“The Look Forward”

LARGEST NUMBER OF STUDENTS EVER REGISTERED AT LINDENWOOD

It was with the joyousness of a return to pleasant ways, that the student body, and the faculty in their seats in the galleries, assembled for the vesper service, Sunday evening, September 20, opening the year in Roemer Hall, where Dr. Roemer addressed them, taking the topic, “A Look Forward.” This first Sunday night service of the year seems to register always, as it were, a taking of vows, and the influence of thus “starting right” is felt throughout the school year.

The college reached its full capacity in the student enrollment on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, September 15-17. The weather was fine, and after making out their programs for the year, every student was engaged out of doors until Friday, when classes were organized. The new athletic field was viewed; the improvements in the Tea Room, including the remarkable “frigid air” experiment, to make ice-water available everywhere; and, best of all, the girls rejoiced to see “Mother Roemer” once more, and to fall into the regime of regularity which preserves health and fitness.

In order to direct the students in the ways of the college, there were daily lectures by members of the faculty, at the 4 o'clock hour in the first three afternoons. Dr. Roemer and Dean Gipson made addresses on Tuesday afternoon. Miss Barbara Eschbach, the new physical education director, talked about swimming and tennis and many other sports, on Wednesday, and Dr. Arthur Odenweller spoke as head of the department of education. Miss Florence Schaper discussed sociology and subjects akin, on Thursday, and there was a final lecture that day by Dr. Kurt Stumberg, college physician and member of the faculty and board of directors, who almost promised to keep everybody from being sick.

DR. ROEMER'S SERMON

“A new school year confronts us,” said Dr. Roemer, Sunday evening; “many are entering upon their first experience of college life. New conditions, different surroundings, strange faces from various parts of our land greet you. You will realize as never before that the old ways and familiar customs and people are giving way to a new life. You will never again be just the same girl you were before, for your vision of life will differ. Your college experience will be valuable only as you cherish the past and improve your present opportunities.

"Others are here who have been here before. You have been acclimated. You know from experience just what a freshman must pass through. It is yours not to lord it over the inexperienced, but help them profit by your service in getting them started right. The spirit of a school is dependent upon how it is atmosphereed by those who have gone before.

"Whether you are new or old students, there should be a similarity of purpose, to make the most out of your investment of time, your parents' investment in you, and the investment the college has in you, for no standard school like Lindenwood, whose primary object is education, can be maintained on tuitions. Education, public or private, is made possible by the generous gifts of others to help us.

"This world of ours owes much to those who look forward. A wise man once said, 'Where there is no vision, the people perish.' One who sees no farther ahead than his nose, sees his nose only. It is a drab life that penetrates no farther than the realm of the seen and tangible. 'Things which as seen were not made of the things which do appear,' is a statement of fact.

"Great buildings and cathedrals were not made of brick and stone and steel. They are the expressions of an unseen thought and purpose that brought them into being. The great differences in people are differences of sight. Some people go to Europe and see only the bill of expense. Others bring back storehouses of riches from the places they have visited.

AIMS OF EDUCATION

Naming different objectives in college life, Dr. Roemer spoke under four heads: (1) The Greatest of Life's Discoveries; (2) Conservation of Energy; (3) The Formation of Friendships; (4) The Meaning of Education.

"The greatest of life's discoveries is to find your place in life. We read and relate with interest the great discoveries. Edison, Marconi, Steinmetz, and countless others amaze us. But stop a moment. Greater than these is the humblest who finds the niche in life he can best fill.

" 'Study your aptitudes; learn that for which you are best fitted,' is more than a rhetorical phrase. It is the secret of happiness and true success. Disappointments, failure, misery, are often the result of trying to do something and be something for which we are not fitted.

"Leadership is urged, but the world's greatest need is not leaders; it is followers, co-workers, people who can nobly fill a subordinate place and be well qualified for it.

"Conservation of energy is to be remembered. We are amazed at what some persons can do in so short a space of lifetime. What is the secret? The answer comes back—WORK. The fruitage of labor cannot be overestimated.

"Someone has said, 'A lazy man is of no more use than a dead man, and he takes up more room.' Here are expressions from three great men: George B. Emerson, 'Every man's task is his life preserver;' Sir Walter Scott, writing to his son at school, 'I cannot too much impress upon your mind that labor is the condition which God has imposed on us in every station of life; there is nothing worth having that can be had without it;' Alexander Hamilton, 'Some people give me credit for genius, but the only genius I know is hard work.'

"While work is the secret of achievement, the value of it is dependent upon two things, the direction of energy and the evaluation of work to be done.

"Conservation is a big word. It is a word filled with meaning. There is so much waste, waste of time, of wealth, of effort. Some work hard, and have nothing to show for it. They are busy, and never achieve. Doing things with the least expenditure of time, means, and personal effort is life's secret.

"Trifling nothings are oftentimes purchased at a tremendous price. How much is it worth when done? is a question of supreme importance."

FORMATION OF FRIENDSHIPS

"Self-made people do not exist. It is impossible to live an isolated life. 'No savage is free,' says Sir John Lubbock. Physical and social environments control us.

"We are told in the Good Book that no man liveth or dieth unto himself. We are made and molded by others whose lives play upon ours. Men who have written their lives relate the impressions others have made upon them. Charles Kingsley, relating his successes, gave as the secret, 'I had a friend.' Pythagoras said, 'Friendship is one soul in two bodies.'

"I have always been careful in the selection of my intimate friends,' said a gentleman of discriminating judgment, 'I avoid close friendships when they cannot be mutually helpful.'

"Listen to Shakespeare's word on friendship:

"Those friends thou hast, and their adoption tried,
Grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel."

MEANING OF EDUCATION

"The purpose of education is twofold: to develop character, and to develop character that manifests itself in good works. Education that fails to reach beyond mind is useless. A brilliant mind may belong to a brilliant crook. A mental giant may be a moral dwarf.

"Body, Mind, Spirit, man's three in one, must be trained together to give education meaning.

"The greatest return you can make on your investment of time and the investment of money in you is to have it truthfully said of you: 'The world was made a little better because you lived in it.' The greatest work that you can perform is to have your deeds speak for you.

"When the statue of George Peabody was unveiled in London, the sculptor, Story, was invited to speak. Twice he touched the statue with his hand, and said: 'This is my speech, this is my speech.'

"Character needs no recommendation. It pleads its own cause."

A music program was given Sunday evening, under the direction of Miss Edwards, of the music faculty, who will this year direct both the Choral Club and the choir. Two new teachers were heard. Miss Blanche Criswell, public school music, sang, "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains," by Harker; and Miss Gertrude Isidor, violin, played "Legende," by Wieniawski.

Convocation Address

The formal convocation of Lindenwood College occurred on Monday evening, September 21. The speaker was Dr. Jay William Hudson, Professor of Philosophy at the University of Missouri. Several members of the Board of Directors were with Dr. Roemer on the platform, and the students sang Lindenwood songs. Dr. Hudson's topic was, "America Newly Discovered."

Who's Who?

If one looks through any encyclopedia or book of biography, it is seen that every outstanding fact about the subject is included. The fact that women have a way of changing their names when they get married is recognized, and the maiden name is included. (Men include the date of their birth, but, of course, women are too clever for that.) Lindenwood desires to keep the same sort of record. In some cases it is easy, but in other cases memory plays tricks, and when only a married name is given, there is difficulty, sometimes impossibility, in finding out who the sender was when she attended college. This "little name," as Elizabeth Barrett Browning put it, is what orients her with the friends of her day and time. The editor of the Bulletin hopes that the mothers of new babies, and the club members, and all "Lindenwood girls of yesterday" will remember to give every name they possess. As an index to confusion of names, it may be mentioned here that this year's roster of Lindenwood students shows no less than seven "Miss Smiths."

Outside Subscribers

Linden Bark is starting its first issue this fall, at about the same time as this copy of the Lindenwood College Bulletin appears, and there will be about thirty weekly issues, running through the school year, edited by the department of journalism. Postage is a matter to be considered, under the recent postal rulings, so that the staff is obliged to charge $1.50 for the year's subscription of those outside the college. The price for campus distribution remains one dollar, as in the past. Miss Fayette Wright, of Cedar Falls, Iowa, has the honor of being the first outside subscriber.

