Irwin Hall Completed

"Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul,
While the swift seasons roll"

* * * *

SUCH is the legend that might be engraved above Lindenwood's progress. Each building has been better than the one before, and now comes Irwin Hall, to be dedicated October 24. Is it better than all that have gone before? Let the 80 girls who thronged into it a week ago answer. They have a view which is different from that of any other dormitory, as Irwin Hall faces north and south, while the others are east and west. Also, the new "dorm" is nearer The Gables and the main entrance, and it has the sweep of landscape over which for so many years the May Queen retinue has advanced. The tinkle of music, and the pageantry of nymphs and beautiful attendants come up like fairy lore from these grassy stretches.

Every room in Irwin Hall is an outside room, and as in all the other dormitories, every bed is a single bed. Bathrooms are so stationed that there is one for every four girls.

"Fudge rooms", two in number, identify this as distinctly a girls' college dormitory. Each has its electric stove. There is a kitchen besides. This does not mean that "meals" will be cooked in Irwin Hall, but it gives an opportunity for small entertainments or for groups of girls to "muss 'round", as all girls love to do. The recreation room in the basement, well furnished for a place of relaxation, is of the same size as the handsome parlor above, which merits a special description later on. A pressing and curling room is provided on the basement floor, and there is a large trunk room.

These things have been described, as appealing to the girls themselves, "from the inside looking out." But to girls and guests alike, the beautiful parlor of Irwin Hall, built along different lines from anything at Lindenwood heretofore, is wonderfully attractive. It is a long, rectangular drawing-room, with a fire-place at each end, and a line of many, many windows, the hangings of which are in old rose. Fluted mural pillars and other tracteries bring out decorative effects of the walls in bisque and old ivory. The lighting fixtures are in black and old gold, and on each side of the glass doors opening into the hall are two torchieres. The furniture is in French walnut, with upholstery of tapestry figured and plain, the latter fabric being used on the "settees for two," of which there are four in the parlor. The rugs are taupe velvet.

A pleasing effect in the hall is the balcony halfway up the broad staircase, on which stands a very long settee, equipped with cushions.

French walnut is maintained in all the furnishings throughout the house, and in the halls and other rooms outside the parlor the woodwork is in the same tone and the lighting fixtures are brown and gold. The students' rooms have at least two and about half of them three windows. The bath-rooms have tile floors and built-in tubs. The radiators are connected with the general college heating system. Walks have been completed, and the great trees stand undisturbed.

Picturesque Irwin Hall

St. Louis newspapers, the Globe-Democrat and Post-Dispatch, both carried large pictures of Irwin Hall, from architects' drawings, in their real estate sections on Sunday, August 3. The latter newspaper comments as follows:

"The growth of Lindenwood College has necessitated the building of a new dormitory, which will be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the fall term, about the middle of September.

"This building, which will be known as Irwin Hall, will accommodate 84 students. It faces Butler Way. In design it conforms with Roemer Hall, completed about two years ago, and other buildings on the campus, the general character of which is based on the domestic architecture of the Tudor Gothic period."

The Globe-Democrat's account emphasizes the fact that "students' rooms are arranged in suites with a private bath for every four girls." La Beaume and Klein are mentioned as the architects, and J. J. Wuellner & Son of Alton, Ill., as having the general contract, most of which has been sublet to St. Louis firms.

Irwin Hall's House-Mother

Miss Edna Hough, head of Irwin Hall, arrived ten days before school opened, and showed remarkable equanimity in the task of marshaling her hosts in a building entered for the first time. In this age of migratory Americans, almost every girl who lives in Irwin knows what "Moving Day" means, so that all co-operated in the motto, "Keep sweet", while necessary adjustments went on.

Miss Hough is already well known, as she has been at Lindenwood three years as house-mother of Sibley Hall. Her home is in Morgantown, W. Va., and she is a graduate of the Philadelphia School of Design. In former years she was an art teacher at Morgantown. Miss Hough loves flowers and plants, and has "a way" with them, which has done much to glory the campus paths and flower-beds. She is also greatly valued by the students as "first aid" at parties.

Irwinia

Information comes in from here and there, as to descendants and relatives of the Irwin family, in whom every one is of course interested just now.

