LINDENWOOD MBA RECOGNIZED AS SECOND LARGEST IN ST. LOUIS AREA

January 3, 2020

The St. Louis Business Journal recently published its annual list of the largest MBA programs in the St. Louis area, and Lindenwood University's Plaster School of Business is home to the second largest program with 582 on-ground and online students. Accompanying the list is an round-table article on the changing landscape of MBA programs, in which Roger Ellis, dean of the Plaster School of Business, is among the panel, which discusses trends, online education, and the future of MBA programs. The list and article are available in the Business Journal's Dec. 13-19 edition, and the content is available to online subscribers at the following links:
