Multifactor Authentication Change

On February 27, Microsoft is enabling a new method to accept Push Notifications from your authenticator application. When a user responds to an MFA (Multi Factor Authentication) push notification using the Authenticator app, they will be presented with a number. The number needs to be typed into the app to complete the approval.

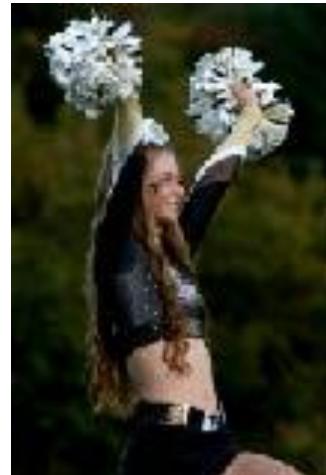

Unfortunately, Apple Watch will no longer be supported for Multi-Factor Authentication. We recommend you uninstall the Microsoft Authenticator Apple Watch app because you must approve notifications on your phone.

Announcing Employee Resource Groups at Lindenwood

We would like to announce the kickoff of Employee Resource Groups at Lindenwood. ERGs provide a catalyst for faculty and staff to get engaged and contribute to the Universities overall DEI efforts to attract and retain a diverse workforce and to foster an inclusive culture. This also aligns to our strategy of Adapt, Build and Engage. DEI is embedded in our Adapt pillar.

Q2 Moments

Katie Zingg is such a knowledgeable, helpful, and kind professional. Many of us have worked with her recently and noticed her diligence and friendly customer service with everyone she encounters. She is a great addition to the LU community and Athletics department. Thank you, Katie, for your time and help with the behind-the-scenes work with our volunteers and communication needs. Your knowledge and experience have truly helped with the transition, and we appreciate you!

Cindy Lane is so friendly, accommodating, and willing to help others. I recently connected her with a new adjunct and I know Cindy will show her more than I ever could on Canvas. I call her the Canvas guru! I am so grateful for her expertise paired with kindness! She has such a sense of empathy for those who don't quite understand the intricacies of the IT world. She sends videos and so many tips to help. We are really blessed to have her here.

Signature Assignments

February 16, 2-3 p.m. and 3-4 p.m.

Lindenwood Learning Academy, LARC 009 and Online

Signature assignments are assignments we use in the classroom to assess our outcomes. In this workshop, we will take the assignments we are already implementing and ask the questions: How does this assess my course outcomes, program outcomes, and graduate attributes? How does this align to rubrics? Or do rubrics need to be developed? What makes my assignment signature? How could this assignment be scaffolded with other courses in my program? Join us as we ask and work through these questions and learn more about using signature assignments in our courses!

ChatGPT and the Future of College Writing: Handling Plagiarism Concerns
February 17, 11 a.m.-noon
Lindenwood Learning Academy, LARC 009 and Online

This workshop aims to provide educators with an introduction to ChatGPT, a powerful language model developed by OpenAI, and its potential applications in the classroom. Understandably, teachers have concerns about misuse of this tool, in particular its potential for plagiarism that cannot be detected with the usual tools. This workshop will review the problems, as well as possibilities offered by ChatGPT, offer strategies for faculty to prevent plagiarism, demonstrate tools to help detect bot-written documents, and suggestions for how to teach with, rather than against, this new web tool (this abstract was, in its first draft, written by ChatGPT).

This session is for anyone who wants to develop better plagiarism prevention strategies, as well as anyone who is curious about the potential of this new tool for written communication. Dr. Elizabeth Fleitz is the facilitator.

Enhancing Cognitive Complexity in CLOS and Assessments
February 21, 1-2 p.m.
Online

Betsy Melick and Robyne Elder will facilitate this interactive workshop on increasing the level of cognitive complexity in course learning objectives and setting rigorous standards for learning. This workshop will address needs for cognitive complexity, according to both the Graduate Attributes and RISE Project. We also will work on aligning major assessments with

Make Blue Hats for #HatNotHate - Stand Up to Bullying
February 19, 3-5 p.m., February 22, 6-8 p.m.
Lindenwood Learning Academy, LARC 009

#HatNotHate is an anti-bullying initiative for K-12 students across the country. During the month of October (National Bullying Prevention Month) participating schools get an all-school assembly (in person or virtual) from #HatNotHate educators and each student receives a handmade knit or crochet blue hat to reinforce that we all can and should spread kindness! Last year, #HatNotHate collected over 65,000 hats and, this year, the Lindenwood community has an opportunity to join in the work.

At hat making sessions, we will have knitting looms, crochet hooks or knitting needles for you to borrow for making blue hats.

Yarn will be provided (while supplies last) and finished hats will be collected.

Google Level 1 Training

February 22, 7-9:30 p.m.
LARC 117

Certified Google Trainer, Dr. Tina Lauer, Instructional Technology Specialist at St Charles School District and Lindenwood School of Education Adjunct Instructor, will host a Google Level 1 Training. Dr. Lauer will guide you through a hands-on workshop that will teach you the ins and outs of Google, as you prepare for your Google Level 1 exam.

This event is free of charge to all LU students, staff, and faculty.

Familiarity with Google Tools is essential for the LindenTeach Internship and the Student Teaching Experience for College of Education and Human Services students. If students obtain Google Level 1 Certification, they will have an automatic advantage in both courses and have an important assignment accomplished. A laptop is required for this session.
