men too — they will not be separated entirely; these town boys are interested in our girls. The solicitation among the Lindenwood folks has been wished off on me.

I always feel that the Boy Scouts "soon make better beans." Would like for Lindenwood to make a good showing — if you are so inclined, make a contribution, please.

Thanks! (I work in room 112 Roemer Hall)

GUY C. MOTLEY

College Girl Need Not Step Blindly Into Future

"One of the most significant aspects of the 20th century is the introduction of the counseling function into education and industry." Since employment is such a great problem and confronts so many students when they leave college, there is a necessity for counseling. "There is no one solution to this problem, but the student can enhance the opportunity for a successful life's work and placement by careful guidance." Lindenwood is very fortunate to have its newly formed Vocational Guidance Department for this purpose.

Recently the Strong Vocational Interest tests were given here at Lindenwood by this department. This is the first time that these tests have been offered to the entire student body. Previously, only juniors and seniors were eligible for them.

The purpose of the Strong Vocational Interest test is well expressed in this statement: "It is possible with a fair degree of accuracy to determine by this test whether one would like certain occupations or not. The test is not one of intelligence or school work. It measures the extent to which one's interests agree or disagree with those of successful men in a given profession."

These tests, which are commonly used in business and higher education, are composed of three parts: personal, social, and recreational.

The results for the years 1935-40, by the juniors and seniors who have previously taken these tests, are interesting. These occupations came out first in order of their preference: office and secretarial work, homemaking, nursing, teaching, and social work.

Thus, vocations may be chosen and a girl may know if she is choosing the correct one according to her interests. She will not be stepping blindly into the future.

Spirit of Valentine's Day

Seems as though with the coming of February most of us give a little thought to the fact that Valentine's Day is coming, and we wonder what in the world we can send to our "truly beloved" and we just can't wait to see what we get. Now this is all fine and dandy, but why not think about what Valentine's Day originally meant?

Valentine's Day falls on February 14 every year and is observed in commemoration of St. Valentinus, a martyr, decapitated in 270 A. D. during the Claudian persecution at Rome.

The custom of sending valentines is very ancient. Some say that on this day the birds select their mates, and still others trace the custom to the Roman Lupercalia (February 15) when similar practices were observed. The custom has been detected among the northern pagans of January 31—Third day of the new semester, and we're still wondering what psych. and logic are all about. Walked to St. Charles—why don't they build a bridge across Jefferson street? This warm (all of thirty-five degrees) weather is really melting the snow.

February 1—First day of a new month. Hummm—it's leap year, too. Two F. B. I. men spoke in assembly. Maybe we'll all take up sleuthing, what with the F. B. I. and the "amateur cracksman." Alpha Mu Mu initiated new members.

February 2—Girls, it's really here. Today we see "Gone with the Wind"! But between now and then, we still have to go to classes and wonder what psych. and logic are about.

February 3—Everyone in such a daze over "G. W. W." that even the dining room is strangely quiet. Studied this, that, and the other. (Mostly the other). Light snow tonight. Don't tell us it's going to get cold(er) again!

February 4—Quiet Sunday. Vesper speaker was Mrs. Gayle Bealand, missionary returned from Africa. Very interesting. (Still wondering about psych., etc.)

February 5—Heard Evelyn Swarouth play tonight. She's very wonderful. Dr. Malone arrived to begin Lenten services.

February 6—Poetry Society met this evening. Day really not too, too exciting—just mild.

February 7—Everyone you meet is either on the way to the infirmary, or coming from there. This so-called spring weather seems inductive to germs—the little rascals! Y. W. held a lovely candle light service at 6:30, led by Dr. Malone.

February 8—The "breakfast express" tells us that we can expect snow and rain today. Lovely thought! Dr. Malone spoke in assembly.

February 9—Ah! The Junior carnival dance! Come one, come all!

February 10—Another week-end. More time to wonder about psych. and logic.

February 11—Vesper speaker was Dr. D. C. Boyd. Quiet Sunday, broken only by the voices of accumulated dates—other people's!

February 12—Lincoln's birthday—and two days until Valentine's day. How time does fly!

February 13—Is that a dog's woof-woofs that break the quiet? Oh! The BARKS are out! Excuse, please. Must go get a copy.

New Students Enroll

Four Girls Enter School Three Girls Returning

Seven new students have enrolled in Lindenwood for the new semester. Four of the girls have never before attended Lindenwood, and three of them have returned to complete their work.

The girls entering the freshman class are Jean Frawley, from Chicago; Harriette Sage, Augusta, Kans.; and Bunny Wonder, Marshalltown, Iowa. Marjorie Green, Kirksville, Mo., is enrolled as a junior.

