Vol. 89

St. Charles, Mo., September, 1919

No. 3.

Entered at the St. Charles, Missouri, Post Office as second class matter.

MISS ROSE M. SWEENEY,
Assistant Dean of Students and Head of Butler Hall.

Miss Rose M. Sweeney, formerly Head of Niccolls Hall, returns to Lindenwood College the coming year as Assistant Dean of Students and Head of Butler Hall. When Niccolls Hall was dedicated Miss Sweeney took charge of that building and for two years gave most satisfactory service to the College. Last year she retired from the College to be with her brother's family in California during the war. Her brother, Lieut. Col. Walter Sweeney, after distinguished service on Gen. Pershing's Staff, has returned to America and by order of the War Department will be stationed at Washington, D. C.

Miss Sweeney has a host of friends among the Lindenwood girls. Her activities at the College during the early period of the war will not be forgotten. As a member of the Y. W. C. A. she was untiring in her efforts to develop strong, cultured Christian womanhood.

Upon special invitation she returns to Lindenwood to be Assistant to Mrs. Roemer and Head of Butler Hall.

READY FOR THE OPENING.

After a strenuous summer's work everything is being shaped for the fall term of school, which begins September 10. Many improvements have been made for the better accommodation of the largest enrollment in the history of the College. A few changes have been made in the faculty. Some of our former teachers have accepted other positions during the summer, others have entered into matrimonial alliances, some are on leave of absence. The new teachers are experts in their work and experienced.

MISS MARGARET SPAHR

Miss Margaret Spahr, teacher in the History Department, is a resident of Princeton, N. J. She is a graduate of Smith College, class of 1914, and took her Master's degree at Columbia University, N. Y. Dr. Cutler of Smith College says of her: "She comes from an exceedingly able family. Her father, who died some years ago, was professor in Columbia University. Her mother was a graduate of Smith College, 1883. Both Professor and Mrs. Spahr were prominent in social work, Mrs. Spahr being one of the founders with Vida Seudder of the Rivington Street Settlement in New York City. Her uncle, Prof. Henry Fine, was for several years dean of Princeton University and one of the ablest men in the country in mathematics. Miss Spahr was a successful tutor of her fellow-students in College. She was popular and helpful. She was the first student in rank in her year on the Phi Beta Kappa list, and extremely strong all round in a very broad course." Miss Spahr comes to Lindenwood after a successful experience in teaching History in Miss Fine's School of Princeton, N. J.

MISS ELEANOR B. MORELAND

Miss Eleanor B. Moreland is a graduate of the University of West Virginia, where she took B. S. and M. A. degrees. After taking her Master's degree she entered upon her career as a teacher, specializing in Chemistry. She is a resident of Morgantown, W. Va., and comes to us highly commended, by the University from which she graduated, as a scholar and teacher.

MISS MARGARET R. GILL

Miss Margaret R. Gill, has accepted the position of Head of the Home Economics Department. Miss Gill was a teacher in the Home Economics Department last year and proved herself a most capable teacher. She will succeed Miss Grace Godfrey, who has been called to be head of the Home Economics Department of Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, Pa.

MISS HAZEL BROWN

Miss Hazel Brown who will have charge of the Domestic Art department was born in Lathrop, Mo., and received her early education in the high school of that city. After a course in the State Normal at Springfield, Mo., she taught one year in the Lathrop public schools, then went to the University of Chicago to specialize in Domestic Art. At the completion of two years in the University of Chicago she was granted the degree of Ph. B. Miss Brown comes especially well equipped for her work.

FROM MARTHA SCROGGIN

Dear Dr. Roemer:

I had such a lovely time at the Lindenwood dinner last night, that I think you should have a little glimpse of it. O, we had a beautiful time getting acquainted.

I think there must have been about sixty, or maybe a few more, there, including the "In-laws," meaning the husbands. Miss Linnemann was a lovely hostess, and I'm sure she has done nobly in getting up this Lindenwood Club here in this seething city. I'm most certain that the club will be a success because all were so interested.

