

422
Lindenwood College, May 8, 8 P. M.

THE PHOENICIAN QUEEN, DIDO

The Prologue.....	Ruth Crandall
Aeneas, Prince of Troy.....	Helen Richards
Achates, Friend of Aeneas.....	Eva Ditch
Trojans: Ilioneus, Irene Amos; Antheus, Edith Smith; Sergestus, Dorothy Scheuer; Cloanthus, Olive Eagleton.
Dido, Queen of Carthage.....	Mary Rice
Anna, Dido's Sister.....	Margaret Hogg
Barce, Dido's Nurse.....	Florence Withington
Juno, Protecting Goddess of Carthage.....	Ruth Crandall
Venus, Goddess Mother of Aeneas.....	Ethel Robinson
Iopas, Carthaginian Minstrel.....	Florence Withington
Bitias, Carthaginian Noble.....	Katharine Abright
Iarbas, A Moorish Prince.....	Adele Crandall
Cupid, God of Love.....	Daryl Sinclair
Mercury, Messenger of Jupiter.....	Olive Eagleton
Page of Carthage.....	Gussie Leak
Maid Servant.....	Faye Kurre
Man Servant.....	Oma Douglas
Soldiers of Carthage.....	Lucile Richardson, Isabel Gibb
Chorus: Ethel Alexander, Dorothy Holtcamp, Hazel Kirby, Gracia Miller, Clara Pelinski, Myrna Stith, Margaret Strangways, Jean Warren, Florence Withington.

ACT I.

Scene 1. The Trojans, shipwrecked off the coast of Africa, apply for aid to Dido, who receives them kindly. Scene 2. Venus plots with Cupid to inflame Dido with love for Aeneas. Scene 3. Dido makes a feast in honor of Aeneas.

ACT II.

Scene 1. Dido, urged on by Anna, decides to cease struggling against her love for Aeneas. Scene 2. Juno asks Venus to allow Dido and Aeneas to wed. Venus cunningly agrees. Scene 3. Dido and Aeneas, leading the hunt, are driven to shelter by a storm.

ACT III.

Scene 1. Iarbas complains to Jupiter that Dido has slighted him for Aeneas. Scene 2. Jupiter sends Mercury to order Aeneas from Africa. Scene 3. Aeneas prepares to obey. Dido reproaches him and begs him to remain.

ACT IV.

Scene 1. Dido sends Anna to persuade Aeneas to delay a little his departure. Scene 2. Dido feigns resignation and orders preparations made for certain magic rites. Scene 3. After passing through various changes of passion, Dido commits suicide.