The girls who have returned are ancient Europe. Hence the true origin is probably not alone a commemoration of the loving and charitable disposition of St. Valentinus.

For the present Valentine's Day, there not only seems to be found love and affection, but also comic love or sarcastic valentines. The people of today do not think as much of valentines as people once did, in fact, among older people the sending of good wishes and love on this day is a bit passe. However, the younger generation does more than its share of sending cheer on this day, and are carrying it to quite an extreme concerning the comic and sarcastic notes.

So for us on St. Valentine's Day let us remember that one of the oldest messages on this day was to be loving and charitable.

Martha Jane Reubelt, Elfaula, Okla.; Carolyn Bower, Tulsa, Okla.; and Mary Dillon, Vinita, Okla. Martha Jane Reubelt was the freshman Hallowe'en queen of three years ago, and an attendant to the May Queen in the same year. Carolyn Bower attended Lindenwood for several years, and has come back to receive her degree. Mary Dillon was here two years ago. Her work in voice has been especially noteworthy.

Lindenwood is glad to enroll these girls, both new and old. The faculty and students extend to them a cordial welcome.

Peg Kimbrough's Father Honored In Wichita Falls

Dr. O. T. Kimbrough of Wichita Falls, Texas, the father of Peggy Kimbrough, a freshman, has been given a signal honor by the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Kimbrough has been awarded the 1939 personal service cup given each year by the Advertising Club to the most useful citizen of that city.

The honor was given in recognition of Dr. Kimbrough's unceasing work for the benefit of underprivileged boys. Through his efforts summer camps, summer employment, and a boys' club have been maintained. A building is now under construction in Wichita Falls which is to be a club home for these boys.

Poetry Literary Tea

Members of the Poetry Society met at Dr. Gregg's home at 4:30, Tuesday, February 6. Refreshments were served and some humorous and satirical poems were read. Sara Jefferson read a paper on her favorite poet, Archibald MacLeish.

Dr. Dawson and Her Flowers—She Reports An Exciting Time

Dr. Dawson has been having quite an exciting time for the past two months attending flower shows and lectures. On January 23 and 24, she attended lectures at Shaw's Garden. Mrs. Peckham, who is a judge of the New York Flower Shows and who has had wide experience in training judges for flower shows, gave the address. The subject of the addresses was flower arrangements of all kinds. Dr. Dawson was very enthusiastic about them and said they were most enjoyable.

The first nasturtiums of the year are now in bloom in the greenhouse and the bulbs are coming along. Dr. Roemer received the first blooming hyacinth on January 21. This was the first of a series of eighty pots of daffodils of all varieties, hyacinth, and tulips. EVERYBODY IS WELCOME AT THE GREENHOUSE.

The St. Louis flower show starts on March 9 and Dr. Dawson will be very glad to supply any of the girls with tickets which will be sold at a reduction of thirty cents.

The botany classes are going to attend the orchid show at Shaw's Garden on February 17 and any one else who wants to go along is welcome.

Bathing beauties may sink and bathing beauties may swim, but Vellenga floats on forever. We didn't think the shameless creature in the one-piece bathing suit had it in her 'til we saw her take it in her stride—headfirst. S'all right, Flo, keep your chin above the waterline, for there's always the life guard, and we're for you even if you are all wet. Anyway, you made a colossal splash.

One of our secret service informative systems (three cheers for Dr. Schaper) tipped us off that Miss Bailey had recently received an honor, but bashful-like, she wouldn't talk. So we put Nosey, our pet news hound on the trail. After three Tearoom hamburgers (advertisement) he had enough strength to leap up three flights of stairs and chase her around the chem lab for several hours. But we were two flights right behind him and managed to get in on the kill and hear the story.

She can now write M. T. after her name for she has received notice from the National Society of Medical Technologists to hold the degree of Medical Technologist. So congratulations, Miss Bailey, M. T.

Delores "Gosh, am I happy!" Anderson packed her bag and dashed off last week-end to see Guy Edwards, who is still in a hospital at Washington, Indiana. Guy, you remember, was up here Thanksgiving, and was injured in an automobile accident while speeding back to Virginia Polytechnical Institute. He has been confined to the Washington Hospital since that time.

xx

Lots of our lassies have been traipsing off for big week-ends—Dot Miller and Kay Abernathy are still "In the Mood" from the Washington and Lee Fancy Dress Ball—And now Lois Anderson has skied off for the winter carnival at Dartmouth—Penny Hewett Chicagoed, Orrin Tuckered, and got new spring-outfitted, all on the same week-end, and Marian Ohlsen and Tess Rummelhoff hopped over to a frat dance at Washington U.—Adah Louise Parkinson pedaled off to Notre Dame, but didn't see the Hunchback . . . My, my, Adah Lou, you just don't get around.