Perhaps a number of the students contemporaneous with Dr. Irwin have not heard that Mr. Watson Irwin, the youngest son, so long a bachelor, has married in recent years. This was an overseas romance, as he met his bride, Miss Nancy McKibben, while both were in France, in war service. She was a daughter of Dr. William McKibben, of Lane Seminary, Cincinnati, O., of whom it will be remembered that he was one of the nominees for Moderator of the General Assembly when that body met in St. Louis in 1900, at the Washington and Compton Avenue Church. Dr. Charles Dickey, of Philadelphia, was the successful candidate, and after the election, the two marched down the aisle together, arm in arm,—the victor and the vanquished, to the applause of those present.

* * * *

Miss Constance McClusky, a granddaughter of Dr. Irwin, while singing at Lead, S. Dak., on a tour with the Huron College Glee Club, met her second cousin, Mr. Eugene Irwin, a former Mayor of that town, who is engaged in mining interests. He had gone to South Dakota about 35 years ago, and is a son of Dr. Irwin's brother, the late Capt. William Irwin, who died in St. Louis in 1909 and whose grave is at Jefferson Barracks.

St. Louis Girls

(From St. Louis Star, Society Column)

Miss Louise Nicholson of Columbia avenue, will return to Lindenwood College next month, as will also Miss Roslyn Cohen of Waterman avenue, and Miss Wilma Niederluecke of Montgomery avenue. Among other St. Louis girls who will be freshmen at Lindenwood in the autumn are Misses Adaline McBurney of Louisiana avenue, Evelyn Shirley of Clemens avenue, Erma Meier of Connecticut street, Barbara Fite of Lafayette avenue, Lucile Meck of De Tonty street, and Eunice Meyer of Lafayette avenue. Miss Ruth Van Alley of Webster Groves, Miss Mary Lucille Wickenden of Clayton, and Miss Ruth Pixley of Ferguson will also attend Lindenwood. The semester will open September 23.

Appears in Who's Who

The name of Miss Lucinda de Leftwich Templin, former dean of Lindenwood, is to be found in the 1924-25 edition of "Who's Who in America," a biographical dictionary of distinguished Americans published biennially by A. N. Marquis & Co. of Chicago. President Roemer has been in this respected volume for a number of years, but it is noteworthy that this is the first cataloguing of Miss Templin in the bright galaxy. It is also an interesting fact that although nearly 50 new names are chronicled from St. Louis and vicinity in the new Who's Who, the only name of a woman that is new from this section is that of Miss Templin.

This record mentions Miss Templin's authorship of the two books, "Reminiscences of Lindenwood College," 1920, and "The Newer Lindenwood," 1922. She is spoken of as Dean of Lindenwood since 1916; Missouri Representative National War Council, 1917, also Missouri War Council, Jefferson City; representative, National Commission on Care and Training of Delinquent Women and Girls; member American Academy Political Science, American Sociological Association, American Prison Association, National Commission on Prisons and Prison Labor, National Association Administrative Women in Education, National Society Vocational Education, American Association of University Women, Missouri Historical Association and other local societies, as well as a member of the N. E. A. and the D. A. R., Phi Theta Kappa, Pi Lambda Theta, and of the College and Town Clubs of St. Louis and the Women's City Club of New York.

Sibley Scholarship

Like a rolling snowball constantly growing larger, the impetus extends among the alumnae, to meet the goal in 1927 of an endowed scholarship at Lindenwood for Mrs. Mary Easton Sibley, the founder. Concerning this remarkable woman the older alumnae are coming forward in numbers, to tell of her ways and customs, her conversations which are still remembered, and her unwavering principles. It is almost impossible to think of Mrs. Sibley as a character of 100 years ago. She made her life so vivid, and those who were with her "pass on the torch" so that it would seem she will never be forgotten. It is believed that Mrs. Sibley, just as she was, would not be out of date in this present world. How she must have been laughed at then, for being an ardent "woman suffragist"! How womanly she was, in all her domestic responsibilities and her care of the girls, and yet how independent and courageous in her travels to California by way of Panama! Taking care of an invalid husband with sweetness and devotion for more than 20 years, she was still able to regulate a retinue of servants at home, to administer affairs at the college without in the least embarrassing the members of the faculty, and at the same time to keep up a cheerful and wholesome social life and to fulfill all her church duties. Such a woman deserves a memorial, and that is why it is succeeding so well.