Counted Not His Own Life

Sympathy and sorrow, mingled with admiration for one who heroically "counted not his life that he should lose it," goes out to Mrs. A. F. Thompson (Rebecca Hopkins, 1921-23), of Helena, Ark., in her sad bereavement. While on a camping party not far from home, an accident occurred among the bathers, so that a young girl of the party was struggling hopelessly, at the point of drowning, in a deep current of water. The captain of the boat which had brought the party, and Mr. Thompson both sprang without a question into the dangerous current, to seek to save her life. They lost their own lives by the endeavor, although the young girl was saved. She and her mother, no less than the others, are very sad over the sorrow that has come to Mrs. Thompson, so recently married. The incident shows that it is not alone in war that one may be gallant and brave, but in daily life, and the valor of this young man is a memory worth while.

Mary Easton Sibley Fund Notes

EDITED BY CLARENCE A. BLOCHER, FIELD SECRETARY

What They Are Doing

One woman has already taken orders for nearly $100 worth of Christmas cards, for which she receives a good commission, for the Mary Easton Sibley Scholarship Fund. This is something that can be done in any city or in any town, however small.

Another woman reports that when she was canning her fruit this summer and fall, she set aside several jars for the Scholarship Fund and that she is now selling this to her friends and putting the money into the fund.

Still another says that she has saved $4.00 in pennies in the last two months. A penny isn't much, but if every former student would do as well as this one, the entire fund would be raised on time with little effort. Had you ever thought of that?

The Wichita Club came in with a substantial contribution in June and is "going to get more." This is one of our smaller clubs, and its success ought to encourage the other small clubs. It isn't always numbers that wins, but enthusiasm and determination.

What are you doing? Write and tell us, so that we may pass it on to others.

* * * *

The Two-Thousand Club

One of the alumnae recently said, "I want to give you my pledge for $30 and join the Two-Thousand Club." The name sounds good. Think it over. "The Two-Thousand Club." If 2,000 former students will each send in a pledge or a contribution, the thing is done. Some time ago a folder was mailed asking for such pledges or contributions, but up to the present time the response has not been as ready as we had hoped.

With 2,600 former students, it seems but reasonable to expect that at least 2,000 of them are willing to make personal contributions before June, 1927. In fact, we feel certain that you intend to do it; but, as we all oftentimes do in such cases, you just defer the matter until some later date.

However, if you but fully realized how important it is that we have these pledges so that we may receive larger gifts from outside people, we feel sure that you would respond at once. Join the Two-Thousand Club NOW, and let's fill the membership roll by November.

* * * *

Will You Help?

As has been said many times, "The Mary Easton Sibley Scholarship Fund can be raised only by each individual doing her part." This is not a Lindenwood College matter, but an affair of the alumnae and former students; and each one is in measure responsible for its success.

Hundreds of contributions have already come in accompanied by words of good cheer and encouragement, but there are yet many hundreds of former students who have made no response whatever. It is to such that we appeal.

We can't believe for a moment that there is anyone who ever came under the Lindenwood influence and imbibed the Lindenwood spirit that does not want to share in this work. Everyone wants to have a part in it. Send us your pledge or your contribution, and thus register the interest that we feel assured you possess.

Remember that in giving to this fund, you are giving to help the girls of the future to come to Lindenwood. Remember ber, also, that not one cent of your money will be spent, but that it will be invested in a permanent scholarship fund, the interest to be used to help the worthy girl who may need help. In this way, your dollars will be working for other people long after you are gone. As an opportunity for helping those that need it most, we know of nothing better.

Death of Mrs. Crandall

Hundreds of friends and acquaintances are saddened by news of the death of Mrs. Louis E. Crandall, which came by a press dispatch from Colorado Springs, Colo., September 16. Mrs. Crandall was formerly Janet Weber, a graduate of Lindenwood's music department in 1897. She was a strong supporter of the Lindenwood Clubs, wherever she happened to be. In 1920, when she was president of the St. Louis Lindenwood Club, there was an advance along all lines. In 1918 also, she was vice-president of this club. Her presence was often enjoyed at the college commencements and spring festivals.

Mrs. Crandall leaves two sons, John D. and Edwin W. Crandall. Her remains were brought to her old home at Barry, Ill., for interment.

"Same as Lindenwood"

Washington University has this year adopted the same plan as Lindenwood College in having as the head of its Journalism Department a man who is in active service on a daily newspaper. Mr. Clark McAdams, of the editorial staff of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, has been appointed, succeeding Prof. Basil G. Rudd. Two years ago, Lindenwood appointed Mrs. Julia C. Underwood, Religious Editor of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, as the head of its work in journalism.