xx

Jeanne Osborne may not know what time it is, but she's counting the minutes until her Bob arrives for the Zurkee dance . . . Bonnie Campbell is also up in the clouds over a certain unexpected visitor . . . While you're up there, Bonnie, try and foresee some good weather, because Mary Elizabeth Rape is expecting Byron down as soon as it thaws . . . Betty Carleton is just "oooh la la", now that her Arkansas traveler is back at Jefferson Barracks . . . Brr, brr, it's cold, but Elizabeth Holley and Evelyn Wright bundled up and skidoed to Iowa for a dance. Iowa, you know, is where the tall corn grows and where people write letters with poetry in 'em to Maurine Marshall.

xx

There's a certain patriotic chap up at Wisconsin who must be trying to help balance the budget by raising the income from stamps. Betty Sowden is receiving two letters per day from his efforts . . . Mary Kern tried her best to keep Ayres in the dark after eleven p. m. one night while Miss Mottinger was ill, but she got her wires crossed and it was some time before she could get the eclipse to turn on.

The following sentiments were "kopped" from a Memphis High School news-sheet:

The Zero Hour

I think so hard for what isn't there,
I want to scream or tear my hair,
It's almost time—oh why—oh why—
Can't I remember when Shakespeare chose to die,

Where was he born, where did he live

For the answer—a million I'd give,
The marshalls are gone—oh deliver me,

The answers for this—in my head can't be,

I studied hard, but I guess home-room time was a little late,
But I just couldn't break that date!
It won't be long that I'll fret and scorn—

Over why this teacher was ever born,

Oh glory be—all men above—
There is the bell—the sound that I love,

At the end of that dreaded class—
I know I failed; I couldn't pass
And to others whose fate it'll be to pass through this door—

I hope more knowledge in your brain you'll store!

xx

These thoughts have been think before.

Guess who?
Guess where?
Guess when?

Alpha Mu Mu met in the library club rooms on Thursday, February 1, at 8:30. Two new members, Marjorie Smith and Evelyn Wahlgreen, were initiated. No pledges have as yet been added to the society.

Virginia Veach went to Vienna, Ill., between semesters. This is her home.

Mrs. Arends

Mrs. Gayle Beanland, missionary to Africa, spent an informal half-hour with the Butler girls after her vesper address, Sunday, February 4. Mrs. Beanland is a friend of Mrs. Arends'. The girls enjoyed her interesting descriptions of her life among the natives of Africa.

Freshmen Sponsor

Talent; Mr. Motley Acts As Major Bowes

Monday, January 29, was amateur night at Lindenwood, with Mr. Motley taking the part of Major Bowes. The entertainment was sponsored by the freshman class, on the opening night of the new semester.

The freshman octette sang, "I love You Truly" and "Marie". Shirley Carlson, who represented the senior class, gave a musical reading, which enumerated the activities of her class. Dr. Gregg read most amusingly an essay entitled, "Beyond the Alps Lies Italy".

Dr. Betz displayed his musical talent by singing "Tit Willow." He was accompanied by Miss Coulson. The juniors' skit was a typical scene in the dormitories at night. Clever impersonations of Dr. Dawson by Jean Osborn; Dr. Schaper by Margaret Sandoe; and Dr. Gregg by Sara Jefferson, were given.

The student board in action was the theme of the sophomore skit. Those who took part were: Margaret Chapman as Kay Wagner; Harriet Clearman as Mary Kern; Flo Vellenga as Terrie Larson; Ruth Dayton as Margaret Fischer; Joan Houghton as herself; Martha Sosey as Betty Kelley; Grace Quebbeman as Margo Dearmont; and Doris Nahigian as Mary Helen St. Clair.

Depicting a piano lesson was Miss Coulson as a piano teacher and Miss Englehart as her pupil. The evening's entertainment was concluded by Harris Ordeltide, who sang, "Without a Song" and "When I Have Sung My Song." He was accompanied by Miss Englehart.

Will Go To Kansas

As L. C. Delegate

Harriet Dalton has been chosen as the delegate to attend the Mississippi Valley District meeting of the International Relations Club meeting. It is being held at Southwestern College, Winfield, Kan., and is to be on March 8 and March 9.

The last meeting of the local International Relations Club was held on Thursday, February 1, in the Library club rooms. Dr. Schaper gave a very interesting talk on "Peace For Tomorrow".