More "Activities"

A letter from John Hamlin, Director of the College Bureau of the Republican National Committee, to Mr. Martin L. Comann, editor of the St. Charles Cosmos-Monitor, and local leader of Republican clubs, has been handed over to the college, asking that "a strong, live Republican Club" be organized at Lindenwood.

Mr. Hamlin says that the Republican National Committee is "undertaking the organization of permanent Republican clubs in leading colleges and universities throughout the country.

"The first step should be the formation of an Undergraduate Executive Committee of seven of the leading students, preferably three seniors, three juniors and one sophomore, to adopt and put into operation a set of by-laws similar to those now in force at over 100 colleges. I am sending a complete set of material for the Republican Club."

It is supposed that the Democratic National Committee will likewise busy itself in organizing Lindenwood clubs, and it remains to be seen whether or not the girls from Wisconsin will see cause to start a club for La Follette.

Rev. David M. Skilling, D. D., Vice-President of Lindenwood's Board of Directors, spent August with his wife and daughter at Detroit and Bay View, Mich.

Mrs. L. E. Crandall (Janet Weber, Mus. Grad. '97), of Chicago, has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law in St. Louis recently.

Lindenwood College Will Honor Dr. Roemer

Tenth Anniversary of Educator as President of School to Be Celebrated

(From St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

"Roemer day" will be observed at Lindenwood College, St. Charles, Tuesday morning, to honor the tenth anniversary of the Rev. John L. Roemer as president of the college.

The Rev. John W. MacIvor, president of the board and pastor of Second Presbyterian Church, will preside. The Rev. David M. Skilling, vice-president of the board and pastor of Webster Groves Presbyterian Church, will give the principal address. Others who will participate are the Rev. S. C. Palmer, retired; the Rev. R. S. Calder of the Bible chair at Lindenwood and the Rev. B. P. Fullerton, for many years home mission secretary of the Presbyterian Church in the South.

Dr. Roemer became president of Lindenwood shortly after large donations were made to the college by the late Col. James Gay Butler, whose gifts and legacies to the college, with those of his wife, totaled about $4,000,000. Four large buildings have been erected since Dr. Roemer became president. The campus has been enlarged from 34 to 138 acres. The college has grown from a junior college to an accredited four-year college for girls. Its attendance has quadrupled.

Lindenwood Golf Course Enlarged 50 Per Cent

(From St. Louis Globe-Democrat)

Golf playing bids fair to be more popular than ever at Lindenwood College in the coming season. The golf course is being enlarged 50 per cent, and will now cover about twenty acres out of the total campus of 138 acres. It is the custom each year to award a medal to the student making the best golf record, this being counted as credit in the activities of the physical education department. Beginning with September, there will be a nine-hole course. Last year, it was a six-hole course.

Hockey is also likely to be a leading sport of the fall, up to Thanksgiving. Added equipment has been purchased for hockey playing, to meet the needs of the increased number of students. A large amount of equipment has also been purchased for inside work in the gymnasium. The "playground" on the campus, on which instruction is given to classes in public school playground work, has been rearranged and a number of new swings added.

Miss Marjorie Weber will return as director of the physical educational department. She has spent part of the summer directing a girls' camp in the Adirondacks, and is now at her parents' home in New York City.

"To The Third Generation"

Miss Dorothy Dunseth of Washington, Ind., who is registered to begin college life at Lindenwood in the current semester, comes of a family that has shown its faith by its works, in sending two generations of girls to Lindenwood, and now the third.

The grandmother in this family (Mrs. Thomas Dillard) was formerly Miss Belle Hain, a student of Lindenwood in 1875. Nineteen years later, 1894-95, she was sending her daughter, Miss Ethel Dillard, now Mrs. J. M. Dunseth, to Lindenwood. The latter had as her room-mate Miss Dell Hibbard, of Montgomery, Mo., now Mrs. H. E. C. Tucker.

Miss Gross in Paris

Highest diplomas for Performance and Teaching have been awarded at the American Conservatory at Fontainebleau, near Paris, France, to Miss Ariel Gross of the Music Department of Lindenwood College. She departed last May for France and has been studying in the American Conservatory for the last three months. She is now returning to Lindenwood. Her special work is piano.