How the girls looked as they hurried from the train, arriving for the fall semester.

Queen Sara's Appointment

Miss Sara Shomberg, Spring Festival Queen and A. B. of 1925, thought first about teaching, but through the Philadelphia College Club she fell into "the cleverest position one could imagine." This is to be assistant director of the Yellow Lantern Tea Room, across from the campus of the University of Pennsylvania, which is a lucrative appointment and will at the same time give her an opportunity to work toward her Master's degree, after hours. "Doesn't it sound too good to be true?" she writes.

* * * *

Miss Lucille Jordan (1922-24), of Sparta, Ill., confided to friends here her plans for a "radio entertainment act," done by four actors, who hope to get it on one of the best circuits. She is to do the singing part. It is to be staged from Chicago, if their hopes fulfill.

Miss Cora Silver, of Denver, Colo., who was at Lindenwood as student and teacher in 1901-4, and whose mother is also well remembered at the college, was a guest in St. Charles of Mrs. M. Linne-mann and family, for two weeks in September. Miss Silver's brother, Robert Silver, was formerly a Representative in the Missouri State Legislature.

Weddings

Miss Louise Child, so pleasantly remembered at Lindenwood during six years, as a student and as a teacher, was married Monday, August 24, to Mr. Oliver Parry Jones. Cards have been sent by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Child, the ceremony taking place at their home in Richmond, Mo. Miss Child, after completing the junior college course in 1919 at Lindenwood, went for one year to the University of Southern California, but returned again to the college that she loved so well, taking studies from 1920 to 1923, and receiving two degrees, A. B. and B. S. As a student she had many honors, being chosen to the honorary scholarship sororities both of the full college and the junior college. She was editor-in-chief of Linden Leaves, president of the Y. W. C. A., and a splendid executive on the Student Board, serving also as head of Jubilee Hall. She came back to the college in the fall of 1923, to teach in the English Department. Part of her work was as assistant in journalism, and she took a lively interest in the weekly "Linden Bark." For the last year she has taught English in the Richmond High School. The bridegroom is at the head of the Physical Education Department of this high school, and they will reside in Richmond.

Miss Janet Robinson's marriage to Mr. Russell Broughton, at Burlington, Iowa, was the occasion of a "gathering of the clans" for Lindenwood girls. Loyal to her old associations, the bride chose for her attendants all Lindenwood girls with the one exception of the bridegroom's sister, who happened to have attended college elsewhere. The ceremony, witnessed by about 800 guests, took place in the First Presbyterian Church of Burlington, and was followed by a reception to about 150 persons at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edgar Robinson. The bride's sister, Miss Miriam Robinson, who is now a student at Lindenwood, was her maid of honor. Other attendants were Misses Dorothy Page Wright, Mildred Carpenter, Carolyn Myll, Helen Lee Maupin and Elizabeth Broughton. The little flower girls were the bride's niece, Jeanne Robinson, and her cousin, Virginia White. Little Jeanne's father, Mr. Kenneth Robinson, the bride's brother, was one of the ushers. The bride graduated with the degree A. B. in 1924, and has been a successful teacher for the last year. Her aunt, Miss E. Louise Stone, is head of Lindenwood's Modern Language Department. After a motor trip in the East, Mr. and Mrs. Broughton are residing at 914 North Sixth St., Burlington.

Mrs. Lida Bergen Work (Lida Bergen, graduate 1896) was married on Thursday, June 18, at Topeka, Kan., to Mr. Ralph Foster Moore. Announcements have been sent out by the bride's sister-in-law and brother, Rev. and Mrs. George Edgar Bergen. They will reside at 1112 Topeka Ave., Topeka.

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gray Key, of Pine Bluff, Ark., of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Roma Mae Key, A. B. graduate 1924, who will be remembered as taking part in the commencement play of that season, to Mr. Alfred H. Diekman. The ceremony took place on Thursday, August 20.