Supper In Club Room

Mu Phi Epsilon entertained Miss Evelyn Swarthout at a seated supper in the Library Club Rooms immediately after her recital on Monday evening, February 5. A valentine motif was used in the supper with heartshaped favors and a centerpiece of red and white sweet peas.

Guests at the supper were: Miss Swarthout, Mu Phi Epsilon members, the music faculty, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Gauss, Dr. Roemer, Dr. Gipson, Miss Hooton, Dr. Harmon, and Dr. Malone.

Norma White went to Chester, Ill., between semesters to visit her sister.

Visiting Pianist Charms Lindenwood

Miss Evelyn Swarthout, who played in recital in Roemer Auditorium February 5, thoroughly charmed her audience with her gracious personality and great virtuosity. The rather unusual program which she chose showed her technical skill and tremendous power to good advantage. The speed with which she played combined with her clarity of tone made the program reach a very high standard of perfection.

Miss Swarthout played:

Tocata in C.....	Bach-Busoni
Sonata, Op. 22.....	Schumann
Minstrels.....	Debussy
Etude pour les Agrements.....	Debussy
Etude pour les Sonorites Opposees.....	Debussy
Feux d'artifice.....	Debussy
Konzert Paraphrase aus "Die Fledermaus".....	Strauss
Habanera.....	Ravel
At The Donnie Brook Fair.....	Scott
Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring.....	Handel

Next week, Dean Gipson will attend a meeting of the National Association of Deans in St. Louis. She is on the National Social Committee for deans.

Helen Margaret DuHadway who graduated from Lindenwood in 1939 has been very ill in a St. Louis Hospital suffering from pneumonia. She was rushed from her home in Jerseyville, Illinois in a critical condition, but now is reported to be recovering.

Cleo Cole, of Chanute, Kansas, was the guest of Winifred McQueen between semesters. Cleo is a former student of Lindenwood.

Lois Anderson spent last week end in Hanover, New Hampshire. While there she attended Winter Carnival at Dartmouth College.

Attending the Fancy Dress Ball the week end of February 2 at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Virginia, were Dorothy Miller and Kay Abernathy.

The girls from Irwin who attended Kemper Military School dance February 3, were Jean Bishop, Rose Marie Jones and Peggy Kimbrough. The same night Jane Merideth, Evelyn Cohen, Dot Owen and Martha Robbins attended the dance at Missouri Military Academy.

Patty Parnell and Silvia Wright went to the meeting of the Retail Merchants on January 30 and heard Ted Weems and Tommy Dorsey. Patty's mother was in the city and Silvia went as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Braufman.

Margaret Funk spent her extra time between semesters visiting in Manhattan, Kan.

Frances Cowan and Grace Gantt were guests at June Van Winkle's home in University City.

Jane Ramsey went home with her roommate, Dorothy Isbell, to Bonne Terre, Mo.

Jean Davis visited Joan Windsor at Boonville.

Kay Anderson spent the weekend with Maurita Estes and Estelle Blumeyer.

Betty Macon went to her home at Jefferson Barracks between semesters.

Alpha Psi Omega Initiates New Members

Alpha Psi Omega, the dramatic sorority, initiated three new members at its last meeting. The girls are Donna Brown, Doris Nahigian, and Sarah Jane Murfey. After the initiation ceremonies, officers were elected. Sara Jefferson is president; Helen Dondanville, vice-president; Donna Brown, treasurer; and Sarah Murfey, secretary. After the business meeting, the girls went to the tea room for a fried chicken dinner. Miss Scott, Miss Friess, and Miss Gordon were also at the meeting and the dinner.

June Oritz, Genevieve Herter, Susan Kent, Marilyn Shapiro, Petty Lord, and Marje Jamison were the Ayres Hall "luckies" when they saw "Gone With The Wind", January 27.

Mary Jo Shepard and Amelie Allen went to Evansville, Ind., between semesters and had a "perfectly glorious time". Evansville is the home of Mary Jo.

Gloria Mae Smith went to her home in Coal City, Ill., during the semester week-end and attended the President's Ball there.

Sue Riley and Peggy Davids spent the week-end between semesters visiting in St. Louis with Sue's cousin. From all reports, this was most enjoyable.

Martha Belle and Marion Take Life of Roger

Poor Roger is no more. He was executed on the morning of February 1, sacrificed in the interest of science. Roger's survivors include his beloved "wife", Rebecca, and his "son", Brother Rat. Roger was a hooded rat.

Martha Belle Baum and Marion Stumberg are doing research work on the problem of histology. Roger has been put on slides, his parts stained, and each of these parts is being studied carefully. So Roger, now, is only a past memory and part of a scientific experiment.
