SIBLEY DAY FEB. 18 TO CELEBRATE LINDENWOOD CULTURE

January 2, 2015

Lindenwood University will host its annual Sibley Day on Wednesday, Feb. 18, on the St. Charles campus in honor of University founders George and Mary Sibley. Students will be excused from daytime classes in order to attend their choice of dozens of experiential learning presentations and events scheduled throughout the day.

Sibley Day began in 2009 as an opportunity for faculty, staff, and students to expand their knowledge base and to celebrate the school's philosophy of offering unique educational experiences. This year's event, themed "Hear Us Roar," will offer a wide range of activities designed to appeal to many different areas of interest.

"This year, we encouraged student ownership of the event through increased planning and involvement from the Lindenwood Student Government Association and from the general student body," said Janet Strzelec, Dance Department chair and Sibley Day organizer. "The event will be a time for student organizations to shine and for all of us to celebrate what makes Lindenwood 'Lindenwood.'"

In conjunction with Sibley Day, the Lindenwood Speaker Series will host An Evening with Giancarlo Esposito, television and movie actor, at 7 p.m. in the Lindenwood Theater of the University's J. Scheidegger Center for the Arts. The event is free and open to the public. Registration is not required.