* * * *

Births

Three baby birthdays occur in an August series, one directly after the other. They may be part of the future chronicles of the college, and two of the number at least may be Lindenwood students in years to come. They are as follows:

A son, Frank Edward, Jr., August 20, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Cootes, at Wichita, Kans. Mrs. Cootes was formerly Miss Millye M. Detrick, of Caldwell, Kans., who attended Lindenwood, 1918-20, and received B. M. in Piano.

A daughter, Martha Ann, August 21, to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nemeč, of Morrillton, Ark. Mrs. Nemeč as Martha Scroggins, was in 1917-19 much interested in art at Lindenwood. Following her two college years, she spent three years at the Art Institute in New York City.

A daughter, Janet Emmeline, August 22, to Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Coster, of Muscatine, Ia. Mrs. Coster (Miss Mary Rider of Muscatine, Ia.) was at Lindenwood eight years ago, 1916-17.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent M. Orear (Miss Mary C. Fray, 1918-20), have sent cards from Worthing, S. D., announcing the advent of a little daughter, Jean Fray Orear, August 22. Mrs. Orear was a bride of August, '93.

Traveling In France

Letters from Mrs. M. C. Sherburne (Agnes McCormick, Graduate Lit. Dept. 1881) have been received by Miss Alice A. Linnemann, telling of pleasant touring in the Auvergne mountains of France. Mrs. Sherburne writes that her trip is to be a protracted one, saying: "Just now we are in La Bourboule, l'Auvergne, the mountainous part of France, where the mineral baths are located in the beautiful valleys. We are enjoying the several weeks' stay very much, as the roads are fine for motoring, and the views beautiful, and the mountain meadows are full of dainty flowers,—the same kind we cultivate in our gardens at home.

"Our permanent address is Villa Sommeille, Paris, XVI-e, France. The mail follows us about. It is delightfully cool up here."

Mrs. Sherburne's home is in Tacoma, Wash. She has made several foreign tours, and traveled in Egypt and Palestine, as well as in Europe.

Honored in Home Town

Below are some of the nice things which are said about one of the new teachers in the English Department, Miss Floy Winks, in her home town, Attica, Ind., in the Fountain-Warren Democrat:

"During her studentship at De Pauw University, Miss Winks was editor of the De Pauw Magazine, and was reporter on the De Pauw Daily. She is also a member of the following educational activities: Theta Sigma Phi, journalistic (national); Mortar Board, journalistic and literary (national); was president of the Women's Self-Government Association, being elected by popular vote of the student body; member of Alpha Chi Omega Sorority; member of Tusitala, a De Pauw University journalistic society.

"Lindenwood College, to which she has been appointed, is a school of very high standards, and Miss Wink's selection as a member of its faculty in competition with many other applicants is a distinct compliment to her splendid attainments."

Personals

A summer visitor at the college was Mrs. Karl D. Weaver, secretary of the Indianapolis (Ind.) Lindenwood College Club, who was accompanied by her husband on an inspection of "the newer Lindenwood," August 28. As Miss Georgia Howard she was a graduate in the Seminary Department in 1907, and continued at Lindenwood for another year after that. She held several class offices, and was president of the sorority, Phi Delta Sigma. Her Indianapolis address is Winthrop avenue and Thirty-fourth street.

Rev. R. S. Calder, D. D., of the Bible chair, gave a series of lectures in July at Trinity University, Waxahachie, Tex. He is spending his vacation in preparation of a book, Studies in the Book of Genesis, which he expects soon to have published.

Miss Ruth Kern, A. B. '24, former editor of the Bulletin, has accepted a position with the East St. Louis Daily Journal Publishing Co. She will supervise a new department, which has to do with the publishing of college annuals.

Dr. Johnson Returns

Dr. Arden R. Johnson, professor of Chemistry, has spent a pleasant and profitable summer in England. He attended some brief courses of lectures, but the most of his time was occupied in tours to places of historic and scenic interest.

Four From Sedalia

Mrs. R. M. Johns, of Sedalia, Mo., was the chaperon of four new freshmen who matriculated last week. All were graduates of the Sedalia High School. In the party was her own daughter, Miss Laura Johns. Another member was Miss Martha Shortridge, whose mother, Mrs. A. L. Shortridge (formerly Miss Martha Maclay, of Tipton, Mo., a graduate of '93) and aunt, Miss Laura Maclay a graduate of '94, were both former Lindenwood students. The two other girls entering from Sedalia were Misses Judith Van Dyne and Frances Trader.