Weddings—(Continued)

Miss Ruth Pixley, who was one of the romantic number of "engaged girls" in the last year at Lindenwood, was married at 8 o'clock Friday evening, September 4, at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clinton Pixley, 401 Carson road, Ferguson, St. Louis County, to Mr. Stanley Gordon Jones, of St. Louis. Mr. Jones is an Illinois University man. Invitations were sent to the college, and were reminiscent of the bright memories in the minds of a number of students, of house-parties at the Pixleys' residence. Miss Etolia Skelton, of Princeton, Ind., a former Lindenwood girl, was the bride's attendant. Mr. and Mrs. Jones are touring in the North, and will be at home after October 1, at 8006 Kingsbury boulevard, Clayton. The bride was a Lindenwood student for three years, from 1922 to 1925. Her classmates had a merry nickname for her, "Little Pix." Mr. Jones is a grandson of Dr. Irwin, and it was at the dedication of Irwin Hall that this romance began.

From O'Fallon, Mo., where a good many of the earlier Lindenwood students reside, comes announcement of the marriage, September 4, of Miss Caroline Platt McCluer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar McCluer, to Mr. George Montgomery Johnson. They were married in the Presbyterian Church of O'Fallon, Rev. William C. Colby, of St. Charles, officiating. The bride was at Lindenwood in 1909-10. About 250 relatives and friends were present at the church ceremony, and also attended a reception given by the bride's parents. Mr. Johnson is a civil engineer, a graduate of Washington University, and served overseas in the World War.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hamilton, of Okmulgee, Okla., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Jessie Elgin Hamilton (graduate, 1920, expression department), to Dr. Paul Mote, on Saturday evening, August 15. Society columns of the Okmulgee papers described the ceremony, which was before an improvised altar of clematis, pink roses, tuberose and euphoribi. The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of 31 years ago, of ivory satin with a tight basque and court train, combined with Duchess lace and valley lilies. She had several attendants, and 100 guests were present.

Invitations were received from Mr. and Mrs. Hal M. Smith, of Springfield, Ill., to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Helen Josephine Smith, a student at Lindenwood for two years up to last June, to Mr. Ralph Norton Baker, Saturday, September 19. It was an elaborate church wedding, at high noon, in the First Methodist Church of Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Morris, of Warrensburg, Mo., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Mary Margaret (1920-22) to Mr. George French Pinel, on June 10, at Warrensburg.

Invitations were received from Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Kready, to the marriage of their daughter, Helen Mable (A. B. '25) to Mr. Elmer L. Werner, Friday evening, September 11, at the home of the bride's parents, in Sikeston, Mo. Mr. Werner is in business in St. Louis, and he and his bride will reside at 6709 Plymouth avenue, St. Louis.

Matrimony prevailed over college attractions with Miss Mary Elizabeth Meyers, a student of last year, who was married at her home in Eldorado, Ill., on August 22, to Mr. Charles Oscar Flanders, Jr. The bride has written back, saying she will hold "a warm place in her heart" for Lindenwood. "If my happiness were not so great," says this bride, "I am afraid I would regret that I am not returning. I hope the girls who are coming in this year will be as pleased with the college as I was and am. How can I forget the good times we had at parties and dances, and the much-loved song, 'By the Sea Side,' that was rendered so often by Mr. Motley?"

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Durant have sent cards announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Virginia Durant (1921-22) to Mr. Clayton Meves Zinser, on Saturday, August 1, at Waukegan, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Zinser will reside at Peoria, Ill., at 1019 Hamilton boulevard.

Miss Mary B. Markham (1922-23) was married on August 16, to Mr. Julius Frohlich, of Independence, Kan., which city will be their future home. Announcements were sent by the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Markham, of Pittsburg, Kan.

Miss Almira Henrietta Kupka (1919-20) was married to Mr. Ernest Kemper, with a church wedding, at St. John's Episcopal Church in Denver, Colo., Monday, July 27. Announcements have been sent by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Kupka.

Announcement is sent by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Holdaway, of Sparta, Ill., of the marriage of Miss Annie Hold-away, their daughter, a home economics Lindenwood graduate of 1916, to Mr. David Brown Boyd, of Sparta. The bride has devoted her attention to the teaching of home economics, since she left Lindenwood, and has also done some graduate work in this subject. Mr. and Mrs. Boyd's home address, since September 1, has been 318 West Third St., Sparta.

The marriage of Miss Martha Stanton, of Chariton, Iowa, to Mr. Robert R. Micham, of Chariton, which occurred last winter, was omitted of record in this column. The bride was a student of 1921-22.

Pleasant for Faculty

Dr. and Mrs. Kurt Stumberg entertained President and Mrs. Roemer, and the faculty of Lindenwood, Thursday evening, September 24, with an extremely pleasant reception at their residence in St. Charles, at Sixth and Tompkins streets.

