FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

February 24, 1975

"When I came to St. Charles in 1935, Lindenwood existed in a static city. As St. Charles has grown and changed, it has become more aware of Lindenwood--for what the college is, what it does, and for its changes," said Mr. Glen Goellner of Goellner Printing Inc. Goellner today was named Chairman of the Lindenwood Community Support Campaign for 1975 by Dr. William C. Spencer, President of The Lindenwood Colleges.

"In 1925 only one home was built in St. Charles," said Mr. Goellner explaining the city's static condition, "and that was built by a town bank official." He said in those days the College and the community seemed to co-exist without relying on each other. But a working relationship between St. Charles and Lindenwood has developed as the city and county have grown. Lindenwood is a cultural and economic asset to St. Charles. The College attracts people to the community and is even a tourist attraction, he mentioned. For this reason he believes the community should work with Lindenwood in the Community Support Campaign.

A past president of the St. Charles Chamber of Commerce and 1971 Man of the Year, Mr. Goellner is a member of many civic groups and is Kiwanis Club Vice President and Chairman of the St. Charles County Park Board.

Lindenwood currently enrolls 1175 in full-time and part-time programs running from accounting to zoology, from art, business, broadcasting and communication arts to science, psychology, and sociology. Programs relating work experience to classroom study through internships and independent studies, not only enrich the educational program of the student but provide ties between the campus and the community.

The Lindenwood Community Support Campaign officially begins on April 15th, with a kick-off breakfast on the campus.
