Q2 Moments

Every semester, when hiring new student staff or dealing with staffing issues, Jenna Wehner is there to solve our problems. Between talking students through onboarding issues, dealing with adapting and changing start dates, Jenna is always there. She is a major resource for the student workers.

I was teaching my chemistry lab Monday afternoon and could not figure out what was wrong with the instrumentation I was using. Dr. Scott Hasty offered to help. With his problem-solving skills, we got the instrument back up and functioning, which allowed the students to finish collecting the data they needed for the experiment. Without his assistance, I would have had to reschedule the experiment! Thanks for your assistance and willingness me and the students!

Today, Jared Lex walked one of our students to the HR office so he could ask questions about student employee positions on campus. Lex provided support and ensured the student understood the information provided. Lex was patient and professional, pointed out concerns for the student to think about and offered suggestions for solutions. Lex gently guided the student in a realistic direction, while allowing the student to take responsibility for his actions and decisions. After we had our conversation, Lex offered to take the student to the Career Services Office to pursue additional options. Lex worked extremely well with this student and embodies our Q2 service excellence model to the fullest!