Giving Individually

The St. Louis Lindenwood College Club held its first session since vacation, at the Forest Park Hotel on Tuesday afternoon, September 15, Mrs. Joseph White presiding. Many of the members had not yet returned from distant trips, but those who were present determined to try to promote a movement for making gifts to the centennial scholarship speedily as individuals, remembering to place on each contribution the name of the club as well as the donor, so that the total St. Louis receipts may be increased. There are now 72 members of the club. Fruit punch and cake were served. There will be a program of speakers at subsequent meetings.

Venerable Traditions

Few institutions of learning have a record of such long service on the part of members of the Board of Directors as attaches to Lindenwood. Comparative figures on this subject have been brought to light by Miss Lucinda Templin, in her historical investigations looking toward the Centennial Book.

It is found that in the present board of 15 members, there are five whose terms have been continuous for terms of from 19 to 30 years. Dr. Roemer was a Director long before he was President of the College, having served in the former capacity since 1906.

Dr. B. Kurt Stumberg, College Physician and member of the faculty, also a member of the Committee on Buildings and Grounds, has been a director for twenty years. If the term of his father, the late Dr. John Stumberg, were counted, it will be seen that the Stumberg family has a line of succession of more than 40 years. Dr. John Stumberg served 22 years, from 1879 to 1901.

Rev. David M. Skilling, D. D., Vice-President of the Board, and a member of the executive committee, has been on the Lindenwood board since 1904, a period of 21 years, or practically ever since he came to Webster Groves as pastor.

Honors for the longest service among those now living, as members of the board, go to Rev. S. C. Palmer, D. D., Emergency Pastor of the St. Louis Presbytery, who has 30 years to his credit, and Mr. Robert Ranken, 28 years a member of the board, who is on its executive committee.

Of those who are no longer in his present life, Rev. Samuel J. Niccolls, D. D., former pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, was president of Lindenwood's board as far back as memory reaches, and his service as a member of the board extends over 41 years, from 1874 to his death in 1915.

The late Rev. James H. Brookes, D. D., has a record of 23 years on the board, from 1863 to 1866; Rev. Thomas Marshall, D. D., 25 years, from 1876 to 1901; and Rev. J. H. Hendy, D. D., 18 years, from 1901 to 1919.

Laymen serving more than 20 years on the board, besides Dr. John Stumberg, were the late Judge S. S. Watson, from 1853 to 1879; B. A. Alderson, 1863-1890; Samuel Copp, 1874-1895, and George S. Drake, 1882-1904. Almost a proaching this class was the late H. M. Noel, whose term lasted 18 years, from 1889 to 1907.

In College Anthology

A poem by Miss Helen G. Calder, entitled "Faith," is included in this year's edition of the College Anthology (Stratford Company), which is edited annually by Dr. Henry T. Schnittkind. Miss Calder has this honor for the second time, her poem on "Essences" having been in the Anthology of 1924, when she was in her senior year at Lindenwood. The new poem follows:

"For the things I do
I have gladness;
For the things I ought to do
I have sorrow;
For the things I have left undone
I have regret;
But for the things I am to do
God will give me strength."

* * * *

The Linden Bark this year will come out once a week, as in the past, but it is also to have a literary supplement, showing the best work of the girls along the line of extended articles. This will appear about once a month.

Using Her Art

Miss Ada Hemingway, of Clinton, Iowa, who spent two years at Lindenwood and specialized in Art, is opening a Gift Shop in Clinton this autumn, and she will herself make most of the articles offered for sale in her shop. In a letter announcing her plans to Miss Alice Linneman, head of the Art Department, she says: "See what you started!"

* * * *

Personals

Miss Betty Johnson has returned to her duties on the Sunday Magazine of the Globe-Democrat, after about three months spent in Europe, with the shipload of college young people tourists who made a much observed party abroad this summer. She spent four weeks in Paris, visited England and Italy, and other countries.

Miss Katherine Tinsman, B. S. 1924, and student-teacher, who is now teaching in Texas, spent a part of the summer visiting friends on Long Island, and returned by way of St. Louis, for a visit with her classmate, Miss Gladys Campbell, of University City. She will teach in Denison, this winter.