Some of the "girls of yesterday" told of their experiences when at L. C. and also the "in-laws" related a "few" interesting stories. And of all things, Dr. Roemer, Miss Linnemann asked me to tell of Lindenwood today. I do hope I said everything good that is always said about L. C. because I think L. C. can never get enough praise and of course it's the machinery behind that makes the thing.

We sang some songs, and I do hope that we made a striking and loyal impression upon the "girls of yesterday."

I want to thank you for the dinner, Dr. Roemer, because I'm certain that you have had a strong pushing hand in making Lindenwood what it is and shall be. My only regret is that you weren't there last night to enjoy meeting the old and very loyal girls.

Give Mrs. Roemer my love,

Sincerely,

MARTHA SCROGGIN.

New York City.

MISS VERA WEST

Miss Vera West, teacher in the English Department, received her Bachelor's and Master's degrees at Cornell, 1912 and 1915 respectively. In 1913 and 1914 she taught in the high school of Tabor, Iowa; 1915 to 1917, Emmetsburg, Iowa; 1918-1919 Westfield, Ill. She has had a special course in English and Journalism in the University of Chicago.

MISS OLIVE A. ROUCH
Formerly Secretary of the College as she appeared in France in her Red Cross uniform.

Miss "Ollie," as she is known to L. C. girls is back from France where under the Red Cross banner she ministered to American boys in hut service.

When she and her sister Celeste, who was also engaged in Red Cross work in France returned, the town of St. Charles turned out to welcome them home. Her brother Oswald who did valiant service in the American Army preceded his sisters in the "home coming." An account of the reception given in honor of the three is given by the St. Charles Cosmos-Monitor as follows:

The reception which took place Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julius F. Rauch on Fifth and Jefferson streets in honor of their two daughters, Misses Celeste and Olive and their son Oswald who recently returned home from France was a very pleasant and enjoyable social affair. There were between three and four hundred friends of the young people on the lawn during the evening who were glad to welcome the young ladies and young man back to their home in St. Charles and to congratulate them upon their safety in the war zone and their safe voyages over the seas. Friends were glad to see them back home, but no more so than were the young people to be safely home again in this, the best, and most favored country on earth. The guests mingled on the lawn during the evening and enjoyed social conversation and enjoyed themselves.

The Cosmos-Monitor joins friends in welcoming the young ladies and the young gentleman back home and congratulates them upon their safe return and their patriotism in going to join in the fight for humanity.

Depositing her "Allowance" from Home.