Weddings

The first of the 1924 graduates to become a bride is Miss Keo Richards, B. A., who on Tuesday evening, September 16, was married to Mr. Earl Eugene Sutton, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Earl Richards, 515 East First avenue, Hutchinson, Kans. It was rumored, as school was closing, that she would return to Missouri, to teach History in a County seat high school, but Linden Bark added a skeptical comment at that time: "Seeing is believing, Keo." In the senior class play of the last season, Miss Richards played the part of "The Priest".

* * * *

"Jack" Horner (Miss Julia Horner, B. S., 1922) can no longer be so called, for she is now Mrs. Charles Moore Greenway, Jr., according to an announcement received from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Horner, of Grand Rapids, Mich., at whose home the wedding took place, Tuesday, September 2. Her affectionately given nickname at Lindenwood was an evidence of her popularity, which was further shown by the fact that she was president of the Athletic Association. Up to date, she is the only girl who ever wrote two Lindenwood prize songs in succession,—first, the words for a prize song in 1921, and secondly, the words and music for the prize song of 1922.

Cupid is gunning very near home, when matrimony takes the treasurer of last year's Sophomore class. Miss Helen Holmes, dramatic star, French conversationalist, and member of the college Athletic Association, was married, August 24, at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ernest Holmes, in Orrville, O., to Dr. Laurence Grant Mullineux. Miss Holmes' part in "Smilin' Through," the Mayday play of 1923, when she was a freshman, is still remembered.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wesley Fort, in cards recently received, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Fort (1916-18), to Mr. Robert Percy Nelson, Saturday, August 30, at the home of the bride's parents in Kansas City, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will live in Chicago, and will be at home after October 1, at Hotel Stanleigh.

* * * *

Miss Elizabeth Walton, a freshman of 1924-25, was married to Mr. William Darr Pickett, Tuesday, September 9, and will reside at 7341 Main street in Kansas City. Cards have been sent by her mother, Mrs. George Kenyon Walton, at whose home in Kansas City the wedding took place.

Her Father a Candidate

A personal interest in the gubernatorial contest in Missouri is given to Lindenwood students by the fact that Dr. Arthur W. Nelson of Bunce-ton, the Democratic candidate for Governor, and recent host of John W. Davis, candidate for President, is the father of Miss Rilye Nelson, who was a student at the college in 1921-22, and made many friends.

Governors show a penchant for sending their daughters to Lindenwood, and few seasons pass without one Governor's daughter being enrolled. Miss Lillian Hinkle, daughter of New Mexico's Governor, has returned for her second year.

"When Do We Eat?"

"Give me room according to my strength," seems to have been the appeal of Miss Cora V. Walter, dietitian of the college, and the answer has been adequate. It is safe to say that with the extensive additions of the summer, no college in the country has now a larger, better equipped kitchen, or a dining-room more spacious and attractive.

The kitchen is as large as the dining-room used to be. Its white enameled walls define a room 75 feet long. The ranges in the center, in three sections, are covered with a huge galvanized hood, to which large galvanized pipes are attached which carry off the vapors to a ventilating system out of doors. This new method is designed so that no odors shall reach the dining-room. The new Monel metal which keeps bright without polishing, is used on the long tables called "steamers", where plates are kept hot, and food for extra entertainments. Equally extensive tables are the "coolers" for salads and desserts. Each of these has inner shelves and also tray shelves extending the length of the table in tiers above.

Two big new shining coffee-urns are in place, each of which is barrel-size. Beside them is the new electric "bread-slicer" which passes on the bread like lightning. The pastry cooks have their own part of the kitchen, and for them there are electric ovens like little houses, with tile shelf after shelf. The electric dish-washer is as effective as in the past, and power has been given to other utensils,—a "pudding-mixer" of copper lined with block tin, over 3 feet in diameter and swinging on a crane; and two "mixers", one of the Reed and one of the Hobart patent. Among the things to be "mixed" is mashed potatoes, which might be measured by the tierce.