Miss Dorothy Page Wright went from her home in Webster Groves to be an attendant at Miss Janet Robinson's marriage to Mr. Russell Broughton. The two girls were in Europe together a little over a year ago, with Miss E. Louise Stone, of the faculty. On the way home, Miss Wright visited friends at Moberly, Mo.

* * * *

Working for Others

Miss Virginia Litzelfelner (1922-24) is teaching piano and voice in the Pattie C. Stockdale School, governed by the National Board of Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. She is also teaching chorus and art in the junior high school of Colcord, W. Va., once a week. She hopes that "a fine big school for both boys and girls" will be developed. A new dormitory is building.

"I often think of Lindenwood," she writes, "and the wonderful times we had in the Gym and in chapel. Am counting big upon coming back in 1927."

Births

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Richardson, of Long Beach, Calif., have announced the coming on August 20, of their new daughter, Barbara Jane, with a big California weight of 8 pounds and 10 ounces.

With white ribbons and her own baby card, Dorothy Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Calhoun, of Ft. Scott, Kan., announces her arrival, August 17. This baby's mother was formerly Miss Dorothy Howard, who attended Lindenwood, 1920-23.

Charles Moore Greenway, Ill., who was born the last day of June, is the son of Mrs. Charles M. Greenway, 2nd, of 722 Eleanor St., Kalamazoo, Mich. (Jack Horner, Class of '22.) His mother writes that he is so "active in his tub" that she hopes in a few years "he will be able to swim."

Little Marion Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Zieren (Mary Ferd, 1918), of Cairo, Ill., announces her advent on August 5, "weighing seven and one-half pounds."

Kansas City's Objective

"Every Lindenwood girl in Kansas City a member of the Lindenwood College Club, and every girl interested in the Mary Easton Sibley Scholarship Fund," this will be the splendid goal which Kansas City alumnae and former students are aiming at, according to the following account, sent by the correspondent secretary, Mrs. Edward B. Gray (Martha Miller).

The Kansas City Lindenwood Club met on Tuesday, September 1, at the University Women's Club, Thirty-eighth St. and Warwick Blvd. This is to be the meeting-place for the coming year, and the day of meeting will be the first Tuesday of each month.

After a delightful luncheon, the members and guests were welcomed by the new president, Mrs. P. F. Donnelly (Nell Donnelly). She outlined some of her plans for the winter, the two chief objectives being:

First—Every Lindenwood girl in Kansas City a member of the Lindenwood Club.

Second—Each girl interested in the Mary Easton Sibley Scholarship Fund.

There was a large attendance, and it was a pleasure to have present some of the girls who attended Lindenwood last year. The program was one of unusual interest to college women, as Miss Louise Chesney, who has just returned from China, where she teaches in a girls' school, gave a talk and showed many kodak pictures and curios, giving an insight into the customs and daily life of the Chinese college girl.

Mr. C. A. Blocher brought greetings from Lindenwood, and added a few interesting bits of news about the Scholarship Fund.

Miss Lillian Krauthoff, who has recently returned from a cruise on the Mediterranean, was greeted enthusiastically. * * * *

Wichita Contributing

The Wichita (Kan.) Lindenwood Club has voted to send a substantial contribution to the Mary Easton Sibley Scholarship Fund. The annual meeting, held in June, was an occasion of great enthusiasm, with about twenty present. Officers were elected, and Miss Frances Conklin, of Hutchinson, Kan., becomes president. She was a graduate, A. A., in 1918, and her college life showed a fine record of "activities," dramatic club, hikers' club, basketball, and honorary sororities. The secretary-treasurer elected is Miss Margaret Slavens, of Hutchinson, who has been at college for the last two years; and the corresponding secretary is Miss Elizabeth Owens, of Oxford, who has attended for the same period.

Chicago After Vacation

The Chicago Lindenwood Club met Friday, September 11, with Mrs. H. William Dinkmeyer (Lois Ely) and Mrs. Harry A. Swanstrom (May Beckman). The attendance of fourteen for the first meeting after the summer vacation was very gratifying.

A most delightful luncheon was served, and at the business meeting plans for programs for meetings for the coming year were discussed.

Entertained in Iowa

For the final Saturday before college opened, the Iowa Club secured the presence of Dr. Roemer at its annual luncheon, in the Hotel Fort Desmoines, Des Moines, Iowa. Dorothy Hall, who has now returned to her studies, assisted the officers and members of the club in entertaining.