MISS KATHLEEN E. CAUFIELD

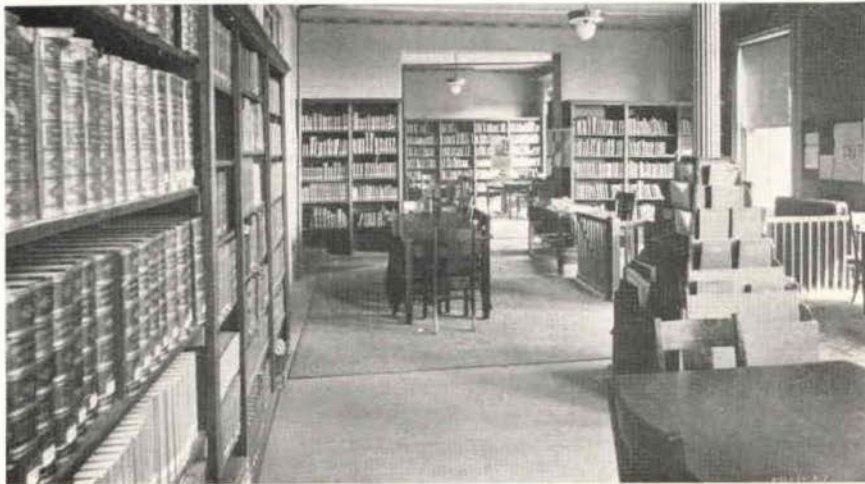

Miss Kathleen E. Caufield of the Romance Language Department received her early education in the Texas Presbyterian Academy and later pursued her studies in the University of Colorado. She was a teacher of French in Texas Presbyterian College 1916-17. "I consider her," says Dr. Charles C. Ayer of the Romance Language Department of the University of Colorado, "a young woman of altogether exceptional qualifications. She has done very fine work in French, Spanish and Italian. Especially in French she has had long experience, is familiar with the language in all its phases, and speaks it well. She ought to be an excellent teacher on any college faculty."

MISS MABEL M. HOSTETTER

Miss Mabel M. Hostetter comes to Lindenwood College as Dietitian in charge of the boarding department. Miss Hostetter comes to us after five years most successful management of the cafeteria of the Y. W. C. A. of Wheeling, W. Va. She was a teacher in the public schools of Williamsport, Pa., then specialized in Home Economics and was appointed Dietitian of the Battle Creek Sanitarium, a position she held for several years before going to Wheeling.

Miss Hostetter is active in Y. W. C. A. work and will be a great accession to the College.

THE NEW YORK BANQUET

Lindenwood girls living in and near New York City, who were fortunate enough to be present, will never forget the banquet given at the Pennsylvania Hotel on Wednesday evening, July 30. Letters keep coming to the office telling of the wonderful "get together" meeting, the renewing of old and making of new friendships. The married girls came with their husbands. The unmarried with stories of the days of yore and the many happy experiences of Lindenwood life. The husbands were impressed into speech-making and they did themselves proud. Miss Linnemann found ready responses when she called for the "in-laws" to orate. It was a great gathering, a great banquet held at New York's most famous hotel.

The affair was given under the management of the College, Miss Alice Linnemann acting as representative. All the good things said of Miss Linnemann are well deserved. She was untiring in her efforts to get the Eastern girls together. For days she kept the mails, the telephone, the telegraph and the rapid transit lines busy in her hunt for the Lindenwood girls. The meeting was a surprise to all present for no one dreamed there were so many students, teachers and friends of Lindenwood in America's metropolis. Hon. Champ Clark, who has always been a friend of Lindenwood, was unable to be present and speak, as anticipated. Only pressing business in Congress could have prevented his presence.

SOME MESSAGES OF REGRETS

"I have your invitation to the dinner on the evening of Wednesday, July 30, at the Pennsylvania Hotel, for which accept thanks. I would be delighted to accept, but the pressure of public business absolutely prevents my doing so."

Your friend,
CHAMP CLARK.

"Your very kind invitation to attend the College dinner in New York today was forwarded to me and did not reach me until today. I want to thank you and express my regret in being unable to attend. With very best wishes for a prosperous year in the College, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
RICHARD C. HUGHES,
Associate Secretary, General
Board of Education.

Mrs. Holden and I desire to express to you our sincere appreciation of your remembrance in requesting our presence at your alumnae dinner Wednesday, the thirtieth of July at seven o'clock at the Pennsylvania Hotel, New York. I regret to say that owing to the illness of Mrs. Holden it will be impossible for us to accept this kind invitation for this year. Trusting that some time later we may have the privilege of meeting the Lindenwood Alumnae Association in New York, I remain,

Very sincerely yours,
LOUIS EDWARD HOLDEN,
Financial Dep't. General
Board of Education.

"Mrs. Hill and I deeply regret unexpected complications this morning prevent possibility of meeting Lindenwood friends tonight."

(Mrs. Hill was Ava Bullard, a former Lindenwood girl.)

VOTE OF THANKS

My dear Dr. Roemer:

We have just finished a most wonderful Lindenwood dinner, at which a motion was made and carried that we send you a vote of thanks and appreciation for this most delightful occasion.

We all regretted that you were unable to be here to witness so many old friendships renewed and new ones made.