Back by the stoves first mentioned are three aluminum steamers, and two roasters, each of which will be used pretty constantly. Careful estimates were made, so that the size of all the equipment should be sufficient to provide for the school of more than 500. In no particular is this demonstrated better than in the big case for chipped ice. It is a Geneva's chest, so large that two or three beautiful maidens might hide therein. The refrigerator proper, across the entry way, is itself a large room, with storage shelves, and tons of ice on a platform above.

The floor of the kitchen is of cement, with every facility for quick cleaning. Light is given from a sky-light dome with eight windows, which has been built this season, as well as from the side windows. The electric lighting is also ample.

A wing to the north has been added to the dining-room, which gives another wall for windows, and a view is now afforded to the south, west and north. About 50 per cent more space is added. The entire dining-room has been re-decorated in rose tan and ivory, with a line of onyx-tinted, stained-glass windows just below the ceiling, above the other windows.

Aids to Miss Walter

Because of the approaching marriage of Miss Julia Slack (in November) who has been Miss Walter's assistant, a new assistant in the kitchen has been provided in Miss Dorothy Chadwick, of Boone, Ia., who is a graduate of the Boston School of Domestic Science.

There will also be a new assistant in the dining-room, this post being created to meet the need of the larger student body. Miss Eula Sanford, of Washington, Ind., has been appointed. She comes from Simmons College.

Texarkana Claims Judge Dale

News items have been received from the Texarkana (Tex.) Lindenwood College Club, as follows.

Lois Dale was recently appointed Judge of the Miller County Court. She is the first woman judge in Arkansas.

Edwina Reeves sailed, the last of August, for Switzerland, where she will study at Lausanne this winter.

Miss Bess Whitmarsh, after a summer in Europe, will resign her position with the Central School of Hygiene and Physical Education in New York City, and will spend the winter in Texarkana.

Miss Carol Whitmarsh will visit a Wellesley friend, Miss Martha Renault, in Paris, until November.

The Lindenwood College Club of Texarkana met at the Yellow Dragon Tea-Room, August 23, Judge Lois Dale presiding. After a delightful luncheon, followed by many amusing reminiscences, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

- President, Mrs. John Ware Holman (Marguerite Whitmarsh).
- Vice-President, Miss Christine Young.
- Secretary, Miss Betty Townsend.
- Treasurer, Mrs. Henry Lewis (Catherine Brennan).

Besides those mentioned, Misses Maurine Sanderson, Hazel Coley, and Mesdames Lewis A. Henry (Sadie Bell) were in attendance.

Greeted Dean Gipson

Dean Gipson, accompanied by Miss Alice Linnemann, of the faculty, attended the first fall meeting of the St. Louis Lindenwood College Club, which was a semi-formal affair, at the Forest Park Hotel. The program was in charge of the new official board.

Iowa Club Entertainment

Mrs. F. M. Larmer (Margaret Peck, graduate of 1916 and May Queen of the same year), presided as a charming hostess, according to accounts brought back by Miss Alice A. Linnemann, guest of honor at a large bridge party given by the Iowa Club, September 5, at the Des Moines (Ia.) Country Club. The Iowa Club is one of the newer Lindenwood clubs, and Mrs. Larmer, whose home is 4309 University avenue, Des Moines, is the president.

Chicago Club Is Patriotic

(Sent by Ann Whyte Gentry, Secretary)

September 12th being Defense Day, the Chicago Lindenwood College Club luncheon-table was decorated with patriotic colors. Silken flags on standards and in groups, with greenery, graced the center of the long table, and in the middle was a flag of the Land of the Rising Sun. Since the Educational Society of Japan endorsed the observance of the day, saying that "Education leads to peace," it was thought fitting by the hostesses, Mrs. George Lown and Mrs. E. R. Gentry, that that country's flag should be featured in the day's celebration.

Mrs. Leland Cunningham, formerly Martha Lemmon of St. Charles, was a guest.

Baby spoons were given to Mrs. K. W. Colegrove, Mrs. William O. Davis, Mrs. S. C. Stout, and Mrs. H. A. Swanstrom. These spoons have the Lindenwood crest.

* * * *

Mrs. W. K. Roth (Anna Haeussler, Lit. Grad. '91), former president of the St. Louis Lindenwood College Club, spent the summer at home on Pershing avenue. It is the first time in 21 years that she has braved the season in the city, and even yet she may flit away on a motor trip.