Miss Linnemann also received a vote of thanks for the remarkable way in which she planned and carried through the affair.

With congratulations for the success of the College, I am,

Cordially,
ALICE KELLOGG CARTER,
Class 1890.

EXTRACTS FROM LETTERS.

"We New Yorkers were so surprised to find so many L. C. girls near New York. Each one of us thought we were the only 'Pebble on the beach'."

"The dinner was at seven. They did not leave till near midnight, so that proves that the guests were in no hurry to get away."

"The Lindenwood College Banquet did more to arouse an Eastern interest in the College than anything else could do. The organization of the Association following the banquet means much to L. C. in the future."

NEW YORK CLUB ORGANIZED

The following telegram announcing the names of the officers of the New York Lindenwood Club at Pennsylvania Hotel, August 7th, was received.

President—Mrs. Wm. Carter.

Vice-President—Mrs. Lewis H. Rogers.

Sec'y and Treas.—Mrs. C. L. Thompson.

Correspondent Sec'y—Mrs. V. Talley.

My dear Dr. Roemer:

We missed you and Mrs. Roemer very much at our lovely dinner the other night, and I'm so sorry you couldn't have been here to have enjoyed the evening with us. It was really everything you could have wished for, and I'm so glad that I was wise enough to choose Columbia for my summer's work, so that I could be a guest. I was almost sorry that I could not claim Lindenwood for my Alma Mater, after hearing the entertaining talks by the "girls of yesterday."

MARY McMAHAN.

My dear Dr. Roemer:

Mr. Rogers and I are certainly indebted to Lindenwood for the delightful evening we spent Wednesday. The dinner was fine but more than that was the meeting of old friends. I had the pleasure of meeting my old roommate, Georgia Timkin Fry and you may be sure we found a great deal to talk about. Miss Linnemann was a charming hostess, with a gift for saying the right thing at the right time, and I feel sure that a New York Lindenwood Club will be formed in the near future. It is good to know that our old school is making such progress and that the Lindenwood of tomorrow bids fair to make its influence felt to a greater degree than ever before. Mr. Rogers wishes to be remembered and seems to thoroughly approve the idea of Lindenwood adopting the "in-laws."

Most cordially yours,
RUTH WADSWORTH ROGERS.

DEAN TEMPLIN RUNS DOWN FROM HARVARD TO ATTEND THE NEW YORK BANQUET

My dear Dr. Roemer:

Miss Linnemann had such a delightful party last night I told her I would write you about it. There were about fifty guests and I can frankly say that it was the most delightful college party I ever attended.

This hotel in itself is a delightful place for such a party and the dinner was perfect.

Miss Linnemann presided in a most delightful way and the first one or two speeches were the kind that assured the success of the evening. Your telegram I read and then Dr. Wm. C. Carter spoke. He told very humorous experiences about L. C. when his wife was there. He was followed by Mr. L. H. Rogers, who was most entertaining. He asked me to give you the enclosed card. As you probably remember, he is an uncle of Constance Hamilton. A Mrs. Bray and her sister Jeanette McMillan, who are nieces of Dr. Nicolls, were here. Mrs. Bray made a beautiful talk about L. C. as she knew it when she was six years old. Then a Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Thompson each talked. The two Scroggin girls, Lillian Wait and Leontine Ginter sang some college songs and Martha Scroggin told of Lindenwood today from the students' point of view.

Miss Linnemann asked me to talk of "Lindenwood's Aims for the Future."

Really I am sorry you and Mrs. Roemer were not here, for I believe it would have inspired you to see the keen interest these old girls are taking in the College, and how anxious they are to help in any way.

Mrs. Carter proposed a vote of thanks to the College and said "this is the best Lindenwood dinner I ever ate."

Miss Olive Rauch and her sister, Celeste, were here. I was so surprised to see them. They left for home this noon.

My school is out the 13th, so I'll soon be on my way home.

Remember me to all,

Sincerely,
LUCINDA de L. TEMPLIN.
